But by the time September rolls around, everyone's glad to call it quits and start on something new. . . Heading this list is the director himself, for, as he figures it, he's seen some 175 softball games, most of them through the wire that's across the front of the announcer's booth. . . He says it takes him some time to get used to seeing faces without the "cover". . .

LAST WEEK I mentioned the three houses on Michigan Ave. that are to be razed to make way for a new facility. . . rumored to be a swank motel. . . (Please note: I said "rumored"). . . I asked several people about the big brown house at about 313 Michigan for I didn't ever remember anyone but the late George Smith owning that one. . . Mrs. Henry Partridge finally recalled that a maiden lady by the name of Emma Bennett had owned it for many years and had operated it as a summer boarding house. . . The't I'd mention it, just in case you were trying to recall. . .

KIDS do the darndest things. . . You've heard that many times. . . You've also heard some crazy stories about zippers and the messes you can get into with them. . . Last week I heard just about the craziest one yet. . . No one's quite sure how it happened but Kim Kelley ended up with his eyelid caught in a zipper. . . After one took his mother, Mrs. Robert Kelley who's since returned to Bay City, rushed him to the doctor's office where they were taken in for immediate attention. . . I guess that even Dr. Saltontall isn't quite sure how he accomplished it but he diagnosed the zipper without damaging the eyelid. . . but Kim was going around with a pretty discolored shiner. . . After it was all over his mother again asked "How did you do it?" . . . His answer was the usual "I don't know. . . and chances are, he didn't. . .

I'd like to take this opportunity to wish Coach Carey and his Raydars lots of luck as the 1965 season opens. . . this Friday at Rogers City.

French Bread Animals Have Shopper Appeal

FAIRBANKS' pastry menagerie requires a blend of modeling skill and imagination.

All summer long, Leo Fairbanks' bakery shop window on Bridge Street has been a real crowd stopper.

Instead of such usual bakery shop fare as trays of cookie and plates of sweet rolls, Fairbanks' window is adorned with fishing nets and inhabited by smiting fish, victuous looking crocodiles and sleepy octop with their tentacles doze up in pin curls.

These whimsical creatures are all made of French bread dough, coated with egg and water to turn them a crusty brown. They range in price from $.75 (for a fish) up, and are becoming increasingly popular in the Charlevoix area as table decorations.

FAIRBANKS thinks his edible centerpieces are a natural out-growth of a life-time interest in ceramics, although he admits working with bread dough did not originate with him.

"Crocodiles have long been a favorite of bakers in many parts of the country," he says, "and I understand that in Europe bakers have been fashioning things from dough for centuries."

Fairbanks masterpieces are made entirely of bread, with slender bread sticks being used for "feet" whenever they're called for. Sometimes he will use maraschino cherries or whole cloves for eyes to give his creatures a more realistic appearance.

Fairbanks said the secret of dough modeling is applying the finishing touches while the dough is baking.

"Otherwise everything tends to become pumpy and rounded, without any sharp lines," Fairbanks said.

AFTER SHAPING dough into the figure he wants, Fairbanks puts it in the oven and leaves it about five minutes until it starts to bake. Then he pinches spines and other features into the spongy surface, flattens fish tails and generally gives the creature the appearance it will carry to the party table.

Such features as fish mouths, Fairbanks finds easier to do with a sharp knife after the bread is completely cooked.

After regular baking chores are over, Fairbanks says he finds a great deal of fun and relaxation working with dough animals.

FAIRBANKS comes by his trade naturally since he was born into a family of bakers. His mother opened a bakery shop in Traverse City in 1925 and he and his brother, Ronald, both started helping her out.

In the 1940's, Ronald operated a bakery in Charlevoix where Citi's appliance store is now located, later opening up a shop in Grand Rapids where Leo worked from 1949 until he opened his own shop in Charlevoix in 1960.

Brother Ronald now owns two shops in Grand Rapids and his mother works for him. Their sister, Mrs. Clifford Riley, works for brother Leo in Charlevoix as a cake decorator.

WORKING swiftly, Fairbanks shapes the dough with fingers and a sharp knife.

THE OCTOPUS with curled tentacles is one of Fairbanks' most popular creations.

Fairbanks has never had any formal training as a baker, but attributes much of his skill to working with John McCann, an old time Charlevoix who died last year. Fairbanks says his bread creations seem to be catching on, and he has been turning them out two or three times a week as orders come in.

According to Mrs. Dinwiddle and Miss Martin, every home will be visited.

"If you have already given at your place of employment, just tell the residential caller and she will acknowledge your gift on your card. We realize that many people will already have given where they work. They may wonder what purpose is served by a window sticker, if a volunteer is going to call at their home anyway. The purpose is simply this. If there is one person in Charlevoix who does not give to the Community Chest, we want him to know that all his friends and neighbors did give," they said.

THIS WEEK all businessmen, industrial workers and professional people are being called on. Contributions reported to date are mainly from summer residents.

According to Chairman Bourgoin, "Now is the time for the full-time residents of Charlevoix to demonstrate their concern for the welfare of their community."

"A great deal is usually said at this time about helping those less fortunate than ourselves. This is fine, but I seriously doubt if there is a single family in Charlevoix who has not benefited directly from some of the services provided by our Chest agencies," Bourgoin said.

Mike Wood Clicks In Courier Contest

Whether it's luck or savvy, 13-year-old Mike Wood of Oyster Bay sure has acquired some winning ways.

Sunday, young Mike did some top-notch trap shooting at the Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club range and walked off with a new pair of trousers donated by Lieberman's.

And Monday, when results of the Charlevoix Courier's first 1965 football contest were tallied up, Mike again was winner of the $10 prize.

his father, Dick Wood, owner of the Moonlight Gardens, who made a few suggestions. If Mike approved, he made the change; if not, he stuck to his guns.

New Sailors

There are two new faces at the Coast Guard Group headquarters.

Newly assigned to the Group are Arthur Pouttu, yeoman 1st class, and Jeffrey Lindstrom, yeoman 3rd class.

A native of Bruce Crossing, Mich., Pouttu, 26, is a veteran of seven years on the Coast Guard. At Charlevoix, he is assigned to the Group personnel office.

Previous assignments have taken Pouttu to Ogdenburg, N. Y., where he served aboard the White Lupine and 9th District C. G. headquarters in Cleveland where he worked in the personnel office. He also was recruiter in Cleveland.

Pouttu and his wife, Patricia, have three children, Kimberly, 5, Kevin, 4, and Kelly, 1.

Lindstrom, 23, also will be working in the Group personnel office. He has been in the Coast Guard 21 months, seven of which were served at the Coast Guard Group, Santa Barbara, Calif., and the remainder at the Coast Guard air station in San Diego.

Lindstrom and his wife, Dianne, have one daughter, Kris, 14 months old.

City Buys Sedan, Pickup Truck

A new Ford pickup truck and a Chevrolet Bel-Air were purchased by the City Council Monday night.

The pickup, purchased from Erber Auto Co., cost $1,766.24 and will be equipped with heavy duty springs. It will be used chiefly for electrical maintenance work.

The Chevrolet, purchased from Charlevoix Oil Co. for $2,151.59, will be used by City Superintendent James Taylor. In other business, aldermen heard a report from the state alerting Michigan communities that increased federal funds will be available shortly for municipal improvements.

MAYOR E. D. Hawley also read a letter from the Water Resources Commission spelling out limitations on Medusa Cement Co. relevant to pollution of Lake Michigan. The state regulations govern disposal of cooling water used in the plant, drainage from the quarry and sewage disposal. Aldermen seemed satisfied that the controls will adequately protect fishlife and assure a continued supply of uncontaminated water off South Point.

There also was discussion on the feasibility of buying a street sweeper for the city. A piece of equipment sufficient to do the job would cost between $11,000 and $13,000. Alderman Walter Hoffman said before such a purchase is made, action should be taken to regulate parking on city streets so the machine could do a thorough job in as short a time as possible.

SUPERINTENDENT Taylor also brought up the need for a new sprinkling system at the city-owned golf course. He said he has a cost estimate from a firm in Grand Rapids which would supply engineering drawings and materials for an underground system for $6,000. He said he would come to the next meeting armed with more details, including costs of equipping only a portion of the course.

Council also is asking for bids on a general purpose bookkeeping machine, preferably with dual printer. Bids should be submitted before the next meeting Oct. 4.

Members also: Approved payment of bills totaling $35,162.56 since the last council meeting.

Earmarked $12 for renewal of the airport manager's license.

Agreed to send several members to a meeting of the Northern Michigan Municipal League in Harbor Springs tonight.

DISCUSSED what measures should be taken to cope with an increasing infestation of rats in the southeast section of the city.

Asked the State Highway Department to itemize its offer to buy parcels of land owned by the city for re-location of Michigan Route 66 south of town. The Council said it would like to act promptly on one parcel of land which it has no objection to selling, but wants more time to replace cemetery property requested by the state for the new road.

Skiers Asked to 'Bees'

Chuck Meter, manager of the Mt. McSaba ski area, is asking all interested persons to turn out for work "bees" at the area next Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 25 and 26, beginning at 1 p.m.

Meter said the work will include setting poles for power lines, locating and wiring a newly constructed starter's station near the beginners' slope, repairing and painting snow fence, and increasing the distance between the unloading point and the pulleys on the small hill.

Meter said that state laws now require that all ski hills have a full-time starter on each tow line.

Season rates again this year will be $20 a couple, $25 a family, $15 individual, $6.50 students and $5 children.

Picture of the new starter shed appears on Pg. 10 of this week's Courier.

Social Agency Consolidation to Be Discussed

A special meeting of the County Board of Supervisors will be held at 10 a.m. Sept. 27 in the County Building to discuss proposed consolidation of the County Department of Social Welfare and State Bureau of Social Aid.

County Clerk Pete Bulow says action must be taken by the board prior to Oct. 1, if consolidation is to take place by the first of the year.

He added that consolidation of the two agencies has already taken place in many counties.

Draft to Test 31 Men

Thirty-one young men from Charlevoix County have been ordered to report for their selective service physical examinations Oct. 12, according to Mrs. Frank Bourgoin, secretary of the draft board. They will be taken by bus to Fort Wayne in Detroit, leaving from the city hall at 12:15 p.m.

Mrs. Bourgoin said the group is the largest to leave Charlevoix since the days of the Korean War in the 1950's.

THE INCREASED number of men taking physicals is a direct result of President Johnson's doubling the nation's draft call in August to meet the demands of the Viet Nam crisis.

Four young men will leave for the armed services Oct. 4, Mrs. Bourgoin said. They are James D. Eggers and Donald D. Owen and Cayle L. Brannon of Boyne City and William H. Dixon of Boyne Falls.

Brannon is a volunteer, and the rest were chosen through selective service procedures. They will spend the night at Hotel Ft. Shelby in Detroit, be inducted at Fort Wayne the next day and then be assigned to either Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., or Fort Knox, Ky., for basic training.

THE FOLLOWING Charlevoix men will leave Oct. 12 for their physicals: Nicholas B. DeYoung, Harold W. Smith, Charles D. Van DeCar Jr., Richard D. Louiselle, Charles D. Fletcher, Lawrence H. Messmore and Charles E. Mort.

Taking physicals from Boyne City will be Floyd D. Larson, Donald A. Crandell, Robert N. West, Cary A. Beeman, George C. Cadwell and Ronald H. Hamill.

Chest Drive Hits 50 Per Cent

DOOR-TO-DOOR solicitors get final instructions on canvassing from Mrs. Charles Duerr, Community Chest secretary. A Monday morning coffee hour kicked off final phase of the drive.

Dredging operations at the Medusa Cement Co. site on South Point suffered a major setback early Sunday morning when the 110 foot boom on the dredge "Big John" buckled and dropped into Lake Michigan.

The mishap occurred at 3 a.m. during the second day of "round-the-clock" dredging at the site.

Russ Leyman, superintendent of Buluma Dock and Dredge Co. operations, attributed the buckling to metal fatigue or a poor weld.

HE SAID he expects it will take a week to repair the damage.

John Buluma, owner of the dredge company which has offices in Manistee and Muskegon, says the delay in overall dredging operations probably will be insignificant.

He said a second dredge, the "Duluth," now operating out of Marquette, will be coming to Charlevoix in the next week or so.

The break came about 40 feet out from the gantry, leaving about 70 feet of boom and the 12-ton clamshell dangling in the water.

LEYMAN sent out a call to Northern Marine Construction at Cheboygan, and owner Joe Beatty dispatched his dredge Big Jo to the site immediately. His men finished cutting the twisted metal, re-tied the bucket, and lifted the broken portion of the boom onto the dredge platform.

Then both dredges moved into Round Lake where repair operations began at once.

Leyman said the boom will be shortened by 30 feet, still leaving sufficient length for the work at Medusa.

HE IS particularly anxious to get the dredge back into operation to get an earth-fill on the seaward side of two 100-foot long pontoons he had

The 1965 Community Chest drive reached approximately 50 per cent of its $12,700 goal on Monday, with partial returns in from industrial, professional and commercial divisions.

Community Chest chairman Frank Bourgoin said Consumers Big Rock Point Nuclear Power Plant became one of the first industrial units to report 100 per cent employee participation in the drive.

Bourgoin hopes to have collections wrapped up by the end of September.

MONEY COLLECTED in the drive will be distributed among approximately 50 health and service organizations in Charlevoix and environs, Bourgoin said, emphasizing that the once-for-all collection campaign eliminates the need for many charity solicitations throughout the year.

Polio Is Still Threat

Have you kept up your immunity against polio?

The American Medical Association cautions Americans not to be lulled into a false sense of security in controlling this paralyzing disease because of the overwhelming success of Salk and Sabin vaccines.

These vaccines have not eradicated the viruses which cause polio. Rather, like all vaccines, they trigger the body's defenses to build up antibodies which can combat the viruses if they should gain entry into the body.

ALL PERSONS who have not been properly immunized against polio are still vulnerable to attack. This includes two-thirds of pre-school age youngsters, who have not received full protection.

Three viruses which cause polio have been identified. Both Salk and Sabin vaccines protect against all three.

The Salk vaccine is administered in a series of injections, three about six weeks apart and a fourth six months or more after the third. The Sabin vaccine, taken by mouth, is given in three doses, six weeks apart.

Either vaccine may be given to infants at a very early age. All expectant mothers should be vaccinated, as they are particularly susceptible to polio.

Although polio is primarily a childhood disease, it also can strike adults.

EVEN PERSONS who have had polio from one type of virus remain susceptible to additional attacks from the other two viruses.

There are very few polio cases recorded in the United States in the past year, or two, so few that many individuals have become negligent in obtaining proper immunization, according to the AMA.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Smith have returned to their home in Wilmington, Del., following a visit with their son and daughter-in-law, Lt. and Mrs. David S. Smith and two children.

Ohio Firm to Paint, Fix Water Tower

Contract for painting and repairing the Charlevoix water tower was left Sept. 7 to the Kessler Co. of Fremont, Ohio. The company's bid of $7,300 was the lowest submitted for the work.

City superintendent James Taylor says the work will consist of re-insulating and re-covering the riser (central water pipes), mending a hole near the top of the tank, tightening loose tie rods and replacing the seal called a "gland" where the riser joins the tank. The work will be completed before winter, Taylor said.

Taylor said the question of what color to paint the tank is still very much up in the air. His own preference is aluminum with a maroon band around it, with perhaps the word "Charlevoix" lettered on for good measure.

Taylor said the only time service will be affected will be during painting of the inside of the tank. Then the city system will be hooked up directly to supply pumps and service will continue without interruption.

IN OTHER COUNCIL business, bids were opened for a passenger car to be used to the Police Department. Bidding were the Charlevoix Oil Co. and the Erber Auto Co. They were referred to the Police Committee for tabulation.

The council also voted $100 for the Regional Planning Commission to cover miscellaneous expenses and approved payment bills totaling $26,565.51 accumulated since the last council meeting.

The last session was held on Tuesday instead of Monday because of the Labor Day holiday. Missing from the meeting were Mayor E. D. Hawley, and Aldermen William Fochtman and Del Terrell.

Water Accidents Claim 215 Lives

With Michigan's season for most outdoor water activities in its closing days, the state's toll of 215 deaths in 474 water accidents at mid-September showed reductions of 33 and 64 respectively compared with the same period last year, the State police report.

Generally cooler weather conditions this year and increased emphasis on water accident prevention are regarded as contributing to the improved record.

The breakdown of the 207 water deaths on which official reports have been received included 85 swimmers or waders, 35 who fell from bridges, banks or piers, 34 boat operators, 33 boat passengers (10 of whom were on the sunken Great Lakes freighter Cedarville), three skin or scuba divers, two who drowned trying to rescue others and one water skier.

In addition, 204 persons have been injured in water accidents this year so far.

Charlevoix Public Schools is a member of North Central Association of Colleges and Universities, approved by the Department of Public Instruction for the collection of tuition and accredited by the University of Michigan.

Our school is showing a steady growth in membership as was predicted by the citizens' committee in its study of population trends in 1958. Enrollment has increased 258 students over the past five years, the equivalent of two classrooms per year. With this constant growth in population, there will come the need for additional rooms.

Considerable progress has been made toward improving our high school library, as was recommended by the state library consultants and North Central Association. Several hundred volumes were added and the system for cataloging books was revised.

Additional teachers were added to meet the increased enrollment and to improve the curriculum, especially in the areas of music, junior high mathematics, and physical education.

Many of our teachers this past year, have taken advantage of the university courses offered in Charlevoix and surrounding areas to increase their knowledge and improve their teaching techniques, also some have spent a large part of the summer attending our colleges and universities. Our teachers are to be commended for keeping abreast with new innovations in their particular field.

This summer an opportunity was made available for elementary students to continue their education during the month of July. Sixty students and four teachers worked together to improve reading and arithmetic. Next summer it is our desire to enlarge this program by including such areas as science, art, foreign language, etc.

It is our aim to constantly evaluate and continue to improve the educational program for our boys and girls.

I would like to thank you for the interest and support you are giving our school. A good school must have the interest and support of its citizens.

Respectfully,
Rex Mittigan
Superintendent of Schools

Crew Inspects Bridge

A state highway maintenance crew headed by Henry Conant of Lansing and Charlevoix was in town last week to inspect the bridge and make repairs to the gates.

The gate on the south west corner of the bridge has been rebuilt and will be re-installed shortly, Conant said.

While in town, the crew repaired a stand-by gate to be ready in case of emergencies.

The Charlevoix bridge is one of 18 lift bridges maintained by the State Highway Department, Conant said.

Fifteen ere "vascule" type bridges like the one in Charlevoix; two are swinging bridges, like the railroad bridge, and one, located between Houghton and Hancock in the Upper Peninsula, is a vertical lift bridge, which rises on 225-foot lowers to let ships pass.

LIFT equipment is located on top of the towers, and Conant and his crew agree it's not the most comfortable place to work in the dead of winter with a stiff breeze coming off Lake Superior.

Conant grew so fond of Charlevoix working on the bridge here that he and his wife have bought a home at 404 Park Ave. They plan to retire to Charlevoix.

Hurons Dump Rayders 12-6

The Hurons of Rogers City defeated the Charlevoix Rayders 12 to 6 Friday night in the non-conference opener.

Coach Don Carey says in his opinion the Rayders outplayed the Hurons. "The trouble is we only scored once to their twice," he added.

He said he is sure statistics would support his opinion, but no one has volunteered to keep a running account of yardage gained and other pertinent data.

THE FIRST Rogers City touchdown came with only 49 seconds left in the first quarter. It climaxed a long Charlevoix drive up the field which ended when Rogers City intercepted the ball on its own 46 yard line. The Hurons moved up the field in two plays, with Tom Gilbertson carrying the ball over. They failed to make the extra point, leaving the score 6-0 at the end of the quarter.

Second quarter play was dominated by ball carrier Mark Bourgoin for Charlevoix and tackle Art Santini for the Hurons. With 28 seconds left to play in the quarter, the Hurons recovered a fumble on the Charlevoix 9, and two plays later Gilbertson again went over the line for the second Rogers City TD.

The lone Charlevoix touchdown came after four minutes of the third quarter. Mark Bourgoin and Steve Smith carried the ball up the field, with Smith taking it over. Charlevoix failed to chalk up the extra point when the ball fell short of the goal posts.

Charlevoix continued to dominate third quarter play, but didn't come close to scoring again.

IN THE FOURTH quarter, Charlevoix had two promising drives, both of which fizzled. Once, early in the quarter, the Rayders were on the Rogers City 5 yard line, when officials called a 15 yard clipping penalty, ending prospects for a second TD.

Later, Charlevoix got hot again and marched up to Rogers City's 14 yard line before Rick Foley recovered a Charlevoix fumble. The clock ran out without much action on either side.

COACH CAREY appears cautiously optimistic about this Friday's home conference game with Mancelona, although both teams have suffered heavily in the departing senior department.

FULLBACK Mark Bourgoin is buried under a pyramid of Rogers City tackles. Bourgoin was instrumental in getting the ball in position for Charlevoix's lone TD.

HALFTIME entertainment was provided by Rogers City's well-coordinated marching band. Here band members make a cartwheel. They also played the Charlevoix school song.

Look at it this way. If you have not been using golden Superheat, you've probably been spending too much to heat your home. Superheat, alone among all the fuel oils you can buy, is "electrofinned" to burn cleaner and hotter than any fuel oil ever has before. And that means you get more heat, better heat, with lower heating bills for the season. Switch to Superheat today...and you'll save money all winter!

Silage Yields More Protein With Feed Urea

Adding feed grade urea to corn silage when it goes into the silo can save 50 percent or more on the amount of protein that needs to be added to make a balanced ration at feeding time, Ed Rebmman, County Extension Director said.

Ten pounds of urea per ton of silage is a cheap way to add protein, according to dairy specialists at Michigan State University.

Urea breaks down into ammonia and carbon dioxide in both the silo and the cow's rumen. The ammonia combines with acids and makes protein, the specialists explained. From 90 to 100 percent of the urea nitrogen is recovered in good corn silage.

MSU research studies and field trials by dairymen have proved that the practice pays off in the milk bucket.

Dairymen putting up silage should weigh one or two loads of silage and determine the amount of urea to be added to equal 10 pounds per ton of silage. Urea can be spread on the top of the loads or add mechanically at the blower as silage is put in silo.

To a long-time fan of Ernest Hemingway, the Northwestern corner of Michigan is practically holy land. Hemingway Point in Lake Charlevoix, Horton Bay and Walloon Lake are all rich in Hemingway lore. There also is a striking physical similarity between the Hemingway's who still haunt those parts and the late author that takes the uninitiated by surprise.

Jay Bundy, who returned to his home in Tucson, Ariz., recently after several weeks at the family cottage on Hemingway Point, is a good example. With a beard, Bundy could pass for the author as a young man.

One of Hemingway's most popular short stories, "Up in Michigan," takes place at Horton Bay. Hemingway makes some interesting comments about the story in his last work, A MOVEABLE FEAST, published by Charles Scribner's Sons last year.

"Up in Michigan" reads like something which might have been written by someone boozed up for the winter in a log cabin on the windswept shores of Lake Charlevoix. It wasn't, Hemingway says he wrote the story while sitting in a Paris cafe on the Place St. Michel, drinking cafe au lait and rum

St. James.

HEMINGWAY says it happened to be a wild, cold, blowing day in Paris, so it was that kind of day in his Michigan story. He had the idea an author could write about some things—like the end of fall—better in one spot than another, and he apparently thought the best place to write about a blustery day on Lake Charlevoix was in a Paris cafe. Hemingway thought it was as necessary to transplant people, from time to time, as other growing things.

The author says he showed the story "Up in Michigan" to Gertrude Stein. The story deals quite frankly, in a way only Hemingway can be frank, with a sex affair involving a hotel maid and her strapping young fisherman lover. Miss Stein said the story was "good" but inaccessable. She said it was like a well-drawn picture that nobody wants because it can't be shown for reasons of modesty. Hemingway protested that the language he used was the only way of telling this particular story. Miss Stein, he says, insisted it was pointless to write anything that could not be published in such reputable Monthly as the Atlantic Monthly or The Saturday Evening Post. It goes without saying that "Up in Michigan" was published and has practically reached classical stature among Hemingway fans.

I was happy to find on the opening day of school that the bicycle is still not only an accepted but a popular means of travel among Charlevoix high school students. In Holly last year, I was the only "kid" who rode a bicycle to school and I felt a little over-awed by all those T-Birds and Mustangs that roared past me into the student parking lot every morning.

We didn't even have a bicycle rack in front of the school, and I had to park my J. C. Higgins alongside the main walk, to the curious amusement of students. Finally, after a semester largely devoted to Henry David Thoreau and his ideas of self reliance, independence and individualism, one boy came and told me he didn't care what anybody thought, he was going to buy a bicycle and ride it to school.

The next day he didn't show up at school, nor the next. On the third day he clambered off the school bus, his head swathed in bandages.

"Where is your bicycle?" I asked when we met in the hall.

"I sold it," he answered, rather curtly. Then he explained: "I was hit by a truck riding it and my folks thought I had better get rid of it."

I'm not certain, but I think I saw him reading something by Carl Marx in the library a few days later.

As a former teacher, I was extremely impressed with the opening day assembly of the Junior-Senior High School. Mr. Bingham's and Mr. Miligan's remarks were well calculated to launch the student body on a successful school year.

Even more impressive were the students themselves: clean, neat young men with pants that fit and haircuts that made them look like boys; fresh, pretty girls with well-groomed hair and clothes still warm from the ironing board.

In too many schools today, boys are showing up for class dressed like sex offenders and girls like chorus fillies, complete with bottled blonde hair and layer upon layer of spooky eye shadow. The students in Charlevoix are a refreshing change.

Do You Have to Pay Workman's Comp?

Are you a business or professional man with one or two employees?

A housewife with full-time domestic help—or an employed mother who hires a baby sitter—housekeeper by the week?

A farmer with three or more regular employees, or one or more employees used at least five weeks at a time?

If so, you have a date with a law, and it's one you should keep early and for sure, because the penalties can be rough.

Michigan's revised workmen's compensation law became effective Sept. 1. It used to apply only to employers of three or more persons, with household and farm employers specifically exempted. Now it affects all employers of one or more persons, including domestic help, as of Sept. 1. Farmers are included beginning next May 1.

FOR ALL except farmers, the definition of an employer under the new compensation act is: Anyone who employs one or more persons, at least one of whom is employed for 35 or more hours per week for 13 or more weeks within a one-year period.

For farmers there are two rules: One who employs three or more persons for 35 or more hours a week for 13 or more weeks within one-year period is subject to the full compensation law. One who employs one or more persons for 35 or more hours per week for five consecutive weeks must provide the medical care required by the law, but not the wage-loss compensation.

ANYONE who may be subject to the employer requirements of the revised law should check with his lawyer and his insurance man. A folder explaining the law for both employer and employee is available from most insurance companies and agents.

Failure to comply with the law could bring an employer's fine for every day of non-compliance. Failure to have workmen's compensation insurance could result in a financial problem or even bankruptcy from an employee claim for work injury under the compensation law.

No figures are available on how many people are affected, either as employers or as employees, but the Sept. 1 application to small business and household employment or the May 1, 1968, application to farm employment. There are "guesstimates," however, that upwards of 50,000 in each category may be required to meet the provisions of the compensation law as employers, with perhaps twice as many affected as employees.

MANY BUSINESS employers of fewer than three persons and some farmers already are under the compensation law voluntarily, to take advantage of the protection against liability claims by employees which the compensation law provides.

Hunter Offers Safety Tips

Dear Editor and Fellow Sportsman,
Only a few more days and the hunters will take to the fields and swamps. Firearms will be used which will involve a safety problem. As hunters and shooters we must always be conscious of firearm safety. This is the theme of this article. Every hunter and shooter is duty bound to his fellow human beings to periodically review his gun safety. You probably have seen all this many times before but please for your brother's sake read on.

The 10 commandments of shooting safety are:

1. TREAT EVERY gun with the respect due a loaded gun.
2. Watch that muzzle! Carry your gun safely; keep safety on until ready to shoot.
3. Unload guns when not in use. Take down or have action open; guns should be carried in cases to shooting area.
4. Be sure barrel is clear of obstructions, and that you have ammunition only of the proper size for the gun you carry.
5. Be sure of target before you pull the trigger; know identifying features of game you hunt.
6. Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot; avoid all horseplay.
7. Never climb a tree or fence or jump a ditch with a loaded gun; never pull a gun toward you by the muzzle.
8. Never shoot a bullet at a flat, hard surface or water. Attain target practice be sure your backstop is adequate.
9. Store guns and ammunition separately, beyond the reach of children.
10. Avoid alcoholic beverages before or during shooting.

AFTER READING the 10 commandments of shooting safety let us think about our actions during the 1964 hunting season. I am ashamed of myself. If you feel this way too, then we have come a step in the right direction already. Now I give you a few statements to think about.

The primary consideration of all hunters should be safety. When hunting with other sportsmen always, always be conscious of the muzzle and never, never let that muzzle point toward any human being.

We must drum this into our minds so hard that even in the event of a stumble or injury the muzzle never swings past a fellow sportsman.

Never pick up a firearm without checking to see if it's loaded, each and every time, even if you only set it down for five minutes. When showing a gun to a friend at least have the courtesy to open the action and hold it so that your friend may also observe that the firearm is empty. Actually when showing a firearm to friends we should open the action, make certain it is unloaded, and keep the action open until just before we put the firearm away.

BE SURE of the area behind your game. I have been struck in the chest by a "friend" with a shotgun who forgot at the "second of truth" that I was behind his target.

A firearm loaded, action closed, and with safety on, may sometimes fire when dropped or struck sharply. The safety on a firearm is used only to supplement proper gun handling. It is not infallible. When someone shows you an unfamiliar firearm, you should leave the firearm strictly alone until someone demonstrates how to open the action and shows that it is empty.

Be familiar with the gun you are using. I can't emphasize enough the importance of being familiar with your firearm. I have seen some pitiful cases.

I thank you for our fellow sportsman for reading this article. Good safety and good hunting.

Yours truly,

Bernard L. Schanar,
A Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club member

Labor Scarcity in Charlevoix

SO FAR as the labor market is concerned, Charlevoix is -- or at least used to be -- a seasonal town. Sales clerks, waitresses, gas station attendants, cooks and a host of other workers connected with the tourist industry used to troop up north the middle of June from "down below," take care of the needs of tourists, also from "down below," and after Labor Day return "down below" themselves for the winter.

The off-season jobs available in these parts were few and far between. An able bodied man might get work cutting logs in the bush or a girl could do housework for one of the year-round families.

TODAY, by contrast, a few manufacturers and businessmen in town are wondering where their winter help is coming from. Last week, George Banta and Tom Darn-ton of Lansing announced that they intend to remodel the old Charlevoix Hospital on Hurlbut Street into apartments. The building hasn't been used for 11 years, and like any structure left unattended that long in this climate, it needs considerable work: plastering, rewiring, plumbing, painting, tile laying -- you name it. Banta and Darn-ton's big worry at present is where their labor for remodeling the building is coming from.

"We're just hoping we can latch onto a few fellows before Medusa gets hold of them all," Banta said. By "Medusa" he included the Bultema Dock and Dredge Co. and the John C. Strahan Construction Co. which are just now getting into full swing out at South Point, in preparation for construction of the mammoth Medusa cement plant itself.

GREAT LAKES Fabrication is another local industry which could use more help, according to owner Jesse Penn. Penn now employs seven men in his metal fabrication business and estimates he could use that many again, but they're just not around -- at least not the right kind of men. Penn says he doesn't necessarily need skilled workers, just fellow with some aptitude for metal working who are interested in giving a fair day's work for a fair day's pay. He says he doesn't want anyone who quits when the going gets rough, because the time and money the company has invested in training that man walk out the door with him.

He mentioned one company in the area that makes a point of giving new employees the dirtiest jobs in the plant the first few days, just to see the kind of stuff they're made of. He said the longevity of one man on a particularly difficult grinding operation was 45 minutes "including the time it took him to check in and out."

Penn said his company and others want to find out right off the bat what kind of worker a man will make so they don't waste money training quitters.

SAD TO SAY, Penn is having trouble finding "the right kind of men" in Charlevoix, and more jobs are going begging.

Even Chuck Meier is beginning to wonder where he's going to get a man to watch over the ski tows at Mt. McSaubia this winter, as required by state law.

The worker scarcity in Charlevoix can be traced, of course, to the long upward surge in the nation's economy. Work has been plentiful throughout the state, and workers tend to gravitate to these areas where they can make the most money.

Skilled workers are at a premium all over. Tool and die makers can write their own ticket in the Detroit area. Ann Arbor needs 200 bricklayers and is paying up to $4.19 an hour. The same goes for metal pattern makers, structural steel workers and electricians.

Even unskilled jobs are plentiful downstate, with 400 assembly line workers needed in Flint alone.

At this stage, it appears that there is going to be stiff competition for workers this winter in the Charlevoix area. It isn't a very comfortable predicament for builders and manufacturers. But it's a heap better than having the men and not the jobs.

Education Is Big Business

If you are over 21 years old, you're practically a senior citizen by Charlevoix standards.

The first day of school is over and the first enrollment figures for the Elementary School and Junior-Senior High School are in. Coupled with figures from St. Mary's Elementary School, they indicate that 1,357--or 27 per cent of the residents in Charlevoix School District--are spending their days in the classroom.

School Superintendent Rex E. Milligan says that both the Junior-Senior High School show increased enrollment this year. Registration at the high school is up a modest 18, to 554 from 536. Registration at the elementary school is up 45, from 616 to 661.

SIGNIFICANTLY, the largest increase for any single class is the kindergarten where enrollment climbed like a five-year-old on the monkey bars--from 117 last year to 134, an increase of 17 in the one age group.

Other grades showing significant increases were the 11th with 19 more students, the fifth with 16 more, and the fourth with 15 more.

Sister Martin Porres, Principal of St. Mary's School, reports that although her enrollment is down nine students, it is still a healthy 143.

BUT THESE figures don't begin to tell the whole story. At the last school census in May, there were 457 pre-school youngsters waiting-in-the-wings, according to Milligan. There were 99 four-year-olds who will be moving on to kindergarten next year; 104 three-year-olds; 95 two-year-olds; 87 one-year-olds; and 72 infants. These figures boost the total number of youngsters from infancy through senior high school to 1,814--or 36 per cent of district population.

But still there are holes in the picture. What about Charlevoix area people going on to college and other advanced schools?

William O. Rattigan, High School counselor, says according to his figures, about 200 Charlevoix High School graduates are presently enrolled in colleges, universities, trade schools and other institutions of higher learning, bringing the percentage of the district population in school or about to enter school to about 40 per cent.

There are still about another 100 people under age 21 in the area--those who got jobs, or got married right out of school.

HOW YOU interpret these figures depends on you as an individual.

Members of the library board might jot them on their scratch pads while weighing the feasibility of going ahead with a new library.

City aldermen might want to do the same while earmarking funds for recreational activities.

Merchants might keep the youthful complexion of the community in mind when placing Christmas orders for clothing, sportswear and sporting equipment.

Even pizza makers might take note when they place their next order for pepperoni and mozzarella cheese.

Fall Color Feast on the Way

ALTHOUGH fall is scarcely here by the calendar, a few reds and yellows are beginning to appear along the highways and byways around Charlevoix.

There is not much color yet, you understand. That's going to take a few more frosty nights. But there's a dap here and there as though someone came through with a brush and palette testing to see which combination of colors best suits an autumn hillside.

In anticipation of the color extravaganza to come, the Grand Rapids Power Squadron has announced its first water color tour of Lake Charlevoix Oct. 1, 2 and 3. By that time the leaves should be at their best and the event is going to introduce a whole new flock of people (estimated at 500) to the beauties of the Charlevoix area. It is hoped that many of them will return when the weather either gets better -- or worse -- or see what else the Charlevoix area has in store for them.

Though the football season is long gone I think this bit deserves mention. . . There's nothing anymore disheartening than to play ball all summer and never win a game. . . Sometimes I think it takes more courage to turn up night after night and play your heart out when it's almost a certainty that you're not going to win than to do just about anything else I can think of. . . But this is what happened to the Peanut League's Astros. . . Their only win was one they got by default. . . But such courage did not go un-noticed and just recently the whole team was entertained at a party given by their managers and parents for being such good sports. . .

EVERYONE got quite a surprise the other day when the first passenger train in some three years passed through Charlevoix. . . I thought someone was kidding me when I was told about it but it was true. . . A special train picking up more than 300 passengers at the Petoskey. . . Sponsored by the MRA at Mackinac Island, they were enroute to Los Angeles in an effort to counteract the awful riots staged there earlier this summer. . . Quite an undertaking. . .

Some things just don't make sense. . . At every turn we're asked to keep this great country of ours beautiful. . . "Don't be a litterbug" we're warned at every turn. . . "Preserve the natural beauty" is the hue and cry. . . of which is fine except that some people who are in a position to do something about it ignore the warning. . . Who do I have in mind? The people who turned the countryside a horrible brown in the middle of the summer by spraying everything in sight. . . grass, weeds, bushes, flowers, underbrush, everything. . . Why? Because it's cheaper. . . Personally I think it's a pretty costly operation. . . especially because every time the spray hits is gone forever. . . A waste, if anything. . . and nothing is any more unsightly than the "burned" look of the countryside. . . These people should listen to the conservationists instead of thinking that what's being said doesn't apply to them. . . Isn't that called turning a deaf ear?

WHILE the road commission is busy destroying the beauty of the countryside, others are busy planning ways to beautify it. . . Like the Kiwanis club which is planning to plant maple trees throughout the community. . . I don't know too much about the plans but I understand they have taken this on as a community project in order to keep Charlevoix a well-shaded community. . . What with modern conveniences such as gas and water where pipes are run underground, electric wires that require the cutting of branches and sidewalks which rob the trees of much-needed moisture, many of our maples have died. . . It is the aim of the Kiwanians to replace some of these trees so we will not have a barren community. . . A most commendable project I'm sure everyone will agree. . .

This is an SOS in behalf of Leader Dogs for the Blind. . . I'm sure that at some time or other you've seen a blind person being led by a dog. . . I'm equally sure that you've uttered a silent prayer that you have no need for such assistance. . . and have admired the ability of the dog and the courage of the blind person. . .

READERS of the Sat. Eve. Post received quite a surprise last week when they opened their magazine to find (on pg. 82) an ad bearing the legend "Nuclear power makes a good neighbor" and with it a colored picture of our own Big Rock Point power plant. . . Though there were three others, this was the only picture in color. . . And a most eye-catching picture it is, for, in the foreground is Huck Finn-type youngster with a stick for a fish pole, fishing in the stream that runs from the plant into Little Traverse Bay with the sphere and adjacent buildings and the familiar red and white stack forming the background. . .

And, as per usual, there's a story behind the picture. . . Seems our own Bob Miles, photographer par excellence, was asked to do the picture, using an old theme against the new with the power plant being the new. . . With a ready made stream at his disposal, why not a boy from the days of Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn complete with straw hat and jeans plus a fishpole? . . . It's really something. . . Take a look. . . Oh yes, the boy in the picture is Bob's nephew, John Goldstick. . . And one other thing. . . It's a GE ad, for this great company supplied the equipment for Michigan's first operating nuclear plant. . .

Autumn has arrived. . . tho' I'm sure that most of you figured the weatherman's calendar was out of kilter. . . what with the crazy mixed-up weather we've been having. . .

A-Powered Electricity Puts Charlevoix on Map

SMOKELESS and practically noiseless, Consumers' Big Rock Point nuclear power plant does little to disturb its wilderness setting.

Charlevoix visitors often are seen staring ominously at electric light bulbs and keeping a safe distance from electric toasters and other household appliances. Sooner or later, they're bound to blurt out: "Does your electricity really come from atomic energy?"

The correct answer to that query, according to Charles England, public relations man for Consumers' Power Company's Big Rock Point nuclear power plant, is "Maybe."

England says the electricity produced at Big Rock Point is fed into a Consumers power pool serving many parts of Michigan. Charlevoix families could just as easily be supplied with power originating in an old-fashioned hydro-electric plant on the Au Sable River or one of the big steam plants further south.

ACTUALLY, England, said there is absolutely no difference between electricity produced by the Big Rock Plant and one of the conventional Consumers' plants.

There is a difference, however, in the method of making the steam, which turns the turbines, which causes the generators to make electricity. In conventional plants, tons of coal are burned each day to produce steam. At Big Rock Point, the heat is supplied by atomic fission.

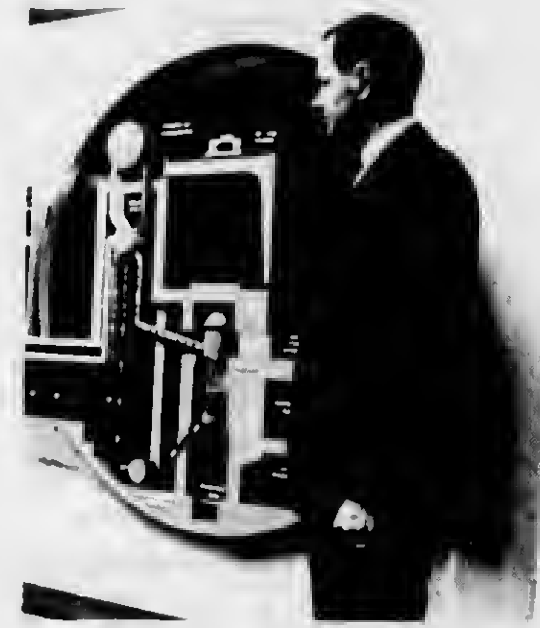

But there is absolutely no chance of an errant atom getting mixed up with the house current and burning the toast or annihilating you when you turn on the television set.

FROM JUNE through August this year, a total of 52,400 people visited the Big Rock Point plant, England said, bringing the total number of visitors since the plant opened in June, 1961, to 362,807.

He said attendance this summer was down slightly from last year's 85,800. He laid the drop to cool weather and the fact that the novelty of the Big Rock Point plant is beginning to wear off.

England said visitors don't actually enter the plant proper, but are made welcome at an "information center" adjacent to the huge spherical structure which houses the reactor.

Visitors may listen to a four-minute recital of plant operations on a tape-and-telephone hook-up, watch monitor television sets showing what is taking place inside the plant, and see a 12-minute movie on Big Rock activities. They also are invited out on an observation deck to have a look at the lake through a high-powered telescope.

PUBLIC relations man Charles England shows how plant works using three-dimensional wall display.

VISITORS hear four-minute lecture on plant operations simply by picking up a phone and pressing a button.

$66 Million Saved Clevenger Reports

Savings of more than $66 million for the Federal Government in the first six months of 1965 due to improved manpower management are reported by Congressman Raymond F. Clevenger (D-11th District).

The savings were revealed in a 26-page report prepared by the House of Representatives Subcommittee on Manpower, of which Clevenger is a member.

The subcommittee, Clevenger said, has used every means at its disposal to accomplish more efficient operation of government agencies.

"AT THE END of June we requested reports from the 26 largest departments and agencies to see what progress they had made in putting these money-saving practices into effect."

"We discovered that more than $66 million has been saved. However, much more can be done, and will be done. The subcommittee will keep its pressure on all departments to eliminate duplication of work and use the most economical purchasing programs."

The subcommittee's 26-page report summarizes management improvement accomplishments resulting in savings of a few thousand dollars to hundreds of thousands of dollars, Clevenger cited these examples:

Reorganization of the Bureau of Customs saved $9 million.

THE NAVY will save nearly $7 million, thanks to suggestions submitted by its employees and sailors.

The National Arboretum in Washington, D. C. will save more than $8,500 a year by using empty food cans, obtained free, instead of flowerpots for young plant stock in greenhouses and by using heavy paper bands instead of plastic containers for the same purpose.

The Department of Commerce will save $950,000 by centralizing its purchases.

"There are dozens of examples like these of big savings and little savings in our report," Clevenger said. "Because we have the backing of President Johnson, I believe this is only a start and that in our future reports the subcommittee will be able to reveal even bigger savings."

Lions' Governor Plans to Visit City on Oct. 4

Arthur L. "Art" Finch, governor of Michigan District 11E, Lions International, will make an official visit to the Charlevoix Lions Club Oct. 14. Finch is a graduate of Michigan State University and a veteran of World War I.

Until recently, he and his wife, Bernice, operated a commercial bookkeeping service in Frankfort. Since becoming a member of the Frankfort Lions Club, he has held the office of treasurer and president.

He subsequently was elected to the office of zone chairman, deputy district governor and district governor.

Finch will bring with him a display of gifts made to all district governors elect at the 1965 Lions International convention in Los Angeles which he attended.

New Plates Are Beige and Blue

If you like beige (tan) and blue, you'll be happy with the color combination of the 1966 Michigan license plates. Announcement was made recently by Secretary of State James M. Hare.

Contest

Mike missed on only four games. He picked Alabama over Texas Christian, Traverse City over Sault Ste. Marie, the University of Illinois over Oregon State, and the Los Angeles Rams over the Detroit Lions. The games went just the other way.

Mike's closest runner - up missed five, so there was no need to resort to the tie-breaker. (Incidentally, the total score in the Southern Methodist U. - Miami tie-breaker game was 10.)

MRS. HILDA Gibson of the Courier who checks all entries says that several were disqualified because they failed to include the deadline from Pg. 1 of last week's courier. She said several contestants also failed to figure the total score of the tie-breaker game, but simply gave the winner.

In event of a tie, the contestant who comes closest to the total points scored in the tie-breaker game will win. The contestant entering the contest from the furthest distance was Dave Smith, a student at Central Michigan College in Mt. Pleasant, who receives the Courier.

This week's contest and full instructions appear on Pg. 8 of today's Courier.

Chest

He also said that untied giving helps keep collection costs to a minimum, putting more dollars to work for worthwhile purposes.

Final phase of the drive-- home solicitations --- got underway Monday with a kick-off coffee at the Weatherline Terrace.

PRECINCT CAPTAINS heard pop talks by Bourgeois, Community Chest president Don Anders and Mrs. Charles Duerr, Community Chest secretary.

Rainy weather kept many workers from attending the meeting, but about 35 showed up to receive final solicitation instructions. Door-to-door collections will continue until the entire city is canvassed.

Although the drive didn't start officially until Sept. 13, preliminary collections were made during the summer among seasonal residents and businesses, with donations amounting to more than 20 per cent of the goal.

Serving coffee and doughnuts at Monday's get-together were Mrs. Robert Anderson and Mrs. Phil Martin.

A general description of the agenda and details of what took place at the convention will be given, along with Finch's views on what makes Lions International the largest service organization in the world.

Foreign Job Tests Scheduled Dec. 4

Young men and women interested in careers in the U.S. Foreign Service should apply immediately for tests that will be given in Upper Michigan, Dec. 4, Congressman Raymond F. Clevenger (D-11th District) announced.

The tests will be conducted in Marquette and Gaylord, Clevenger said. To take the tests persons must write to the Board of Examiners for the Foreign Service, Department of State, Washington, D. C. 20520, requesting a copy of State Department Form DSP-24. This form must be filled out and returned by mail no later than Oct. 18, Clevenger said.

Applicants for the December 4 written tests must be at least 21 and under 31. Exceptions are made for persons 20 years old who have completed their junior year in college.

THE WRITTEN examinations, Clevenger said, are the first of five stages in the selection process.

"To fulfill its responsibilities, the State Department must attract the most imaginative, dedicated minds that our country can supply," Clevenger said. "There are young men and women of this caliber in Upper Michigan and I hope they will take advantage of this opportunity to serve their country and find a challenging and satisfying career for themselves."

Salaries in the Foreign Service start at $6,050 and range up to $27,000.

Pair Face Trial on B&E Charge

Lonnie Ray McBee, 20, of Detroit, and Alfred Frank Gregwaro, 22, of Boyne City, have been bound over to the October session of Charlevoix County Circuit Court on a charge of breaking and entering.

The men are charged with entering a cottage owned by T. Freeman in Hudson Township and taking foodstuffs, according to Justice John Connolly.

The pontoons and dredged material will provide a road out into the lake which will enable Bultema to refuel its dredges on the scene, rather than bringing them into Charlevoix Harbor. The pontoons and roadway will be removed when the harbor is finished.

The Big John, the largest piece of equipment on the job, arrived in Charlevoix Friday.

COURIER WEATHERMAN Harry Ladd shows rainfall recording device in his backyard on Park Ave.

Weather Summary Starts in Courier

Beginning with this issue, the Charlevoix Courier will carry a weekly weather summary, supplied by Harry Ladd, 714 Park Ave.

Although there is no U. S. Weather Bureau in Charlevoix as such, Ladd does supply the U. S. government with information on local precipitation and temperatures.

His weekly summary for the Courier will include the high and low temperatures for the week, from one Monday afternoon to the next, as well as the amount of rainfall or snowfall.

LADD, an auditor for the Michigan Employment Security Commission, has two pieces of equipment for measuring rainfall. One of them is an experimental device surrounded by free-swinging metal strips which the Weather Bureau feels may give a more accurate reading than conventional recording devices.

The metal strips block gusts of wind, resulting in a more even fall.

The container holding the rain is actually 10 times larger than the tubular recording device inside. To get correct reading, Ladd measures the water in the container and divides by 10.

Now for the weather news. Ladd says in the past week, Charlevoix has .81 of an inch rain, considerably less than Charlevoixians might expect after fighting flooded gutters and leaky basements all week.

A high temperature of 72 degrees was recorded Sept. 21. The low was 28 degrees on Monday, Sept. 28.

Ladd said if any snow fell on the area Saturday night, it melted before dawn Sunday.

He says he often has noticed that what is rain on the lake-shore where he lives turns to snow three or four miles inland.

Armour Circus Arrives in City

The Armour Circus, featuring 65 animated robots from West Germany, will be on display at Oleson's Food Store at the shopping plaza through Oct. 9.

Valued at $14,000, the mechanical figures are part of a big promotion program featuring weight guessing and mystery shopper contests, according to Manager Bill Cooper.

Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays this week and next the store will offer hot dogs and coke for 10 cents, bags of popcorn for a penny and candy apples for a dime.

IN THE WEIGHT guessing contest, customers will be asked to guess the weight of store personnel. Winners will receive produce prizes. In the mystery shopper contest, a careful description of a shopper picked at random will be given over the store's public address system. The shopper who spots the correct customer will get a prize, along with the customer described.

Highlight of the two-week celebration will be the animated displays which will be located throughout the store. Animals of all descriptions—camels, elephants, polar bears and rabbits—along with an assortment of miniature human figures will move about, sing and play musical instruments. David Lyons of Jackson is traveling with the exhibit, helping to set it up at the various stores where Armour products are sold.

Chest Drive Hits 75 Pct. of Goal

The Charlevoix Community Chest drive has reached about 75 per cent of its $12,709 goal, according to chairman

New Writers Join Courier

Two new correspondents have joined the Courier.

They are Mrs. Anne Osterbaan who will handle Ellsworth news and Mrs. Jasper Warner who will handle Barnard news.

Mrs. Osterbaan may be reached days at LUzon 8-2322. After 5 p.m. and Saturdays she may be reached at LUzon 8-2433.

Mrs. Warner may be reached at Liberty 7-2025.

Both correspondents will appreciate your prompt reporting of news events to make sure they reach the Courier in time for publication.

Frank Bourgoin.

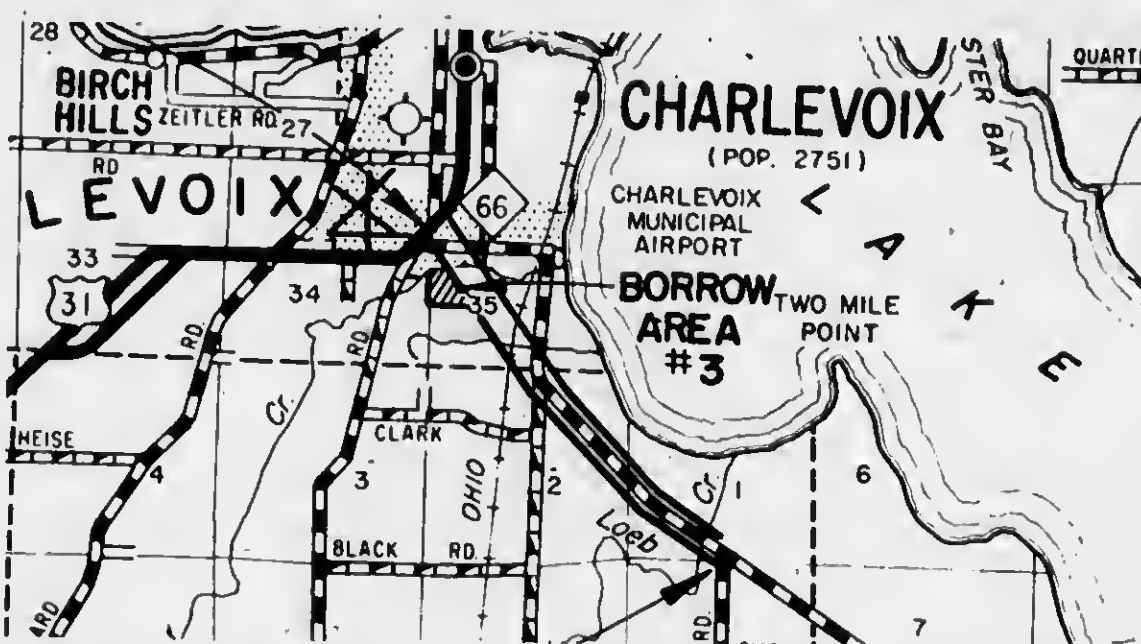

Bourgoin urged all workers to report their pledges and gifts as promptly as possible so that an accurate accounting can be made by the end of the month.

SO FAR, the commercial division is the only one with a complete report. Indications are the division has achieved its goal and then some.

The industrial division is nearly complete, although returns from American Mold are still outstanding.

In the professional division, the hospital, Air Force Base, the Sundew and the Post Office are yet to be heard from.

MONEY collected and pledged in the drive will go toward the support of about 50 health and community services in the Charlevoix area, Bourgoin said.

ARROW shows proposed re-location of M-66, a plan which has now been scrapped by the state. New route would have eliminated sharp turns.

THIS TRACT of land east of the cemetery entrance is the parcel wanted by the state. Charlevoix wouldn't sell until replacement grave sites could be found.

MRS. GEORGE PLUMM
What Next?

Mrs. George Plumm, 102 W. Lincoln, is the first woman to walk off with the $10 prize in the Charlevoix Courier's football contest. The contest is in its second year.

Mrs. Plumm, who says she has never won anything before in her life, is particularly anxious to show the prize money to her nephews, who teased her when she was filling out her entry about some of her choices.

To rub it in, Mrs. Plumm said she might even share some of her prize money with nephew Richard Plumm, 14.

Places Blame on City

The State Highway Department has postponed indefinitely its plans to relocate and improve about two and one-half miles of highway M-66 linking Charlevoix with Iron-ton and East Jordan.

The state blamed Charlevoix's reluctance to part with two and one-half acres of city cemetery property for the cancellation.

The city has said it is perfectly willing to sell, but wants to secure other vacant land adjacent to the cemetery before giving up the property.

STATE HIGHWAY Director Howard E. Hill said total cost of the scrapped project was $446,000. Bids for the work were to have been asked in February.

According to Hill, plans had to be dropped when the city refused to consider $9,700 in settlement for a 2.5-acre parcel of municipally-owned land located immediately south of Slover Road in Charlevoix.

He said acquisition of the parcel is necessary for re-locating M-66.

Hill said the Department made an offer based on the fair market value but city representatives demanded the state obtain and then exchange.

Final Plans Made for St. Marys Fair

Final arrangements have been completed for St. Marys School Fair Saturday, Oct. 9, in the School Hall from 4 to 8 p.m.

Co-chairmen announce there will be three new booths this year. Mrs. William Haggard will head the make-up booth where boys may become "clownfaces" and girls can doll up like their favorite movie stars.

Children will be able to add to their costumes by visiting the hat booth under the chairmanship of Mrs. Ted Browe. A duck pond, with Mrs. Bernard del'Etoile as chairman will cater to younger children with plastic ducks floating in a tub of water. Youngsters will catch a duck and receive a prize corresponding to the number on the duck.

ANDREW PETERS will be attending the ring-the-bottle booth designed for young adults and featuring large stuffed animals and new dolls as prizes.

Other booths to tempt the fairgoer will be the dart game, George Mossey chairman, and the grab bag, Mrs. Louis MacKenzie chairman.

Fishermen can try their skill under the direction of Mrs. Charles Sonnenberg at the fish pond. Gold fish will again be swimming around under the watchful eye of Mrs. Frank Bourgoin.

Dredge Big John Back in Service

The clam shell dredge "Big John" has moved out into Lake Michigan again with a boom 30 feet shorter than she started with.

The mammoth piece of dredging equipment, which is being used to construct a temporary harbor off shore from Medusa Cement Co. property on South Point, was disabled early last week when the 110-foot boom crumpled due to metal fatigue or imperfect welds.

Russ Leyman, project superintendent for the Bulwark Dock and Dredge Co., had the rig towed into Charlevoix Harbor while the dredge "Big Joe" out of Cheboygan salvaged the broken boom section.

Shortening and welding the two sections together took just a week, with crews working 'round the clock.

The Coast Guard helicopter at Traverse City was pressed into service Monday when a seasonal resident on Beaver Island fell from the roof of the cottage he was shingling.

The victim was Gerald Hilbink, 60, of Holland who lost his footing and fell ten feet to the ground.

Hilbink was working on the family's new summer cottage, located at the south end of Lake Geneserth, about three miles from St. James.

HILBINK was suffering considerable pain, and the island's only physician, Dr. Howard Haynes, had left on the early boat for Charlevoix and was expected to be gone most of the day.

The injured man was placed on a heavy sheet of plywood and taken to the island airstrip in the back of a LaFreniere's station wagon. Then Coast Guard headquarters at Charlevoix Hospital, Guardsmen here notified Traverse City, and within minutes a helicopter was enroute to the island, accompanied by a sea plane escort.

Using the plywood as a stretcher, Hilbink was lifted into the aircraft and taken to Charlevoix Hospital. Winchester's ambulance met the 'copter and Hilbink was rushed to Charlevoix Hospital.

At the airport, the patient was examined briefly by Dr. Haynes, who happened to be at the airstrip enroute back to the island from Traverse City. X-rays at Charlevoix Hospital indicated Hilbink had broken several ribs on the right side in his fall, according to Dr. L. E. Grate. He was placed in a body splint and is reported resting comfortably.

Mrs. Hilbink, who accompanied her husband aboard the 'copter from the island to Charlevoix, said Hilbink has been a building contractor for 30 years without an accident. While their cottage is under construction, the Hilbinks have been staying at the Komper cottages. They had been on the island one week.

BEAVER ISLAND vacationer Gerald Hilbink is removed from Coast Guard helicopter at airport en route to Charlevoix Hospital. Hilbink suffered broken ribs when he fell from the roof of his new cottage.

Two More Sailors Join Local Lifeboat Station

FRANK HARANGOZO

OTIS MCKEITHAN

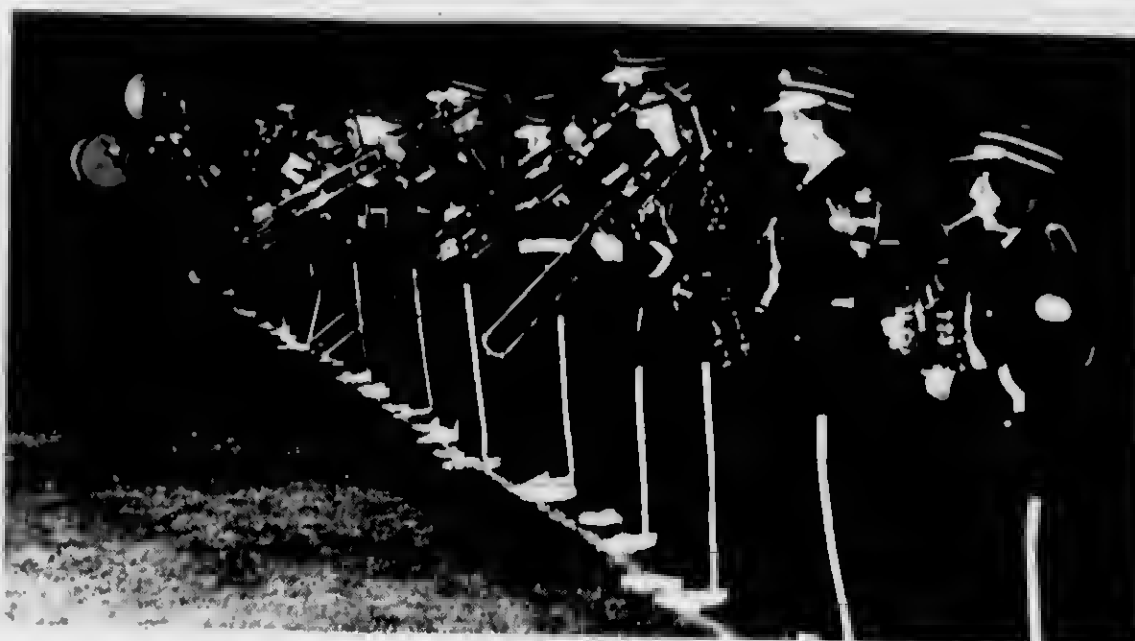

Two newcomers to the Coast Guard Lifeboat Station at Charlevoix are Frank Harangozo, 18, a seaman apprentice, and Otis McKeithan, BMC, a veteran of almost 18 years in the Coast Guard. Harangozo joined the local unit in August after enlisting in the Coast Guard June 15 in Randolph, Ohio, his hometown.

He came to Charlevoix after nine weeks of boot training at Cape May, N. J.

McKeithan, who also came to Charlevoix from Cape May, started his service career in the Army. After serving at Ft. Jackson S. Carolina, Japan, Korea, Ft. Hood, Texas, he was discharged. Then he joined the Coast Guard and has been in ever since.

Aside from Cape May he has been stationed at Norfolk, Va., and Groton, Conn.

He and his wife, Lita, have two children, Nancy, 17, and Jim, 10. They live at 305 Clinton St.

THE CHARLEVOIX HIGH SCHOOL Marching Band got off on the right foot with a rousing halftime demonstration at the Charlevoix-Mancelona game Friday night. Wet weather kept the band from practicing outside until just before game time, but the precision demanded by director Clarence Odmark paid off on the parade ground. Temperatures which plunged into the 40's didn't make their task any easier.

Talk of the Town

In Traverse City last week for a meeting of District 5, Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan, were Mrs. Harley Ochs, Mrs. Max Hosmer, Mrs. Curtis Burlin, Mrs. Ross Alexander, Mrs. William Paddock, Mrs. Harry Ladd, Mrs.

H. E. Paddock, Mrs. Norma Moerland, Mrs. Ralph S. Hamilton, and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.

Diane Uhrick has returned to her studies at Michigan State University and her brothers, Jack and James, have enrolled as freshman students at the same school. Their mother, Mrs. John Uhrick, took them to East Lansing.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gordon and his sister, Miss Ann Gordon, visited several days last week with friends here while on a northern Michigan vacation trip. They are former residents.

Charles Bellinger, Frank Novotny and Phil Martin of Charlevoix and Fred Vogel of East Jordan have returned home from a week's fishing trip near Iron Bridge, Ont. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Edwards left Thursday for Alton where they attended the wedding of her nephew, James Anderson and Judith M. Finnegan on Saturday. They went on to Birmingham before returning home Sunday.

Convert your home or business to economical Natural Gas heat today and pay nothing until July 1, 1966.

Convert now to Gas heat and Michigan Consolidated Gas Company will buy your unused oil or coal—even remove your oil tank—all at no cost to you. What's more, whether you convert your present furnace, or even install a new Gas furnace, we'll pay the bill. And all you pay us, between now and next July, is for the Gas you'll use to make this your most comfortable winter ever. Here's how this special limited-time offer works:

1. If you're now heating with oil, we'll buy what's left in your storage tank—at the price you paid for it. What's more, we'll remove your tank from your home or business and even haul it away if you want. All at no cost to you.

2. If you're now heating with coal, we'll take what coal you have on hand, off your hands. And pay you whatever it cost you originally.

3. Whether you convert your present furnace, or even install a new Gas furnace, we'll pay for it and its installation by a qualified heating contractor, and it won't cost you a penny until next July. You can pay for the unit and its installation on July 1, 1966 with no carrying charge whatsoever. Or if you prefer you can make equal monthly payments including carrying charges on your Gas bill over a period of up to three years after July 1, 1966. Mrs. William Scott Supernaw

William Supernaw, Miss Schad Wed

Christy Jane Schad and William Scott Supernaw exchanged marriage vows Sept. 25 at the First Presbyterian Church, Birmingham.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Frederick Schad of 623 Bloomfield Court and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ivan Supernaw of 1104 Bridge St., Charlevoix.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white gown of delicate satin beaded in pearls and crystalline over the entire dress and detachable chapel train. A matching satin headpiece secured an elbow length silk illusion veil. She carried two white orchids.

HONOR ATTENDANT was Miss Karen Uhrick of Charlevoix who wore a floor-length avocado green crepe sheath dress, with a short jacket of brocade. She wore a matching green pillbox hat and a corsage of cymbidium orchids.

Other attendants were Mrs. Wiltard Valpey of Franklin, Mich., Miss Mary Krupp of Detroit, and Miss Martha Foren of Lake Annetes, Mich. Their costumes were similar to that worn by the maid of honor.

Samuel Supernaw of East Lansing was his brother's best man. Ushers were the bride's brother, Kenneth Schad of Birmingham, Donald Detozler of Grosse Pointe, James Carnes of Grosse Pointe and James Blackletter of Royal Oak.

Mrs. Schad wore a candlelight antique silk satin floor length gown with an overblouse of matching color bordered with crystal beads. Her corsage was of cymbidium orchids.

MRS. SUPERNAW wore a turquoise brocade sheath, floor length, with a matching jacket. She also wore an orchid corsage.

Following the ceremony, a dinner and reception were held at Kingsley Inn, Bloomfield Hills.

After a wedding trip to Florida and Nassau the couple will live in Florida.

The bride is a graduate of Seasholm High School in Birmingham and the University of Michigan, where she was affiliated with Delta Gamma sorority.

The bridegroom was graduated from Michigan State University in 1963 where he was affiliated with Psi Upsilon fraternity. He has served 13 months in Korea as an Army officer, and has eight months active duty remaining in Florida.

Act Fast in Eye Disease

Early discovery and proper correction of a fairly rare eye disorder among young children may prevent virtual loss of vision in the affected eye, according to Dr. Thomas E. Sandon of the Michigan Ophthalmic Association.

The eye disorder, called amblyopia, is a visual affliction which usually begins in one eye during early childhood as a dimness of sight, and in the absence of early detection and proper treatment, may result in little or no vision in that eye.

It is estimated that amblyopia affects about two percent of the population of about two million Americans. In describing amblyopia, Dr. Sandon underscored the importance of having every child's eyes professionally examined as early as possible to detect the possible existence of this particular eye disorder or any of several other conditions.

"GENERALLY, the earlier that correction of any eye disorder is started, the better," he stated. "Where amblyopia is found to exist, six months to three years are considered to be good ages to begin therapy."

The spokesman for the Michigan Ophthalmic Association pointed out that since amblyopia most often occurs in one eye only, people are often unaware of it. "Comparison of vision of one eye with the other is one way that it can be discovered." Amblyopia should also be suspected in cases of a "turned" eye.

Dr. Sandon advised that although amblyopia should be suspected in conditions of a "turned" eye or where there is a substantial difference in the focusing power of the two eyes, the best detection is by an ophthalmic examination.

HE CAUTIONED parents in particular against needless worry that accompanies a diagnosis of amblyopia. The condition, which usually begins in childhood during preschool years and goes undiagnosed into adulthood, is not caused by a disease process and it can generally be corrected if discovered early enough. One chief concern is that if a person with an amblyopic eye should injure his good eye, he might find himself without useful vision.

"Early detection and early treatment are the best protection against the effects of amblyopia," advised Dr. Sandon. "Optometric care of amblyopias may include the use of corrective lenses or temporary patching or covering of the better eye which improves the amblyopic eye, and/or vision training."

Mrs. Spare Wed in Quiet Rites

Mrs. Charles Spare and Peter N. Nelson of Potomac, Md., exchanged their wedding vows at a quiet ceremony solemnized at the First Congregational Church here Friday afternoon.

The Rev. Lawrence Tenhopen officiated at the ceremony in the presence of her immediate family.

The bride selected a turquoise taffeta gown, matching accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds for her wedding.

HER DAUGHTER, Mrs. Robert Goss, as her only attendant, wore a champagne silk shantung gown and beige accessories. Her corsage was also of pink roses.

Mr. Goss assisted the bridegroom as best man.

A wedding dinner for the bride and groom and their guests followed at Grey Gables Inn.

After a wedding trip to southern Michigan, the couple will return here. They plan to make their home here and in Polton, Mont.

Order for Tile Is Link With Home

The Coleman family has found it's a smaller world than they thought it was when they left Charlevoix.

James G. F. Coleman, Peter J. Coleman and Geoffrey A. Coleman were long-time residents of Charlevoix before moving to Scottsdale, Ariz., to open a floor covering business.

They say that although they are only infrequent summer visitors here now, they still consider Charlevoix "home."

A MAJOR part of their business in Arizona is furnishing floor coverings of various types to U. S. government agencies across the country, through a contract with the General Services Administration in Washington, D. C. Although the Colemans supply military bases in many states, they were surprised when the mail Sept. 22 brought an order for $275.80 worth of vinyl asbestos floor tile for the Lansing Shoal Light Station, U. S. Coast Guard, c/o Charlevoix Station.

Needless to say, the order from "home" got special handling and prompt action.

Talk of the Town

Howard Majors and Michael Arbuckle left Saturday for East Lansing to enter Michigan State University. They are the sons of Rev. and Mrs. George L. Majors and Mrs. Marion Arbuckle.

The annual convention of the Northern Michigan Road Commissioners Association was held at the Park Place Motor Inn in Traverse City last week. Representing the Charlevoix County Road Commission at the meeting were Ivan Pitts and Leo Sommerville of East Jordan, commissioners, Ralph S. Hamilton, clerk of the commission, and Jack Fitzgerald, engineer-manager of the commission. Mrs. Phillippe and Mrs. Sommerville accompanied their husbands.

Louis Edwards and Larry Anders returned late Monday from a five day trip to London, Ont. Enroute they visited friends in nearby Preston, Ont., and at Harbor Beach with Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bowen.

Susan Pearl has returned to her studies at Michigan State University after spending a month here. She had attended the summer session there. She accompanied her father, Robert Pearl and sister, Roberta, on a vacation trip around Lake Superior before returning to classes. Her father took her to East Lansing.

Kay Halverson, student at Michigan State University where she is majoring in Elementary Education, was an observer in the early elementary grades of the Charlevoix public school where she had her "September Experience," a part of the training program at the university. She had spent the month at the family cottage on Lake Charlevoix and left Saturday to return to her home in Flint before returning to classes in East Lansing. Her mother, Mrs. Martin Halverson, who has been at the cottage, returned to Flint with her.

Are You WANDERING

We have a goal to make, a peace to seek; a life to live and Heaven to reach. But without DIRECTION you won't attain any of them. You won't get many places WANDERING around.

A plan, a program, a blueprint is absolutely necessary. Have you lost the influence of hour of worship in your church each week? Have you lost interest in people and the Christian pleasure you derive from helping others? If so, you are without direction. You are a wanderer. You are headed for the ditch. Your destiny is a miserable failure and your life will be futile. You need to open The Old Book and read a few of those signboards printed in red.

Stop wandering! Let God have a talk with you.

You In The Church

The Church In You — form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader, and attend services regularly.

Rayders Walk Over Mancelona

Final Score 25 to 0

Charlevoix Rayders walked all over a smaller and lighter Mancelona team Friday night 25 to 0, giving them a one-point rating in conference play.

This week the Rayders are girding for their Friday encounter with Gaylord, which tied Harbor Springs last week in their conference opener, 12-12.

Mancelona and Charlevoix were believed fairly well matched this season, both having lost a sizeable portion of their first-string lineup last year, but the Rayders outplayed their visitors all the way.

Charlevoix's first TD came about 4 1/2 minutes left in the first quarter. John Ferguson and Steve Smith were ball carriers in the drive, setting up Mark Bourgoin to take the ball over. The conversion point was lost.

THE SECOND quarter began with a TD campaign, with Steve Smith scoring before the period was two minutes old. The remainder of the second quarter was scoreless, but there was ample action with a flurry of pass interceptions in the final minutes.

Once Bourgoin was brought down out-of-bounds, scattering the Charlevoix bench. The third quarter was scoreless, with Charlevoix losing yardage due to a clipping penalty and indecisive pass attempts.

The fourth quarter started with a holding penalty against Charlevoix. Bob Holtzman actually took the ball over, but there was no score.

Midway in the quarter, a ground drive culminated in Bourgoin taking the ball across for the second time in the game, but once again Charlevoix felled in the conversion attempt leaving bringing the score to 19-0.

Later, with only two minutes to play, Packy Warner scored the fourth Rayder TD from the four-yard line. Once again Charlevoix failed to make the conversion point, leaving the final score 25-0.

S. Manitou Cedar Sets U.S. Record

The nation's largest white cedar tree, standing more than 100 feet high and measuring 208 inches in girth, has been discovered on South Manitou Island, according to the State Conservation Department.

South Manitou Island lies about 45 miles southwest of Charlevoix in Lake Michigan. The Conservation Department says the tree stands in a unique forest of giant white cedars in a protected valley on the southwest corner of the island.

THE MAMMOTH tree is one of 50 giant specimens in the state which are making Michigan famous as a "Big Tree" state.

State champion tree designations are based solely on the circumference in inches measured at a height of four and one-half feet above normal ground level. However, national champions are judged on over-all bigness, based on girth, height in feet, and one-fourth of the average crown spread of the tree measured in feet.

To aid in recognition and preservation of Michigan's "Big Trees," the Michigan Botanical Club awards 4 x 6 inch aluminum plaques to the several trees of each species which are of exceptional size.

APPROXIMATELY 150 such signs have been mounted on large trees throughout the state to stimulate interest in saving Michigan's outstanding trees.

Oakland County north of Detroit has two record-breakers to its credit. One is the state champion black oak, measuring 202 inches in girth, in the city of Royal Oak, while the national champion swamp oak, 213 inches in girth and towering 103 feet, is located six miles north of Rochester.

A gigantic black willow

(girth 313 inches) stands on the grounds of the State Hospital there, a majestic white birch (132 in.) towers 100 feet high along the eastern shore of Lake Leelanau, and a 203-inch basswood stands in the schoolyard near the lip of the Old Mission Peninsula.

In the Upper Peninsula, towering white pine, hemlock, and balsam fir can be found in the Porcupine and Huron mountains.

HE SAID once the moose were sighted, the seaplane landed and hunters aboard had a crack at them from the pontoons.

Gibelyou's prize was a bull-moose which he downed from about 150 yards. The animal had a 37 inch rack and was estimated at three and one-half years old.

THE ANIMAL yielded about 400 pounds of moose meat, and was so large it had to be quartered to be removed from the woods by plane. Gibelyou left Charlevoix Sept. 12 and returned Sept. 20, camping out a total of five days. Part of the time his party was grounded by rain and fog. Throat River had its first snow on Labor Day, he said.

Military Careers Offered

Qualified young men in Upper Michigan are being offered an opportunity for nomination to the United States military academies.

Congressman Raymond F. Clevenger (D-11th District) has invited all interested men between 17 - 22 years of age to apply for nomination to the Navy Academy, Air Force Academy, Merchant Marine Academy, Coast Guard Academy of West Point.

Nomination applications are available from Clevenger by writing him at 1319 Longworth HOB, Washington, D.C. All persons applying must take series of examinations required of all candidates.

CLEVELER said he expects to be able to appoint at least one person to each of the military academies.

"Young men selected for admission to one of the service academies receive an outstanding education at government expense," Clevenger said. While academy graduates are free to leave the military service four years after graduation, their doing so is a loss to the service and to the country. Consequently, I am anxious to select young men who sincerely intend to make a career of military service."

Men interested in being considered by one of the academies must complete their application form and return it to Clevenger no later than October 15.

Clockwise

With Bob Clock

I received an airmail letter the other day from a friend in the Peace Corps in Thailand. The letter was mailed on Friday, Sept. 17, and was delivered in Charlevoix Monday, Sept. 20, with total traveling time somewhere between three and four days. Not bad, when you consider that Thailand is just about as far away from Charlevoix as you can get and still be on this planet.

Mail service to other countries hasn't always been so fast or so reliable. I remember one tragicomic instance shortly after World War II which hinged upon a mail delivery breakdown somewhere between Detroit, Mich., and a small town in Poland.

THE WARRING nations had no sooner laid down arms than Americans with relatives and friends in war-torn European countries began flooding the mails with all manner of foodstuffs—staples and luxuries—which had been in short supply during the long years of hostilities. The CARE package organization hadn't yet come into being, and the barrage of edibles was fired overseas pretty much on a person to person and family to family basis.

Now it happened that the matriarch of a Polish family which moved to Detroit during the 1920's had been in failing health throughout most of the war, but clung to life with the determined hope that when her time came she would be buried in her native Poland. This wish was often expressed to members of her family who made solemn pledges that they would do everything in their power to see that her earthly remains would be interred in the churchyard of her old hometown.

Fortified with this assurance, the old woman went to her eternal rest shortly after the war ended, confident she would awaken on Judgment Day among scenes familiar to her girlhood. And true to their word, the family set about finding some way to send grandma back to the land she loved.

IT SOON became apparent that sending the body intact was out of the question. Air schedules between the United States and European cities still reeling from the effects of the most devastating war in history had not been re-established. And shipment by water was slow and uncertain.

At length, the family decided to have grandma cremated and her ashes sent home with one of the regular food shipments. When the deed was done, the largest and tightest container they could find for the ashes was a large commercial cinnamon can which they thought would provide a snug crypt for the long voyage home. The day the package was mailed, they sent a letter to the family in Europe, explaining that grandma had died, that her ashes were en route, and that they were to be buried in accordance with her wishes in her old hometown.

Well, the package made the trip with a hitch, but the letter became bogged down in the mails and didn't reach its destination for nearly six months.

In the meantime, the Polish recipients of the package were delighted with their latest windfall, for it contained, along with the canned meat and navy beans, a big red can of cinnamon, a condiment which hadn't been available on local grocery shelves since the war started.

Not too many hours passed before a regular procession of sweet rolls, coffee cakes and cookies began emerging from the oven, each new offering liberally seasoned with the contents of the big red can. Somehow, the cinnamon didn't have quite the taste they remembered, but the war years had been long and the memory for taste is sometimes tricky. So for six months that cinnamon can was trotted out with the other ingredients whenever the lady of the house did some baking. In fact, it was practically gone when that long delayed letter from Detroit emerged from the mails explaining that grandma had died and wanted so desperately to be buried in her old hometown.

August Shipping Best Since 1957 on Great Lakes

Transportation of iron ore, coal and grain over the Great Lakes in August set an eight-year high for the month, totaling 21,527,774 net tons, the Lake Carrier's Association reported today.

This compared with 22,644,574 tons carried in August, 1957, and 20,464,804 tons moved in the corresponding month last year, according to Oliver T. Burnham, Association vice president and secretary.

Ore shipments of 10,406,756 gross tons were highest for the month since 1957; coal advanced slightly to 7,215,033 net tons; while grain edged down to 2,657,172 net tons, second highest tonnage for the month on record, and topped only by the 2,716,966 tons moved in August last year. Only 10 per cent of the cargoes, however, moved in U. S. ships.

Combined shipments of the three commodities moved this year to September 1 amounted to 92,294,630 tons, more than 2 million tons ahead of the corresponding figure for last year and highest since 1960 when 94,621,620 tons were moved.

Ford Products Bow Oct. 1

Ford Motor Co. has taken the wraps off its 1966 Ford and Mercury automobiles. The Ford line -- including the Ford, Mustang, Falcon and Thunderbird -- and the Mercury and the Mercury Comet all go on sale Oct. 1.

FORD
M. S. McLaughlin, Ford Division Assistant General Manager, says new safety, convenience, quietness and performance features have been built into the 1966 Ford, which was completely re-designed last year.

Important revisions have been made in the revolutionary Ford suspension design introduced in 1965 to provide an even quieter ride and better handling in 1966. Front spring and shock absorber rates have been modified, and the rear suspension track bar has been lowered to achieve a better "balanced" ride.

The number of engines available to Ford buyers has been increased to nine in 1966 from six in 1965.

HEADING the list of new engine choices is a 428-cu.-inch V-8 with hydraulic valve lifters. This engine is standard in the new 7-Litre series, and is optional on all other Ford models.

The new 428 can be ordered with automatic transmission, power steering, power brakes, air conditioning and limited-slip differential -- options not available with the extra high-performance 427 engine.

A special handling package similar to that standard with the 427 engine -- including heavy-duty shock absorbers, springs and stabilizer bar -- is optional for 426 - powered cars.

THE SKILLFUL blending of crisp and soft surfaces gives the 1966 Ford a look that is new but still clearly Ford. The new silhouette includes a hop-up in the rear-quarter area -- with a sculptured line in the lower rear quarter, like last year's Thunderbird. A sculptured windshield runs from the front fender to the rear quarter.

MUSTANG
After 17 months of success as a 1965 model, the Mustang becomes a 1966 with new sports and luxury features. New styling touches, a five-dial instrument cluster and new safety features are standard on all 1966 Mustangs. New Mustang options include a Stereo-sonic tape player for music lovers and a high performance engine/automatic transmission combination.

FALCON
Drawing upon the two most successful cars ever introduced -- the Mustang and the Falcon -- Ford Division has combined trend - setting features of both in the 1966 Falcon.

"It took the Mustang to de-throne the Falcon as the most popular new car in automotive history," said Walter T. Murphy, Division general marketing manager. "For 1966 -- with the most sweeping changes since its record-setting introduction -- the Falcon in effect becomes a family Mustang."

Nothing the Mustang touches in the 1966 Falcon styling -- long hood, short rear deck, rear quarter "hop-up" and round wheel openings -- Murphy emphasized that traditional Falcon features also have been retained.

THUNDERBIRD
The elegance, sportiness and distinctive features that new and higher standards for 1966.

Gordon B. MacKenzie, Ford Division general sales manager, said four Thunderbird ENTIRELY new styling of the 1966 Fairlane is dramatically displayed in the photo of the Fairlane 500/XL 2-door hardtop, above, and the Fairlane GT convertible, below. Indicative of the broadened family and sports appeal of the 1966 Fairlane is the new model selection -- four series instead of two and 13 models instead of eight. The two new Fairlane series -- the Fairlane 500/XL and the Fairlane GT -- are available in convertible and 2 - door hardtop models designed for sports- and luxury-oriented customers. Stimulated hood lowers and the famed Ford GT racing stripes above the rocker panel are among distinguishing features of the Fairlane. All 1966 Fairlanes will be in Ford dealer showrooms beginning October 1.

models will be offered in 1966 compared with three in 1965. The new lineup includes the convertible and hardtop which are retained and a new Town Landau and Town Hardtop which feature a new roof line.

New features for 1966 include an overhead safety-convenience console in "Town" roof models, a new Stereo-sonic tape player built into the radio in the center console, and a new fingertip automatic Highway Pilot speed control integrated into the steering wheel.

S. State Department.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ranger left Monday for Ann Arbor where Mr. Ranger was to enter St. Joseph Hospital for observation. Their daughter, Mrs. Jerry Finney of Birmingham, who had been in northern Michigan white at-

The new Mercury features a fresh front end appearance, with new hood, fenders, bumper, grille and lights. Rear appearance is changed with new taillamp assemblies and rear bumper arms which increase the overall length by two inches to 220 inches. Fairport Plans to Build Pier Into Round Lake

The marina Fairport of Charlevoix has asked permission from the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers to construct a wood pile and timber bulkhead and piers out into Round Lake offshore from 307 Belvedere Avenue.

The property was purchased by Fairport last spring, although the marina has rented the property for the past five years.

The marina is owned by Phil Lawrence and Geoffrey and Muriel Parie.

MRS. PATRIE says two piers are planned, one 100 feet long and the other 65 feet long. They will be used to dock boats while being serviced. Fairport does electronic installations and maintenance.

Col. Edward C. Bruee, District Engineer for the Corps of Engineers, says anyone with objections to the proposed pier installation should file their protests with his office in Detroit not later than 4:30 p.m. Oct. 11, 1965.

tending a Michigan Cooperative Circulum program conference at Boyne Mountain, returned to southern Michigan with them.

Mrs. Marie Mitchell left Sunday for Indianapolis to visit her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry McDaniell. She plans to return home Oct. 4.

Mr. and Mrs. George Verwys of Vestal, N. Y., announce the birth of their third daughter, Heather, on Sept. 23. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Abe Verwys.

There are two ways to get into the rear of every 1966 Ford station wagon -- over the tailgate or through the door. Ford's latest station wagon innovation is a dual-action tailgate. Open it with the center latch, left, and it's a tailgate. Open it with the handle, right, and it's a door. Illustrated on the 1966 Ford Country Squire Wagon, top, the new feature is standard on all Ford and Fairlane station wagons and is optional on Falcon wagons. The door feature permits easy passenger entry and provides ready access to a lockable storage compartment.

Saving Wilderness Parks

Perhaps it is only natural that at a time when so much wilderness is coming under the ax and the bulldozer there should be a frantic scramble by lawmakers to preserve a few scraps of land the way they were when the white man first paddled his canoe into these waters.

The U.S. Senate, for example, finally has passed a compromise bill incorporating ten unspoiled miles of Lake Michigan shoreline near Gary, Ind., into a federal park and leaving the rest to the steel industry.

Conservationists have been grinding their teeth for the past half century as mile after mile of southern Lake Michigan dune country has been gobbled up by the steel makers.

House action on the measure is pending before the tract actually becomes a park.

In Michigan, this summer, Gov. George Romney took a stand against further inroads into the state's rugged Porcupine Mountain area on the Lake Superior shore west of the Keweenaw Peninsula.

What Romney did was veto Sen. Joseph Mack's Senate Bill 350 aimed at preventing the Conservation Department from blocking extension of Highway M-107 through Porcupine Mountains State Park.

In turning down the measure, Romney said the park "must be preserved as a wilderness retreat for those who would escape from the material blessings of the mid-20th Century, including those of modern park facilities."

Romney was, in effect taking a slap at present state park management which, under the guise of "giving the public what it wants", is turning many wilderness sites under its jurisdiction into carnival midways equipped with electricity, running water and hot showers.

Here "outdoorsmen" pitch their tents or park their trailers on campsites far more narrow than most city lots and spend their holidays at closer quarters with their fellow human beings than they ordinarily would find tolerable.

Making the situation tenable at all are Romney's so-called "blessings of the mid-20th Century" which can be plugged into an electric outlet conveniently located at the corner of each campsite. If a camper closes his eyes and listens only to the cacophony of rock and roll music, television programs and the roar of camp traffic he can almost picture himself back home.

This is what Romney wants to avoid in the Porcupine Mountains, preserving them as "a lasting monument of woods, rivers and lakes to the centuries."

Closer to home, the Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore bill has been passed by the Senate and sent to the House. The proposed 46,100-acre park would include 31 miles of Lake Michigan shoreline on the mainland, plus South Manitou Island, which embraces 5,300 acres with 13 miles of shoreline.

The bill provides 9½ million dollars for land acquisition, which seems a fair price for the property. What bothers us about the bill is that it also earmarks 14½ million for park development. That's going to buy an awful lot of electric wire and copper plumbing, if this is what the lawmakers have in mind.

Another Dilemma for Hunters

Who should have the right to regulate hunting and fishing on U.S. lands---the various states in which the land is located or the federal government in Washington?

This is a question which has caused some sleepless nights recently among Michigan Conservation Department people in Lansing and throughout the state.

Traditionally, the right to regulate hunting and fishing, including the issuing of licenses and the opening and closing of areas to maintain wildlife at desirable levels, has been the prerogative of the various states.

THE AGE-OLD contention has been that wildlife populations belong to the people of the state as a whole, whether they are found on private, state or federal lands.

U.S. Solicitor General Archibald Cox recently came up with an opinion which would upset the traditional way of looking at things. Cox says the federal government should have the say-so in regulating hunting and fishing on all lands it owns.

In Michigan alone, this would involve some 3.2 million acres of federally-owned property, making up almost nine percent of the state's total land area.

In Charlevoix County, the federal government owns only about 625 acres of land, excluding post office lots and other holdings in more or less settled areas which wouldn't be subject to hunting and fishing anyway.

County Tax Equalization Director Russell Curtis says the federal government owns 223 acres in Peaine Township on Beaver Island and 402 acres in St. James Township on Garden, High and Hog Islands.

NICHOLAS V. OLDS, legal adviser to the Conservation Department, says "the historical doctrine of ownership of game and fish by the several states is still basically the law of the land."

Ralph A. MacMullan, Michigan Conservation Director, comments that the possibility of federal hunting and fishing fees, besides posing a confusing situation for sportsmen, threatens an economic blow to state conservation programs. He pointed out that federal licensing would siphon thousands of dollars of revenue from Michigan's game and fish programs.

He said his department is ready to fight the matter in the courts, if necessary.

ASIDE FROM smacking strongly of creeping federalism, the possibility of having two government bodies regulating hunting and fishing in the state leaves the nimrod cold.

Would it actually be necessary for him to buy two hunting licenses, one for state land and one for federal land?

How would the seasons be set up? It's conceivable the federal government might declare its deer season from Nov. 1 to 15, effectively driving all the venison into hiding before the state season begins.

FURTHERMORE, in the claims where so much of the land is open range, there is often no way of telling when one passes from federal to state or privately owned land. A hunter licensed by the federal government might find himself in hot water if he should chance to carry his hunting unwittingly across the border into state or private tracts.

The possibilities for confusing the poor hunter are endless.

THE FEDERAL government also would have to post wardens on its hunting lands to enforce whatever laws it might draw up to govern them. More tax money down the drain.

Granted, the federal government does have a flair for conservation work, and it is hard to imagine a cleaner, better organized, well-thought-out operation than the federal government's fish hatchery at Alba.

But when the federal government talks about duplicating services already handled so expertly on the state level, it's time to draw the line---especially when, in the last analysis, the taxpayer is the sole support of both.

folled, let's hope the Washington arm of our government can fill the bill.

We do not, however, greet Schweigert's proposal to reduce the fare to something like a buck-and-a-half with much enthusiasm. The bridge is part of the Michigan's toll-free highway system... regardless of what some government document claims. So let's remove the fare entirely.

odds
ends

Now, all together: "Rain, rain, go away. Come again another day"...Mostly because we all have dozens of things to do if the rain ever stops...and we're getting awful tired of waking up every morning to the sound of rain pelting the windows, the roof or any other place you'd like to mention...

I knew we'd have bad weather, come the time of the equinox but certainly no one anticipated anything like this...I have no idea how much rain we've had so far this month but I know it's more than I can remember in recent years...There's only one thought that keeps me going...Perhaps if we have it in the form of rain now we won't have in that more solid white stuff this winter...But right now you have no way of knowing how much snow we'll have so all you can do is hope...

HOW ABOUT that football team? They did a bit of alright in their opener even if they lost...and it gave them a chance to operate as a team...I'm sure they're going to do alright and I'm equally sure you're going to see some mighty good football around the league this fall...So don't forget to purchase your season ticket and turn out at Kippie field for the games...I'll promise you one thing, you won't be sorry...And don't forget the V-games on Tuesday night...those kids are our potential Varsity players and if you want to know what kind of a team we're going to have a year or two from now, watch these games...They're a real barometer...

I'm all excited about something that should interest you...The construction of the trophy case at the high school...It took a while but the contractor's finally been awarded and I'm hoping that the next time you attend something special at the gym you'll have a chance to take a look-see at the case...and the many trophies to be housed therein...A kudo and great big "well done" to those youngsters who tackled the job of raising funds for the case...to be dedicated to the memory of a guy who did more for students at the Charlevoix High School and the people of Charlevoix than anyone I've ever known...and I've known quite a few through the years...of course I mean S. E. "Irish" Coleman...the teacher who taught more than literature...I dare say a student never left his class without knowing more than a lot he'd bargained for...If you get the idea I tho't he was more than terrific you're right...I am grateful every day that I had the opportunity to rub shoulders with him...I know my life is richer for having had the good fortune of calling him friend...That is why I am happy to see this memorial being built...And if you'd still get in on it, send along your check...

IF YOUR doorbell rings, it will not be the representative of that cosmetic firm calling, it will be your Community Chest worker...I hope that you will greet her graciously and be generous in your contribution...And if, by chance, you're one of those rare people who doesn't believe in sharing your good fortune by contributing to worthwhile organizations, please don't abuse the worker who is giving her time to collect for some mighty important agencies.

NOT LONG ago I received a letter from a friend of mine who is serving in Vietnam...He's a football fan and I had written to him, enclosing some newspaper clippings about the pro teams for he's a rabid follower of the Packers...His first letter has led me to write regularly and to send more clippings for he said that they receive little news there...Where he is they don't even receive the Stars and Stripes and only recently they've been sending out a little bulletin with news of what's going on on the various fronts...I tell you all this for only one reason...to let you know how much those people serving there want news from you...I know it's hard to write an interesting letter every time...but I've found that just the fact that you've taken the time to say "Hi, how are you" and to write a little something, if it isn't anymore than news of the weather, or family, or something else you think is pretty uninteresting, your serviceman will be grateful to hear from you...So, as a special favor to some guy who's over there, won't you take time to write a few lines...The time and airmail stamp it takes to send it will be well spent, I promise you...

THIS NEEDN'T apply only to those in Vietnam...there's a lot of people you know spread around the world in some pretty "way out" places...and they'd like just as much to receive some mail from you...Make that your good deed for this week...and the weeks ahead.

McSaubas Work Bees Prepare for Ski Rush

There was a nip in the air over the weekend, and the weather was a little less than ideal for long hours outdoors.

But a few workers did show up for Chuck Meyers' two scheduled "work bees" in an attempt to get Mt. McSaubas in shape for skiing this winter.

Several changes have been recommended by state inspectors to bring the area up to minimum safety standards.

The city already had cut grass and weeds on the hill so workers could see what they were about.

And earlier in the week, the High School ski club planted rye grass on bare spots on the hillside in an effort to keep sand from shifting.

It all takes time---and muscle---but Meyers expects Mt. McSaubas to be ready when the first big blizzard rolls in.

MT. MCSAUBA Manager Chuck Meier uses snowblower for frequent trips up and down hillside. The journey on foot is a rugged one.

ELMER HOWARD was sent out by the C. H. Smith company to bulldoze out an easier tow run-off at top of beginners' hill.

AL BERGMANN steeplejacks to top of utility pole to install new wiring for safety shut off.

NOW ALL Mt. McSaubas needs is a foot or two of packed base and six inches of power. Snow flurries Saturday night made this skier's dream seem that much closer.

Consolidation of Agencies OK'd by Supervisors

The Charlevoix County Board of Supervisors has approved a motion by its Welfare Committee that the County Department of Social Welfare and the Bureau of Social Aid be consolidated into a single unit.

The action came at a meeting of the Board of Supervisors Monday at the courthouse.

Twenty supervisors voted for the motion and five were absent. The motion carried.

THE WELFARE Committee suggested the consolidation on recommendation of the County Welfare Commission.

It was necessary for the supervisors to act before Oct. 1 so that the consolidation can become effective Jan. 1, 1966.

Committee members recommending the move were Charles Leist, Robert F. Barnett and York W. Oster.

Road

other adjoining property in trade.

THE HIGHWAY Department said it has no legal authority to enter into any arrangement of this type and the time wasted in discussions has forced the Department to postpone further action on the project.

A letter dated Oct. 16, 1963, on file in the city superintendent's office shows that the city did inquire about the possibility of having the state secure property to exchange for land needed to re-locate M-66.

A letter dated Oct. 18, 1963, from J. F. Negri, Director of Route Location in the Department's Office of Planning, said that the city's request for trade was being referred to the Right-of-Way Division.

"WE WERE led to believe the state might be willing to trade," said Charlevoix Mayor E. D. Hawley.

Hawley said the state's decision to scrap the project is "unfair" and believes it is the Highway Department's way of forcing the city to deal on its terms. He said the state should be willing to negotiate further in the matter.

A survey completed this summer by City Superintendent James Taylor indicates that the present size of the Charlevoix Brooks Cemetery is sufficient to accommodate the community for anywhere from 20 to 127 years, depending on how fast and how completely family plots are used up.

THE ONLY property adjacent to the cemetery which would be suitable for burial purposes is a tract of land east of Marion Center road owned by Vern Mathews. Mathews said Monday there are 22 acres in the parcel, and he is asking $1,000 an acre.

He said he will not sell a portion of the platted land for cemetery persons because it would spoil the remainder for home development. He said many people are squeamish about moving into a neighborhood next to a cemetery.

Mathews says he believes his property will make choice residential sites—once M-66 is relocated.

At present, the only graves across Stover Creek from the cemetery proper, adjoining Mathews' property, are those of 15 unidentified sailors who died in a shipping accident on the Lake many years ago. Their granite tombstones bear no names, only numbers.

These young people are not among the youth without something constructive to do as they found time to work on nearly 28,000 clothing projects, 17,000 food-nutrition projects, 10,000 knitting projects, 12,000 flower and vegetable gardening woodwork and other handicraft attracted 6,000; light horses lapped the live-stock enrollment with over 6,000. Dairy programs kept well over 3,000 active and learning in this important, science-oriented project, while thousands of youth found projects in entomology, safety, landscaping, home design, beef, swine, sheep, poultry, photography to mention a few of the more than 40 project areas offered to be interesting and worthwhile.

The project learning is carried out in the 3,800 local 4-H Clubs led by some 15,000 local volunteer leaders across Michigan.

TV Antenna Proposed

Firm Promises Better Picture, More Channels

The representative of a commercial television antenna company projected a bright picture of what television reception in Charlevoix would be like if his firm is given permission to do business in the city.

Charles Leyrer, representing Colonial Cable TV Systems in Lansing, says his firm can do a great deal toward improving television reception in Charlevoix.

Boy, 12, Is Grid Winner

For the second time, a number of the junior set has walked off with the $10 prize in the Charlevoix Courier's big football contest.

Joseph Avery, 12, a seventh grader at St. Mary's School, says he has entered the contest "quite a few times" in the past, but this is the first time he came close to winning. Joe only missed four of the 18 contest choices.

Two weeks ago the contest was won by Mike Wood, 13, an 8th grader at Charlevoix Junior-Senior High School.

A FOOTBALL fan from 'way back, Joe says he not only enjoys reading about the game and keeping up with the teams, but also likes the game as a participant.

Young Avery seems to do well in athletic contests of all kinds. Not long ago he won a ticket to a Detroit Tigers football game in a telephone quiz, but sent it to his aunt and uncle in the Motor City when he was unable to make the trip.

Joe has some special plans for his $10 prize money.

He's going to buy himself a guitar and start taking lessons.

JOE IS THE son of Mr. and Mrs. Valois Avery of rural Charlevoix.

The entry from farthest away in last week's contest was from William Martin in Cincinnati, Ohio, according to Contest Editor Hilda Gibson.

Mrs. Gibson says a few entries are still arriving at the Courier office without the deadline from Page 1. So make sure your entry in this week's contest has one attached.

Full rules and this week's pairings appear on Pg. 8.

Leyrer made his presentation Monday night before a meeting of the Charlevoix Common Council.

Briefly, the company wants to construct a huge TV antenna near the city and charge subscribers $5 a month for the service. Installation would cost an additional $15.

Leyrer said the system not only would improve what he called Charlevoix's "poor" black and white TV reception, but also would make color TV highly acceptable.

Furthermore, he said, such a system would broaden the number of stations now within the range of Charlevoix TV.

Bill Would Let GIs Use Mails Without Charge

A bill to give all servicemen free first class mailing privileges has been introduced by Congressman Raymond F. Cleveland, (D-Michigan).

The bill would completely eliminate mail costs of first class letters for all members of the Armed Forces on active duty.

Cleveland, 39, a freshman Congressman from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., said the bill will give servicemen in Viet Nam and other duty stations, "The same privileges we had in World War II."

Servicemen must now pay regular postage costs. During World War II military personnel were allowed to send mail without cost.

A member of the House Post Office Committee, Cleveland said he hopes that the bill will receive favorable consideration in committee. Several other members of the committee have joined Cleveland by sponsoring similar bills.

R. W. Fort Elected Medusa President

The Board of Directors of Medusa Portland Cement Company, Cleveland, Ohio, has made two changes in executive personnel, effective September 28, 1965.

Robert W. Fort was elected President and principal administrative officer succeeding Ellery Sedgwick, Jr., who was elected Chairman of the Board of the company, and will continue as chief executive officer.

Sedgwick has been Medusa's President since 1952 and Fort has been Senior Vice President since 1963. Prior to that was Vice President, Finance.

Medusa is presently constructing a $25 million cement plant at South Point, Charlevoix. Sedgwick was in town last week to see the progress being made and visit friends in the area.

Medusa has shown considerable progress in recent years. Share owners' equity has increased from $15,000,000 in 1952 to $45,000,000 at present.

Sales have approximately doubled while earnings have risen from $1,250,000 to over $4,000,000 in 1964. During the same period, dividends were increased from 32 cents a share to $2.20 per share.

Fort, 53, a native of Mississippi, joined Medusa in 1956 coming from The Sharps Corp. where he was Comptroller. He is a graduate of The University of the South and holds a M. B. A. degree from the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration.

Beaver Boat Is Crippled

On the eve of hunting season, the car ferry Beaver Islander broke down, forcing dozens of hunters bound for the island either to go home or find other means of transportation.

Engineer John Gallagher says the clutch assembly broke down on the return trip from the island Sept. 23.

The boat continued to Charlevoix, but has remained at the dock ever since.

GALLAGHER says the earliest the boat will be back in service is Friday, Oct. 8.

MANY HUNTERS flew the island rather than scrap their hunting plans, although they were handicapped by not having their cars.

Perishable foods have been flown to the island almost daily since the breakdown.

GALLAGHER says the trouble resulted when a nut slipped off the clutch assembly, damaging several parts.

The new parts were located at marine dealers between here and Shreveport, La. Tuesday morning Jim Gallagher and Lawrence McDonough employees of the boat company, drove to Grand Rapids to pick up a mammoth bull gear which was shipped up from Peoria, Ill.

John Gallagher says the worst part of the job is ahead, re-assembling the clutch. Many of the parts have to be fitted together under extremely high pressure, he says.

November Draft to Take 3 Men

Three Charlevoix County men will be drafted into the armed forces in November, according to Mrs. Frank Bourgojn, secretary of the Selective Service Board.

They are Raymond F. Bascom of Charlevoix, William Arne Ostrom of East Jordan and Joseph K. Konopaski of Boyne Falls.

Five area men left for service on Monday.

They were James D. Eggers, Donald D. Owen and Gayle L. Brannon of Boyne City, William H. Dixon of Boyne Falls and Peter Knudsen of East Jordan. Knudsen and Brannon were volunteers.

MRS. BOURGOJN said the state asked her to compile a list of 18 men to take physicals in November, but that only 13 are available under present draft regulations.

Those going to Detroit for physicals Nov. 9 will be Andrew Allen Lee of Charlevoix; David Hetler, Kenneth Wayne Schroeder, Barry D. Moyer, Charles Gregory, and Warren C. Reinhardt of Boyne City; Rex Allen Bartholomew, and John Edward Vrondran of East Jordan; Gary Lee Parsel of Ironston; Alan J. Massey of Boyne Falls; Leonard Earl Meadows of Wailton Lake; Glen Martin LaFreniere of St. James, and Edward Samuel Sevinski of Elmira.

Office Machine Bought

The city of Charlevoix has purchased a bookkeeping machine from Burroughs Corp. at a cost of $8,166.

The action came at the Oct. 4 meeting of the City Council. According to City Superintendent James Taylor, the machine will be used to process bills for water, electricity and sewage, to make up the city payroll, and handle accounts payable and receivable.

THE BURROUGHS bid was the lowest of two received by the City. National Cash Register Co. asked $7,702 for two rebuilt machines, and suggested an alternate $11,000 electronic model.

The Burroughs base price was $8,115, less $649 discount to municipalities. The city also will be credited $1,300 for its old 503 model.

In other business, the Council received word from the State Water Resources Commission that the state does not have $75,000 matching funds to help Charlevoix construct its proposed dock and sanitary facilities building at East Park. The entire project has been estimated at $150,000, and the city is looking for ways to secure state help in the project.

COUNCIL also put off for the time being a proposal to replace the existing sprinkling system at the Golf Course. Superintendent Taylor said that with replacement parts, the old system may last another year.

Council members also rubber-stamped a resolution based on federal Civil Rights legislation to the effect that there will be no racial discrimination in use of Charlevoix's airport facilities.

THEY ALSO authorized the mayor and the clerk to issue a quit claim deed to Hal Forbrig for property purchased from the city at the corner of Meech and Dixon streets. Forbrig plans to build a 16-unit at the former Colonial Club location.

No action was taken on the state's cancellation last week of plans to re-route M-66 south of the city.

WIND-WHIPPED waves crashed on the Charlevoix breakwater all weekend.

Weather Reporter Flees Nor'wester

Where's the weatherman?

The Charlevoix Courier announced last week that henceforth weekly weather summaries would be carried in each issue, supplied by Harry Ladd of Park Avenue, an amateur meteorologist who supplies weather information for this area to the U. S. Weather Bureau.

But apparently this week's weather was too much for Ladd. The Courier hasn't been able to reach him by telephone and there are tracks—heading south—from his official temperature recording station in the backyard.

SO IN THE ABSENCE of our official weather reporter, here are some highly unofficial comments.

This past week has been one of the windiest in months, with a real nor'wester howling down on the city all weekend. The dredge Duluth didn't dare risk it through Pine River Channel until Tuesday morning.

The wind on Lake Michigan whipped up waves near the breakwater an estimated six to ten feet high, with the spray blowing 40 to 50 feet skyward. Quite a sight.

A good many Charlevoix housewives have been seen stocking up on canned goods, a fairly reliable indicator of what's in store this winter, according to chipmunks.

20 Brownies Need Leaders

Because too few mothers are willing to help, 20 little girls will be denied the privilege of becoming Brownie Scouts this year, according to Mrs. Oliver Johnson.

She said 60 girls in the second and third grade have expressed an interest in joining the local Brownie Troop, but only 40 can be accepted because of lack of leadership. Mrs. Oliver said four mothers have volunteered to help, but two more are needed.

"Unless someone offers to help, these little girls simply will have to go on a waiting list," she added.

Persons interested in volunteering their services should contact Mrs. Johnson at LI 7-9172.

Everything Ready for Church Fair

Sunshine and Breezes Welcome Color Boaters

The weather cleared up Saturday in time for an estimated 200 members of the Grand Rapids Power Boat Squadron to take part in the first color tour of Lake Charlevoix.

The boaters began converging at the Ferry Avenue launching site Friday evening with Registration on arrival at the Weatherlane Terrace.

Two separate tours embarked Saturday morning. The first traveled down the East Arm to East Jordan then back to Whiting Park at Advance.

THEY WERE met there by the second fleet, which traveled to Boyne City, then back to Advance.

The color tourists weren't bothered too much by the stiff southwest wind, which hardly whipped up ripples near the western shore.

Sunday tours were cancelled when the weather turned cold, and most of the boaters pulled out early in the day.

IT'S A TRICKY business maneuvering a car and boat down the launching ramp at Ferry Park.

DOZENS OF BOATS were beached at Whiting Park near Advance Saturday while Power Boaters enjoyed a picnic lunch.

Clockwise

With Bob Clock

We've just added the electric knife to that list of household appliances life wouldn't be the same without.

We were one of the lucky ones in Edwards' IGA contest, and the phone call telling us of our good fortune came just as we were rolling up our sleeves for the fearful task of carving a standing rib roast. My main problem is that roast is never content to just stand there and let itself be carved, but must slither off the platter and across the table — or sometimes the floor, with Ginny and Co. in hot pursuit.

It appears at this point that the electric knife has ended my carving woes forever. It glides into the roast like it was made of apesauce and produces nice even slices like those in the meat packers' ads.

The real beauty of the knife is that there is no possible way for me to sharpen it, so it should last for years and years. With a whetstone, I can take the edge off an ordinary carving knife in nothing flat.

I'M BEGINNING to wonder what's happened to my luck since moving to Charlevoix. Up until recently I couldn't have won a season ticket to East Park. I've filled out literally hundreds of tickets for as many "drawings" and even made it a point every year to take a stab at the number of nails used in the model home displayed at the Detroit Builders' Show. I never came within a keg of two.

Then came Charlevoix and the Venetian Festival. Out of habit, I bought five tickets in the drawing for art objects and shortly found myself the proud owner of a curious-looking vessel contributed by a down-state potter. I don't know what it's supposed to be, but we keep it away from the baby because it's pretty sharp in places. But it's a darn good conversation piece.

And now the electric knife. Who knows where my luck will end?

OUR LONG planned trip to Beaver Island was washed out by rain last weekend, but since I had promised Judy a boat ride, I was good to my word. Saturday afternoon we jumped on the bicycles and coasted down to Ward's boat livery. Old Lady Luck must have been riding on my handlebars, however, because every single one of Ward's boats had been beached for the winter. I was ready to turn around and call it a day, when Mr. Ward volunteered to have a row boat launched by a couple of his husky dockworkers.

Soon we were out in the middle of Round Lake, Judy and Kathie in the back seat with me at the oars. The day had been fairly calm, but a nasty little breeze sprang up as soon as we shoved off, creating all sorts of navigational problems.

Before we entered the channel by the Lifeboat Station I baited a fishing line, quite confident I would have a string of small mouth bass by the time we reached Lake Charlevoix. But they just weren't biting. We stopped for a minute to talk to a fisherman on the Belvedere breakwater. He said he hadn't seen any bass, but had caught a perch a few minutes before but lost it in the excitement of seeing a perch again after so many years.

We learned three things that Saturday afternoon out on Lake Charlevoix which may be of passing interest to ornithologists, and ichthyologists respectively. We're willing to pass them along for what they're worth.

The first has to do with swans. I don't suppose many bird experts realize this, but swans are run by rubber bands. We spotted a flotilla of them near the Belvedere Club, and as we drew close they hedged away. Then, all of a sudden, they started taking off, skimming over the water first, their big wings fanning ripples on the water. The sound they made—both taking off and in flight—was identical to the sound of the old rubber-band propelled airplanes we used to make as kids. I had no idea swans were mechanized, but there's a lot of things I don't know.

Ichthyologists will be pleased to learn there is a creature similar to the Loch Ness monster lurking in the depths of Lake Charlevoix. It's huge, and broke water several times making passes at the bait on my trolling line. Now I didn't actually see the critter, but the sound and the white water he created was enough to make the hair stand up on the back of the neck. I was just glad he didn't try to tip over the boat, or climb aboard.

Our geographical-historical observation has to do with the founding of Boyne City. After being a prisoner of an off-shore wind in a row boat on Lake Charlevoix for the better part of any hour, it is now quite obvious how

IT'S A sure sign summer's over when the parking meters come down on Bridge St. and elsewhere downtown. Here the job is being performed by Charlevoix Police Chief Joe Smith (standing) and Officer Robert Somerville.

DEEP YEARNING

...for God, or is it hero-worship, or is it a desire to be shown the way... is it a dream? Well, heroes are God's occasion for awakening in His children a yearning to be one. Dreams are the doorsteps up which one must climb to reach this higher elevation. Be it hero-worship or a longing for God, it is his dream and a child is at his best when he dreams. His dreams are his prayers. God and your son, together, can do great things. But they can do better if a father joins God and his son in the dream-prayer. Here a father meets, face-to-face, one of the finer experiences of life... his own son in fervent prayer. Scenes like this cause a father to be interested in things that have to do with life rather than just a living. A prayer life is the result of church teaching and good raising... has your child learned to pray??? To be good and kind and patient are fine but add church attendance to the list and you'll have the ingredients which go into every good man.

New Chevrolets to Bow Oct. 7

TWO OF CHEVROLET'S newest additions for 1966 are the luxurious Caprice Custom Coupe (below) and the stylish Chevelle Super Sport 396 Coupe. The Caprice Custom Coupe is destined to be the style leader among regular size cars and the Chevelle Super Sport is distinguished by a new roof line with recessed rear window and a '396 SS' identification in grille and rear end area.

Hunters Take to Fields as Game Season Opens.

The first wave of Charlevoix hunters swept across the outdoor scene Oct. 1 as fire-arm seasons opened on small game and geese in the Upper and northern Lower Peninsula, bear become legal targets for gunners and archers above the Straits, and bowmen start stalking deer throughout the state.

The Conservation Department estimates that 175,000 or more sportsmen took to the field opening day.

Another good reason is in prospect for northern ruffed grouse hunters who in 1964 recorded their highest kill since the early 1950's.

IN THE NORTHERN Lower Peninsula, "pats" appear to be at least as plentiful as last season when nearly 245,000 were bagged in that part of the state. Singled out by game men as the region's top grouse hunting areas are Mecosta, Isabella, Midland, Newaygo, Oceana, Clare, Manistee, Emmet, Alpena, Iosco, and Arenac counties.

In the Upper Peninsula, where 270,000 ruffed grouse were taken a year ago, the birds' populations show signs of being down slightly in the eastern end and up in the western sector. Best shooting should be in Gogebic, Ontonagon, Houghton, Baraga, Marquette, and Alger counties where the birds have made their biggest gains.

More top-flight action should be in the offering for woodcock hunters who harvested a record 112,000 birds in the northern two-thirds of the state in 1964.

ALTHOUGH there are indications that this fall's supply of timber doodles may be off a little from a year ago, woodcock kill is expected to approach last season's take of 18,850 in the Upper Peninsula and 93,250 in the northern half of Lower Michigan.

Goose hunters should find a better-than-usual number of birds on hand, particularly in the Upper Peninsula. Recent freezing weather in Canada has sent many geese winging their way southward ahead of the normal timetable for migrations.

After an early taste of fast-paced sport in September, Upper Peninsula bear hunters resumed their bruin chases Oct. 1. With bears reportedly roaming the region's woods in good numbers, these sportsmen should enjoy their share of heart-pounding action.

In the northern Lower Peninsula, the early bear season has been scratched for the next two years because of the animals' extremely low population in that region. Above the Straits, Keweenaw county remains closed to bear hunting during the early fall season, but it again will be open to taking these burly animals during the Nov. 13-28 fire-arm deer hunt.

ROUNDING out the state's hunting ranks on Oct. 1 were a bow-twanging band of archers who will be aiming to top their 1964 record kill of 2,800 whitetails. Prospects for them are again good, with the deer population remaining high.

OTHER hunters are looking ahead to two more approaching red-letter dates on their calendars: Oct. 11 is this fall's tid-bit for duck hunting throughout the state and for goose shooting in the southern half of Lower Michigan and Oct. 20 is the traditional starter for the small game season in the southern region.

Kiwanis Lt. Gov. Barney Englehart presented the club with a membership agreement medalion and a certificate citing the group for its 85 percent attendance record.

Larry Feindt was presented a 13-year perfect attendance pin.

Variety, safety and luxury features highlight the 1966 Chevrolets—plus the greatest assortment of models in the division's 55-year history.

E. M. Estes, general manager, said the new Chevrolets, totaling 50 models in six passenger car lines, will go on display in dealer showrooms on Thursday, Oct. 7.

"Model, option, color and interior combinations in the new Chevrolets number in the billions, giving the buyer an unparalleled opportunity to individually customize his car," Estes said.

Principal features include: New Models -- A Caprice top-of-the-line series with four prestige models is added to the top selling regular Chevrolets. A four-door hardtop joins the Chevelle line, plus a distinctive Super Sport 396 series.

Styling -- The Chevy II receives its first complete redesign since introduction in 1962 models. The Chevelle is restyled, there are design refinements in the Corvair and Corvette, and the regular Chevrolet has even "bigger car" look.

Safety Features -- Numerous safety features are made standard on all models ranging from a padded instrument panel and padded sun visors to rear seat belts and back-up lamps.

MECHANICAL FEATURES -- New engines include a 250-cubic inch L6 and two 427-cubic inch V8's. A new three-speed fully synchronized transmission is standard on all Chevrolet models.

Options -- Offered for the first time, in addition to the more than 400 options and accessories already available to Chevrolet buyers, are a single-dial automatic heating and air conditioning system, a bench front seat with center armrest, adjustable front seat headrests and tilt-telescoping steering.

Interiors -- Restyled, high-fashion interiors are featured in all models. Bucket seats in Chevrolet, Chevelle and Chevy II models are a new slim "Strato" design. Each of the 14 station wagons has an all-vinyl interior.

Here are details on the six Chevrolet lines for 1966:

REGULAR CHEVROLET -- Headed by the luxury Caprice series, there are 19 models in five series. A color-keyed paint stripe distinguishes the Caprice Custom coupe -- which has a special roofline unique among all Chevrolet models -- and the Caprice Custom sedan. The two Caprice Custom station wagons have walnut grained exterior trim. All Caprice models have high prestige interiors.

CHEVELLE -- The popular 4-door hardtop body style joins Chevelle models for the first time. A total of 12 models in four series are offered.

CHEVY II -- The most complete change in exterior and interior appearance since its introduction in 1962 models gives new beauty to the seven models in three series of Chevy II.

CORVAIR -- The smooth continental styling of Corvair is continued for 1966. Styling refinements include new rocker sill and wheel opening moldings, new front panel emblem, plus fresh design of the rear grille and taillights.

CORVETTE -- America's only sports car continues its program of annual styling refinement with a new nameplate on the hood, body side trim, grille and wheel covers. There is a special high-domed hood on models with a 427-cubic inch engine.

INDIVIDUALITY is shown in the rear lamps that identify six different cars -- the Caprice, Chevy II, Chevelle, Corvair, Corvette and Chevelle -- offered by Chevrolet for 1966. Dealers will display the new models on October 7.

U.S. Denies Bids to Drop Two Rail Lines

Business New & Notes

Pollution Controls Ordered by State

The State Water Resources Commission has ordered restrictions upon the discharge of effluent in the discharge of cooling and condensing water and ash sludge water from an expanded steam plant located at Advance by Northern Michigan Electric Cooperative, Inc. The order was issued Sept.

29 to prevent the discharge from causing unlawful pollution of Lake Charlevoix. As required by law, a statement had been filed with the Commission describing the proposed waste disposal.

The order places controls upon the effluent to restrict the amount of chloroform extractable substances and suspended solids present, and it contains other general restrictions, including temperature, on the content of the waste discharge.

In addition, no facilities necessary for compliance with the order may be constructed until plans have been submitted to and approved by the Commission's Chief Engineer.

The Commission also ordered restrictions upon the proposed discharge of sewage and wastes from a manufacturing operation to be located at South Point, Charlevoix, by Medusa Portland Cement Company. The order was issued to prevent the discharge from causing unlawful pollution of Lake Michigan and ground waters in the area.

The order requires all cooling and condensing water and quarry and coal pile drainage to be treated or controlled in such a manner and by means of such facilities that the discharge will not render the waters unsuitable for domestic, industrial or commercial water supply use, or interfere with any lawful uses. It also requires the sanitary sewage to be disposed of into the ground by subsurface percolation methods.

Ferry Service Saved

An Interstate Commerce Commission examiner has recommended denial of an application by the Pennsylvania Railroad to abandon 225 miles of track between Grand Rapids and Mackinaw City and the application of New York Central to abandon 63 miles between Gaylord and Mackinaw City. The abandonment plans also would have done away with the Mackinac railroad car ferry between Mackinaw City and the Upper Peninsula.

The denials were recommended by ICC Hearing Examiner Hyman J. Blond in a decision handed throughout northern Michigan.

THE EXAMINER's recommendation and report will be the order of the Commission.

Tax Forms Sent to Businessmen

Detroit District Director of Internal Revenue A. M. Stoepler said today that Michigan manufacturers, refiners, employers, and others filing Federal tax forms 720 and 941, should have received pre-addressed forms by mail on or about Sept. 24.

Stoepler urged taxpayers to use the pre-addressed forms, since they also include the correct identification numbers. Accurate names, addresses and identification numbers will insure prompt and proper credit when these returns are processed through the Automatic Data Processing System (ADP) at the Cincinnati Service Center.

Stoepler said that new filers can obtain blank forms in their district office. He urged taxpayers to verify the accuracy of the identification number and address information when completing the form. Employers without identification numbers should attach Number Application Form SS-4 to the return.

unless the railroads file exceptions to the report within 30 days.

State Attorney General Frank J. Kelley called the ICC recommendation a "major victory in the state's fight to preserve and build upon the economic progress that has taken place in recent years in the Upper Peninsula and in the northern part of the Lower Peninsula."

Kelley had argued to the Interstate Commerce Commission that elimination of the rail and ferry service would destroy the economic unity of the two peninsulas and would seriously impede efforts of communities in northern Michigan to attract and retain industry.

Kelley was joined in his efforts to preserve rail and ferry service by the Public Service Commission, Consumers Power Co., Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. and numerous communities and shippers located on or using the lines sought to be abandoned.

EXAMINER Blond, in denying the abandonment applications, said:

"The Examiner's review of the entire record convinces him that the ferry company and railroad applicants have failed to prove that the present and future public convenience and necessity permit the proposed abandonment of the ferry and connecting lines of railroad."

Blond said that the railroads are not suffering a financial loss on the service, and that the recent expenditure of $600,000 to repair the ferry was merely deferred maintenance which could have been readily paid for had the ferry company maintained an adequate reserve for repairs.

Blond agreed with Attorney General Kelley that the decline in traffic at Mackinac from 15,000 cars annually a few years ago to 7,000 cars in 1964 was primarily due to deliberate diversion of traffic from the Mackinac Gateway by Soo Line and Pennsylvania through soliciting other gateways at the expense of Mackinac.

ANOTHER factor that caused the traffic decline was the merger of the Soo Line with the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic Railroad Company in 1960, which had the effect of diverting South Shore traffic from the Mackinac Gateway to the Chicago Gateway.

Blond said that the evidence showed that the Upper Peninsula is experiencing substantial growth and expansion of its primary industries, iron ore, copper and forest products, contrary to the claims of the railroads that the Upper Peninsula economy is in a state of decline. This economic expansion should result in additional traffic for the Mackinac Gateway in the future.

The Examiner's report stated that the Mackinac ferry provides the most efficient service and best route for the traffic that has been retained on the Mackinac route, despite the existence of alternate routes.

Three Models Added

American Motors has revealed a wide range of new features and changes in its cars for 1966, and announced three new names in the line-up -- DPL, Rebel and Rogue. They go on sale Oct. 7.

Thomas A. Coupe, vice president - automotive sales, said the DPL is the top-of-the-line hardtop of American Motors' luxurious 1966 Ambassador series, while the Rebel and Rogue will lead the Rambler Classic and Rambler American series, respectively.

"These new models, along with the fastback Marlin, Ambassador 990, Classic 770 and American 440 will give us solid representation in the fast-growing hardtop market," Coupe said.

The two-door hardtop was the best-selling body style in the 1965 model year, accounting for approximately a third of total sales and topping the long-favored four-door sedan.

"WE HAVE MADE important styling changes throughout all lines, adding new distinctiveness and individuality to each," Coupe said.

The Ambassador, which more than doubled in sales in 1965, and the top-volume Classic feature new roof panels for hardtops, and for station wagon models. Overall length of Ambassador and Classic station wagons has been increased two inches to provide added cargo space.

The American, a economy champion of the compact field, has been increased nearly four inches in overall length with the added inches most evident in the front for a longer, more balanced profile. Only minor changes have occurred in the Marlin, which was introduced in mid-March.

"We have continued to move in the direction of more luxury, more sport styling and special options for 1966," Coupe said. "Our choices have

THE REBEL hardtop is a new addition to the Rambler Classic model lineup for 1966. All Classics have a new extruded aluminum grille and die cast frames for dual horizontal headlights, and rear end styling is new with wrap-around horizontal tail lights which can also be seen from the sides. Five engine choices are offered on Classics. They range from 145-horsepower to 270-horsepower.

'been broadened to meet the full range of variety sought by today's customers."

COUPE SAID new options include a four-speed floor shift transmission "Cruise-Command" automatic speed control, a special handling package for American and Classic sixes, "Turbo-Cast" wheel covers, and a four-way hazard warning signal.

"In addition, rear seat belts, padded instrument panel and visors, back-up lights, left outside mirror, and windshield washers will join front seat belts and variable speed wipers as standard equipment on all 1966 models," he said. "And we have retained all long-life and safety features such as advanced unit construction, double safety brakes and ceramic-armored exhaust system."

"ALL OF OUR cars also will feature new higher-strength laminated safety plate glass windshields for greater durability and resistance to penetration." The 1966 Ambassador by American Motors features a newly styled extruded aluminum grille with a V-line motif and all-new styling at the rear. Vertical wrap-around tail lights complement the dual vertical headlight theme which has been retained.

DPL and 990 hardtop models have a new crisp-line roof which closely resembles a convertible top -- an effect achieved by changing the angle of the window opening at the rear posts.

AMBASSADOR station wagons have new roof panels and tailgates, and over-all length has been increased from 197 to 199 inches to help boost cargo volume three cubic feet to 83 cubic feet.

Luxury interiors have been newly trimmed and front-seat headroom has been increased a half-inch for greater passenger comfort on most models.

Ambassador convertibles, as well as Classic convertibles, feature new flexible-glass rear windows, and power-operated tops become standard on all convertibles.

The flexible-glass window is impervious to scratching, discoloration, creases or ripples; provides high visibility, and the top can be raised or lowered with the window fully zipped-up.

The Rambler Classic for 1966 has an all-new grille of extruded aluminum and die cast frames for the dual horizontal headlights.

New rear end styling includes wrap-around horizontal tail lights which can be seen from the sides as well as from the rear.

Rebel and 770 hardtops feature new crisp-line roofs. Classic station wagons also have new roofs and tailgates, and over-all length has been increased from 193 to 195 inches. Cargo space has been hiked to 83 cubic feet, an increase of three cubic feet.

Classic interiors have new instrument clusters and, as with the Ambassador, front seat headroom has been increased by a half-inch on most models.

Uncle Sam Joins School Board

THE FEDERAL government finally has gotten its big foot in the door of the little red schoolhouse -- in a big way. The Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 earmarks one billion dollars of federal money for education -- most of it for the education of what the government considers "disadvantaged" kids.

This huge appropriation is in addition to the billions raised locally through property taxes and those funds set aside for education by the various states.

It appears that education -- like health and welfare -- is fast becoming another arm of the federal government.

TIME WAS when such a huge federal expenditure for education would have been simply out of the question. Americans held the privilege of educating their children so jealously that it was relegated to the smallest unit of government -- the school district, run by men and women the parents of school-age children had a chance to know personally.

This is not to say that butchers, bakers and candlestick makers always knew what was best for Johnny in the matter of textbooks, teachers and curricula. This is just the way we did things, and in most cases it seemed to work out satisfactorily. Sometimes it didn't.

OF THE ONE billion dollar federal grant, some $42 million will come to Michigan, $83,846 of which will be spent in Charlevoix County. Most of the Michigan money ($34,700,000) will be used to upgrade the educational opportunities of disadvantaged youngsters. The government considers a youngster disadvantaged if he comes from a family where the annual income is less than $2,000. And in Charlevoix County there are 371 such children.

Setting a monetary criteria for determining who is disadvantaged and who isn't seems like an unreliable way of setting up an aid program. There are farm families in Charlevoix County -- and all across America for that matter -- where a yearly income of $2,000 in hard cash would seem like a lot of money.

Yet kids in these families more often than not have three square meals a day, served up with generous helpings of love and affection. They also have warm clothes to wear, good books to read and an abundance of intellectual stimulation.

When the government figures income, it doesn't take into account the bounty of a garden plot, cellar shelves bending with row after row of preserved fruits and vegetables, or cream siphoned off the milk pail for home use.

Off hand, we'd wager there are more really "disadvantaged" kids in families where the yearly income is $10,000 or over than there are in the $2,000 and under category, and no doubt Congress will see to it they get their due in years to come.

THE FEDERAL government, of course, is not going to pass out bundles of dollar bills to school districts without putting strings on the money. And this is only fair. Even Washington officialdom is sufficiently aware of the foibles of human nature not to issue blank checks on the U.S. Treasury.

To secure federal money, local school systems must submit programs to the State Department of Education along guidelines to be established by the U.S. Department of Education. As of late September, however, the state office had not received word from Washington on what types of programs will be eligible for federal aid.

ACTING STATE Superintendent of Public Instruction Alexander J. Kloster says schools can use the federal funds to help support services they are being required to extend to non-public schools this year under the State Auxiliary School Services Act.

Other programs which probably will qualify are guidance services in schools with a high proportion of underprivileged children, supplemental health services, pre-school programs, inservice training for teachers and special classes for physically or mentally handicapped.

Whether we like it or not, Uncle Sam is now sitting on school boards throughout Charlevoix County. Judging from his reputation, he's probably there to stay.

Medusa's Good Neighbor Policy

(The following editorial is reprinted in its entirety from the summer edition of "The Medusa Mirror," employee publication of the Medusa Portland Cement Co. The writer is Elmer Sedgwick Jr., former president and now chairman of the firm's board of directors.)

AMONG the many questions that arise in connection with a project the size of our proposed Charlevoix Plant are two that I think deserve special attention:

--Why, in the face of over-capacity and intense competition in the cement industry, is Medusa spending nearly $25 million to build a new large plant, and,

--What will this plant do to the quiet, pleasant resort community of Charlevoix?

Both are good questions and both can be answered in an affirmative fashion.

In the first place, competition in the industry, rather than serving as a deterrent to the Charlevoix Plant, actually is one of the prime factors behind the decision to proceed. As we point out elsewhere in this issue, we were faced with many unalterable economic facts in connection with our Manitowoc Plant, which would require almost complete rebuilding if it were to remain competitive over the long pull.

WE EXPLORED every avenue in an attempt to remain in the Manitowoc area, but there was no feasible way to do so. The more we studied the situation the more apparent it became that any new manufacturing plant we built would have to be located very near its major source of raw materials. Further, a new plant would require more acreage than was available in Manitowoc.

So, the examination of sites narrowed to the eastern shore of Lake Michigan in general and then to Charlevoix in particular. It is there that all the desirable economic factors come together -- including the ample supply of raw materials and a site for a loading dock.

In short, it is in Charlevoix that we can achieve maximum efficiency in our plant and maximum usefulness of people in serving all the important markets around Lake Michigan.

IN CONNECTION with the second question, it is perfectly natural that there would be a certain amount of apprehension among Charlevoix residents regarding the effect of a large cement plant on their community.

We sincerely believe that these apprehensions are unfounded. The very efficiencies that make a plant competitive also contribute to its cleanliness and its appearance in general. The cement plant of today bears no resemblance to the plants of the past, which, it must be admitted, were something less than clean and attractive.

From the beginning of our studies we have given consideration to our relations with the community of Charlevoix and have built into our plans many technological innovations aimed at good neighborliness.

WE WILL retain a substantial number of trees on the site and will provide an attractive landscaping program for the premises. We will install the latest and best pollution control equipment including a dust recovery system that will have an efficiency of well over 99 percent.

Few of us welcome change, particularly when the effects are difficult to foresee, but I want to assure our new neighbors that we will be good corporate citizens and are determined to be an asset to the community.

We expect that the new plant will not only be good for the economy of the Charlevoix area but also will be a major factor for Medusa as we grow with the nation we are helping to build.

Aren't you always amazed at the number of young musicians in the Charlevoix high school? When the band came on to the field for the recent football game I couldn't believe my eyes for here they were spread all the way across the field. . . . You know, with all the rain we've had, the band had been out only once or twice before game night when they reported at the field at 6:30 for better than an hour marching rehearsal in order to put on its halftime show. . . . And it was no easy task for their director, Clarence Odmark, rivals the toughest top sergeant when it comes to training those youngsters for their marching stints. . . . But you must admit they did an excellent job and we'll be looking forward to more halftime shows. . . .

Next weekend, Oct. 15, will be homecoming. . . . This next week will be devoted to building floats. . . . which are always fun to see. . . . and making plans for all the festivities that go with homecoming. . . . the selection of a queen. . . . wonder who it will be? . . . the snake dance, bonfire and coronation ceremony on Thursday night, the homecoming parade Friday afternoon and the big game with Boyne City Friday night. . . . What a lot of fun it should be for everyone so make plans now to be a part of it. . . .

WHEN THINGS happen some place else, Chicago, for instance, it always seems so far away. . . . and that it has nothing to do with us. . . . But Charlevoix became a part of something that happened on the other end of the lake when the Cutter Sundew was assigned to assist in the raising of a United Air Lines plane that crashed off Chicago late in August. . . . Up until last week, all this had been a newspaper story and all of a sudden we become closely linked to the project. . . .

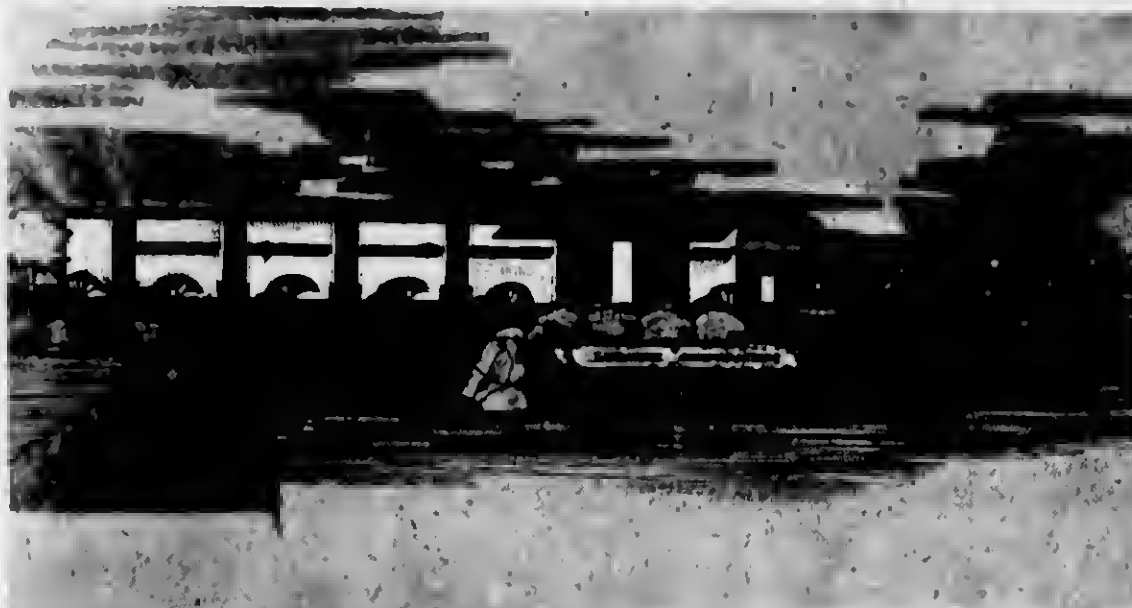

And it's going to be quite a project, as I get it. . . . The Sundew will serve as a platform for some type of diving bell, something comparable to a bathoscope. I'm told, that will be lowered in an effort to recover the wreckage that was located earlier. . . . I'm sure we'll all be watching with great interest all the activity that will be involved. . . . I'm equally sure the crew of the Sundew will be content to return to familiar waters, when it's all over, and go about the routine business of tending their Aids to Navigation and other duties that, up until now, have seemed pretty dull. . . .

AND SPEAKING of the Coast Guard, I will be sorry to see an old tender come down shortly. . . . the old station on Pine River that has stood guard over the harbor entrance since 1889 when it was started. . . . I looked at it from across the channel last week and realized it had fallen upon hard times and was no longer receiving the care it had been given through the years. . . . I know that it holds many memories for many people. . . . And what a shame it can't write a book about all the rescues and lake accidents and drowning tragedies and other happenings its walls have recorded through the years. . . . For, until September 1962, that was the home of the Coast Guard in Charlevoix. . . . Its razing will mark the end of still another era in our community history. . . .

Got your stern windows on? You'd better get with it if you haven't. . . . For those freezing temperatures at Pellston and the reports of more than three inches of snow at Kincheloe less than 100 miles north are warnings to be heeded. . . . I've been watching for the wild geese and ducks but haven't seen any. . . . but that doesn't mean too much for I'm not out that much. . . . But usually I hear them going over at night when everything else is quiet. . . . and is that an eerie sound. . . . If you should see them or have already witnessed this miracle of nature, how's about giving me a ring. . . . I appreciate it no end. . . .

And don't forget to gather the weeds and branches and other things for your winter gardens or your winter bouquets. . . . There's seeds of things around just waiting to be gathered. . . . but when you have time to fix them is not the time to gather them for there's at least a foot of snow on the ground. . . . so do it now. . . . and it's great fun. . . . You'll never know what an artist you might be till you try something like this. . . . Last December Mrs. Robert Tollas gave me a winter garden which is even lovelier than when I received it. . . . It has moss and ferns and little growing things plus pretty red berries. . . . I love mine. . . . And to give you an idea of their hardiness, mine has been broken and transplanted three times. . . . Most recently a gal with a green thumb, Mrs. Ralph Hamilton, re-did it for me and it's lovelier than ever.

First Parts Produced by Lexalite Corp.

ARCHITECT'S drawing show what plant will look like when landscaping is completed.

Another new industry fostered by Charlevoix Development Corporation is gradually moving into production on the Lake Michigan shore northeast of Charlevoix.

The first of several plastic injection molding machines has been installed at the new Lexalite Corporation plant adjacent to Consumers Power Company's Big Rock Point Nuclear Plant.

The only product being turned out so far is a clear plastic photo control cover about as big as a jumbo coffee mug. The machine, which turns out four of the plastic fixtures with each injection of plastic, is operated by Mrs. Josephine Bindi, although foreman John Lamoreaux spends a good deal of time tinkering with the machine, making sure everything is working properly.

ACCORDING to Manager Josh Barnes, plastic injection molding is one of three kinds of plastic forming operations which will be carried on at the plant once it is in full production.

In injection molding, plastic pellets are heated to about 400 degrees and reach a molten state. Then the plastic is forced into forming molds where it cools in a matter of seconds.

When the part is removed from the mold, it is annealed in a hot air recirculating oven at 192 degrees, making the finished product so tough it can scarcely be dented with a ball-peen hammer.

ANOTHER PIECE of equipment already installed at the plant is a plastic former, in which sheets of heated plastic are placed over a forming mold and then drawn snugly around it by vacuum suction. Similar machines are in fairly wide use in the Detroit area to plastic prototypes of new automobiles.

The third process is called "partison" in which a molten plastic tube is placed in a mold and air pressure applied from within. The plastic expands into the mold, taking its shape. Barnes said the machine, which was made in Germany, will be used eventually to make such things as globes for street lamps.

BARNES EXPECTS most of the plant's production to come from the plastic injection molding machines. The present model is equipped to make parts requiring no more than a 16 ounce shot of plastic. Other machines to handle shots up to 60 ounces will be installed before February.

Present employment at the plant is expected to approach 25 this week, with an estimated 100 on the payroll in less than a year.

Barnes said the firm's organizational office and prototype laboratory in Southfield have been closed and operations in Marine City, Mich., have been sold.

THIS is what the plant looks like today, with shell construction just about finished.

FOREMAN JOHN LAMOREAUX tests plastic charge for purity.

HE SAID the antenna also would eliminate aircraft interference, saying pictures and sound are often distorted when jets from the Bomber Scoring Base pass over the city.

Leyrer said similar systems have proved successful in other cities, namely Petoskey.

He said his company does not have any antennas in operation as yet, but that it has petitions before the city councils of Lansing, Muskegon and Grand Rapids.

Leyrer was accompanied by Petoskey attorney Dick Smith. After hearing Leyrer's presentation, acting mayor Bill Fochtman referred the petition to the License Committee and the city attorney.

SHOT IN THE WATER, this moose had to be dragged up on shore to be skinned. From left are Bernie Ward, Jr., and Gordon Neff. Neff shot the animal from a motor boat.

City Nimrods Fell Five Ontario Moose

There is probably more moose meat in Charlevoix at present than there has ever been before.

At least five of the big brutes from northern Ontario have been hauled back to Charlevoix for butchering.

Latest hunter to return was Irv Drost, owner of Irv's Cocktail Lounge, who shot a 12,000 pound bull moose in the Lake Nipigon area last week. Drost is confident it is the same moose he saw in the same area last year under the same conditions. All year he's had one ambition: To bring that animal back with him. And he did.

DROST SAID he got up early one morning and went to the same area he had seen the big fellow last year. He called, and seconds later the moose answered. Then a cow responded deeper in the woods, and Drost was afraid he had lost him. But shortly the animal emerged from the woods and headed straight for him. Drost felled the critter with two shots.

The Drostos were accompanied on the trip by Mr. and Mrs. Leon Pease of Charlevoix and Art George of Pease. No other members of the party were successful. Another successful hunting party was made up of Gordon Neff, Bernie Ward Jr., and Tom McDaniels.

Neff shot his out-sized bull moose from an outboard motor boat near their camp in the Jellicoe area. The animal weighed better than 1,000 pounds, according to estimates.

Then the party's luck ran out until just before they broke camp. Ward spotted a cow and calf and nailed both, using up the party's three tags.

Earlier, Gene Gibeloy returned home with a moose from the Ear Falls area.

Body May Solve Mayer Mystery

The Mason County Sheriff's Department at Ludington is attempting to identify the body of a man which washed ashore near that central Lake Michigan city Sunday night.

Charlevoix Police Chief Joe Smith says there is a slim possibility the dead man may be Richard Hardt Mayer, who disappeared Aug. 25 after renting a 14-foot outboard from Ward's boat livery in Charlevoix. The boat was found at North Point the next day.

EN ROUTE to Ludington yesterday from Charlevoix was William E. Kent, insurance investigator representing Mutual of New York. Mayer had $20,000 insurance with Mutual.

Kent said he came to Michigan with a strong suspicion that Mayer did not perish in the boating mishap, but that positive identification of the body as Mayer's will cut short his investigation.

He said in the absence of identifying papers, identification probably will be made by fingerprints. As an immigrant from Austria, Mayer's fingerprints are on file in Washington, D.C., he said.

Kent said the description of the badly decomposed Ludington body fixed the man's height at 5 feet, 8 inches and his weight at 160 pounds. Mayer was only 5 feet, 5 inches tall, and weighed 155 pounds.

Kent said the difference actually is negligible, since the joints of a drowning victim tend to expand after prolonged exposure to water.

He said fingerprints, if they

22 Men Taking Army Tests Today

The largest contingent of young men to take Army physical examinations since the Korean War left the city Tuesday at 12:30 p.m. for Ft. Wayne in Detroit.

Mrs. Frank Bourgoon, secretary of Selective Service Board 15, said 22 young men--all of them 19 years old--showed up at the draft board office in the city hall Tuesday to be checked off before boarding the chartered bus for Detroit.

Originally, 31 had been scheduled to go from the county, but some have already enlisted while others have changed residence. One, Charles, E. Mort, will join the group in Detroit, where he is working.

The young men stayed in a Detroit hotel Tuesday night and were scheduled to be examined by Army doctors today. They are expected to return to Charlevoix tomorrow.

Before leaving, the federal government footed the bill for a box lunch from the Sugar Bowl for each of them to eat on the bus.

Following is the roster of 22 who left Tuesday:

PRE-INDUCTION physical examinations were awaiting at the end of this bus ride for 22 young men from Charlevoix County. They will return home Thursday after a day at Ft. Wayne in Detroit.

Guard Stations in City, on Beaver I. to Expand

Changes in Coast Guard size and organization are in the offing for units in the Charlevoix area, according to Cong. Raymond F. Clevenger, Democrat from the 11th District.

Clevenger said long-range plans call for a ten-man independent station on Beaver Island by 1970. The Beaver Island contingent presently is under the Charlevoix Station.

Channel Location Sought

The Charlevoix Board of Education voted Monday night to seek an option on a 90-foot tract of land on Pine River Channel for the city's proposed library building.

The property, located on the North side of Park Avenue, comprises lot No. 1 and the east half of lot 2, presently owned by Dr. Walter Hoffmann.

Charlevoix School Superintendent Rex Milligan says the selection of the site has been approved by Clarence Walters, a consultant for the State Library Board.

AN UNOCCUPIED dwelling on the property would have to be torn down, Milligan said. The State Library Board already has approved expenditure of $120,000 for the proposed library.

Two-thirds of the building cost would be borne by the federal government through its aid to libraries program. The balance would be raised locally.

Milligan says the school district already had $12,000 on hand for library construction and another $10,000 has been donated by the Kiwanis Club.

ADDITIONAL MONEY will come from the sale of the present library at the corner of Clinton and State Streets.

Plans for the library already have been drawn up by Begrow and Brown, Charlevoix architects. The proposed building will be two stories high and contain meeting rooms on the ground level.

IN OTHER SCHOOL board business, members approved adding another school bus run in the area immediately surrounding the city to ease an overcrowding situation. The move was made possible by the addition of a new Dodge bus to the school fleet last week.

The new bus has been assigned to the north run, in the Murray School area.

The board also voted to continue its membership in the Traverse City Library Federation.

It was also decided to rent a public address system for the elementary school. After renting for 10 years, the school has the option of buying the equipment for $1.

Low for Week Was 24 Oct. 5

Precipitation for the week ending Oct. 11 was .62 of an inch. Low temperature was 24 degrees on Tuesday, Oct. 5, and the high was 66 on Wednesday, Oct. 6, according to weatherman Harry Ladd.

Precipitation the previous week was 1.32 inches, with total September precipitation totaling 7.31 inches.

Medusa Tempo Stepping Up

THE DIPPER DREDGE Zenith is docked at Charlevoix awaiting an all-clear from the weatherman. The Zenith, out of Duluth, has joined the Big John in dredging Medusa Harbor.

A new contractor--Ryan, Inc.--is on the job at Medusa Portland Cement Co. property on South Point.

Ryan, out of Janesville, Wisc., has been contracted to clear the quarry area and remove an eight to ten-foot overburden down to bedrock.

THE FIRM also is clearing land for the plant proper, as well as huge storage areas.

Perhaps the biggest part of Ryan's work will be digging the 400-foot slip where cement boats eventually will be loaded.

Superintendent Roy Mattson says the work will be done "dry" leaving a roadway barricade between the slip and the lake. When the slip is finished, the cofferdam will be broken away and the lake will spill in.

RYAN presently has 16 pieces of giant earth moving equipment on the site, valued at about $1 million dollars. The firm has a payroll of 13, most of them local men. The machines were brought into the area by barge and unloaded at the end of the new roadway the Bultema Dock and Dredge Co. has built out into the harbor for re-fueling dredges without bringing them into port.

NEW, Superintendant of Ryan, Inc., operations at Medusa is Roy Mattson.

ROADWAY into lake built by Bultema Dock and Dredge Co. ends in a miniature mountain of dredged material. Road will permit on-the-job re-fueling of dredges.

Gregory-Marme Rites Solemnized

Virginia Gregory became the bride of William Marme Oct. 2 at St. Francis Xavier Church, Petoskey.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Faculak of Route No. 1, Charlevoix, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Marme Sr., 236 East Carpenter St., Charlevoix.

One hundred guests attended the double-ring rites performed by the Rev. Gerald Dvorak.

Given in marriage by her father, Anthony Faculak, the bride wore a floor length gown of chantilly lace with scalloped neckline, edged in tridescant sequins, and with long, tapered sleeves. The skirt was bell-shaped, and the veil was shoulder length bouffant of tulle with a jeweled crown. She carried a bouquet of mums.

MAID OF HONOR was Miss Linda Supernaw of Charlevoix.

who wore a pink floor length gown of chiffon over taffeta with white accessories and a matching veil. Her flowers were pink mums.

Miss Diane Kollinske of Petoskey, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid. She wore a floor length gown of pale aqua and white chiffon over taffeta, with white accessories and matching aqua veil. Her flowers were pink mums.

Other attendants were Miss Debbie Marme, sister of the bridegroom, who wore a white dress with blue accessories, and Miss Mary Faculak, sister of the bride, who wore a white dress with pink accessories. BEST MAN was Richard Grunck and the groomsmen was Larry Marme, uncle of the groom, Richard Lund, uncle of the groom, and Edmund Kollinske Jr., cousin of the bride, both of Petoskey, were ushers.

Mrs. Faculak wore a baby blue dress with lace bodice and black and white accessories. Mrs. Marme wore a teal blue suit with matching hat and black accessories. Both wore corsages of white carnations. Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was held for the immediate family at the Holiday House. A reception at the Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club was held in the evening. Both the bride and groom are graduates of Charlevoix High School.

One thing about grass: It doesn't know when it's lopped. That killing frost a week ago Monday really dealt it a knock-out blow, but unfortunately the grass doesn't know it yet. It just keeps growing and growing while I keep cutting and cutting. Of course, the near record rainfall in September didn't help at all, and if anything the new growth is more lush than it was at the height of the growing season.

We're sort of lucky guess, because all of that green stuff in our backyard isn't exactly grass. It's mostly a strange, low-lying little plant with heart shaped leaves. I think it's a kind of fichen, but I'm not sure. Botanist friends tell me it grows only on mountain tops and in some regions, which only goes to substantiate my claim. I'm certain I've never seen it growing "down below", and every morning I took out the kitchen window half expecting to see reindeer browsing on it.

The stems are so short that only a few of the leaves get lopped off by our rotary mower. But whenever I do bite into a clump of it, a pungent aroma fills the air that is nothing short of exhilarating. In fact, the first few times I cut the grass I thought I had come across some kind of non-alcoholic intoxicant. It's heady breath causing my footsteps to waver before I was halfway through the job. Then someone suggested that the bottle of Schlitz I keep handy on the backsteps could have the same effect--and another dream of fame and fortune burst like a pop berry.

As newcomers to the North, Judy and I have been awestruck by the majesty of the Mountain Ash trees so common in Charlevoix. They may grow "down below", but if so we've never seen one. And it would be pretty hard to hide a Mountain Ash with all these clusters of shocking red berries.

We've spent some pleasant evenings lately with William Rattigan's book "Highways Over Broad Waters." The book is the biography of bridge-builder David B. Steinman, sort of a post-boyhood hero of mine ever since my first stomach-churning excursion over Big Mac.

Rattigan, counselor at Charlevoix Junior-Senior High School, loaned me a copy on request, but warned against the technical parts, saying I might find them pretty heavy going.

I am happy to report that Mr. Rattigan was wrong. In fact I found his analytical discussion of the deficiencies of the Steubenville (Ohio) bridge, for example, extremely well written and informative, as were most of his technical dissertations. This, to me, is where a writer shows his stuff--in his ability to write about subjects not generally well-known in a manner to make them interesting to a wide range of people.

I suspect Mr. Rattigan thought I might enjoy more some of the social and personal chapters in the book--how Steinman peddled newspapers in the shadow of Brooklyn Bridge in New York City, telling his amused customers how one day he would be a bridge builder himself. In anything, such passages are the weakest parts of the book. Fortunately they are tied together with sufficient girders and suspension cables to carry the reader from one bridge project to the next.

Throughout the book, Rattigan has included scraps of Dr. Steinman's own verse about the bridge building business. It is as unusual to find the qualities of an engineer in a poet as it is to find poetical qualities in an engineer. Dr. Steinman, it turns out, was a pleasant mixture of both. His verse deals mainly with the bridges he built, a subject with apparently limitless variations.

Another book we've been thumbing through recently is the new edition of "The Boston's Deluxe Official Bartender's Guide," a slim little volume with an alcoholic proof cover. The book has an interesting section on the Martini, and why the American version packs the wallop of an elephant gun.

Seems the Brits, who perfected gin, prefer a smooth 80 proof beverage. Most American gins are up around 90 proof. This means that an extra-dry Martini (8 to 1) made with 90 proof American gin and 36 proof dry Vermouth has a proof rating of 84. The same drink made with 80 proof gin is only 75.1 proof --- and still as dry as outed wheat. The traditional (3 to 1) Martini is 76.5 proof made with 90 proof gin and 60 proof made with the milder 80 proof gin.

The classwork gets a little sticky, but the lab course is a laugh riot.

Charlevoix

...for God, or is it hero-worship, or is it a desire to be shown the way ... is it a dream? Well, heroes are God's occasion for awakening in His children a yearning to be one. Dreams are the doorsteps up which one must climb to reach this higher elevation. Be it hero-worship or a longing for God, it is his dream and a child is at his best when he dreams. His dreams are his prayers. God and your son, together, can do great things. But they can do better if a father joins God and his son in the dream-prayer. Here a father meets, face-to-face, one of the finer experiences of life... his own son in fervent prayer. Scenes like this cause a father to be interested in things that have to do with life rather than just a living. A prayer life is the result of church teaching and good raising... has your child learned to pray??? To be good and kind, and patient are fine but add church attendance to the list and you'll have the ingredients which go into every good man.

Accidents Claim 177 Lives in State in Sept.

Michigan traffic accidents in September killed 177 persons, matching the toll for the same month last year, according to State Police provisional figures.

Meanwhile, final figures for August showed 214 killed and 14,184 injured in 25,064 reported accidents. Deaths compared with August of 1964 were up 18 or nine per cent, injuries increased 949 or seven per cent, and accidents rose by 1,581 or seven per cent.

The August death record was the highest for any month so far this year. It also was the highest August toll in 25 years and the third worst on record, the top counts being 231 in the month in 1941 and 234 in 1937.

Injuries and accidents through August continued upward trends which have prevailed for many months. Compared with corresponding months a year earlier, injuries have increased for 44 successive months while accidents have been up in 42 out of 44 months.

At the end of eight months injuries totaled 96,229, up eight per cent over 88,816 compared with that period in 1964 while accidents numbered 196,067, increased by 12 per cent over 175,210.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Beattie of Detroit spent several days here last week. While here visited their cousin, Mrs. Arthur Weststaff and Mr. Weststaff, Mrs. Beattie is the former Edna Ward.

Using a loudspeaker hook-up, a busy corporation executive may sit in his office in Detroit and address a class of students at Michigan State University 90 miles away, at a considerable saving of time and travel expense.

The two-way systems allows students to ask questions and receive answers, just as though the lecturer were in the classroom.

THE NEW system is called "Tele-Lecture" and has even been found useful on the secondary school level. In Oak Park, Mich., recently, Clinton Junior High students had an opportunity to interview NBC newscaster David Brinkley. Michigan State University students in Hotel, Restaurant and Institutional Management heard a lecture by a Chicago restaurant executive 200 miles away.

Biology students at Western Michigan University, Hendon ry Ford Community College and Stenna Heights College of Adrian took part in a seminar conducted by atomic scientists at the Argonne National Laboratory in Lemont, Ill.

A political science class of Kellogg Community College in Battle Creek this summer heard Li. Gov. William G. Milliken discuss via Tele-Lecture from his Lansing office such topics as a state income tax, college tuition rates and the proposed national park at the Sleeping Bear dunes.

PROF. SAM B. Tidwell, who conducts a summer course in public school fund accounting at Michigan Technological University in Houghton, used Tele-Lectures in instructing school board members and educators. During the course, the only one of its kind in the nation, those in charge of public school money heard from financial experts, including the former president of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.

A Detroit rabbi took part in the first cross-country panel discussion in adult education. More than 700 persons in 12 cities listened to an informal Jewish study conducted by B'nai B'rith.

Though businessmen have held sales meetings and time-saving conference calls, educators have devised some of the most imaginative uses. These range from the study of international affairs to foreign language instruction.

Mr. and Mrs. George Douglas and children, Cheryl and George Jr., have moved here from Livonia to make their home at 111 Michigan ave. Their nephew, Lawrence Sauls of Alpena also makes his home with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Christman have returned after a ten-day trip through Canada. Our church has the scene of a double ring wedding service Saturday evening. The couple united in marriage were Bruce Kroll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kroll, and Barbara Dyer of Boyne City. They will make their home in Lansing, where Bruce is employed at Oldsmobile. They have our congratulations and very best wishes.

Mrs. Evelyn Vanderwall is a guest this week of her daughter Carolyn in Ann Arbor. Ole Olsheve and four sons from Detroit spent this week end at their cottage.

Ron Anderson is attending Central Michigan College this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Knudson and son Peter returned home Sunday evening after a several days visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Sloane (Wendy Knudson) in Duluth, Minn. They report that the weather was beautiful. There was no snow until they arrived in Michigan.

Glenda Knudson, daughter of Douglas and Thelma Knudson, is attending Business College in Muskegon.

Mr. and Mrs. Milford Saunders and three daughters from Traverse City were dinner guests Sunday at the home of Wayne and Sally Saunders.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Dohm from Marlan Center spent Sunday evening at the Wayne Saunders home.

Three formations of wild geese were seen going South, Friday evening. We all know what that means.

Boy Scouts

by Larry Anders
Boy scout troop eleven of Charlevoix held a meeting Wednesday at the City Hall. Mr. Charles England was guest speaker. Mr. England discussed the Atomic Energy merit badge. The badge is one of the newest authorized by the National Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Jim England, son of Mr. England, is the patrol leader of a new Wolverine patrol in the troop this year. Jim is First Class, and is a transfer scout from Flint.

Senior Patrol Leader Don Black held a discussion of map symbols. The knowledge of mapping and map symbols is a requirement for second, and First Class.

The meeting ended with a Scoutmaster's minute, with Mr. Louis Edwards, scoutmaster.

PATROL leaders of the troop took a trip to Sleeping Bear Dune Oct. 7-9. During their stay, they were trained how to lead successful patrols. The training program consisted of subjects a patrol leader must be familiar with, such as "The Patrol Idea," "Patrol Leaders in Council," "Patrol Meetings," "Patrol Spirit" and "Patrol Dads."

All during the trip the scouts gained valuable camping and cooking experience.

On Friday, Oct. 8, the scouts ventured up Sleeping Bear Dune.

Patrol leaders participating were Jim England, Wolverine Patrol; Ric Peterson, Panther Patrol; Bob DeYoung, Eagle Patrol; and Terry Blissett, Owl Patrol.

Also on the trip were Mr. Louis Edwards, Scoutmaster, Don Black, Senior Patrol Leader; Larry Anders, Assistant Senior Patrol Leader; and Ronnie Hoffman, troop scribe.

Mr. and Mrs. Milford Tyrrell have returned to their W. Lincoln Ave. home after spending the summer at Ellsworth.

Miss Lillian McCafferty has gone to Blanchard, Mich., to stay with Mr. and Mrs. George Baldwin.

Willis A. Cross III, F.N., serving aboard a Navy tanker, has been stationed in Da Nang, South Vietnam since July. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis A. Cross Jr., of Kingsville, Ont., who are former residents.

FIFTEEN TINY HEADSTONES, each bearing a number instead of a name, mark the final resting place of all the unidentified men who have lost their lives in Charlevoix through the years. No matter how they died, they had one thing in common: No one knew who they were.

Potter's Field Is Lonliest Spot in City Cemetery

The most lonesome plot in Brookside Cemetery is a small piece of land south of Stover creek which the old-timers call "Potter's Field."

This is the place where the city's "unknowns" have been buried through the years. There are only 15 graves in the plot, each marked by a miniature sandstone shaft bearing a number instead of a name.

TRADITION has it that this is the final resting place of lumberjacks who walked into the Michigan woods to seek their fortunes during the lumbering era--and never walked out.

Old timers say this section of Brookside Cemetery also has been the end of the road for several Great Lakes sailors who came to grief in the waters off Charlevoix in years gone by. This is where the city buried their unidentified bodies.

ERNE HILLER of Charlevoix Lumber Co. says he recalls an incident about 1910 or 1912 when a sailor fell into the empty hold of a ship unloading grain at the Argo Milling Co., where the Weatherlane Inn now stands.

The man was killed instantly, but no one aboard the boat could identify him. None of his shipmates had asked him his name, and he had offered it to no one.

Earl Young says another of the graves belongs to a man who lived in Charlevoix and was fairly well-known by sight around town. But when his house caught fire one night in 1912 and he burned to death, his friends and neighbors started comparing notes. Not a one of them knew the man's name. So he, too, became one of the 15 lonely men buried in Potter's Field.

THE PLOT is well taken care of by the cemetery caretaker and the grass on the graves is carefully clipped. Attention was drawn to the area recently when the Charlevoix City Council started scouring around for more cemetery property to replace two and one-half acres the State Highway Department needed to re-route M-66.

The only vacant property adjacent to the cemetery is 22 acres owned by Vern Mathews. But Mathews objects to selling a portion for cemetery use, because the rest has been platted for home development and he believes many people feel funny about living close to a cemetery.

At present, the only graves next to Mathew's property are those 15 in Potter's Field. In the meantime, the state has announced that it has postponed indefinitely plans to re-route M-66 because of the city's reluctance to sell the needed property.

Linda Lewis Wed to Alma Airman

Linda K. Lewis and John C. Hall were married Sept. 11 at Christ Episcopal Church, Charlevoix.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret Lewis of Charlevoix and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Randall of Alma.

The Rev. Alexander Wood performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with yellow and white gladioli. About 75 relatives and friends attended the wedding.

Mrs. S. E. Coleman played traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Chester Belfy who sang "I Love You Truly" and "O Promise Me."

GIVEN IN marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Herb Kane, the bride wore a floor length gown of white organza with a lace and sequined bodice with long sleeves that came to a point over the wrist and sequins scattered over the skirt which fell to a chapel train.

A pearl sequin tiara held the three tier, tase edged finger tip veil. She carried an arrangement of white carnations and sweetheart roses.

JOHN C. HALLS

Mrs. Geratd Belford of Boyne City was maid of honor. She wore a pink floor length brocade gown, with a pink cluster of net flowers holding her veil.

MISS SHIRLEY FARKAS was bridesmaid and wore a floor length gown of blue tulle with a face bodice trimmed with sequins. A blue pearl crown held her veil. White accessories and pink and blue mums and carnations completed their ensembles.

Kenneth Towne was best man and Frank Klimko was groomsmen. Ushers were Dan Robinson and William Guerra.

Mrs. Lewis wore a powder blue organza dress with pink floral accents.

Mrs. Randall wore a blue brocade dress with a matching jacket. Both mothers wore corsages of pink sweetheart roses.

A RECEPTION followed the ceremony at the Rod and Gun Club. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mousseau were masters of ceremony. The three-tiered wedding cake was served by Mrs. Leo Brown of Detroit, the bride's sister. Another sister, Mrs. Herb Kane, attended the guest book. Punch was served by the Misses Peggy and Jane Mousseau. The wedding party took care of the gift table.

The bride is a 1963 graduate of Charlevoix High School and works for Hoskins Manufacturing Co. The bridegroom is a 1962 graduate of Alma High School and is presently with the Air Force Bomber Scoring Base at Bay Shore. They live on U. S. 31 south of town.

Pellston Pulverized in 37 to 6 Contest

The Charlevoix Raiders scored six touchdowns Friday in a lopsided contest with Pellston. Final score was 37 to 6 --- with only one conversion point scored in the total of seven TD's scored.

The rain which had fallen most of the day continued through the first half of the game, resulting in a muddy field than the Raiders have played on all season.

The game started out with TD by Mark Bourgoin after only four minutes of play. Bourgoin carried the ball over the line from the 10 yard line.

In the second quarter, quarterback Steve Smith chalked up two more markers for Charlevoix, as the Raiders displayed a well-coordinated ground offensive. The first TD was scored with 6:57 remaining in the quarter, and the second only moments before the whistle ending the half. Charlevoix did a remarkable job of chewing up Pellston territory on the ground, even with one penalty for illegal procedures.

At the half, the score stood 19-nothing, Charlevoix in the lead.

The third quarter began with a long run by Bourgoin, from the 45 to the 12 yardline. There Smith took over, carrying the ball across from the nine.

The fourth quarter got off to a bad start when ball carrier Alan Lusk slipped and fell on the wet turf. Another long run by Bourgoin took the ball from the 15th to the Charlevoix 40, where Pellston took over. The fired-up visitors moved the ball down the field systematically, with Pellston's G. St. Germaine taking it over. The point was lost, and the score moved to 25 to 6.

Mid-quarter was marked by a leap-frog run by Levi McClellan, following by a stiff-arming of the Pellston line. With 2:42 minutes left, David Pischner broke through for Charlevoix's fifth TD for the night, followed shortly by a final marker by Gary Plum.

In nothing else, the game was a good workout for the Raiders' homecoming contest with Borne City this Friday night at Kipke field.

RAINDROPS AND MOTION distort this action shot of Friday's game. Ball carrier Mark Bourgoin has some welcome interference moving up center.

Auto-Driven Houseboat Proposed by Reader

To the Editor:

Inquiries concerning the function of the Charlevoix Industrial Development Corp. indicate that it is an organization dedicated to encouraging business ventures that complement existing business enterprises in the area. Whether this organization is concerned only with helping proven enterprises, or if it encourages ideas that may be developed into a practical reality is unknown to me.

EXAMPLE 1: The primary industry of this area is the tourist industry, with large landlocked Lake Charlevoix as the fundamental attraction. The revenues from this industry are still concentrated in July and August. If an unusual attraction could double the length of tourist interest to include June and September it should double the tourist industry value to the area. Most families come here by car. If inexpensive recreational water facilities were available to accommodate these families and their cars it should provide a unique attraction with considerable pulling power.

Perhaps a boat similar to a houseboat in design, about 35' x 15', with three pontoons running lengthwise. The family automobile would provide the motive power through rear wheels resting on rollers that would transfer the power to paddle wheels. If a romantic motif is chosen, or propellers, if a modern motif is chosen. The automobile steering wheel would turn the boat through an extendible arm attached to the rudder on one end and the automobile front wheels on the other end. This form of construction should be relatively inexpensive.

EXAMPLE 2: This general area also seems to have superior medical care facilities. The routine procedure in accident and emergency medical cases is to send an ambulance to get the patient and return to the hospital as quickly as possible for treatment. A more desirable procedure would be to dispatch an emergency hospital van. That is, a mobile unit that is equipped to diagnose and treat any emergency or accident victim on the way back to the hospital from the scene of the emergency. It is likely that such units could save many lives that are now lost through minutes of delay that are needed in emergency treatment. The superior medical facilities of this area could collaborate with other interested groups in developing such a unit, which could possibly lead to the commercial production of such vehicles in this area.

Is the Charlevoix Industrial Development Corp. interested in receiving, and prepared to process, such ideas?

Sincerely,
Ray E. Peltz

Novice Downs Spikehorn With Bow and Arrow

Ron Tapely, an airman stationed at the Bay Shore Bomber Scoring Base, felled a 90-lb. spikehorn buck recently during his first day of bow and arrow hunting.

Tapely, who had never used a bow and arrow before, reportedly was more concerned over losing an arrow than killing a deer.

THE KILL was made just south of Charlevoix, off the Boyne City Road, about 10 minutes after daybreak on opening day.

Tapely was accompanied by Dick Mays, Russ Brown and Joe Battle.

Mays, an expert with the bow and arrow, said he has been hunting since he was 13 years old, and has never shot anything.

Tapely's arrow found its mark from a distance of about 85 to 75 yards. The spikehorn was one of three deer running through a clearing.

Local Architects Build Schools 'In-the-Round'

The firm of Begrow and Brown, Architects, Inc., of Bloomfield Hills, Charlevoix and St. Croix, Virgin Islands, announces that two schools "in-the-round" are now under construction.

One is the Annapolis Park Elementary School in Inkster, which is slated for completion in November, 1965, and the other is the Rapid City Elementary School, a self-contained addition to an existing two-classroom building.

BOTH SCHOOLS are economical structures due to the lower ratio of corridor and circulation space, and smaller periphery than would be required in a conventional rectangle.

This results in a smaller structure, which in turn lowers operating costs such as fuel consumption, window washing and over-all maintenance.

The architects say there is a feeling of warmth and individuality in the spaces which they hope will help develop a creative intellectual environment.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Bennett left Sunday for a week's visit in Alpena with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Bennett and family.

Firemen Pass U-M Course at Ellsworth

On Tuesday night, 14 Ellsworth Firemen received certificates on completion of 18 hours of Firemanship Training in the standard town fire school sponsored by the Extension Service of the University of Michigan and conducted by Bernard Hammond of East Jordan.

The instruction was composed of classroom work and actual working with the local trucks and equipment. The final night of the school was concluded with a written examination.

The school certificate was awarded by Banks Township Supervisor Paul Doctor. Following the presentation of the certificates, Fire Chief Grant Hastings, on behalf of the firemen, presented instructor Hammond with a gift in appreciation of his fine work.

Those receiving certificate were Willard Vander Ark, Andy Kooyor, Keith Vander Ark, Levi Donaldson, Assistant Chief; Art Drenth, Chester Farrell, Sec., Treas.; Tom Oranek, William Armstrong, Bob Smalley, Grant Hastings, Fire Chief; Art Ruls, George Koster, Marvin Wynsma and Wm. Petter.

Redfern Attends Cruiser Show

Russell Redfern of Redfern Marine, Bellaire, attended a dealer presentation of the 1968 Revel Craft cruisers in Annapolis, Md., recently.

He reports that the new Revel line ranges from 25 feet to 37 feet, with prices from $4,595 to $15,900.

Ellsworth Likes Eight-Man Team

Ellsworth's eight-man football team is coming into its own after its second year in the league.

Local fans prefer the larger teams to the six-man squads Ellsworth fielded in years past.

Key men in this year's lineup are Ron Drenth, guard; Bert Doctor, fullback; Ken Richardson, end; Fred Gibbs, halfback; Daryl Kaley, guard; Bob Wallich, center; Marvin Ruls, quarterback; and Rick Ruls, end.

Beet Time at Ellsworth

The spicy aroma of pickled beets hung over the Ellsworth Plant of Michigan Fruit Canners Inc. last week, turning the sprawling food processing complex into a homey farm kitchen. Manager Henry Ruis says the plant started production in mid-July with the harvesting of green and wax beans, and will continue through mid-November processing beets, carrots and onions. Vegetables packed by the Ellsworth plant are sold locally under either Monarch or Richelleu labels, Ruis says.

He estimates production of about 500,000 cases a year, with from six to 24 cans per case, depending on size. Ruis says the plant's year-round employment of 25 jumps to 175 during the canning season, with two 8-hour shifts. The pictures on this page trace the processing of beets from storage hoppers through cooking, peeling, inspection and canning.

THE ELLSWORTH Plant of Michigan Fruit Canners Inc. is a sprawling complex of buildings located just south of the village on Ellsworth Lake.

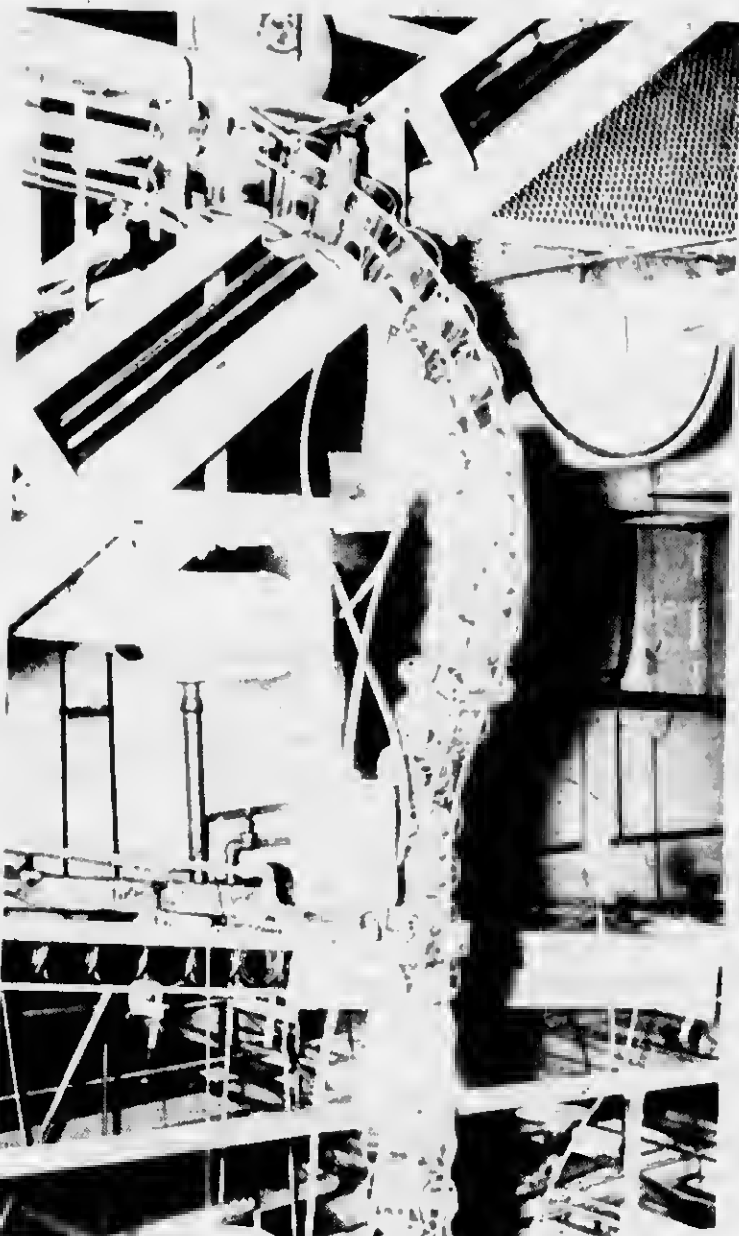

PLANT MANAGER Henry Ruis oversees the work of about 175 men and women when the plant is in full production.

BEETS BY THE SHOVELFUL are fed into trough of fastmoving water which not only washes them but moves them to a conveyor where they are lifted to a par-boiling unit. Next step is peeling and cooking. Handling shovel is Egbert Wynsma.

KATE COOPER (left) and Gertie Eizinga, both of Ellsworth, keep an eye out for stems, leaves, and peelings which might have slipped through the automatic processing line.

SERPENTINE conveyors carry empty cans to filling machines where a measured quantity of beets is fed into each container.

Test Soil for Lime Before Fertilizing

Soil tests can actually save farmers money, according to Ed Reberman, Charlevoix County Extension Director. Reberman says knowing soil qualities can mean wiser use of fertilizer.

Many farmers actually overfertilize fields because they did not use soil tests he says.

Fall is an ideal time to take soil samples and get testing done, the extension director notes. If lime is needed, it is best to apply it in the fall so it will have ample time to break down and aid the fertilizer applied next spring.

For general rotations, soils should be tested at least once every three years. There is an advantage to testing the last sod year of a rotation, because lime, if needed, can be applied before breaking the sod.

The Extension Director warns that lime and fertilizer recommendations can be no better than the samples tested. Poor samples result in recommendations that are misleading and costly, he said.

A new bulletin (E-498) published by The Cooperative Extension Service gives complete information on how to take soil samples and prepare them for testing. It is available without charge from the Charlevoix County Office in Boyne City or the Bulletin Office, Michigan State University, East Lansing.

VISTA Aide Gives Details of U.S. Program

What VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America) proposes to accomplish was the subject of a talk last Thursday to the Woman's Society of Christian Service, Methodist Church by Donald Sherman, area representative.

The first step is a study of the area seeking help. Following come recommendations on how these areas may be benefited by federal aid. The program was arranged by Mrs. Arthur Edwards.

SPECIAL events planned by the W. S. C. S. include a family night supper Oct. 14, a harvest dinner, Nov. 11, and a Christmas bazaar and dinner Dec. 2.

A benefit shower for the Methodist Community House, Grand Rapids, was announced for the November meeting by Mrs. Joseph Williams, president of the organization. Members were also requested to help knit bandages for a leper colony in Africa.

Mr. and Mrs. Hal Warner of Bayonne, N. J., have returned to Charlevoix to make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Reed and friend, Tony Walsh of East Detroit, visited friends and relatives in Charlevoix while spending a week with her sister, Mrs. Clifford Colley in Petoskey.

Patricia Whitley Wed at St. Marys

St. Mary's Church was the scene Saturday of the wedding of Patricia J. Whitley and Thomas E. Dembinsky of Windber, Pa.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Stanley A. Whitley Sr. and the late Mr. Whitley. Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Dembinsky of Windber, Pa., are the parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. E. Francis Denny officiated at the double ring service attended by more than 125 guests. Arrangements of white and pastel pink and blue Fuji mums graced the main altar for the service. Mrs. C. D. Geiken was the soloist and Mrs. Frank M. Oleksy the organist.

ESCORTED by her brother, Stanley Whitley Jr., the bride approached the altar in a white satin gown fashioned with a fitted bodice, round neckline, long sleeves and full skirt that formed a chapel length train.

She carried a crescent-bouquet of white Fuji mums and rosebuds.

Sue Left, as maid of honor, wore a burgundy street length dress styled with long sleeves and a modified bell skirt. She wore a deep pink pillbox and short veil and carried a bouquet of Fuji mums in the same shade.

MRS. KENNETH Whitley, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. William Kelderman, as bridesmaids, wore gowns identical to the honor attendant's in royal blue velvet, light blue pillboxes and veils and carried bouquets of Fuji mums in the same shade of light blue.

Marie Elena Dembinsky of Windber, Pa., sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl and Dennis Whitley, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer.

Richard Felski assisted the bridegroom as best man. David Whitley and Donald Whitley, brothers of the bride, were groomsmen and two other brothers, Kenneth Whitley and Ivan Whitley, seated the guests.

Mrs. Whitley chose a forest green dress and brown accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Dembinsky, mother of the bridegroom, wore a deep blue velvet dress, matching blue feather hat and blue accessories. Their corsages were Oldsmobile is introducing for 1966 a completely restyled line of F-85's, longer and lower looking '88's and '98's and the long-awaited Toronado with front wheel drive, the first truly unique American automobile in many years.

The Toronado, along with the rest of the 1966 Oldsmobiles, will be on display at Parsel Garage, Thursday, October 14.

In addition to the Toronado, the public will see two other Oldsmobile models for the first time: the Cutlass Supreme, a new F-85 four-door hardtop sedan; and a convertible in the Delta 88 series.

Disclosing details of the new automobiles, Harold N. Metzger, Oldsmobile general manager and a vice president of General Motors, "Mechanically, all 1966 Oldsmobiles, including the F-85's, Vista-Cruisers, Jetstar, Dynamic and Delta 88's and the 98's, have undergone significant mechanical changes to improve ride and handling, performance, comfort and safety.

The 88's and 98's have been redesigned, giving them a longer, lower look, and styling for each series is more distinctive. In the F-85 lineup, interiors and exteriors are completely restyled, with more emphasis on Oldsmobile "family" appearance."

IN DISCUSSING the new Toronado, Metzger described it as "an American original." He said it is a car designed for those who want the unconventional, the newest, in whatever product they buy. "The Toronado will set new standards for the industry in styling, handling and roadability, and its appearance dramatically strengthens Oldsmobile's world-wide reputation for automotive engineering leadership," Metzger said.

"The Toronado displays styling like that of no other car," Mr. and Mrs. Allen Arnold visited briefly with friends here enroute to their home in Royal Oak after attending the annual convention of the Michigan Association of Master Photographers held at Traverse City.

of orchids.

AN EVENING reception and buffet dinner was held at the V. F. W. Post Home. For traveling on their Eastern wedding trip the bride wore a cranberry red suit, black accessories and a corsage of white mums and red roses. The couple will also visit Windber, Pa., where they will be honored at a reception this weekend. They will be at home at 306 Clinton st. later this month.

The bride is a graduate of Charlevoix high school. Dembinsky is a graduate of Windber Area high school and a veteran of 4 1/2 years in the U.S. Coast Guard. He is presently stationed at Greys Reef Light Station as an Engineer, Second Class.

on the road today. Its flat floor provides for extra interior room and full six-passenger comfort, and with front wheel drive its driving traction and handling characteristics are outstanding."

All driving components of the Toronado are combined into an integrated unit under the hood. The specially-modified 365 h. p. 425 cubic-inch Toronado V-8 engine is mounted slightly to the right of center. The transmission's torque converter is attached conventionally to the rear of the engine.

But the remaining section of the Turbo Hydra-Matic is mounted along the left side of the engine, facing forward. A silent-operating link chain transfers power from the converter to the transmission gear box. A planetary differential feeds torque through two drive axle shafts to the front wheels.

TORSION BAR suspension contributes to the Toronado's road-hugging ability, vibration-free performance, and virtual freedom from the effects of cross winds on the open highway. Driving traction on snow or ice is matchless, Metzger declared.

The Toronado is built on a 119-inch wheelbase, is 211 inches in overall length, and is 52.8 inches in height. Tire size is 8.85 x 15.

It is offered in one body style, a six-passenger hardtop coupe, and is also available in a deluxe version. Special features of the Toronado include a draft-free ventilating system which eliminates the need for corner vent windows; vacuum operated headlamp retractors; optional headrests; wide doors for easier entrance and exit; and a rear-seat door opener lever on the deluxe model.

The 1966 Oldsmobile Toronado, with front-wheel drive, is the most unique automobile in many years. A six-passenger hardtop coupe, it is available in a standard or deluxe model. Driving traction and handling under every conceivable road condition are only two of the outstanding characteristics of this car. In styling, too, the Toronado is distinctive and unique. A specially-modified 425-cubic-inch Toronado V-8 and Turbo Hydra-Matic transmission deliver power to the front wheels. Inside, the Toronado provides full 6-passenger spaciousness and features a flat floor.

Introducing the tuned car. 1966 Buick.

What makes a car a car is styling, performance, ride and handling. Only when they're all tuned together is the car a Buick. Like this 1966 Riviera Gran Sport.

You know how well your car's engine runs after a tuneup? Buick tuning has the same effect on the whole car. Not just the engine. The whole Buick. Everything blends with everything else. Styling. Performance. Ride. Handling. All tuned to work together in harmony. That's what the tuned car is. A Buick. Only Buick is the tuned car. (And every Buick is the tuned car.) What the tuned car is is a masterful blending of all the things that make a great car greater. The Riviera for 1966 is the tuned car. It features six-passenger seating, disappearing headlights, a silently efficient new ventilating system and the kind of roadworthiness you'd expect in a car that costs twice as much. (You can get a Riviera for your desk as well as your garage. Send $1 in check or money order to Riviera, P.O. Box 68, Troy, Mich., for an accurate 1/25 scale model '66 Riviera.) But Riviera's not the only tuned car. Le Sabre is, too. And Wildcat. Electra 225. Special. Skylark. Sportwagon. See them all at your Buick dealer's. The tuned car may not mean much to you now. But then you haven't had a chance to drive one yet.

Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick?

There's an authorized Buick dealer near you. See his Double-Checked used cars, too.

McCools Hurt; Fire Follows Blast Today

PETOSKEY FIREMEN were unable to save the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McCool on Willis-ave. early this morning. The home was engulfed in flames in minutes and Mrs. McCool, found under debris in the kitchen, was rescued by Richard Whaley, a Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. employee, and McCool who assisted her from the flaming building. Both Mr. and Mrs. McCool are in Lockwood General Hospital, Mrs. McCool with minor abrasions, lacerations and bruises and McCool with minor shock, according to Dr. Gerald A. Drake. (NEWS photo by Fred Lovelace.)

An apparent explosion, followed by a flash fire shortly after 5 a.m. today leveled the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McCool, 1398 Willis-ave. sending both occupants to Lockwood General Hospital where they are being treated for lacerations, bruises and shock.

McCool, 72, said he detected an odor of gas around 5 a.m. and immediately called a representative of the Michigan Consolidated Gas Company. He also called the night police and Patrolman Earl Doernberg, together with fireman Leonard Goke, went to the scene. When they turned off Emmet-st. onto W. Sheridan-st. both said they heard a loud explosion and saw flames coming from the vicinity of the McCool home. Doernberg immediately called the fire department and a general alarm was put in.

When they arrived at the scene they found the McCools, together with Richard Whaley of Michigan Consolidated outside the flaming house and the McCools to company took the McCools to Lockwood General Hospital.

Neighbors who were awakened by the alleged explosion said the house appeared to be a mass of flames and debris was scattered around the area. The state fire marshal from the Michigan State Police is being called in to make a complete investigation.

Mrs. McCool, 70, was apparently knocked down inside the house and her husband, together with Whaley, brought her to safety.

They were unable to save anything. The fire department stayed at the scene until shortly after 8 a.m. today.

Fire Chief Vinton Thompson said cause of the blast could not be determined as yet.

PETOSKEY FIRE CHIEF Vinton Thompson, Assistant Chief Thad Brown and firemen Bert Leist and Charles Krusell bring extra lines of hose to the fire at the McCool home, confining the flames only to the area after high winds threatened to carry the blaze to nearby homes. In less than an hour after the explosion, the two-story house was reduced to a mass of rubble and ashes with portions of the siding and glass found over 100 feet from the scene.

ROOMS EXPOSED BY BIG BLAST—Firemen poke among the wreckage of this two-story home at 1125 Fountain St. NE which was ruined by a gas explosion Wednesday afternoon. This, the east side of the house, was entirely blown away exposing the interior rooms and their furnishings. The rear and east walls were also partly blown out. Mrs. Jennie Daane, 82, the occupant escaped unhurt.

GI's Handcuffed, Bridge Writes

(The following is an excerpt from a letter received from Gene Bridge in South Vietnam last week. Bridge was home for the funeral of his father, the late Robert Bridge in July, and returned recently to the war zone.)

"This place didn't change much in the six weeks I was away. It's still just as disgusting as ever, as are our reasons for being here. Too bad the big guys don't want a military here instead of a conference table bit. They probably got the resources here now. If they just take the handcuffs off, Oh well, that's one peasant's opinion, anyhow."

Thank you for your good service, Gene Bridge

Pioneering in Charlevoix

CHANCES are there's never been another era in the history of Charlevoix when so many major construction projects were under way at one time.

And the chances are even better than no other community in Michigan of our size is having so much money invested in its future.

At present there are eight major construction projects in Charlevoix and environs either under way or ready to come off the drawing board. Here's a run down, in case you've lost track.

THE PORTLAND Cement Co. of Cleveland started work this summer on its $25 million Medusa Cement Plant on South Point. Construction of the office building is moving along nicely, and will be completed this winter before work on the plant proper begins.

Off South Point, the Bultema Dock and Dredge Co. has been at work for several weeks dredging Medusa Harbor. The company already has sunk two pontoons at what will be the slip entrance and built a road several hundred feet long out into the lake so that dredges can be refueled on-the-job.

The dipper dredge "Zenith" arrived on the site last week and the crew expects to be in Charlevoix a year, possibly longer. The dredge eventually will be operated by a 22-man team, many of whom will move into Charlevoix with their families.

NORTHEAST of Charlevoix, the Lexalite Corp. is now in business turning out parts made by plastic injection molding for the lighting industry. Financed by a $100,000 Small Business Administration loan secured by Charlevoix Development Corp., the company expects to employ about 100 persons in a year's time.

SATURDAY on Bridge Street, the long awaited demolition of the Birnkrand Building got under way. The building site, owned by Henry Hogan of Birmingham, eventually will become part of a shopping arcade, along with the I.O.O.F. building next door and the Polly Kay building, all of which Hogan has acquired.

The Birmingham attorney also has purchased the former Holiday Beach Hotel at the foot of Dixon Avenue. He plans to tear it down and construct a nine-story hotel -- with plenty of rooms big enough to put Charlevoix into the convention business.

State Parks on Defensive

Other newspapers besides the Courier apparently have been taking potshots at the state's park system this summer.

A special report by the Michigan Chamber of Commerce acknowledges that a good many complaints have been filed by campers and fishermen -- as well as editorial writers. And the Chamber notes that for the most part the gripes are legitimate and should not be ignored.

The biggest complaint, it seems, is that there are not enough campsites for all the people who want to use them. The Chamber agrees, blaming the shortage directly on the current affluence of the American people and vast improvements in our highway system which bring desirable campsites hours closer to metropolitan areas.

IN SPITE of the thousands of people turned away many weekends each summer from our state parks, the chamber says Michigan is recognized across the nation as a leader in tourism and outdoor recreation. Michigan has some 15,600 state campsites, compared with 3,400 in Ohio, 985 in Indiana, 2,419 in Illinois, 3,086 in

A Hard Man to Replace

NO MAN is indispensable, but some are harder to replace than others.

Such a man was Russell L. "Pat" Curtis who died suddenly last Thursday of an apparent heart attack.

As the first and only director of the Charlevoix Assessment Equalization Department, Mr. Curtis had few peers in the area of property taxation.

Thanks largely to his knowledge and hard work since organizing the department in 1962, disparities in taxation from township to township throughout the county have been reduced to a minimum. Never before has the cost of county government been shared more fairly by all the tax-

Completion will take about three years, he estimates.

ANOTHER apartment - hotel - motel - combination is in the works for Michigan Avenue, at the junction of Petoskey Road. Four large lake front lots and three homes have been acquired by Ocean Lake Development Corp., owned by Scott L. Hunter of Charlevoix, Donald Perrey of Ft. Wayne, Ind., and Hugh McCandless of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

Before work begins, the existing buildings must be either torn down or moved away.

Another apartment house project -- this one at Meech and Dixon -- was helped along last week when Charlevoix City Council approved issuance of a quit-claim deed to the former Colonial Club property to Hal Forbrig. Forbrig plans to build a 16-unit apartment on the site.

WORK ALSO is under way on a third apartment project -- this one in the former hospital on Hurlbut Street. The property has been purchased by Tom Darnton and George Banta of Lansing, who are having it converted into 11 apartments -- five up, five down and a caretaker's unit in the basement.

The last project is the Great Lakes Fabricating Co. plant going up on Carpenter Street. The plant, which makes metal fixtures, is moving to the 12-acre site from present quarters on Lincoln Street.

CHARLEVOIXIANS given to nostalgia are apt to view such works with disdain. They'd like Charlevoix to remain just as it was when they were kids. And we suppose it is natural for most people to be a little sentimental where the old home town is concerned.

But if there's one thing we've learned in the long course of history, it is that change and growth go hand in hand. Charlevoix is growing and, by the same token, it is changing.

Most of the construction projects under way in the city simply involve replacing worn-out buildings with others more useful to the community. Other works -- like Medusa and Lexalite -- call for taming huge tracts of wilderness unchanged since the glaciers melted.

In either case, it's an exciting time to be pioneering in Charlevoix.

Pennsylvania, 7,296 in New York, 9,024 in Wisconsin and 1,816 in Minnesota. In fact, only one state, California, has more campsites (31,311) than Michigan.

All well and good. But the fact remains that as many as 30,000 people have been turned away from Michigan campgrounds on a single weekend.

Park rangers are instructed to turn campers away not when the park is actually full, but when any more campers would pose an overload on the flush toilets and hot water system. It's as simple as that.

THE ANSWER which the Courier has been propounding all summer is equally as simple. Keep parks as close to nature as possible. Box toilets are just as efficient and far less costly than the tile and chromium jobs. Showers are not necessary for woodsmen, not when there's a bathing beach handy. Electricity has no place in the campground.

If Michigan parks were to adopt a back-to-nature philosophy, the state could easily double the number of campsites available with a minimum expenditure of time and money.

IT IS HOPED that the work Mr. Curtis has so ably launched will be carried on by his successor -- when one is chosen -- with the same objectivity and dedication.

The Courier feels it has lost a staunch ally in the County Building. No question we over put before Mr. Curtis regarding county property taxes was ever shelved or left hanging-fire. The answer might have required some digging, but Mr. Curtis invariably was back on the phone in a matter of minutes -- with all the information we asked for and then some.

No matter how you look at it, Pat Curtis will be a hard man to replace.

Did you by any chance recognize the name of the municipal judge in the article on page 163 of the latest issue of Reader's Digest? It didn't ring a bell with me either but I'm sure it did for some because this fine young man's father lived here for some time . . . It was somewhere about 1915 and '16, the father, James Lennhous, came here to work at the Charlevoix State Savings Bank . . . He later went to Grand Rapids and then to southeastern Michigan . . . He kept in touch with his friends here, however, and during the years returned here for vacations . . . Among old family friends here are the Arthur Edwards . . . It was their son, Louie, who called my attention to the article and said that when Judge Lennhous was a youngster the two of them used to play together when the parents came for a visit . . . The families still keep in touch but they don't visit here too often anymore . . .

And be sure to read the article . . . It started out as an experiment and is now being copied by persons interested in law enforcement across the land . . . A terrific plan that could be utilized most any place . . . and has certainly proven its merit . . .

HOW ABOUT that storm that blew up last weekend? If that's an example of what's to follow, you'd better batten down the hatches . . . About 4 a.m. Sunday the wind must have shifted for the roar that it created awakened me . . .

It was such an eerie sound that I just couldn't go back to sleep . . . And then there was that frigid weather that followed . . . down in the 20's . . . with 16 degrees reported at Pellston . . . But I'm still confident that we'll have some Indian summer weather before it's all over . . . But I wouldn't wait too long to get those storm windows on if I were you! . . . And if you don't please don't say I didn't warn you . . .

Incidentally, I was talking with some people who live along the south shore of Lake Charlevoix just west of Advance . . . They were out Saturday night rescuing boats that broke loose from docks . . . and, in some instances, even the docks went out so those people had a pretty wild night . . . In fact, one fellow who's lived in the area for some years said he'd never seen such waves on Lake Charlevoix . . . All of which gives you an idea that it was quite a storm . . .

DO YOU SUPPOSE the robins have received the message? . . . The message, that is, that that white stuff's going to be coming down before too long . . . I've seen more of them in my neighborhood and I'm wondering if they are assembling in preparation for the trip south or if they've decided to give the Charlevoix winter a try . . . There's always a few brave souls that decide to stay . . . and I'm sure before too many weeks go by they regret their decision but have no choice but to brave it out . . .

SUCH A TIME as the dredging company at South Point's been having . . . First Big John broke down and had to be repaired . . . then, on Wednesday morning, one of those huge barges snapped its mooring and drifted off into Lake Michigan . . . No one knows what time it happened but it was discovered at 8:30 a.m. and the Coast Guard received a call to come to the rescue . . . With a 20 mile wind out of the south, the barge, loaded with all the equipment being used at the site, was traveling right along . . . But the two boats from the Lifeboat station soon had it in tow for the trip back to South Point . . .

DON'T YOU GET quite a jolt when you look at a publication and find the picture of someone you know looking out at you? . . . I received my copy of the Michigan Farm Bureau News and turned it over to thumb through it (I'm one of those peculiar people who always start from the back) and there, on the back cover, were two familiar faces, those of Franklin Cellner and Charles Elzinga . . . Illustrating an insurance ad . . . As I said it gives you quite a jolt . . .

It's that time again . . . Homecoming at the Charlevoix High School . . . Lovely Kathy Hoffman has been named homecoming queen, and all gears have been shifted into high for the festivities . . . The traditional snake dance, bonfire and coronation ceremony Thursday night followed by the Homecoming parade Friday afternoon . . . (Please won't you cross your fingers and say a little prayer that the weather stays balmy?) . . . And then, come Friday night, the homecoming game with Boyne City . . . All of which should result in a real fine celebration . . .

Jack London's Grandson Is Living in Charlevoix

The Hypocrite

BY DWAYNE E. JONES

An old man alone, in his one room home,
Watching his day pass by,
He would sit on a chair, by a window bare,
And stare at the faraway sky.
He'd wonder of the day when he'd pass away,
Would that day be like all the rest,
Or would his spirit soar right through the front door
To be a heavenly guest.

When that old man was young he'd often been wrong,
Letting the chips fall where they might,
He'd drink all night and day, give wild women his pay,
Then go out looking for a fight.
But after church it is true, after paying his dues
On a one-way ticket to heaven
You'd find him on his knees, as big as you please,
Shooting craps for a seven or eleven.

Now that old man was thinking, about gambling and drinking,
And other high times of his youth,
When a pain in his chest, just below his left breast,
Brought him to the moment of truth.
As he fell to the floor, his life was no more,
Because he had heard the death knell.
His spirit spun around, as it drifted through the ground,
Right into the middle of Hell.

Now that old man's not alone, in his new home,
As he shovels the coal to the blaze,
For writhing around, on that hot ground,
Are the hypocrites from his church days.

Fans of the late Jack London will be interested to learn that the author's grandson is living and working in Charlevoix.

DWAYNE E. JONES

He is Dwayne E. Jones, 39, of 705 Bridge St., employed by the Paul Lambert Construction Company at South Point, clearing land for the new Medusa Cement Plant.

Jones' mother, who still lives in Iowa, was one of London's two daughters by his first marriage. London's second wife, Charmaine Kitteridge, who had no children by him, is still living in Oakland, Calif.

London, as students of American literature will recall, wrote chiefly about pioneer days in the American west and Alaska. Probably his best known works are the novel "Call of the Wild" and the short story "To Build a Fire," the tale of one man's fight for survival in the arctic.

Like his famous grandfather, Jones is a newspaperman. Up until a year ago he worked for Thorpe Publications in Iowa. Unlike his grandfather, however, he prefers poetry to prose.

Jones admits he has been influenced greatly by his close family tie with London, but says he has been equally in the grip of the Canadian poet, Robert Service, author of such poems as "Dangerous Dan McGrew" and "The Cremation of Sam McGee."

He believes Service attempted to create with verse the same atmosphere his grandfather did with prose. As a sample of his own work, Jones, submitted the poem entitled "The Hypocrite."

Cadillac Adds Brogham

Engineered for ease of driving with more riding comfort and convenience, the 1966 Cadillac includes a freshly styled, but traditional Cadillac look in front and rear.

"Twelve models—one more than last year—go on sale in dealer showrooms on Oct. 14," according to Harold G. Warner, general manager of Cadillac Motor Car Division and vice president of General Motors.

"In the 1966 models a significant improvement in driving ease is accomplished with the introduction of Cadillac's variable ratio steering," Warner said. "This new feature gives the same good road feel in straight ahead steering while fewer turns of the steering wheel are required for parking and traffic maneuverability."

NEW IN THE CADILLAC line-up for 1966 is the Fleetwood Brogham, first introduced last year as an option of the Fleetwood Sixty Special sedan. The extreme popularity of this option, distinguished by a vinyl padded roof, special moldings and nameplate, results in its being offered as a new model.

The Fleetwood Seventy-Five sedan and limousine are completely restyled from bumper to bumper and include all of the 1966 mechanical and engineering features. This is the first major body change in these limited production models since 1959.

Two comfort and convenience options are now standard on the Seventy-Fives—a completely new automatic dual heating and air conditioning system for front and rear compartments, individually controlled, and automatic load leveler introduced last year.

ADDED TO CADILLAC'S already established safety features as standard equipment are retractable rear seat belts and padded sun visors. A new safety option is a traffic hazard warning system. This flashing four-way light option is required equipment on all cars sold in New York state.

Dimensionally the new models in the Calais, DeVille and Fleetwood series remain unchanged except for the Seventy-Five sedan and limousine which are slightly lower and longer. Length of the Calais and DeVille models and the REDUCTION of chrome and attention to lighting detail is evidenced in this Cadillac Calais hardtop sedan. Moldings around the headlamps are finished in body color paint, and the popular and practical Cadillac cornering light is fitted into the front fender, adding to the long appearance of the 1966 model.

Eldorado convertible is 224 inches. The Fleetwood Brogham and Sixty Special sedan are 227.5 inches—the Seventy-Five sedan and limousine are 244.5 inches.

Wheelbase remains the same -- 129.5 inches on all models except the Brogham and Sixty Special sedan at 133 inches and the Seventy-Fives at 149.8 inches.

HE HAD BEEN director of the Assessment Equalization Department since it was organized in 1962.

Mr. Curtis was born April 17, 1913, at Central Lake and married the former Gertrude Reinhart at Traverse City in 1934. He was a member of Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, F. & A. M.

Besides his widow, he is survived by two sons, Gary of the U. S. Navy in San Diego, and Tracy of Charlevoix; one daughter, Mrs. Robert Parker of Detroit; one brother, Lloyd of Spring Lake; a sister, Mrs. Neil Crawford of Central Lake and five grandchildren.

are taken, probably will be made from the under layer of skin on the fingers. He said this is often done when the surface skin is damaged.

Chief Smith said in his opinion it is unlikely that the body washed ashore at Ludington is Mayer's, because of the long distance -- 140 miles -- involved.

"But anything is possible," he said.

Smith also noted that prevailing currents in the lake are toward the Straits of Mackinac and that Ludington lies in the opposite direction.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Supernaw left Tuesday to spend a few days with relatives in Flint.

Guard

The Charlevoix station will be boosted by one man and one officer, to a total crew of 26 men. The station is present 24-man crew includes five assigned during the summer to the Beaver Island substation, giving the Charlevoix an actual increase of seven men.

CLEVELAND said the Charlevoix station will keep all of its present boats and that a 40-foot boat will be assigned to the Beaver Island station.

None of the changes affects the Sundew.

The changes at Charlevoix and Beaver Island are included in Coast Guard plans to double its shore station operations in Upper Michigan during the next ten years, according to Rear Admiral William Childress, Chief of the office of operations in Washington.

Adm. Childress said that if Coast Guard projections of future needs hold true, at least 239 more men will be required at posts along the northern shores of Lake Michigan and Lake Huron and the southern shore of Lake Superior.

This, according to charts prepared by Captain Elmer Crook, chief of the Coast Guard's shore unit division, means 16 new Coast Guard Stations will be needed in the 11th Congressional District by 1975.

THE TOP-RANKING Coast Guard officers says these new units will cost between $6 million and $8 million to build and equip.

The average annual operating cost of a Coast Guard station (10-16 men) is $93,000. This means at least $1,500,000 more a year being spent by the Coast Guard in Upper Michigan.

Much of this money, Cleveland said, remains in the local community. Adm. Childress said the upper Great Lakes are the Coast Guard's most "serious area" of growth, due to the rapid increase in pleasure boating.

Most of the new stations, he said, will be primarily assigned to search and rescue operations, made necessary by the large number of small boats. He said there is more pleasure boating activity on the Great Lakes than anywhere else in the Coast Guard's jurisdiction.

IN ADDITION to its shore stations and lights the Coast Guard has four large boats on the Upper Great Lakes. They are the ice breaker Mackinaw, with 135 men, stationed at Cheboygan; the buoy tender Sundew, stationed at Charlevoix with 47 men; the buoy tender Tamarack, stationed at Sault Ste. Marie with 20 men, and the harbor tug Naughtuck, at the Sault, with 20 men.

The long range forecast, Adm. Childress said, calls for another ice breaker in the upper lakes. He did not predict when this ship will be assigned to the region.

Long Delay Seen in Crash Inquiry

Authorities say it will be about four months before findings into the crash of a four-passenger Navion aircraft Saturday noon on Beaver Island are made public.

Two persons, Dr. Edward Heneveld, 51, of Muskegon, and his wife Betty, a registered nurse, lost their lives in the fiery crash which occurred as the plane was attempting to take off from the island airstrip.

Witnesses say the plane appeared to stall as it began to climb. The pilot apparently was trying to bring the plane down when it hit a tree and burst into flames.

Rock Meet Set

The Petoskey Rock and Mineral Club will meet Oct. 21 at 7:30 p.m. in Central High School, Rm. 12. Visitors are invited. For information, call Alice Cooper, 582-7696.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hewitt left Monday for their winter home in St. Petersburg, Fla., after spending the summer at 307 W. Upright ave.

THE BODIES were returned by air to the Winchester Funeral Home, and from there to Petoskey where an autopsy was performed. Monday they were sent to Muskegon for burial.

Civil Aeronautics Board Investigator George Green of Chicago and Federal Aviation Agency Investigator Lincoln Thomas arrived in Charlevoix Saturday night to launch their inquiry into the crash.

Earlier in the day, an erroneous report said that Dr. and Mrs. Joel Vugteveen also died in the crash. The Vugteveens, however, had left the island earlier by boat, and were enroute from Charlevoix to Muskegon when news of the crash -- listing them as victims -- reached them on their car radio. They notified authorities of the error.

Dr. Heneveld survived another airplane crash in which he was involved eight years ago. That one killed another Muskegon physician and a Muskegon Heights drugist.

Record Budget Passed

The County Board of Supervisors Friday adopted a budget amounting to $369,064. The figure is almost $70,000 short of anticipated tax revenue but the board hopes to make up of the deficit with revenue from other sources, and possible over-appropriations in some instances.

The largest single expenditure is $70,000 for the Department of Social Welfare. The Board's Finance Committee asked a rate of 5.375 mills for county purposes, on state equalized valuation of $55,763,300.

The complete budget appears on Page 3. In other business, the supervisors appointed Joan Y. Blanchard as acting director of the Assessment Equalization Department, replacing the late Russell L. Curtis.

Blaze Levels Cottage

The spacious Chicago Club home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stewart, Jr., was completely destroyed by fire about 5 o'clock this morning. Only a small section at the rear remained standing.

Both Charlevoix fire trucks were on the scene. The East Jordan fire department arrived after the fire was brought under control, but firemen remained to man Charlevoix hoses.

Firemen kept homes on both sides of the Stewart house doused with water to prevent them from burning. The Chicago club cottage called "The Butler" west of the Stewart home, did suffer some damage however. The cottage on the east side is also owned by the club.

Mrs. Frank Curtis, manager of the Chicago Clubhouse, said, she believes she was the last person in the house Tuesday morning. She said she took up after Alan Gordon, son of the Stewarts, left for home about 9 a.m. The Stewarts, formerly of Chicago, now live in Sarasota, Fla.

Mrs. Curtis said Gordon arrived in Charlevoix Monday by air, to pick up an automobile and some clothing that his parents left here last summer. He stayed over night in the cottage. She added that there was no sign of fire when she and her husband, club-grounds keeper, made an inspection of the area Tuesday night about 9:30 p.m.

Mrs. Curtis said the house had five bedrooms upstairs, one down and ample living, dining areas. The house appeared to be built about the turn of the century.

Frank Curtis said he did not know whether the house was insured, since the insurance was handled by the individual club members.

The Rev. Jack Harris, pastor of the First Baptist Church, was re-elected president of the Charlevoix Ministerial Association at its Oct. 5 meeting in the Congregational Church.

Foresees Slump in Land Values

A protest against operating the former Lesser Home on E. Dixon Avenue as a ski resort was delivered Monday night at the Charlevoix Council meeting by Mrs. Virginia Olsen who lives in the neighborhood.

Mrs. Olsen said the move would not only violate the R-1 zoning code on E. Dixon but would reduce property values by bringing in noisy ski groups.

ANGUS FOCHTMAN

Burial Service Monday

Funeral for Angus Fochtman, 76, who was active in Charlevoix's business and government affairs for three decades, was held Monday at 9 a.m. from St. Mary's Church. The Rev. Francis Denay officiated and burial was in Brookside Cemetery.

Mr. Fochtman, father of Charlevoix Alderman William Fochtman, died at Charlevoix Hospital Oct. 15, one day after suffering a stroke.

With the late Albert Cook, Mr. Fochtman founded the Charlevoix Oil Co. in 1930. Mr. Cook died in 1951, and in 1955 Mr. Fochtman brought his sons Richard and William into the business with him.

In public life, Mr. Fochtman has served on the Charlevoix County Road Commission and as a supervisor from Charlevoix's first ward.

Questions and Answers on Uninsured Driver Law

Michigan motor vehicle owners will make their first contributions to the new Accident Claims Fund at the same time they purchase their 1966 plates, according to Mrs. Edna LaBlanche, manager of the Charlevoix branch of the Secretary of State's office. The new plates go on sale Nov. 1.

Motorists who have full insurance protection will contribute $1 to the fund. This money actually will buy insurance protection in accidents with persons driving stolen vehicles and accidents with uninsured out-of-state drivers who become involved in Michigan accidents.

Vehicle owners who do not have insurance will pay $35 into the fund.

Mrs. LaBlanche says this money does not buy insurance. "These drivers are still subject to Michigan's financial responsibility laws. If they are proven negligent in an accident and a claim is filed against the fund, guilty drivers must repay the fund in full or be charged with a misdemeanor, which could result in the loss of driving privilege, fine, and possibly other penalties," she said.

Here are some of the questions Mrs. LaBlanche is most frequently asked about the law.

Q -- What is proof of insurance?
A -- A certificate of insurance or (A) a motorist's current insurance policy, including expiration date; (B) a statement containing the same information as the certificate, on the letterhead of any company or agent, signed by an authorized representative of the insurance company or (C) any document from a company or an agent containing all the information on the certificate, such as a copy of a police declaration or an insurance identification card.

Q -- Must the serial number be included on the certificate of insurance?

A -- Yes. The branch office should refuse to accept certificates when the serial number does not appear. However, the individual will be allowed to fill in the serial number from his own records if all other information on the certificate

Are you paying more than 11½¢ a gallon for your residential heating oil?

If you are, you're paying too much to heat your home.

If you are now using natural Gas (or plan to) for cooking, water heating, clothes drying or Gaslights, and your use is equal to that of our average residential customer, you can get your Gas for heating under our special service rate at a cost equivalent to fuel oil priced at just 11½¢ a gallon. And the nice thing about our Gas rates is that the more you use, the less it costs per unit. That's a bargain in anybody's book. (Can't pay for the cost of conversion right now? Here's good news: Whether you convert your present furnace, or even install a new Gas furnace, Michigan Consolidated will pay for it and its installation by a qualified heating contractor. And it won't cost you a penny until July 1, 1966!)

So why not make your present oil furnace more economical this winter? Have it converted to economical natural Gas. Then you can start putting your money in the bank for a change. Instead of in your furnace. For full details, call us or your heating contractor today.

Carriers Correct Tonnage Error

The Lake Carrier's Association says an error was made in a press release on August shipping tonnage on the Great Lakes.

The release, which was carried in the Courier, said that only 10 percent of the cargoes were carried on the Great Lakes were shipped in craft bearing U.S. registry. The Association says the statement should have been modified to read "10 percent of grain cargoes."

Of total Great Lakes tonnage, more than 75 percent is carried by ships of U. S. registry. The 10 percent figure referred only to grain cargoes, which are carried largely by Canadian ships, particularly since sales to Russia have been stepped up.

DEMOLITION of the Birnkrand Building at Park and Bridge Streets took just over a week. The brick never was piled loose first (above) then the building came down plank by plank. State Scholarship Deadline Is Oct. 31

State Representative Clayton T. Morrison (R-Pickford) is alerting high school seniors that the deadline for registration to be eligible for a state college scholarship is Oct. 31.

Morrison said, "Unfortunately every year these deadlines go by and students who might qualify miss out. There are almost 8,000 scholarships available for the next academic year, 1966-67, and I want to make sure all high school seniors have a chance to apply."

To apply, students should: (1) Obtain a State of Michigan Competitive Scholarship registration form from their high schools; (2) Mail self-addressed envelope, the registration form and a $1.50 fee by Oct. 31, 1965 according to the registration instructions; (3) Take the State Competitive Scholarship examination at 8:00 A.M., Saturday, Nov. 20 at the assigned center.

Morrison indicated that high school offices should have all the necessary details available, but that in case they do not, interested students should write the Michigan Higher Education Assistance Authority, 700 Prudden Building, Lansing, Michigan.

Dr. John Porter, Director of the State Scholarship Program, said, due to recent changes in legislation, all 79 colleges and universities in the state approved by the Department of Education are eligible to receive state award winners. Previously only 49 accredited colleges and universities were eligible to receive award winners.

DEEP YEARNING

...for God, or is it hero-worship, or is it a desire to be shown the way... is it a dream? Well, heroes are God's occasion for awakening in His children a yearning to be one. Dreams are the doorsteps up which one must climb to reach this higher elevation. Be it hero-worship or a longing for God, it is his dream and a child is at his best when he dreams. His dreams are his prayers. God and your son, together, can do great things. But they can do better if a father joins God and his son in the dream-prayer. Here a father meets, face-to-face, one of the finer experiences of life... his own son in fervent prayer. Scenes like this cause a father to be interested in things that have to do with life rather than just a living. A prayer life is the result of church teaching and good raising... has your child learned to pray??? To be good and kind and patient are fine but add church attendance to the list and you'll have the ingredients which go into every good man.

Barnard

Mrs. Jasper Warner
Phone LI 7-2025

Barnard residents extend deepest sympathy to the family of Pat Curtis who passed away Oct. 7 due to a heart attack.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hincham of Detroit visited last Monday with Mr. and Mrs. John Wieland.

Mrs. Tom Wieland spent two days the past week at Camp Kett for Farm Bureau Women.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mousenau just finished extensive remodeling of their home.

A story has come to my attention which I think might interest the readers. A family of Beavers has taken up housing on one of the Barnard streams. Conservation officers are watching this and if it looks like there might be damage done they plan to trap them live and move them to another location.

Mrs. Ira Bennett of Torch Lake visited recently with his cousins, the Carlton Smiths. Mrs. Albert Cunningham is visiting several days in Inlay City with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Themms. She is getting acquainted with her new granddaughter.

Guests at the Jasper Warner home last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Warner of Grand Rapids, Mr. Ivan Warner of Pontiac, friend Gordon Ford of Detroit and Judy Warner of Traverse City.

Old neighbors and friends of Barnard extend sympathy to the family of Alex Kerr who passed away Oct. 7 Mr. Kerr resided many years in Barnard.

Miss Joyce Matchett accompanied friends to Detroit last weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Shapton, son Mark and two friends of Holt spent last weekend at their home here.

Mrs. Henry Block of Traverse City visited last weekend at the Earl Johnsons.

Mr. Jack Roberts of Grand Rapids visited his mother, Mrs. Bertha Roberts, last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Brooks of Grand Rapids visited last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ilram Potter.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Blom and daughter of Royal Oak visited last weekend with cousins, the John Wielands.

Word has been received of the sudden death of Mrs. Jiles Warner, Grand Rapids on Sunday. The Jiles Warners resided in Barnard several years before moving to Grand Rapids.

Mrs. John L. Boss visited relatives in Detroit the past week.

Guests at the Roberts home over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Roberts Jr. and family of Clio and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jolliffe and daughter of Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Julia Potter and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wilbur of Flint spent the weekend with the David Potters.

Mrs. John Wieland, Mrs. Tom Wieland, Mrs. Wm. Agner and Mrs. Jasper Warner were among the twenty five Charlevoix County Farm Bureau women who motored to Chippewa County and were guests there for the day, Oct. 13. Top event of the day was a tour of Kincheloe Air Force Base.

Fuller Lists Tools to 'Build' a Child

"When you build a house you use a number of tools to measure your lumber and the size of your rooms. Basically, you do the same thing with children by measuring or evaluating the mental and emotional abilities and then, by using these measurements, 'build' a normal, well adjusted child."

This is the gist of remarks by Donald Fuller, diagnostician for the Charlevoix - Emmet Intermediate School District, in a talk at the first meeting of the Charlevoix P.T.A. Oct. 13.

Fuller went on to outline the work of his staff, and explain how they "take the measure of a child."

In conclusion, he urged parents not to do everything for their children, but to permit the youngsters to do things for themselves, with adult guidance, for only by following his method can children grow.

MRS. CHARLES Bieha, chairman of the program committee, outlined the proposed programs for the year and introduced Charles A. Robinson, superintendent of the intermediate school district who, in turn, introduced Fuller.

H. E. Bingham, high school principal, introduced the one

Dinner Surprises Rev. Winegarden

The Rev. Leona Winegarden, pastor of the Methodist Church, was surprised by a family pot-luck supper at Harmony Hall Thursday night sponsored by members of the congregation.

Rev. Winegarden was presented a corsage before the dinner in honor of her being chosen for "Who's Who of American Women."

Dinner tables were decorated with fall flowers and autumn leaves. After dinner, Helen Moorland led the group in singing and Lt. David Smith sang a solo.

At the close of the dinner hour Rev. Winegarden was presented a large cake, decorated in fall colors, which she cut and served. Presentation was made by Donald Bogart, chairman of the official board.

new member of the high school faculty, Glenn Taylor, math teacher principal, introduced Mrs. Arlette Harris who teaches first grade; Mrs. Jean Seymour, third grade; Mrs. Carolyn Klooster, fourth grade; Mrs. Joyce Rylema, fifth grade and Mrs. Jane Luther, Type A special education teacher.

REX E. MILLIGAN, superintendent of schools, spoke briefly about adult education and the plan to offer a number of classes at a later date if enough interest is shown. An announcement regarding the classes will appear in the newspaper at a later date he said. He then introduced Mrs. Elaine Belfy, special education teacher.

Mrs. Herbert Boss, membership chairman, reported 286 members at the time of the meeting.

Rev. George L. Majors, president, introduced the new officers, including Mrs. Dale Boss, first vice president; Mrs. Ralph McRae, second vice president; Mrs. Maurice Dixon, treasurer and Mrs. Claire C. Martin, secretary.

Rev. Alexander Wood, pastor of the Christ Episcopal church, gave the invocation. First grade parents were in charge of refreshments.

Chippewa County Visited by Bureau

Twenty-six women from the Charlevoix County Farm Bureau were guests of the Chippewa County Bureau in the Upper Peninsula Wednesday.

After a luncheon at Pickford, the Charlevoix women were shown slides of pictures from throughout the country by the extension agent, including the new International Bridge between Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. and Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

The party then traveled to Kincheloe Air Force Base where they inspected equipment and facilities.

MRS. WILLIAM Parsons of Norwood, who had visited the base seven or eight years ago, was amazed at how large it has grown.

"It's a regular city," she said. "There are 5,000 air-men at the base, 1,800 of them living at the base with their families in trailers, barracks and all types of housing."

Mrs. Parsons said there are 30 B-52's at Kincheloe, each one representing an investment of $10 million dollars.

She said the group was particularly impressed with a police dog demonstration staged by base personnel.

SHE SAID when the dogs wear chain collars they are as calm and well-behaved as house pets. However once leather collars are strapped on, the dogs become taut-muscled guardians of law and order.

Mrs. Parsons said up until a few days ago, Kincheloe had 16 dogs as guards, but two, along with their trainers, recently were sent to Vietnam.

The Norwood farmwife says that only 175,000 acres, or 12 per cent, of Chippewa County is being farmed. The rest is forest. She also noted that many Chippewa County farmers are still trying to harvest their grain. The long delay was caused by so much rain in September. She said the grain has been pretty much laid flat by wind and rain and the task appears almost hopeless.

ONE MILLION dollars worth of earth-moving equipment is on the job at Medusa's South Point site. These giants are owned by the Ryan Co. of Janesville, Wisc., which is clearing land and removing overburden down to bedrock.

'Old King Cold' Is Not So Merry

Old King Cold is a tough character, says a pamphlet of the American Medical Association.

So far, medical science has not been able to break through his guard. Gradually, however, more and more is being learned about colds and their causes even though up to now colds can't be prevented or cured. All that can be hoped for is to treat the symptoms of the cold to make one feel better until it goes away, and to be as careful as possible not to spread your infection to others.

A number of viruses produce the symptoms that most of us call a cold, possibly as many as a hundred. The true cold is an infection with one or more viruses. Bacteria are believed to be purely secondary infections.

Current research seems to indicate that colds are harder to spread than has been thought. Fresh colds appear to be more contagious than older ones. Children's colds have been shown to be more contagious than those of adults. There still is much discussion among experts as to the relationship of becoming chilled or damp to "catching" cold.

What to do for a cold? Medical science can't help much. No specific treatment, so far available, is effective against the cold virus. Any treatment is directed toward relief of the discomfort of runny nose, watery eyes, sore throat, slight fever and the other symptoms of the cold. The wonder drugs, such as penicillin, don't bother the viruses, but may be prescribed by your physician for secondary bacterial infections. Bed rest, or at least inactivity, is helpful. Your physician may suggest mild medication to help allay the discomfort.

Cold vaccines thus far are of little value. Evidence is lacking that any particular foods, vitamin supplements, special clothing or exposure to sunlight or fresh air have effect on colds.

If a cold persists or seems unusually severe, see your doctor. Colds are great imitators and the early symptoms can mimic those of other much more serious infections. Recurring colds may not be colds at all, but may be allergic attacks that require medical attention.

U.S. Booklet Gives Tips to New Workers

A pocketful of skills must come before a young worker can expect to make a pocketful of change.

This is one of the major points stressed in a "Handbook for Young Workers" issued by the Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Standards, and aimed at young people who are working or will soon be.

The booklet outlines the kinds of jobs available, training needed, how to go about getting a job, labor laws and workers' rights.

EMPHASIZING the need for education and skills, the pamphlet recommends part-time work for youth needing an income to remain in school. It describes assistance offered to young people through State employment services, Youth Opportunity Centers, and the Neighborhood Youth Corps.

Training potentials, such as courses offered under the Manpower Development and Training Act, the Job Corps, apprenticeship programs and other U. S. Government opportunities are also included in the Labor Department handbook.

Unemployment Reaches 8-Year Low in Nation

She Recalls City in 19th Century

Unemployment fell to 2.9 million in September, the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported. This was the first time since October 1957 that the jobless total had been below 3 million. Employment also dropped seasonally in September, as many young workers quit their jobs and returned to school. Jobless rates declined for married men and adult women, while the teenager rate edged up slightly. At 4.4 percent, the total unemployment rate (seasonally adjusted) was not significantly different from the 4.5 percent level of July and August and was at its lowest point since the fall of 1957.

TOTAL employment fell by 1.8 million to 72.4 million in September. The drop in nonagricultural employment (1.4 million) was about the expected August-to-September change. However, farm employment declined more than seasonally, probably because of generally unfavorable weather during the survey week.

The opening of schools in September reduced teenage employment by 2.1 million from August and accounted in large part for the addition of 550,000 adult women (mainly teachers and other school employees) to the employed total.

The number of employed adult men declined by 250,000 although no change is expected at this time of the year. The greater-than-seasonal drop in male employment was concentrated in the 20-24 age group and was mainly attributable to the late survey week which found many of these young men in school.

Total unemployment, at 2.9 million, was down 450,000 from a year ago and 650,000 from September 1963. Since September 1964, the number of unemployed persons seeking full-time work has been cut by 400,000 to 2.2 million. The seasonally adjusted unemployment rate for full-time workers was 4.1 percent in September 1965 as compared with 4.8 percent a year ago.

THE JOBLESS rate for adult men, 3.1 percent, remained at the low level of the preceding 3 months. For married men, the rate dropped to 2.2 percent, equal to the low recorded in March 1957 and below any other month since the data first became available on a monthly basis.

The civilian labor force averaged 75.6 million in the first 9 months of 1965, an increase of 1.3 million from the January-September 1964 period. About one-third of the 1964-65 expansion occurred among teenagers, although teenage workers account for less than 10 percent of the labor force.

These over-the-year gains were about in line with long-term projections of labor force growth.

She Recalls City in 19th Century

Memories of Charlevoix before the turn of the century were stirred Oct. 15 when Mrs. Zoe Weed of Rapid City paid a visit to the city with the Mancelona Hobby Club.

Mrs. Weed, 85, whose maiden name was Pappin, came to Charlevoix as a baby in 1889 when her father, a Marine engineer, built the present Franklin Curtis House at 201 Dixon Ave. The Pappins lived in Charlevoix until 1900.

While Mrs. Weed visited the Courier office she telephoned a girlhood friend, Mrs. Philip Lemieur, whom she hasn't seen since leaving the city 65 years ago.

MRS. WEED said she missed the business places that used to stand on the east side of Bridge Street, but said she probably would get used to the "new look" in Charlevoix if she lived here awhile.

She was accompanied on her trip to the city by Mrs. Eva May of Mancelona.

The Mancelona Hobby Club makes one trip a year to a nearby community. This year the club selected Charlevoix and had dinner at Mont's Restaurant.

Mrs. Vernon Snyder of Milwaukee came last week to visit her mother Mrs. Fred Gill. She was joined Sunday by her daughter, Mrs. Harold Sager and two children. They plan to return to Milwaukee later this week.

Our Rayders Grab A Real Cliff-Hanger

Charlevoix and Boyne City fans were treated to a football feast Friday night that they'll still be talking about when Lake Charlevoix dries up.

It was one of those cliff-hangers in which both teams fought like tigers in the first half only to remain scoreless. The second half started with a Boyne City touchdown which took the Rayders by surprise. The home team was still blowing kisses to the crowd when Boyne City's Jolly grabbed the ball and sprinted 71 yards for the TD. Time elapsed in the third quarter was only 48 seconds.

THE RAMBLERS lost the conversion point, but the Rayders were fired up. The next seven minutes were one long struggle up the field, with Mark Bourgoin finally carrying the ball over from the 20 yard line on an end-run.

The Rayders had a chance to move ahead of the Ramblers, but fumbled the extra point, leaving the game at 6 all. Charlevoix fans were relieved but edgy.

In the fourth quarter Boyne City came back strong, finding they could make better time going around Charlevoix's ends than bucking the line. Shortly before the end of the period Neil Cross was stunned when he had the wind knocked out of him, and time was called until he recovered sufficiently to leave the playing field.

MANY FANS already had started to leave, when a penalty against Boyne City brought Charlevoix to their opponent's 15 yard line. The clock said there was only nine seconds to go.

The ball carrier was Steve Smith, and with the help of some blocking that had been missing most of the evening, he raced across the line for Charlevoix's second marker.

The conversion kick was blocked, but no one seemed to notice. Charlevoix had won its homecoming game 12 to 6. Tip Riley said attendance, based on ticket sales, was about 2,000, with both the home and visitors' stands filled.

Halftime entertainment included presentation of the 1965 Homecoming Queen, Kathy Hoffman, and her court, Karen Ohmer, Pam Hiller, Sue Skelton and Chris Seldi. The crowd also saw some well executed maneuvers -- including the opening of the bridge -- by the Charlevoix High School Marching Band.

A dance at the Elementary School gymnasium after the game climaxed two days of Homecoming festivities, including a bon fire and coronation Thursday night and a float parade Friday afternoon.

Winner of the float competition among Junior High students was the 9th grade, whose float motto was "We're Not 'Gion," the Rayders are best." Second place was 7th grade, with a tableau of football players reaching for victory.

IN THE SENIOR High division, the 12th grade placed first with their chicken float proclaiming, "Tweet ourselves to a victory." The 11th graders' "Tiger" float placed second.

In a side bet between the Pep Club and the Varsity Club, honors went to the Varsity Club for its giant tennis racket and streamer reading: "Football is our racket."

London's Kin Is Jailed on Check Charge

Dwayne E. Jones, 705 Bridge St., is in Charlevoix County Jail awaiting trial Oct. 25 on a charge of writing checks without an account, according to Sheriff Glenn Rose. Jones, 39, was arrested Oct. 8 after writing three checks for a total of $30. The checks were drawn on the Charlevoix State Bank.

He waived examination Justice Court Oct. 9, and was bound over to Circuit Court. He was unable to pay $300 bond.

ROSE said Jones' mother in Iowa sent money to cover the amount of the bad checks. Jones, a grandson of the late author Jack London, was the subject of a feature article in last week's Courier, a sampling of his poetry was included.

In recent weeks, Jones has been working for the Lambert Construction Co. on the Medusa property at South Point.

He waived examination Justice Court Oct. 9, and was bound over to Circuit Court. He was unable to pay $300 bond.

IRV DROGTS celebrated "12,000 lb. moose" is past history. But we're still getting telephone calls -- about what made the moose so heavy. Of course, the "12,000" should have read "1,200." As every outdoorsman knows, there are very few 12,000 lb. moose left in the Ontario wilds. Whenever a hunter does manage to nail one, it sinks immediately into the muskeg of its own weight and is never seen again. That's why so many people found it hard to believe that Irv actually brought one home.

WE'VE got an unusual problem at our house. Kathleen, who is a normal little girl in every respect, has taken a fancy to Dally dog food. The first time I saw her nibbling at the dog's dinner I laid it up to a childish curiosity. When she started nudging the dog out of the way at mealtime, I thought she was being cute. But now she sneaks into the kitchen when she thinks no one is looking, jams her hand down into the bag of dry pellets and pops two or three into her mouth at a time.

Suspecting a dietary deficiency, I checked with the doctor. He said it's unlikely. If she is eating regular meals, she probably just enjoys dog food as a between-meals snack. He said if she eats no more than a handful a day, it probably won't do her any harm.

"But it sounds like it's getting to be a habit and you might as well break her of it by keeping the dog food out of reach," he suggested. Curiosity finally got the better of me the other day, and I tried one of the little pellets myself. Actually, they're not bad -- despite all the bone meal and riboflavin and other ingredients which go into the making of rich, warm coats and perky dispositions. In fact, it tastes an awful lot like Gravy Train which I was talking into trying some time ago by a television commercial.

Nevertheless, we're keeping the dog food on a high shelf and Ginny is taking her meals henceforth on the back porch. It is certainly better to take precautions now than to have Kathleen start chasing cars or barking at strangers.

THE OTHER night at the laundromat three fellows were sorting and folding clothes at one table, a situation which created considerable merriment among members of the distaff sex who happened to be present. One of them even saw fit to broach the subject to the three hitherto silent folders.

"Don't you think it's strange," she giggled, "three fellows all out doing the laundry at the same time?"

"Not at all," said one young fellow, turning to his tormentor with a disarming grin. "In fact, it was either this or go naked," he said bluntly.

Another avowed as he had a choice of whether to do the dishes or trot the clothes down to the dryer. He chose the lesser of two evils.

The third said that he didn't even have a choice. He had to hurry and do the dishes so he could get to the laundromat before closing.

Another distaffer who was listening in on the conversation allowed as how she would n't let her husband do the laundry any more.

"It's a 20 minute job," she sniffed, "and he'd always be gone two hours."

"Poor guy," said folder No. 2 under his breath. "It was the only chance he got out of the house for a beer and she's killed it for him."

The three folders continued to work in silence, each feeling a little smug and self-satisfied that he was allowed out of the house at night -- if only to do the laundry.

What, in the name of Proctor and Gamble, is happening to that noblest work of God -- the American Male?

Ferry 'Ottawa' P.T.A. Seeking Growing Longer New Members

The Arnold Transit Co. of Mackinac Island reports that the ferry "Ottawa" has been sent to the Paasch Marine shipyard at Erie, Pa., to be made longer.

The company said the Coast Guard recently approved plans for increasing the length of boats in the "Ottawa" class by 20 to 25 feet.

The "Ottawa's" passenger capacity will be increased from 400 to 600, the company said, adding that improvements are feasible because of the ship's ample beam and stability of design.

Reconstruction will be completed during the 1965-66 winter season. The other two vessels of similar design operated by Arnold at Mackinac will be reconstructed during the next year when passenger traffic permits.

A P.T.A. membership drive is presently under way with the classroom with the largest parent participation receiving a $10 prize and the P.T.A. banner. Mrs. Herbert Boss, membership chairman, has announced.

The contest will run through the month of October only. On Friday, a total of 299 parents and teachers had joined the P.T.A., Mrs. Boss reported. She went on to say that this was a comparatively small participation for its represents only 28 per cent of the parents who are eligible for membership.

The membership by grade ranges from 53 per cent in Mrs. Klooster's fourth grade to nine per cent among parents of 12th grade students, Mrs. Boss said.

Varnum Tells J.P.'s Justice Is Their Job

Charlevoix County Prosecuting Attorney Harvey Varnum was one of several law experts who addressed 200 justices of the peace Oct. 1 at Boyne Mountain Lodge.

"The primary job of a justice of the peace is to see that justice is done, not simply to convict a defendant," Varnum told the judges.

He indicated that appeals to Circuit Court would be reduced, if all persons were represented by counsel (lawyers). Varnum added that although Michigan law doesn't provide for a court appointed attorney in misdemeanor cases, such a provision would insure justice and reduce court loads.

The meeting was the 23rd semi-annual seminar for Michigan J.P.s. They will hold their annual convention next June in Traverse City.

MR. AND MRS. Gerald LaFreniere leave Beaver Island for wedding trip around Michigan. The couple were married at Holy Cross Church in St. James Oct. 16. She is the former Carol Schlacter.

Island Shops Close for Nuptial Mass

Business places on Beaver Island closed early Oct. 16 as most of the residents on the island turned out for the 6 p.m. nuptial mass uniting Carol Ann Schlacter and Gerald Nelson LaFreniere at Holy Cross Catholic Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Z. Reigle of St. James and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon (Dick) LaFreniere, proprietors of a hardware and grocery store in St. James. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Louis Wren before an altar decorated with roses and gladioli.

THE BRIDE, who was given in marriage by her stepfather, wore a candlelight satin floor length gown with a train trimmed with chantilly lace. The fingertip veil was secured by a Juliet cap. She carried a bouquet of red sweetheart roses and white carnations.

Maid of honor was Miss Pamela Martin of St. James who wore an azure blue floor length dress with matching headpiece. Bridesmaid was Mrs. Leonard Wright of Flint, who wore a gown of identical blue.

BEST MAN was Leon LaFreniere, the groom's brother, and the usher was Lawrence McDonough of Grand Rapids.

Uninsured Drivers Take Note

Branch offices maintained by the Secretary of State are bracing for a head-on collision with Michigan's uninsured drivers come Nov. 1.

The issue is the new Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Act which required uninsured Michigan drivers to kick in $35 to an uninsured drivers fund before being issued their new 1966 plates.

The same act requires all insured drivers to pay $1 into the fund as protection against uninsured drivers.

ACCORDING to press releases emanating from Secretary of State James Hare's office, the Secretary is acting like a man with a lion by the tail. Life was a lot simpler in the good old days before the Legislature dumped the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Act in his lap. In fact most of Hare's headaches would disappear overnight if all of the state's four and one half million motor vehicle owners were suddenly fully insured and such a law were unnecessary.

But as things stand, Hare is four-square behind the law and has a publicity program in high gear hoping to get the populace fully informed before the new plates go on sale.

The bald fact that makes such a law necessary is that 15 per cent of all vehicles in Michigan are not covered by insurance -- which figures out to about 500,000 to 600,000 uninsured vehicles. Hare says that uninsured vehicle owners who pay the $25 fee might just as well be throwing the money out the window, because this in no way constitutes "insurance." It is simply the fee such drivers pay for the privilege of going uninsured.

THE THINKING behind such a levy, of course, is to pressure vehicle owners into buying adequate insurance coverage. "These drivers are still subject to Michigan's financial responsibility laws," Hare says. "If they are proven negligent in an accident and a claim is filed against the fund, guilty drivers must repay the fund in full or be charged with a misdemeanor, which could result in the loss of driving privilege, fine, and possibly other penalties."

Hare estimates that about one-half of Michigan's presently uninsured drivers will sign up for insurance rather than kick in the $25 to the accident fund and get nothing for it but the privilege of keeping a car on the road.

ON THE OTHER HAND, the $1 paid by insured drivers actually buys insurance Hare claims. "It gives the vehicle owner the same type of protection he now receives from commercially purchased uninsured protection riders that cost three and four times more."

"It protects against contingencies such as persons driving stolen vehicles and out-of-state uninsured drivers who become involved in Michigan accidents."

The Secretary of State doesn't think it would be a good idea to drop private coverage, however, since the state fund will cover only those accidents with uninsured drivers which occur in Michigan.

Hare emphasizes that the new act covers not just cars and trucks, but all motor vehicles. This included motorcycles, motor scooters and motorcycles.

EDNA LA BLANCE, manager of the Charlevoix Branch Office, expects most of the static among Charlevoix drivers will come from this segment of the population -- young people who have scrapped up just enough money to buy a motorbike and now must either buy insurance or pay the $25 penalty.

Although the new plates go on sale Nov. 1, owners have until Feb. 28 to buy their plates and make sure their insurance is in order.

"My advice to all Michigan vehicle owners is simply this -- buy liability insurance right away," Hare says.

An Old Friend Back in Business

Sometimes we never appreciate our public services businesses until they cease functioning.

Such was the case when the Beaver Islander limped into port three weeks ago with a badly damaged clutch assembly. A nut had worked its way loose and over a period of time several parts had been worn beyond repair.

A major overhaul was necessary and for 11 days the Beaver Islander rocked at her Charlevoix berth while a host of parts were assembled from marine engine dealers up and down the Mississippi River. Some of the parts came from as far away as Shreveport, La.

IN THE MEANTIME, Charlevoix and St. James were without their most important link. At first it was thought the trouble could be repaired in a day or two and cargo for the island was collected at the warehouse. Then, when the magnitude of the job became known, all the perishable foodstuffs were trucked out to the airport and flown over.

PERHAPS the segment of the population hardest hit were the hunters from around Michigan who were primed for a few days of unexcelled shooting on the island. Without the boat they were stranded in Charlevoix, unless they were willing to pack up their gear, dogs and weapons and fly to the island. Several did, of course, but were handicapped by not having their cars with them.

Meanwhile, the Beaver Islander, whose comings and goings had been as predictable as sunrises and sunsets, remained tethered to the dock, while boat per-

Guard Plans Reflect Growth

Often when the federal government announces another monster spending program we get that awful feeling that more of our tax dollars are being scattered to the winds.

Such is not the case with the recent government announcement that it intends to beef up its Coast Guard facilities in northern Michigan over the next few years. The plans call for a ten-man independent station on Beaver Island by 1970.

IN ADDITION, the complement at Charlevoix will be increased by one man and one officer. With the five presently assonnel traveled as far south as Grand Rapids to rush back parts to the mechanics. Knots of red-clad hunters gathered in the dock area every day, speculating on the progress of the repairs, while the Majszak Tractor Repair Service truck from Traverse City remained backed up to the ship's hold, like an ambulance on an emergency run.

People in town used to listening for the Beaver Islander's whistle as she entered or left Round Lake felt like they had lost an old friend.

ON BEAVER ISLAND, despite the hunters and the scramble for all available transportation, the little boat -- whose daily arrival is something of an event -- was sorely missed.

Finally, the Emerald Isle from Mackinac Island, which used to make the Beaver Island run up until two years ago, was pressed into service, helping remove some of the mounting supply of goods stored in the Beaver Islander warehouse -- boxes of canned goods, sacks of onions and potatoes, dozens upon dozens of beer kegs and cases.

Finally, on Oct. 11, the crisis was over. The Beaver Islander's clutch was reassembled. The Emerald Isle left at 2 p.m. Capt. LeRoy Allers at the tiller. Thirty-five minutes later the Beaver Islander nosed out the channel under the hand of Capt. Lawrence McDonough. Both boats were loaded to the gunwales with cars and trailers, food and drink, bird hunters and dogs.

Now Beaver Islander is back on schedule, just like the sunrises and sunsets.

signed to Beaver Island, this means an actual increase of seven men for the local station.

THE AUGMENTING of Guard facilities, according to Rear Adm. William Childress, chief of the office of operations in Washington, is necessitated by present and anticipated growth in the area, due to the rapid increase in pleasure boating.

The Coast Guard expansion plans simply mean that the Guard recognizes an area of potential growth and is not going to be caught short of men and facilities.

by FRANK MARTIN ends

Don't know if you've had a look-see at it but in the event you missed it, start looking... for what? The most recent issue of the Consumers Power Company News... Almost the entire issue is on "The Atom in Michigan"... and, you guessed it, it's about our own Big Rock Nuclear plant... The sub-title is "Your Stake in the Atom in Michigan" and right under it is someone looking at the big sign we're so used to seeing that tells us that this is "The world's first high power density boiling water power reactor"... The first story relates to the plant itself with the second, written by one of Charlevoix's native sons, Bill Golden, writing of "The Community and Nuclear Energy"... complete with pictures of five of our citizens including Mayor Hawley, Bill Fochtman, Bob Lieberman, Rex Milligan and the late Pat Curtis plus a beautiful picture of a sailing vessel entering the harbor at dusk... The remainder is devoted to Youth, Research, Safety, and the Public and Nuclear Energy... Quite a spread which certainly tells the story and carries it to all those on the News mailing list... which, I understand is pretty sizable...

... soon you'll be seeing some spanking new pictures of the plant... taken by a fellow by the name of Tony Kelly... They tell me he goes in, for the unusual and is an artist with the camera... I'm anxious to see them... But it will be awhile for it was only last week that he spent a day at Big Rock...

YOU KNOW, it's amazing the things you find out about this fair village of ours when you're not looking... My neighbor, P. R. Ross, dropped in the other and somehow the conversation turned to the "good old days"...

He ended up telling me about this bit of early history that gave me a chuckle and I thought you might enjoy it too... This was back in the days before Prohibition... probably in the mid-tens at a time when a prohibition law if it wanted... The time he was telling me about was when Charlevoix County was "dry" but Grand Traverse County was "wet"... Personally, I don't understand what good this did for if you want a bit of oil of joy in any quantity, all you had to do was order it in Traverse City and it was shipped hereby express...

This was in the days when the county bank building was three stories high and the top floor was used as a club... a club to which many of the menfolk in town belonged... In fact, he described it as a "sporty" club... Club members who wanted to entertain their friends would order beer by the barrel... some three hundred and some gallons... and whiskey by the gallon, have it sent via rail and take to the clubrooms where each member had a locker large enough to hold said barrel of beer... with space left over for the gallon jugs!... But hauling the barrels of beer, which came in a dozen or so at a time, was no easy chore... and that's where P. R. got into the act... He was in the business of transporting the barrels of beer and toting them up the two flights of stairs that had 23 steps per flight...

I asked him who some of the club members were... He named some whose names I recognized and added that anyone who was somebody belonged to the "club"...

But can you imagine a club with everyone having his own barrel of beer?... I got quite a boot out of it... Then came the Volstead Act and all that became a bit of the past...

He also told me that in those days the village boasted five saloons... the kids with the swinging doors and the brass rails, complete with brass spittoons... Just like you see in the old westerns... Can you imagine our fair village with that many saloons today?... I use that word because I think it's much more descriptive than bar...

THE RAZING of the building at the corner of Bridge and Park has stirred a few memories too... When I was a kid the McCann brothers, John and Lawrence, had a bakery there... and they made the best lemon pies I ever ate... and macaroons, too... Later, F. J. Fessenden & Son opened a drugstore and ice cream parlor there, utilizing the entire building (later they moved to the corner of Bridge and Mason)... I can't remember what followed that but I do know that at one time there was a gift shop and tea room... and, of course, in recent years it's been the site of a number of linen shops... Must check with some of my old friends and find out who built it...

In it's early days it housed a hardware... owned by someone named Bartholomew and operated by a man named Blanchard...

Greensky Hill Church: Indian Tribute to Faith

GREENSKY HILL Church is located on a high bluff, just southeast of the junction of Old 31 and Boyne City Road. Nearby is Susan Lake, whose shores were once peopled by Ottawa Indians.

High on a hill not far from the shores of Susan Lake, stands an enduring tribute to the faith and fortitude of the Indians who inhabited this region in the middle of the last century. It is the Greensky Methodist Church, a mission arm of the First Methodist Church in Charlevoix. Nearby stand nine gigantic maple trees, their lower boughs twisted outward as a symbol of peace among Indian tribes in the area. The tall maples are all that are left of 30 Council Trees which once formed a solemn ceremonial arena for tribal chieftains.

The mission church is the handiwork of Peter Greensky, an Indian brave who received training at a small Methodist settlement in the Upper Peninsula at Bay Mills. In 1838, Greensky moved southward, taking part in a protestant movement then under way in the Grand Traverse Bay area.

Later Greensky became dissatisfied with the Grand Traverse mission, and, along with 27 families, left the area to establish his own church where he and his followers could worship as they saw fit. Their travels took them to the mouth of Pine River Channel, the future site of Charlevoix, across Round Lake and into Green Lake, which later became Lake Charlevoix. They were delighted with the area, particularly when they came across the Council Trees which had been planted and bent into their peculiar shapes by earlier Indian tribes. Greensky and his followers decided this was to be their home. He named the sparkling little lake nearby "Susan" in honor of his wife.

At first a small church was built of boughs covered with cedar bark, but in 1850 work on the present permanent church began. The building is 26 by 32 feet and has eight windows, three on each side and two on the end. The logs were laid one above the other, each one notched at the corner to make a snug fit with the ones above and below it.

The crevices were filled with pieces of wood and mud and the floor was made of rough boards split out of logs.

When the church was completed in 1860, about 300 of the 500 Indians living in the area were members. Today, although membership has dwindled to 18, services are conducted every Sunday by the Rev. Leona Winegarden of Charlevoix.

Jay Oliver, a spokesman for the congregation, says the Church is presently trying to buy back some of the nearby land which has been bought by the white man. Much of the area is Indian burial ground, marked by rude crosses and tumbledown fences.

JAY OLIVER escorts group from State Historical Society through graveyard of his people.

THE LOWER branches of the Council Trees were bent as a symbol of peace.

Anglers, 65, Fish for .50

Anglers 65 years and older who live in Michigan are going to find it easier on their pocketbooks when this state's 1966 fishing licenses go on sale by Dec. 1 at local dealers, the Conservation Department reports.

Under authority of a bill passed by the State Legislature this year, these senior resident fishermen will be able to get their licenses at the new, bargain rate of 50 cents.

Wives of elderly anglers may also fish on the low-priced licenses which will be valid from Dec. 1 of this year on through the entire 1966 season.

Fishermen in the 65 and over age bracket will still be charged the standard $2 to buy trout stamps.

Chest is Over the Top

The Charlevoix Community Chest is over the top!

The goal of $12,709 was reached in just four days more than the three weeks originally set by Campaign Chairman Frank Bourgois.

Charlevoix is the first community in Michigan to report successful completion of its united campaign.

Chairman Bourgois said success in the drive rested entirely on the shoulders of the following workers:

Ted Ager, chairman of Commercial Division, assisted by Herbert Moore, Moe Foster, Ken Celter, Ralph Hess, Larry Wallace, Louis McKenzie, Don Meggison, Bill Carey, Bob Nowakowski, Dave Patrie, Jack Erbert, Bob Biggs, Joe Liston, Bill Supernaw and Bob Winchester.

CHARLEVOIX Industries were solicited by Jim Richey, Frank Bourgois and Don Anders. With the cooperation of management at Freedman Aircraft, American Mold, Hoskins Manufacturing and Consumers Power Co., a plan for making payroll pledges was made available to their employees.

Gifts from employees and management in the Industrial Division surpassed the division goal by $850. Freedman Aircraft led with combined contributions of $995. American Mold raised $629, Hoskins Manufacturing $610 and Consumers Power $601.

OTHER Industries contributing in this division were Paul Reed, Electra Machine Co., Will Flow Corp., Great Lakes Fabrication, Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. and Penn-Dixie Cement Corp.

The Professional Division was headed by John Michael, assisted by Versal Seymour, County Building, Ann Cunningham, City Hall; Mrs. H. Bingham, High School; Mrs. S. E. Coleman, Elementary School; Mrs. June Cross, Hospital; Major Wilson, A. F. R. B.S., Bay Shore; Lt. Smith, Sun-

Draft Boards Told to Sift Deferments

Faced with the largest draft calls since the early days of the Korean campaign, Michigan local boards have been directed to screen previous deferments and to reclassify registrants whose deferments cannot now be justified in the national interest, according to Mrs. Frank Bourgois, secretary of the local Selective Service Board.

The December draft call for Michigan local boards will total 3,394 registrants for delivery to the Army and Marine Corps, November Inductions will total 2,625. Calls were about 300 per month earlier this year.

All student deferments are currently being reviewed, and further deferments will be denied to part time students and those who have failed to make reasonable progress in their educational programs.

OTHER occupational and dependency deferments granted under previous lenient policies will also be reviewed. Further deferments will be granted only where they are necessary in the national interest.

Current induction calls are being filled with single registrants ages 19 through 25 and registrants married since

Army to Test 10 More

Ten young men from Charlevoix County will go to Detroit for Army physical examinations Nov. 9, according to Mrs. Frank Bourgois, secretary of the local selective service board.

The group will leave by chartered bus and will spend the night at the Pick Ft. Shelby Hotel before going to Ft. Wayne for their examinations Nov. 10. They probably will return to Charlevoix that evening.

Mrs. Bourgois said the state office asked her to send 18 men on the November call, but that under present guidelines, only 10 from Charlevoix County are eligible.

They are: Glen M. LaFreniere, St. James; Edward S. Sevinski, Elmira; Gary Lee Parsel, Ironton; Alan J. Massey, Boyne Falls; Leonard E. Meadows, Walloon Lake; Barry D. Moyer, Warren C. Reinhardt and David L. Heller, Boyne City; Andrew A. Lee, Charlevoix; and Rex A. Bartholomew, East Jordan.

The number of men being tested for the draft has risen sharply since President Johnson doubled selective service calls in August to meet the Vietnam crisis. Twenty-two from the county took their physicals in October.

Sex Ed. Is Topic of Meet

Sex education in the schools will be the theme of the 17th Annual School Nursing Workshop scheduled for Nov. 1, 2 and 3 at Boyne Mountain Lodge.

Attending from Charlevoix will be Mrs. Jean Miles, R. N., school and community nurse, and Mrs. Robert Hooper, R. N., who works out of the County Health Department. School Superintendent Rex Milligan also plans to attend some of the sessions.

THEY WILL be among approximately 250 public health and board of education nurses at the conference, which is sponsored jointly by the Michigan Department of Health and the Department of Education.

Claire L. Corriveau, assistant chief of the Health Department's Nursing Section, says the workshop has five major goals. They are:

1. TO IDENTIFY the role of the nurse and other member of the school health team in sex education.
2. To examine current concepts and communications between community groups on sex education.
3. To increase understanding and skills in working in the area of sex education.
4. To understand the desirable essentials for a sex education program in the schools.
5. To become familiar with the learning resources available for teaching and sex education.

Poverty Funds Are Earmarked for Area Use

The U. S. Office of Economic Opportunity has awarded $100,544 to Norcap, Inc., a private, non-profit organization offering technical assistance to eight multi-county poverty programs in northwest Michigan.

The grant was announced Monday by U. S. Senator Pat McNamara (D-Mich.) and Congressman Raymond F. Cleverger (D-11th Dist.).

The war-on-poverty grant will benefit indirectly some 35,000 low income families in 33 northern Lower Peninsula counties, McNamara and Cleverger said.

Norcap will offer advice on organization and other problems to groups engaged in the war on poverty, the lawmakers added.

Inspect Guard Bases

Coast Guard Commandant Admiral Edwin J. Roland and Admiral Willard Smith, commander of the 9th Coast Guard District, visited Charlevoix briefly Tuesday afternoon to inspect Group Headquarters, the Lifeboat Station and the Sundew.

After the reception, the admirals, who were accompanied by 11th District Congressman Raymond F. Cleverger, were honored at a reception at the Coast Guard Station attended by business and civic leaders.

THE ADMIRALS and Cleverger came to Charlevoix to get a first-hand look at facilities which are due for expansion in the next few years because of an unprecedented growth in pleasure boating on the waters around Charlevoix. An independent Coast Guard station, manned by a crew of five, will be established on Beaver Island.

At present, the Beaver Island station is staffed by the Charlevoix Station. These men will be reassigned to Charlevoix and the station complement will be increased by one officer and one enlisted man.

The official party arrived at Charlevoix Airport at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and was welcomed to the city by Mayor Pat Hawley, Lt. Cmdr. Charles Millrad, Chamber of Commerce manager Archie Dayton, and a host of businessmen and private citizens.

The High School Band also was on hand to welcome the party, playing "The Coast Guard Marching Song" and the Charlevoix alma mater, the latter dedicated to Adm. Smith, who graduated from Charlevoix High School. He was visibly pleased by the gesture.

THE VISITORS proceeded immediately by autocade to the Coast Guard station for the inspection and reception.

The Coast Guard cutter Sundew, which normally docks in town, moved to the Coast Guard dock before the visit to consolidate Guard facilities for the visitors.

Legion Offers Library Site

The Leslie T. Shapton post of the American Legion has offered to trade its property on E. Garfield St. to the Board of Education as a library site.

The Legion in return, would take possession of the present library property at State and Clinton streets.

The Board of Education already has an option to buy about 100 feet of land on Pine River Channel owned by Dr. Walter Hoffman as the new library site.

Halloween is Saturday

Charlevoix will celebrate Halloween Saturday, Oct. 30. Instead of Sunday, the Chamber of Commerce has decided.

The move came after many clubs and groups in the city announced that they intend to observe the holiday on Saturday.

The celebration of Halloween can be traced back to the dim recesses of history, and it wasn't always celebrated on Oct. 31, giving the C. of C. a precedent for changing the date.

There were beggar holidays some 400 years ago to permit the poor to call on more favored neighbors for largess. Considerable activity centered around Allhallowes Even, or Halloween.

In Ireland, forerunners of trick or treat laid it right on the line. People went about carrying gifts in honor of one Muck Olla, an obscure folklore character probably linked to the Druids, who provided many Halloween customs. Householders were reminded that Muck Olla was responsible for prosperity, which would disappear if the callers weren't treated liberally.

Oddly, the modern "trick or treat" custom had its parallel among American Indians. But children were the victims -- not the tricksters. When an older masked himself and pretended to menace, the children had to buy him off with a gift of tobacco.

Trick-Treaters Will Collect for UNICEF Drive

Youth groups from six Charlevoix Churches will conduct a city-wide drive to collect money for the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF), according to Rae Marie Szudzik of the Episcopal Youth Group of Charlevoix, coordinator of the drive.

The collection will be held Oct. 30 from 6 to 8 p.m., a time traditionally set aside for "trick or treating" by the city's youngsters.

Money collected in the drive will be sent to UNICEF headquarters in New York to be allocated as the U. N. committee sees fit. It will be chiefly to help children in underdeveloped nations.

Halloween Parade Slated for Friday

A Halloween party and parade Oct. 29 for Charlevoix's grade school youngsters has been arranged by the Kiwanis Club, according to Glenn Snider, Elementary School principal.

Snider said all the youngsters in the school will get a chance to see the movie "Disneyland After Dark" and selected short subjects at the Palace Theater.

At 9:30 a.m. Friday, the morning kindergarten class and grades one, two and three will walk down town to see the show. Candy will be distributed by the Kiwanis Club.

In the afternoon, all children are invited to come to school in their Halloween costumes to take part in a parade through town led by the High School Band.

School Band.

THE PARADE will form in front of the school on Grant Street, then move south to Antrim and east to State Street. The parade will continue north on State Street to the Clinton intersection. At this point, youngsters who saw the movie in the morning will return to the school and afternoon kindergartners and grades four, five and six will proceed down Clinton to the theater.

Kiwanis members will direct traffic during the parade, Snider said.

He added that the club hopes the parade will provide an outlet for some of the Halloween spirit which has been building up the past few weeks.

Hugh Mayne Wins Contest 3rd Time

Last week the Courier announced the first two-time winner in its Football Contest -- City Clerk Hugh Mayne.

This week the Courier announces it's first three-time winner in the Football Contest -- City Clerk Hugh Mayne. Actually, Mayne has only won 2 1/2 times, since last week's $10 prize was shared with Susan Dziedzic, a 5th grader at St. Mary's.

TODAY Mayne shares the honor with no one, having missed only three of the 16 pairings in the contest.

Mayne erroneously selected Petoskey St. Francis over DeTour, Southern Methodist over Texas Tech, and Illinois State over Central Michigan. Runners-up in last week's contest were Leon Perron who missed four and Thomas Maxwell, Billy Kelderman, Norm Helms, and Don Meggison each of whom missed five. For this week's contest turn to Pg. 8.

Medusa Woes

In Greek mythology, Medusa was a goddess who was troubled with snakes in her hair -- problem enough for a young girl in the days before hair spray.

Medusa today is synonymous with cement plants, and although Charlevoix's Medusa isn't bothered by snakes, sometimes dredgers and engineers wish their problems were that simple.

Wind played havoc with Medusa dredging operations over the weekend. One scow used to remove dredged material into deep water broke her moorings Saturday and is beached just south of the city. One compartment has sprung a leak and that will have to be repaired before the dredge Duluth moves her off with a winch.

Another scow, which had been docked on the northwest shore of Round Lake, also went traveling over the weekend. The Coast Guard found her drifting in Round Lake, and notified Zenith Dock and Dredge Co., her owners. The wandering scow is now tied up near the Belvedere Club. There are bright spots on the Medusa landscape, however.

Walls of the office building are finally taking shape, after a long battle with wet weather. And the Ryan Co. has seven rubber tired earth scrapers busy eating up the overburden where the Medusa slip will be. Each machine is pushed through the muck by two tractors.

As they move along, they are automatically filled with up to 35 cubic yards of earth. When full, the tractors back off and the machine proceeds under its own power to dump the earth in a waste disposal area.

With such equipment operating the area, the road through Medusa property has been shut off as a safety precaution.

STRONG winds Saturday washed this scow ashore near the hospital.

DELAYED by rain, the walls of the Medusa office building are finally taking shape.

All Saints Day Ritual Panned at St. Marys

St. Marys School children are making banners bearing the name of their patron saint.

Friday afternoon at 1:30 they will form a parade at the school with their banners on and march to church where they will recite the Litany of the Saints, reciting the eve of the feast of All Saints Day.

Clockwise

With Bob Clock

Falsh an' begorra, Top o' the morning, and Erin go braugh.

We've just come back from Beaver Island and we'd like to jolo the local fan club. We visited the island last weekend under the worst possible conditions--wind Saturday night and rain Sunday morning--but we fell head over heels and now we're trying to think up good excuses to go back.

In our more rational moments we've tried to pin down that fleeting something that is so fascinating about Beaver Island, and the town of St. James in particular. There's really not much to St. James--a fishhook of land trimmed around with a broked battlement of summer cottages, year 'round homes, a few businesses and two saloons conveniently located next door to each other to save travel time.

MOST OF the business places appear to be turn-of-the-century models or earlier, with false fronts hiding pitched roofs--a harmless conceit on the part of pioneer architects to make buildings look larger. Unfortunately, several of them appear ready for retirement.

In the wind and the rain, St. James has a rather woe-begone look that could send the uninitiated scurrying back to the mainland post haste. But after you talk to a few of the Islanders you begin to sense that there is something more to the island than the desolate main street of St. James. There is a secret the Islanders share with each other, something just below the surface that makes you think if you stay long enough and talk enough of them you'll learn what it is.

I think what piques the curiosity of visitors most is the fact that Beaver Islanders don't seem to mind living on the island. When you arrive, they give you the impression that they're glad you got there at last. And when you depart, you're the one to be pitted for having to leave the island and go off to the gale, excitement and bright lights of the mainland.

THE LATE playwright G. B. Shaw would have found Beaver Island interesting. He wouldn't have lived there on a bet, but he would have recognized something familiar in its inhabitants. As a native-born Irishman, Shaw often mentioned a certain mysticism among his kinsmen which baffled and intrigued him. It also frightened him. This is why he left Ireland as a young man and didn't return for 40 years, and then only for a brief visit.

There appears to be something in the Irish makeup that reveals in the splendid isolation of such spots as Beaver Island. There might be something of the morose complex involved, and I strongly suspect there is. But whatever the cause, the Beaver Islanders we met are convinced they are living in some kind of paradise. And I think maybe they are.

WHEN WE arrived on the boat Saturday afternoon, the whole town of St. James was getting ready to close up for the wedding of Gerry LaFreniere and Carol Schlacter. At the Shamrock and Beachcomber, patrons looked a little uncomfortable in their tight collars and Sunday suits, getting a little lift to carry them through the ceremony.

At Dick LaFreniere's hardware and grocery store, owned by the bridegroom's father, a little note on the door said the store would close at 4:30 for the wedding. It was almost 4:30 when we went in to buy some milk for Kathleen, but the handsome bridegroom was still on the job, ringing up groceries for late shoppers.

Bob Miles, who took the wedding pictures, said the wedding was one of the nicest he's ever attended--and Bob, as a photographer, has been to more than his share of weddings.

"It's hard to explain," he told us later at the Shamrock, "but there's a friendliness among these people that you just don't find on the mainland. Beaver Island weddings are the friendliest I've ever been to."

And of all ceremonies--public and private--I can think no other at which this particular quality should be more sought after.

SUNDAY we planned to pedal to Donegal Bay on the west side of the island, but the rain interfered. Instead we had a late breakfast, visited the museum in King Strang's old printing house with Mr. and Mrs. Miles and, when the rain stopped, took off for Font Lake on the bikes. Font Lake is the site of the famed Mormon baptism during King Strang's reign. It was here that late lamented world figures often were baptized in absentia.

We found the island roads, although mostly gravel, are hard-packed and ideal for bicycling.

Island at 2 p.m. Sunday, quite a crowd turned out, mainly to wave goodbye to the newlyweds who were leaving on a wedding trip around Michigan. Most of the passengers were hunters returning with their dogs after beating the island bushes for 'pats and small game. Two successful bow-and-arrow hunters were aboard with their white-tailed deer cached away in the hold. One big hound jumped up on a slat bench in the passengers' cabin and immediately fell asleep on his master's out-spread hunting jacket.

Then a strange thing happened just as we were leaving the dock. It suddenly occurred to me that we, the passengers, weren't the ones embarking on an exciting journey. Instead that little band of people who had turned their backs on the boat and were heading for LaFreniere's store were the ones setting off on a real adventure. It's funny how a weekend with the Irish can get you all turned around.

DEEP YEARNING

...for God, or is it hero-worship, or is it a desire to be shown the way... is it a dream? Well, heroes are God's occasion for awakening in His children a yearning to be one. Dreams are the doorsteps up which one must climb to reach this higher elevation. Be it hero-worship or a longing for God, it is his dream and a child is at his best when he dreams. His dreams are his prayers. God and your son, together, can do great things. But they can do better if a father joins God and his son in the dream-prayer. Here a father meets, face-to-face, one of the finer experiences of life... his own son in fervent prayer. Scenes like this cause a father to be interested in things that have to do with life rather than just a living. A prayer life is the result of church teaching and good raising... has your child learned to pray??? To be good and kind and patient are fine but add church attendance to the list and you'll have the ingredients which go into every good man.

Farm Market Signs Assure Fresh Produce

Fresh-picked, top quality farm produce is assured Michigan travelers who stop at roadside markets displaying a new "Michigan Certified Farm Market" sign.

The attractive green, white and cream rectangular markers may be displayed only at farm stands adhering to a rigid code of ethics, said Melvin Andrus, marketing specialist with the Michigan Department of Agriculture. Andrus makes regular visits to check the certified roadside markets.

The Michigan Certified Farm Markets Association was formed a little over a year ago by 23 roadside stand operators in eight southeastern Michigan counties. It has grown to 37 members in 15 counties around the state.

Yanks Prefer TV to Tubs

More American families have television sets than have bathtubs or showers.

The latest census found 6.9 million housing units without access to a tub or shower, compared to 6.7 million without a TV set.

Despite this apparent preference for soap opera over soap suds, the standard of housing in the United States is improving, according to Aetna Life Insurance Company, which has $1.5 million invested in private housing.

Retarded Center Has New Name

The Retarded Children's Center on E. Garfield has been re-named the Children's Training School, according to Superintendent of Schools Rex Milligan.

Responsibility for operation of the school was taken over this year by the Charlevoix Board of Education.

St. Marys Host to State Group

Gaylord Deanery of the National Council of Catholic Women met at St. Mary's School on Sunday with 65 members present.

The meeting opened with benediction at St. Mary's Church at 2:30 p.m.

Mrs. Edward Bailey, president of the Grand Rapids Diocesan Council of the NCCW of Traverse City, spoke on the history of the Council, from the national down to the parish level and what is expected to be accomplished.

Meeting concluded with St. Mary's serving refreshments.

Assembly of God Slates Speakers

The Charlevoix Assembly of God Church will host three Missionaries Oct. 28, 29 and 31.

The Rev. Everett Herberger attributes the growth and strength of the Charlevoix church to its tireless support of missionary work.

At present, the church is supporting 10 missionaries in various parts of the world.

Rayders on the Move!

THE VIKINGS' B. Smock is about to come down as Charlevoix's Steve Smith latches on. This play occurred late in the third quarter. Oddly enough, the principals in this tackle were both No. 22.

Grayling Beaten 19 to 6

The high-riding Charlevoix Rayders soundly trounced a listless squad of Grayling Vikings Friday night, with the final tally 19 to 6.

It was almost a shut-out, but the Vikings scored in the last five seconds of play, giving their homecoming crowd something to shout about.

It was the second game in a row that a TD in the final seconds gave Rayder fans their money's worth of football.

Last week, Charlevoix pulled off its own homecoming game from the fire by a TD with nine seconds to go.

The game with Grayling got off to a fast start. Mark Bourgoin grabbed the ball the second time it was in Charlevoix's possession and ran 71 yards for a touchdown. Steve Smith kicked for the extra point, but the ball hit an upright.

With the game hardly started, the score stood 6-nothing, and this is the way it remained for the rest of the quarter.

The Rayders started strong in the second quarter, but a 15 yard penalty took the wind out of long ground offense. Levi McLellan, Smith and Bourgoin tried to get something going, but two additional penalties took away practically everything they gained.

Finally, after a series of THESE CHARLEVOIX cheerleaders have been at practically every game this season, cheering the Rayders to victory. Front to rear are Sue Skelton, Elaine Waine, Toni Novotny, and Kathy Hoffman.

Incomplete passes from the Vikings' Thompson to Bailey, the Grayling team, on a 4th down, kicked to Charlevoix. Bourgoin latched onto the ball, taking it to the Grayling 30 yard line. From there, McLellan sprinted over, for the Rayders' second TD of the game. The clock, if Grayling, had had one, would have shown about two minutes left to play in the quarter.

The third quarter was marked by some excellent tackling by Bob Holtzman and Smith and some fine offensive ball by Grayling's Scholasky, Nothers and Smock. But there was no score.

The fourth quarter opened with some fancy broken-field running by Bourgoin, followed by a tackle which apparently aggravated an injury received last week when he tangled with a utility pole during the Boyne City game.

With only about one minute and 15 seconds left, Charlevoix chalked up its third TD of the game when Smith climaxed a long drive up the field by bulging the ball over from the one-yard line. The point was good, giving Charlevoix a 19-0 lead.

Many of the Grayling spectators already had left the field when the Vikings scored their lone TD. J. Sorensen carried the ball over from about the 15 yard line, ending the game.

Next week the Rayders play at East Jordan.

The English phrase "64-64ths" means full ownership of a boat. It applies equally to a rowboat or liner the size of the Queen Elizabeth.

Talk of the Town

Capt. and Mrs. H. E. Paddock left last week for their winter home in Venice, Fla. Enroute they plan to spend some time in Potteryville with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Vane Smith, and family and with their sons-in-law and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Scharschmidt and family in Battle Creek and Dr. and Mrs. Roger Postmus and daughters in Ann Arbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Smith and family spent 10 days recently with his mother, Mrs. Mary Smith, enroute from Newark, Calif., to Detroit where they will visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Stuedel. The family will remain in Detroit while Mr. Smith goes East to the New York area for interviews regarding employment.

Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Veldkamp of Grand Rapids are visiting his brother John and wife and also his mother, Mrs. Alice Veldkamp at Meadow Brook, Belleaire.

Visiting the Paul Sivits last week were his parents Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sivits Sr., from Kalamazoo.

August Postmus accompanied his daughter Martha to Grand Rapids Tuesday morning and returned Thurs. with his daughter Geraldine (Mrs. Julius Rubling) who, with her children, visited relatives here a few days.

PICTURES ON this page show some of the playground equipment purchased by the Parent-Teachers Association for the Charlevoix Elementary School's kindergarten classes. The slide is a perennial favorite. Not only does it strengthen climbing muscles but it also helps youngsters overcome a fear of height.

The Fall meeting of the Women's Missionary meeting was held Tuesday Oct. 12 at the Atwood Christian Reformed Church.

Due to the absence of our chairman, Mrs. Alvin VanderGriend, Mrs. Vernon Geurkink of Ellsworth was in charge of the meeting and spoke a word of welcome to the ladies present and the missionaries and introduced the speakers for the afternoon.

Rev. James Bonema in Home Missions at Hartford, Conn., spoke on his work as an Evangelist Missionary. The speakers both brought inspiring messages and Rev. Bonema brought out that there is a great need in our country for home missions.

Rev. Bonema closed with prayer and a social hour followed in the church fellowship room. Refreshments were served by ladies of the Ellsworth Christian Reformed Church.

Registrations of these vehicles also rose sharply. In the first seven months this year, Michigan had 52,474 of them, a gain of 50 percent over 32,801 in the same period last year and a 34 percent increase compared with all of 1964.

There were 2,124 motorcycles and motor scooters involved in accidents last year to the state. There were 50 fatal accidents, resulting in the deaths of 51 persons.

In addition to the fatal accidents in 1964, 675 other accidents involving these vehicles occurred in rural areas, 613 causing personal injury and 62 property damage only.

In cities of 2,500 to 25,000 population there were 234 non-fatal accidents, with 294 persons injured and involving property damage accidents in cities or more than 25,000 population.

Hunters Over 40 Told to Take Care of Hearts

Going hunting? Then ask yourself this question: Do I have the heart and body to stand the strain? It's not sentiment or ethics here, but just the simple question of physical fitness, especially for persons over 40.

The Michigan Heart Association says deer hunting often demands a level of energy output which may quadruple the level at which most sport hunters live during the rest of the year. Extremes of weather, change of altitude, rough terrain and the stress of the chase can levy a heavy tax on the heart's capacity.

In a unique series of experiments, the Minnesota Heart Association recently measured the heart stress on a deer hunter, who killed a deer and dragged it out alone. The exertion was too much for 11 percent of a pre-screened group of men over 40 who had no evidence of heart trouble.

The men who underwent the tests had previously been examined and found to have apparently normal hearts. It's obvious, therefore, that the hazards to an unexamined cross-section of hunters over 40 would be higher.

Therefore, the Heart Association says: DON'T DRAG THE BAG! When you've downed your deer, let it lie until you can get help. And if you have a heart condition, get friends to do this job without you. Make your contribution to the hunt in a less strenuous way.

If you have a heart condition, tell at least one member of your party what medicine you take, how it is given and the symptoms which indicate the need for medication. He should know which pocket you keep it in, and the container should carry clearly typed instructions.

The heart may be a lonely hunter, but you shouldn't be, never hunt alone.

Get a good rest--preferably a full night's sleep--before you set out to hunt.

If you're hunting at a higher altitude, go a few days early. This will give your heart time to adjust to the lower oxygen content of the thin air before the stresses and strains of hunting are added.

Rest as often and as long as you have to, before you get too tired; take your stand near camp and let the others flush.

Other things to remember: Condition yourself in advance with an increasing schedule of exercise; Choose light weight but warm clothing; Know simple first-aid rules; Be moderate in eating and drinking; Observe the standard safety

Group Will Hear Christmas Ideas

The Antrim County Home Extension groups "Christmas Workshop" will be held in the Brownwood Farm House 3 miles south of Eastport on Torch Lakes' East Shore Drive on Tuesday Nov. 2 at 1:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Edna Alsop, Grand Traverse Extension Home Economist, will show a film from the Tye Tye Company, showing how to tie Christmas packages.

Mrs. Morris will tell about gift wrapping and Mrs. Charles Parks will demonstrate how to decorate with driftwood. All extension members are urged to attend.

At the Extension meeting that was held at the Medical Care Facility Building at Traverse City on Wednesday, Oct. 20, Mrs. Lea Whitfield, our new state leader in family living education, discussed important changes in extension services and helped us in planning an effective program for our section of the state. The counties are divided into areas, Kalkaska, Antrim, Benzie, Leelanau and Grand Traverse are in area 19.

Mrs. Edna Alsop and Mrs. Jeanette Shaddeo, economists, are assigned to our area. Attending this meeting from the Atwood group were, Mrs. Christine DeVries, Mrs. Des-sie Farrell, Mrs. Jane Burns and from Ellsworth, Mrs. Grace Klooster and from Kewadin, Mrs. Marlan Faughner.

The Atwood and Ellsworth Home Extension groups held a combined meeting at the home of Mrs. Dessie Farrell last Monday. Mrs. Richard Spence of the Treasure House of Flowers of Central Lake showed us how to arrange the weeds and flowers we had collected during the summer.

After the solicitation, a party for all participants will be held at the Episcopal Church, Miss Szudzik said.

The UNICEF Halloween collections started 16 years ago in Philadelphia when a group of Sunday School pupils collected coins for UNICEF instead of ringing doorbells for trick or treat.

The collection campaign has grown into what the U. S. committee for UNICEF calls "the world's greatest program for children to help children."

Charlevoix's 'Can of Worms'

IN THE graphic language of City Attorney John Michaels, Mrs. Virginia Olsen certainly did open a "can of worms" when she asked the City Council last week to stop Maurice Foster from turning the former Harry Lesser home on E. Dixon Avenue into a lodging for skiers. Mrs. Olsen contends such an establishment is not in keeping with the street's R-1 zoning status and that turning the house over to skiers is going to degrade the neighborhood. She also took a slap at the rooming house business in general, saying it tends to lower the value of surrounding property.

ASIDE FROM the anguish occasioned by Mrs. Olsen's remarks among some of our older residents who have spent their lives catering to tourists in their homes, The Courier thinks Mrs. Olsen has performed a public service by focusing attention on the city's jumbled zoning code. The code certainly warrants careful scrutiny, particularly since Charlevoix is growing today at an unprecedented rate.

When zoning came to Charlevoix in the early 1940's, many home owners made it a practice to take in summer tourists. In fact, it was the tourist home operator who is largely responsible for Charlevoix's becoming the tourist mecca it is today. Private homes offered accommodations to travelers and vacationers long before the Weatherlane Terrace, or the Lodge, or any of the string of motels south of town were even on the drawing board.

In spite of its many tourist homes, E. Dixon was zoned Residential-1, which means the street is limited to single family dwellings. Those home owners who were renting rooms when the code was adopted were covered by a "non-conforming use" clause and were permitted to continue renting rooms as long as they liked.

HOWEVER, Charlevoix's zoning code also stipulates that whenever a non-conforming use is "discontinued", the property reverts to the prevailing higher code and may never again become non-conforming. Unfortunately -- or fortunately -- the law doesn't define what is meant by "discontinued." It could mean a breach of one night, or ten nights or 20 years -- depending on how you interpret the law.

The way the code reads today, strange things could happen. For instance, a rooming house on E. Dixon Avenue conceivably could fall upon hard times and be forced to close for a season. According to John Michaels, a strict interpretation of the law would hold that the building automatically has become a private dwelling and may never again be used as a rooming house, although it is designed and furnished to take in tourists.

It is situations like this that render the present code not only useless but dangerous. A less understanding City Council could use the present code as a weapon to close virtually every rooming house in the city's R-1 neighborhoods, since few rooming houses have not experienced a breach of some duration in their "non-conforming use" during the past quarter century.

AS MR. FOSTER points out in his letter to The Courier this week, it is because of the roomers and not in spite of them that E. Dixon has been able to maintain its reputation as a fine old neighborhood of big, well-kept homes.

So far as we can see, Foster's plan to rent the Lesser house to skiers would not put the house to an entirely new use. Before the house was sold to the Lessers in the late 1930's, the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Bridge rented rooms to Charlevoix teachers. Memories are hazy as to exactly what was happening at the house in the 1940's when zoning came to Charlevoix, but it is remembered that the Lessers' considerable family often spilled over into other rooming houses in the area.

THE PEOPLE of Charlevoix owe Mrs. Olsen a vote of thanks for drawing public attention to this particular "can of worms" in our city government. Certainly there are many, many violations of the present zoning code in Charlevoix, most of them linked directly to the city's unusual position as a tourist center. Aggravating the problem is the fact that Charlevoix's tourist season now lasts 12 months of the year -- with skiers filling in the former void between hunters and fishermen. Infractions of the code are with us year 'round.

It goes without saying that if E. Dixon rooming houses are forced to close their doors, then the law must be applied equally on Park Avenue and other R-1 streets where there has been either a breach in "non-conforming use" or new rooming house construction since the zoning code was adopted.

Some experts say zoning codes should be reviewed every five years to determine if they are still workable. Charlevoix's code has remained virtually unchanged for 20 years. Maybe it's time to dust it off and bring it up to date.

Libraries Don't Need Scenery

WE BELIEVE the Board of Education should seriously reconsider its offer to buy property on Pine River Channel for the new library.

As valuable as libraries are to any community, the fact remains that the site selected by the Board of Education and approved by the State Library Board is far too valuable a piece of property to be used for library purposes.

Presently owned by Dr. Walter Hoffmann, the site has so many commercial possibilities it is a shame to see it removed forever from the tax rolls. The presence of a library might actually hold up future development of the area.

MRS. EDNA MITCHELL, who owns property adjoining on the west, recently announced that she intends to tear down the Park Lane rooming house and sell the land. Together, these two parcels would give a future developer about 200 feet frontage on the channel -- a site truly worthy of a first rate motel, hotel, or shopping plaza -- any of which would be permissible under the area's C-1 zoning code.

For Charlevoix to build a library smack-dab in the middle of such choice business property would be tantamount to the city of Detroit building a library at the corner of Woodward and State Street or New York City building a library next door to Macy's Department Store.

There are several other reasons why the channel is not the best location for a library. A library should be a place where a student may pursue his books with a minimum of outside interference. If there is one spot in the city that is always distracting it is the channel. If it's not a freighter coming in, it's a yacht going out, with the necessary horn blowing and bell ringing as the bridge opens and closes.

AND IF THESE aren't disturbing enough, there is always the channel itself, with its broad vistas of Lake Michigan -- distractions sufficiently alluring to draw even the most devoted student away from his books. On foggy days the bleat of the horn on the pier can be heard all over town, but is doubly audible on the channel.

Perhaps the most persuasive argument of all is that the library should be close to the schools. Schools and libraries seem to go together.

Adding substance to this argument is the fact that Leslie T. Shapton American Legion Post 226 has offered to swap its property next to the Junior-Senior High School on E. Garfield Street for the present library building and property at Clinton and State Streets.

BUILDING on the Legion property has some obvious financial advantages. First, the site is not nearly so valuable as Dr. Hoffmann's channel lot. Is the School District really so affluent that it can afford one of the most expensive pieces of property in town for a library? Secondly, the Legion offer would eliminate the problem of what to do with the present library.

Three hundred dollars in earnest money already has changed hands between the School Board and Dr. Hoffmann, but it's not too late for the Board to back track. At the very least, we suggest plans for the library be held in abeyance until the new Charlevoix Planning Commission has an opportunity to express its views on the ultimate development of Pine River Channel. From all accounts, the Commission should be ready to knuckle down to business by December.

ISWEAR the whole of Charlevoix was routed out of bed by the fire whistle early Wednesday. . . And there was more traffic at 5:30 a.m. that there was at noon as everyone crawled out of their warm beds to see what was happening. . . You saw what it was all about on the front page of last week's Courier. . . the Stuart cottage on the Chicago Club. . . Luckily, there was no wind or heaven only knows what the end result might have been. . .

Fires are terrifying things as far as most people are concerned. . . The fire here was the second bad one. . . the night before a lumber yard near Boyne Falls burned. . . It should make everyone more conscious of what can happen. . . especially this time of year when we'll soon be having heating plants on regularly. . .

NOT LONG ago I mentioned that I hadn't heard of wild geese and ducks flying south. . . Mrs. Eugene Wolfman, who's at their Pine Point cottage, called to say that a flock had set down on Lake Charlevoix near their cottage, and had quite a to-do when something frightened them as they were about to continue their journey south. . .

Al Scheid said that he's been told by Clyde Cross who lives on Lake Charlevoix near East Jordan that he'd come in on a large flock while hunting small game in the area. . . So guess these signs of winter are around if you'll only look. . . or, in the case of the geese, listen for they can be mighty noisy. . .

TOOK a little trip the other day. . . out to South Point to see what was going on. . . All we've seen is smoke from the fires as they burned the trees that were demolished in preparation for the development of the property. . . I've only one thing to say. . . If you've any happy memories about South Point, don't go out to see the place. . .

Trees have been up-rooted and eventually will be cleared away as Medusa prepares to clear the land for its quarrying operation. . . Huge earth movers, that look more like the massive dinosaurs that once roamed the earth than machines, are taking tons of earth at a time from one area to another to form a road. . . A dredge is piling up soil from the lake bottom as they dig a channel which will lead to the slip that will be cut into the land at just about the site of the "Y", where one road goes around the point and the other across. . . And to the south of the left fork, the first building is going up. . . to be used by the contractors during the construction of the plant and later as an office building. . .

And everywhere there's activity. . . If you can't see it, you can hear it as power tools drop trees and trim them, other power equipment guns its way as it goes, out a new road bed and the big earth movers rumble down the roadway with earth to fill in the gouge. . . It's quite an operation as some of the contractors work around the clock in an effort to beat the calendar. . . a tough assignment for some of them have been stopped cold by the continuing rain and are running weeks behind. . .

As I took at the whole operation at this time, I wonder how order can be brought out of such chaos for it looks impossible. . . But I know it will come, though the place will never look the same again. . . But it will be interesting to watch it grow. . . But I'll bet right now that the plant won't be in operation by July 4, 1967. . . Any takers? . . .

DIDN'T I tell you that if you'd just be patient we'd have Indian summer. . . I'm hoping we'll have a few more days of it. . . but we had some. . . which is more than anyone dared hope for. . .

Do you realize that in less than a month our ninimurds will be taking the woods to stalk the wary buck. . . I overheard one fellow wishing for some of that white stuff before Nov. 15 in order to quiet all those dry leaves that keep drifting down and at the same time furnish a little tracking snow. . . How the days are slipping away from us. . . I don't like it. . .

BUT WHAT I did like was that beautiful ball game recently. . . when Charlevoix upset Boyne City. . .

But regardless of your favorite team, you had to admit that it was just darned good football. . . the kind of game that a true fan loves to see. . . a game where every play is important and where the players are in there every minute. . . giving their best. . . And, believe me, they were the other night. . . Both the Raiders and the Ramblers who are one of that game will long remember it for it was probably the best of their careers. . . games like that is one of the reasons football is my favorite sport. . .

OUR READERS WRITE

Dear Editor:

This Space Reserved For Your Opinion

Explains Zoning Stand

Dear Mr. Clock:

It seemed a shame to me last Wednesday morning to discover that nothing more important had happened in Charlevoix than Mrs. Olsen going to a council meeting.

In it carefully stated at the meeting, Mr. Editor, I did not wish to hurt anyone who had been taking in roomers prior to the zoning laws of 1943 and thus were exempt. I am not against ski lodges or rooming houses. I am against one of our lovely residential streets being encroached upon. I am against the fact that all of our lovely streets, not only on Dixon Avenue, but people are looking the other way and one of these days they will look back again and find that they no longer have a beautiful little town but a town that is chopped and cut so that even the experts will not be able to put it together again.

I AM NOT against the resort industry. I have always been for it. Whether people are willing to realize it or not it is the resort industry that has kept Charlevoix alive these many years, and whether the money comes directly to them from the resorters or round about from someone else's pocket in between, it is our boaters and our resorters that have fed us, have helped with our taxes, our schools, our hospital, our Goldman Fund, and many, many, many other things. Why can't we realize that it is the beauty of some of our streets, our lake shore and yes, even the fact that our bridge goes up and down, and up and down that is our own esoteric quaintness.

Dear Mr. Editor, in me you have no can of worms--nor do you have a tiger by the tail. There is a new zoning committee and let us hope that until they have finished their work that the officials of the city will enforce the current zoning laws, and that if they do not that we the citizens will see that it is done.

Sincerely,
Virginia Y. Olsen

Foster Tells Plans

To the Editor:

Last week's feature article in the Courier concerning the proposed use of my property at 202 E. Dixon as a Ski Lodge or Rooming House, was considered one of the "gold coast" districts of town because the owners were able to own and maintain these large homes in a first class condition because such business was available--not in spite of it. No one needs reminding that the summer resort business has changed almost completely during the past 30 years and each passing year finds it changing a little more. Most rentals now run for week or two or a month at the most. During the past few years a new development has come about thru the popularity of skiing in the area. We are no longer a one season resort area but, both a summer and winter resort area. New motels, lodges, remodeled rooming houses and reconditioned summer resort hotels are entering the area. Thus far, in my opinion, Charlevoix has not taken full advantage of this new type business. Not everyone is looking for accommodations at the latest ski lodge or motel or rooming house. Many are seeking the privacy of their own home away from home, where they can come with their families and friends to spend weeks or weekends during the ski season. This is the type tenant I am seeking for my property at 202 E. Dixon.

About two weeks before the article appeared in the paper I was approached by two residents in the area inquiring about a "rumor" they'd heard around that I had made a deal with The Lodge to take care of their overflow ski groups during the coming winter. I assured them I had not been approached by anyone connected with The Lodge, nor had I approached anyone connected with The Lodge about such an arrangement. Apparently my word is not honorable is so impaired it was not understood. So, in black and white, no such arrangement has been presented, proposed, sought or consummated.

Most of my 47 years have been spent in Charlevoix within a few blocks of or on E. Dixon. My parents owned and maintained first class properties in the area for years. After World War II, I purchased the old Dr. Wilkinson home at 409 E. Dixon. It was one of these large grand old homes from the turn of the century beginning to show strong signs of obsolescence thru age, use and misuse. I put in many long hours of arduous labor and a great deal of money to help restore it. During this time I rented rooms and also rented the entire house during the summer season to help defray the expenses of remodeling. I later sold the home and still feel a sense of pride that thru my efforts and those of the present owners it is now one of the finer homes on E. Dixon. To the best of my knowledge this house is still being rented to summer residents for a income to further improve the property. To this day I have never had a word of complaint regarding my handling of the 409 E. Dixon property although I have had a great number of compliments.

Anyone familiar with properties on the North Side knows that over the years almost every

Keep Homes Private

Attn: The Editor:

In reply to Mrs. Virginia Olsen in last week's Courier, I agree that a private home should not be opened up as a resort. Mr. Foster bought a home not a resort. There are resorts or rooming houses already in existence for this purpose that are for sale.

However, we already have ski groups and greyhound buses going up and down E. Dixon which at the time of year seems rather good and livens up a very dead town.

As for rooming houses degrading the neighborhood, all I can say is Mrs. Olsen should go through a few of them.

Also while I am sticking my neck out I would like to know what happened to the talk about the Winter Carnival and the special train that was to run to and from Chicago with the mayor as the official greeter, surely it wasn't all talk. Is Charlevoix again going to let the rest of the north reap the skiing harvest? Let's get with it.

Sincerely,

William Garten

Re-Writes 'Hypocrite' Poem

Charlevoix Courier,
Dear editor,

The poem "The Hypocrite" by Dwayne E. Jones gives me the creeps. It was in the Courier of Oct. 13 with a lengthy write up of the author. I do not know him, but he seems to be a hypocrite. Please permit me to give a picture that depicts a better philosophy, of something more wholesome and desirable, using his poem as a background to copy. First of a good old man and then a stanza for myself. Psalm 1 tells of both kinds of men. There is a better way than that of a hypocrite and obtainable in this life on earth. I pray Mr. Jones will find it.

Yours sincerely,

Mrs. Jane Fiedler

THE HYPOCRITE (as re-written by Mrs. Fiedler)

An old man alone, in his one room home,
Watching his day pass by,
He would sit on a chair, by a window bare
And stare at the faraway sky.
He'd wonder of the day when he'd pass away
Would that day be like all the rest,
His face had a glow, and your answer is "no",
He'd be a heavenly guest.

When that old man was young, he avoided all wrong,
Taking care that he chose to do right,

He was sober and square, honest everywhere
And always avoided a fight.
So after church it was true, with no payment due,

On his one way ticket to heaven,
He'd bless and not curse, influencing for good
And patiently worked as good heaven.

Now that old man was thinking, about his clean way of living,
And other blessings of youth,
When a pain in his chest, just below his left breast,
Brought him to a final truth.
As he fell to the floor, his life was no more
Because he heard eternally's ring,
His spirit ascended to his Father above --
He was prepared for this very thing.
Now that old man's not alone in his new home,
As he joins holy people in heaven
Who sing hallelujahs to God,
For the reward of righteous living.

When I am old and still all alone
Thinking of by-gone days,
I can rock in a chair or bow in prayer
For I've loved and followed God's ways,
I shall welcome the day when I pass away
For up there my savior I'll see.
I don't deserve it, but He reserved it,
A room in heaven for me.

Clubwoman Likes City

Gentlemen:

It was a tremendous thrill to visit Charlevoix, the beautiful, again, for the Northwestern District of Michigan State Federation of Women's Club Convention October 13th and 14th.

My husband and I spent many wonderful hours in your Charlevoix, where we would dock our cruiser at the base of your city. Charlevoix has been a good friend to shelter us from the bad weather on Michigan's seas, as well as just a delightful port to enjoy in good weather.

I am enclosing $1.00 Please send me only one complete paper, and only the articles mentioned regarding our District Convention.

Thank you.

Very truly yours,

Northwestern District,
M. S. F. W. C.Erma Miller,
President

OSCAR P. NORTH

Ex-School Chief Dies in Newaygo

Funeral for Oscar P. North, former superintendent of public schools, was held Oct. 30 at United Church of Christ in Newaygo, with burial in Newaygo Cemetery.

Mr. North, 72, died suddenly, Oct. 27 of an apparent heart attack while he was having his hair cut at a Newaygo barber shop.

A native of Bay City and a graduate of Michigan State College, Mr. North came to Charlevoix in 1926 as school principal. He later became superintendent in 1944.

HE SERVED Newaygo schools until his retirement in 1953, whereupon he was elected village clerk, a post he held five years. He also served as a village councilman.

Mr. North was a charter member and first president of the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club and later served as Lt. Governor of Kiwanis District 15.

A veteran of World War I, Mr. North also was a past commander and member of Leslie T. Shapton Post 226 of the American Legion.

In sports, he helped organize the Northern Michigan Class C Conference to which Charlevoix belongs. He is survived by his widow, Esther; a daughter, Eleanor of Grand Rapids; two sons, Howard of Ionia and Donald of Joliet, Ind., and six grandchildren.

JV Gridder Wins Football Jackpot

A member of Charlevoix's Junior Varsity football squad won the football contest last week.

He is Terry Blissett, 15, who tied with two other contestants but won the tie-breaker.

TERRY BLISSETT

Weather Waxes Warm and Cool

Charlevoixians waxed hot and cold again last week, with a 40 degree range in temperatures.

Weatherman Harry Ladd says low for the week was 16 degrees Friday, with a high of 56 degrees Saturday.

Precipitation for the week was only .16, with a trace of snow.

Precipitation for October amounted to 1.88 inches, compared to 7.31 inches in September.

Terry says he is going to split the $10 prize money with his mother who kept egging him to enter.

Terry missed four of the pairings, along with Norm Helms of Charlevoix and Mary Ruis of Ellsworth. But Terry had the tie-breaker score in the game between Charlevoix and East Jordan pegged at 25 to Helms' 26, and Ruis' 33. The actual total score was 20, with all of the points scored by Charlevoix.

Terry, who plays JV guard on the offensive and end on the defensive, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Blissett, 406 Burns St.

This week's contest and complete rules appear on Pg. 8.

$200 Collected for UNICEF

Charlevoixians donated about $200 to the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF) on Halloween, according to Jill Szudzik, treasurer of the drive.

The money was forwarded to UNICEF headquarters in New York to be used to promote the welfare of children the world over.

Miss Szudzik says about 45 young people, representing most of the churches in Charlevoix, took part in the drive.

Following the collection, a Halloween party was held at Christ Episcopal Church. Marcia Brown was in charge of refreshments, Shelley Szudzik decorations and Roberta Pearl entertainment.

Blasting Set to Start

Opinion Paves Way for E. Dixon Skiers

Maurice Foster was given the green light to go ahead with plans to put up skiers at the former Lesser home on E. Dixon Avenue this winter at Monday's Council meeting.

City Attorney John Michael said that after researching all available information, it's his opinion that such a project is in keeping with the street's present R-1 classification.

The question of whether ski housing was permissible on the street was brought up at the last Council meeting by Mrs. Virginia Olsen who said she thought such a move was in violation of the zoning code.

MICHAEL said his opinion hinges on interpretation of the term "single house keeping unit", to which R-1 neighborhoods are restricted, with exceptions for non-conforming use.

Michael says Michigan law is vague as to what constitutes a single housekeeping unit, but that other states have

City Weighs TV Plan

The City Council sent to committee Monday night a request by Gilbert Clark of Petoskey for a permit to bring micro-wave television to Charlevoix.

Clark, who owns Great Lakes Community TV Systems, says the system he proposes would bring Flint, Saginaw and Bay City television channels to Charlevoix and possibly others, depending on the results of feasibility tests.

The system also would increase the number of FM radio stations which can be picked up.

MAYOR PAT Hawley asked the Utilities Committee to consider the application and come up with a recommendation at the next Council meeting.

Clark, who installed Petoskey's cable TV system 12 years ago, says hooking up with the system, if it is approved will cost $15, plus a service charge of $5 a month. The system would use existing utility poles, with lines 40 inches below power and a foot above telephone.

THE CITY WOULD be paid $15 per pole a year for the use of its facilities, plus personal property taxes. Clark said he wouldn't expect a TV relay system in a community the size of Charlevoix.

With the onset of cold weather, buyers are ready and waiting to snap up used laundry equipment.

Mrs. Robert Beardsley, 715 E. Dixon, reports she sold her automatic washer the day her ad appeared in the Courier.

To place your classified ad, simply call the Courier at Liberty 7-6558 or drop your ad off at the office on Clinton Street.

MRS. EDNA LaBlance, manager of the Charlevoix Secretary of State's office, sells car plates on opening day Nov. 1 to Michael Raecke, one of 73 who had bought plates by 1:30 p.m. Mrs. LaBlance says drivers should make sure their vehicle number is included on insurance certificate.

Loan Experts Due in Town Thursday

Seven government finance experts from Washington, D. C., Lansing, Detroit and Central Michigan University at Mount Pleasant will visit Charlevoix tomorrow, Nov. 4 to see how city businessmen are putting federal government loans to work.

Charlevoix is the only stop, although the group will observe other government-financed business activities from the air.

Heading the party will be Harold Williams, deputy administrator of the Public Works and Economic Development Administration in Washington.

HE WILL be accompanied by Woodward C. Smith, Vice President-Public Services, CMU; Howard R. Sommer, director, Center for Economic Expansion, CMU; Harris K. Miller, Industrial and Community Development specialist, Michigan Department of Economic Expansion, Lansing; Kenneth Henry, loan specialist, Small Business Administration, Detroit; William C. Stroschein Jr., forest products specialist, CMU; and Charles C. Bragg, industrial specialist, CMU.

The air party will be met here by State Sen. Thomas F. Schweigert, representing the 37th District, State Representative Clayton T. Morrison and three representatives of the Northern Michigan Development Council, Myrton Riggs, president; Charles Welch, secretary; and Karl Vogelheim, director.

The group will arrive in Charlevoix at 11:15 a.m. from Detroit, following an air inspection of federally financed enterprises along Michigan's east coast.

The first stop will be Jess Penn's Great Lakes Fabrication plant on Carpenter Street, which is being built with government assistance.

May Begin Nov. 4

Blasting for the slip on Medusa's South Point property might begin as early as this Thursday, according to resident engineer Tom Hanna.

Test drillings were made over the weekend by Great Lakes Explosives, Inc., a subcontractor, Hanna said.

He added that a public meeting to explain just what is happening at South Point has been scheduled for 8 p.m., Wednesday, Nov. 10 in the high school gymnasium.

Company officials will explain precisely what they intend to do and what Charlevoixians can expect from the blasting.

HANNA said that before blasting starts, two small seismographs will be placed around town to record the amount of shock reaching the city from the blasting area.

One of the seismographs will be in the hospital and the other at a spot yet to be determined.

Hanna said the recording devices will offer a measure of protection to the company. In the event of a rash of "cracked plaster" complaints from areas where vibrations were insufficient to do damage.

THE COMPANY expects that the shocks at the hospital will be minimal, since there is considerable earth "padding" between bed rock and the hospital foundation.

The Ryan Co. of Janesville, Wisc., has removed all the overburden from the slip area, revealing a bedrock contour that slopes gently upward from the shoreline.

Explosives will be planted to a depth of 27 feet below the water level and from 12 to 18 inches apart.

The slip will extend about 600 feet into Medusa property and will be used for loading and unloading boats.

BIDS for the primary contract for the cement plant proper are expected to be asked this month, Hanna said, and the contract probably will be awarded shortly after the first of the year.

The plant is expected to be completed by July, 1967.

Elliott Asks OK for Boat House on Round Lake

The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers reports that J. L. Elliott of Sterling, Ill., has asked permission to construct a boat house on his property on Round Lake at the foot of Nettleton Ave.

The house will measure 30 feet wide and 69 feet long and will be built on top of his present dock.

EARLIER Elliott was granted permission to erect sheet pile bulkheads in the area but has revised his plans.

The proposed building will be of wood frame construction according to the Corps of Engineers. Col. Edward C. Bruce, District Engineer, says anyone objecting to the plan should file a written protest with his office at 150 Michigan Ave., Detroit, not later than 4:30 p.m. (EST) Nov. 8, 1965.

They succeed retiring members Jack Erber, Tom Leeb and Bob Lieberman.

A successor for Lieberman, who has served as president for the past year, was to have been named at Tuesday night's board meeting. Strongest candidate appears to be Jack Mel.

The new directors were announced Oct. 27 at the Chamber's annual dinner at the Argonne Supper Club.

U.S. Funds for Art Center

FORMER LOEB dairy farm on Route 66 is expected to receive its first visitors as an art foundry and crafts center next summer.

Word has been received from Sen. Philip A. Hart that the Small Business Administration has approved an $85,000 loan for "Castle Van Haver."

The former Loeb farm on Route 66 is being converted into a foundry for art objects and a crafts center by John Van Haver, former Muskegon factory manager.

Van Haver says the federal money will allow him to complete refurbishing of his proposed crafts center in the former Loeb stables and finish the coffee shop and gift shop.

MANY of the ruins will remain as they are, to be set off by formal gardens, graveled drives and fountains.

Van Haver, who expects the project will be open to the public next summer, says the heart of Castle Van Haver will be the crafts center where

Some Mushrooms Are Deadly Poison

Don't eat wild mushrooms. Repeat--Don't eat wild mushrooms.

This advice comes from the American Medical Association.

Only a true expert can determine whether the wild mushroom is one of the tasty, safe varieties, or is one of those that is dangerously, possibly deadly, poison. There aren't many genuine experts. And even the experts sometimes are fooled, so much alike are some of the varieties.

After fall rains it is common to find mushrooms and toadstools in hundreds of sizes and shapes sprouting in woods and fields. Sometimes it makes a pleasant outing to stroll through the woods on a crisp fall day and pick mushrooms.

IF YOU enjoy a walk through the woods, go ahead. If you want to pick mushrooms, fine. But don't eat them. Throw them out, and be sure they're beyond the reach of any small children in the household.

Some ten persons were stricken this fall in the North New Jersey-New York City area after eating wild mushrooms. Several of them died, and all were seriously ill.

If someone in your family becomes ill after eating wild mushrooms, the most important first aid is to get the patient to a doctor immediately. If the accident occurs in a remote spot, the first aider should help the patient empty his stomach promptly. Induce vomiting by placing your finger at the back of the victim's throat or by use of two tablespoons of salt in a glass of warm water.

IT ALSO is important to obtain fragments of the ingested mushroom, so the physician will be able to determine what type of poisoning has occurred.

One medical man observed that many victims of mushroom poisoning are immigrants from Central Europe. In Europe they picked tasty wild mushrooms

Gibbons to Host Senior Citizens

Senior citizens of the community interested in forming a club or group will meet at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Gibbons, 1402 South Bridge st., at 7 p.m. Sunday to continue discussion of plans for the organization.

This meeting grew out of one held Sunday at the city hall in which interest was shown in such an organization.

from the fields and woods each fall. In America they picked what they assumed were the same, only to become violently ill from poisonous mushrooms or toadstools.

Don't be afraid of the commercial mushrooms found in the grocery stores. They are produced by mushroom farmers who know what they're doing. But, shun wild mushrooms. Even if you think you know the difference between safe and dangerous plants, you could be fooled, and it might be serious.

DEEP YEARNING

...for God, or is it hero-worship, or is it a desire to be shown the way... is it a dream? Well, heroes are God's occasion for awakening in His children a yearning to be one. Dreams are the doorsteps up which one must climb to reach this higher elevation. Be it hero-worship or a longing for God, it is his dream and a child is at his best when he dreams. His dreams are his prayers. God and your son, together, can do great things. But they can do better if a father joins God and his son in the dream-prayer. Here a father meets, face-to-face, one of the finer experiences of life... his own son in fervent prayer. Scenes like this cause a father to be interested in things that have to do with life rather than just a living. A prayer life is the result of church teaching and good raising... has your child learned to pray??? To be good and kind and patient are fine but add church attendance to the list and you'll have the ingredients which go into every good man.

MSU Offers Study in Europe

College students interested in study in Europe during the winter, spring and summer terms are invited to apply now for Michigan State University programs beginning in 1966.

Offered by the American Language and Education Center (AMLEC) of MSU's Continuing Education Service, informal and economical programs are scheduled for Paris, France; Lausanne and Neuchatel, Switzerland; Florence, Italy; Cologne, Germany, and Barcelona and Madrid, Spain.

Winter programs start Jan. 10, and the spring programs, programs, April 18, with the exception of the Madrid course which begins April 11. The deadline for winter term applications is December 10, and for spring term, March 18. Details for the summer credit and informal courses will be available soon.

State Farmers to Meet at MSU

The 46th annual meeting of the state's largest farm organization, Michigan Farm Bureau, will attract an estimated 3,000 farmers to the campus of Michigan State University, November 9-10-11. The three-day session is called annually for the purpose of electing directors and adopting a state of policy statements for the coming year.

Over 600 voting delegates, representing 71 County Farm Bureau units throughout the state, will take action on hundreds of resolution issues ranging from improved marketing and export trade to tax relief.

Sophomore Test Slated Saturday

Members of the Charlevoix High School Sophomore Class will take the three-hour National Educational Development Tests (NEDT) Saturday, Nov. 6, according to Dr. William Raligan, Director of Personnel Services.

The test will start at 8:45 a.m., the regular school starting time, and last until almost noon, Dr. Raligan said. Students should come equipped with at least two medium (No. 2) lead pencils, he added.

"The NEDT battery," he said, "is a series of tests in English, social studies, mathematics, natural sciences, and word usage, which have been designed to measure each student's ability to apply basic learning skills rather than his ability to memorize particular facts or specific subject matter."

"THEY HAVE been used in Charlevoix since 1963 as a help to students, parents and teachers in identifying strengths and weaknesses in each student's educational development and in making realistic appraisal of his educational and vocational objectives," Dr. Raligan said. Constructed under the direction of E. F. Lindquist, author of the Iowa Tests of Educational Development, the NEDT battery has been given to more than two million students in the United States since it was introduced in 1959.

"One of the most interesting aspects of this program," Dr. Raligan said, "is that students who do exceptionally well on the test battery are singled out for formal recognition. Each student who scores in the top 10 percent nationally is awarded a special certificate of merit signifying his high achievement. These certificates serve to stimulate a respect for academic excellence among the student body."

William Woods of Lake Bluff, Ill., came across this photograph the other day and thought the folks in Charlevoix might be interested in it. It was taken in front of the Fish Hatchery on Lake Michigan about 1930. Here is the letter that accompanied the picture.

"Thought you might wish to print this picture in the Courier as we have seen many older pictures published in your paper.

"This picture is of a group of Charlevoix swimmers on the pier in front of the Fish Hatchery about 1930. The occasion was a werner roast given by a summer resident who worked for Mr. Cook who lived at Dixon and Meech St. The man's name I don't remember. I would like the picture returned.

Social Security Benefits Boosted $10.6 Million

Congress' 1965 amendments to the Social Security Act will add $10.6 million in benefit payments during calendar year 1966 to residents of Upper Michigan, Congressman Raymond F. Clevenger (D - 11th District) reports.

This, Clevenger said, will bring total payments under the enlarged program to $61.9 in the 11th District during 1966. In calendar year 1967, Clevenger said, additional payments resulting from this year's action of Congress, will amount to $17.2 million and total payments in Upper Michigan will rise to $79.9.

AN ESTIMATED 2,900 residents of the 11th Congressional District of Michigan who could not receive monthly benefits under the old-age, survivors, and disability insurance (OASDI) program, as in effect before the 1965 Congressional action, will be able to receive monthly benefits immediately under the program as amended.

Additional OASDI benefit payments resulting from the amendments to persons living in the 11th Congressional District, Clevenger said, are estimated at $6.4 million in calendar year 1966 and $7 million in calendar year 1967. Total benefit payments in calendar years 1966 and 1967 under the OASDI program as modified by the 1965 amendments are estimated to be $57.7 million and $60.7 million, respectively.

About 50,000 persons aged 65 and over residing in the 11th Congressional District of Michigan will be eligible for hospital insurance protection (Medicare) under the basic plan on the effective date, July 1, 1966, Clevenger said. Hospital insurance benefit payments under the plan will be about $3.3 million in July-December 1966, and $7.2 million in calendar year 1967, the first full calendar year of operation. Benefit payments under the voluntary supplementary medical insurance benefits plan will be about $900,000 dollars in July-December 1966 and $3 million in calendar year 1967.

Are you paying more than 11½¢ a gallon for your residential heating oil?

If you are, you're paying too much to heat your home.

If you are now using natural Gas (or plan to) for cooking, water heating, clothes drying or Gaslights, and your use is equal to that of our average residential customer, you can get your Gas for heating under our special service rate at a cost equivalent to fuel oil priced at just 11½¢ a gallon. And the nice thing about our Gas rates is that the more you use, the less it costs per unit. That's a bargain in anybody's book. (Can't pay for the cost of conversion right now? Here's good news: Whether you convert your present furnace, or even install a new Gas furnace, Michigan Consolidated will pay for it and its installation by a qualified heating contractor. And it won't cost you a penny until July 1, 1966!)

So why not make your present oil furnace more economical this winter? Have it converted to economical natural Gas. Then you can start putting your money in the bank for a change. Instead of in your furnace. For full details, call us or your heating contractor today.

East Jordan Bows

EAST JORDAN has one of the finest playing fields in the conference, but the hometeam couldn't make much headway on home territory.

Talk of the Town

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fels and family have moved to their new home at 204 E. Dixon ave. from their former home at 212 1/2 Antrim st.

More than 30 members of the Charlevoix high school chapter of the Future Teachers of America, accompanied by their adult advisor, Leonard Staley, were in Mt. Pleasant Saturday for a one-day conference at Central Michigan University. Members of the administrative staff and faculty members addressed the students from various Michigan schools. The students were then taken on a tour of the campus. They made the trip via school bus.

THIS EAST JORDANIAN isn't facing Mecca to ask help for Allah. He's simply covering the ball.

The Charlevoix Rayders dumped a hapless East Jordan squad 20-0, for their sixth straight victory in conference play.

The win leaves the team only one game away from the Class C Conference title, which rests on the outcome of Charlevoix' home encounter with Harbor Springs Friday night at 8 p.m.

Charlevoix's only defeat this season was the opener with Rogers City, when the Hurons drubbed the Rayders 12 to 6.

THE GAME with East Jordan got off to a fast start on one of the best-kept turfs in the league. Before the first quarter was four minutes old, Levi McClellan sprinted across the goal line for Charlevoix's first TD.

In the middle of the second quarter, Mark Bourgoin pulled a repeat performance, bringing the score to a comfortable 14-0 at the half, with both conversion points good.

The Rayders again moved deep into East Jordan territory and appeared ready to score again when an off-sides penalty upset the momentum of their drive.

CHARLEVOIX's last tally came in the third quarter, with Bourgoin dominating the offensive action from beginning to end. He crowned his efforts with a TD toward the end of the quarter.

In the final quarter, McClellan, Bourgoin and Smith took command of the situation by turns without success, with several plays marred by fumbles and incomplete passes.

WINNERS in the Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club's Halloween Masquerade Ball were Clair Staley and Mrs. Garry Spencer. Staley was dressed as a dapper roué and Mrs. Spencer as a clown.

Rod and Gun Club Holds Masked Ball

A Halloween masquerade party and harvest supper was enjoyed by more than 40 members and their guests of the Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club at the clubhouse Saturday evening.

The men's and women's pistol team's sponsored the event which featured a cooperative dinner served at tables decorated in a Halloween motif which was carried out throughout the clubhouse.

The guests enjoyed card games and dancing followed by donuts and cider furnished by Mrs. Vernon Mathew Jr.

Clair Staley won first prize for the best male costume and Mrs. Garry Spencer for the best woman's costume.

Shirley Gibson, Kay Davis and Tom Hawley have returned to their studies at Ferris State College after spending the weekend with their respective families.

3 Scouts Receive God, Country Pins

On Sunday, Oct. 27, three Boy Scouts received God and Country Awards. They were Paul Fiedorek, Duane Wilks and Larry Anders.

These boys had been working for over a year on this award, beginning with the Rev. Robert Harrison and finishing with the Rev. Lawrence Tenhopen of the First Congregational Church of Charlevoix.

George E. Schraut, Scout Executive for Scenic Trails Council, Boy Scouts of America, spoke on what the God and Country Award is and the requirements of the award.

LOUIS EDWARDS, Scoutmaster of Troop 11, presented the candidates with letters from the Youth Ministry of the United Church Board of Homeland Ministries. The mothers of the Scouts planned the awards on their sons.

The God and Country Award is for all Protestant Boy Scouts or Explorers. The twelfth point of the Scout Law is: "A Scout is reverent. He is faithful to his religious duties and respects the convictions of others in matters of custom and religion."

Goblins, Ghosts and Spooks a Go-Go

It was a perfect night for Halloween --- soft breezes out of the south, a silvery moon dimly seen through scudding clouds, and a filmy mist rising from the lake.

If ever a night was made for goblins, ghosts and witches Saturday was it. And out they came in droves as soon as sun had set, with a liberal sprinkling of cowboys, pirates, clowns and Spanish dancers thrown in with the ghouls for good measure.

Some residents reported up to 200 callers in less than two hours, most of them well chaperoned by parents following by car or on foot.

Devilment downtown was kept to a minimum. Hardest hit was the Courier where a thick-shelled egg sailed through the transom sometime during the night.

TWENTY-SIX years with the Charlevoix Street Department came to a close Oct. 29 for Alonzo (Lon) Murray. With him at retirement party are City Superintendent James Taylor, Mayor Pat Hawley, Murray and Leo Allard, Street Department Supervisor.

Lon Murray Bids Farewell to City

Alonzo (Lon) Murray likes Charlevoix. He has lived here for the past quarter century. But he and his wife, Elizabeth, are looking forward to retirement in Scottsdale, Ariz., a trim little desert community near Phoenix where their son and daughter, Bill and Ellen, already make their homes.

Murray retired Oct. 29 from the Charlevoix Street Department after 26 years, four months and 10 days on the job.

The Murphys, who have been renting at 703 W. Lincoln, hope to have left Charlevoix before the Courier comes out, and if everything goes according to plan, they should be in Scottsdale this weekend.

Murray says they have visited Arizona two winters, and he's sure he and his wife will enjoy living there.

A native of East Jordan, Murray worked for an East Jordan chemical company before coming to work for Hank Marshall in Charlevoix. Marshall was a contractor installing sewer and water mains for the city.

Murray liked the town and stayed on as a Street Department employee.

Fellow workers gave a retirement party for Murray last Friday attended by Charlevoix mayor Pat Hawley, Aldermen Bill Fochtman and Dr. Walter Hoffmann, city superintendent James Taylor and others.

FANS OF the late Fred Allen should prepare for a nostalgic trip back to radio-land Nov. 14 when the National Broadcasting Co. will present a Fred Allen documentary, featuring Edgar Bergen.

The Midwestern Broadcasting Co. in Petoskey, an NBC affiliate, says it probably will carry the program although particulars haven't arrived yet from NBC headquarters in New York City as to time and duration.

Radio listeners in the 19-30's and 40's need no introduction to the nasal-yelled Fred Allen whose dry humor cracked over the airwaves every Sunday night for many years. Youngsters might be interested to know that he was just as popular as Jack Benny, Bob Hope and Red Skelton in their radio hey-days.

Allen was in a world apart, however, because most of his humor was edged with satire. He poked fun at such stereotypes in American life as the windbag congressman, characterized by "Sen. Claghorn," the lachrymose Yankee farmer, portrayed by "Tutus Moody," and the earthy Jewish housewife from Brooklyn, represented by "Mrs. Nussbaum."

Allen's programs were a whimsical combination of fact and fancy in which real characters like Allen's wife, Portland, mingled freely with the creatures of his ample imagination, such as the limp-wrist poet who always came on strong with the line: "I have written a poem." To a man, Allen and his creations served to deflate the holy cows in our society, and he never signed off the air without leaving his listeners with a little better idea of who they were and where they were going.

IT IS DIFFICULT to write about Fred Allen without comparing the old days of radio with the mish-mash we are treated to when we tune in today. You used to turn on a radio because there was a program you wanted to hear. Nowadays you turn on a radio to see what's on -- and chances are it will be one of three things: (1) music, (2) news, or (3) sports events. All of these have a legitimate place on radio, understand, but what a come-down from the old days when radio was the national pastime.

Of course, that was before the days of television -- that one-eyed monster that sits in the living room swallowing up hour after hour of our irreplaceable commodity -- time. Radio took time, but while you were listening you could still do your homework, or build birdhouses, or press your pants for school the next morning.

Naturally, there were a few programs that drew the undivided attention and were assimilated best lying flat on the back under the radio. These included "Jack Armstrong -- The All-American Boy," "The Green Hornet," and "I Love a Mystery." Another -- "Amos and Andy" -- required a careful study of a map of Harlem, graciously supplied by the Pepsodent Co., while the program was in progress. On it you could trace the route taken by the Kingfish from the Mystic Knights of the Sea Lodge Hall to the offices of Andrew H. Brown, or pick out the street corner where Madame Queen clobbered Andy with her handbag. Even if radio should return, I'm afraid "Amos and Andy" is one program which will never hit the comeback trail. Today it isn't kosher to poke fun at ethnic groups, unless you happen to belong to one. Unfortunately, Freeman Gosden and Charles Correll, the creators of "Amos and Andy," were as white as Pepsodent toothpaste.

Watch Awarded Kusina in Contest

Bill Kusina, American Motors/Rambler dealer, is wearing a new diamond-studded wrist watch because of his sales record during the 1965 model year.

The wrist watch was presented on behalf of Roy Abernethy, president of American Motors, to dealers who exceeded their previous year sales by 25 percent or more. Abernethy announced the "President's Award" program at dealer meetings throughout the nation during August and September, 1964.

HE TOLD the dealers to "throw away" their old watches because he would give them new ones if they concentrated their time on sales and achieved the 25 percent sales increase in the 1965 model year.

In addition, Abernethy promised to have one diamond embedded in the face of the dial for each three-month period in which dealers posted sales increases of 25 percent or more.

Kusina achieved a sales increase of 47 percent, and his new watch has three diamonds on the face.

More than 700 American Motors/Rambler dealers qualified for a "President's Award" wrist watch.

Is This the Library We Need?

After deliberating for a week on the proposed library, the Courier is beginning to wonder if the word "library" isn't a misnomer for the type of building intended. Actually, the structure proposed by the School Board and approved by local and state Library Boards is a community building --- a meeting place for the young people of Charlevoix with windows looking out over Pine River Channel. On the second floor there will be shelves for books.

The community room was added to plans for what started out to be a library on request of the Kiwanis Club, which said it would donate $10,000 to the project if meeting rooms for youth activities were incorporated.

Dale Boss, treasurer of the School Board, says the Pine River Channel site was selected because of the sloping contour of the land will enable one wall of the community room to open onto the channel, a feature which he says is necessary to prevent claustrophobia among the inhabitants.

THIS, OF COURSE, throws a new light upon the project, but it also raises as many questions as it answers.

First, is a new community room really needed by the young people of Charlevoix? Meeting facilities already are available in the City Hall, and there's not a church in town which would not be happy to open its doors to youth activities.

Boss says the Pine River Channel site also has the advantage of being close to the business district --- something the State Library Board insists upon before releasing federal money for new library construction.

The Library Board probably has a point, locating libraries where the people are. But it apparently did not take Charlevoix's special situation as a tourist center into account when it insisted on a

Pine River's Channel's potential for commercial development is far too great to have 99 feet of choice frontage relegated forever to the rolls of non-taxable property. The loss in taxes alone over the next century is staggering, not to mention the possible deterrent effect a library might have on future commercial development of adjoining property.

A library in the business section might be just the ticket for St. Johns or Jackson, but it doesn't make much sense here. Under present conditions, our downtown property must generate enough wealth in three months to keep Charlevoix rolling for the other nine. We can't afford to waste an inch of it.

BOSS ADMITS that Charlevoix wouldn't even be talking about building a $120,000 library if it weren't for a federal government program to pay up to two-thirds of the cost of new library construction.

In the excitement of drawing up plans and taking out land options, has anyone stopped to ask whether Charlevoix really needs a new library? The prevailing attitude seems to be that since federal money is available, Charlevoix might as well use it. We complain bitterly about skyrocketing income taxes, yet fail to show any fiscal responsibility when we have a chance to cast a vote against unnecessary government spending.

The most urgent need of Charlevoix's library today is not a new building overlooking the channel, not even one with meeting rooms in the basement. What we do need are books, books, books on every subject under the sun, well catalogued and available when Charlevoixians want to use them.

It doesn't take many trips to the library to show that this is where our money should be spent. After all, the best libraries are built of paper and ink, not bricks and mortar.

Rail Merger Would Unite East

Although Charlevoix is far removed from the trunklines of American rail travel, the proposed merger of our own line --- the Chesapeake and Ohio --- with Norfolk and Western would bring Charlevoix into a railroad network covering 20 states, two Canadian provinces and the District of Columbia.

A joint merger application was filed Oct. 11 by the companies with the Interstate Commerce Commission. If the merger is approved, the combined N & W-C & O would proceed to take under its wings the Erie Lackawanna, Delaware and Hudson, Boston and Maine and the Reading and Central Railroad of New Jersey.

The combined system would create a rail network reaching from Portland, Me., on the east, Durham, N. C., on the south, Omaha, Nebr., on the west, and Bay View, Mich., and Montreal, Que., on the north.

THE PRINCIPAL reason for the merger is to counter-balance the proposed Pennsylvania-New York Central merger, which, if approved by the ICC, would create a system of 23,271 miles of road with gross revenues of $1,806,000,000 and total assets of $6,041,000,000.

The proposed N & W-C & O merger --- with the four other railroads --- would create a system 26,400 miles long with gross revenues of $1,822,000,000 and total assets of $5,900,000,000 --- making the two proposed rail lines competitive in both size and facilities.

Business philosophers who see only corruption, monopoly, and strangulation of competition in mergers of any kind must face the fact that our rail lines have been puffing uphill for many years trying to survive in the face of improved highways, better automobiles, an unprecedented growth on long-distance trucking, and wide public acceptance of aircraft as the fastest means of transportation.

THE ERIE LACKAWANNA, Boston and Maine and the Reading and Jersey Central actually have lost money for several years. The Delaware and Hudson probably will have to uncork the red ink if it is forced to compete alone with the Penn-Central system.

IF APPROVED, the mergers would simply give the American East two gigantic railroad systems in competition with each other.

Officials also foresee improved service to the public, along with increased efficiency in all phases of operation.

THE RAILROAD in years past was Charlevoix's lifeline with the outside world. Tourists could hop a train in Chicago in the evening and be in Charlevoix for breakfast. Food for Charlevoix dinner tables arrived in refrigerator cars. Dry goods, building supplies, toothpaste and mail all came by rail.

The decline in the importance of rail service has been gradual. After World War II both automobiles and highways became better. Traveling to Charlevoix by auto gave visitors the additional advantage of having a means of locomotion once they arrived.

At the same time, the trucking industry began moving ahead, delivering products and produce directly to merchants' doorsteps.

Railroads have attempted to improve their own doorstep delivery service in recent years using "piggy back" trailers on flat cars, but the trucking industry still has the advantage in this area.

Gradually, the number of rail passengers dropped to a trickle and passenger service was discontinued in Charlevoix on Labor Day, 1962. The number of freight trains passing through the city has dwindled to about one a day, and it's a traffic-stopper on Bridge Street when the railroad bridge across Round Lake swings shut to let a train cross over.

WHAT THE PROPOSED merger will do to our rail service remains to be seen. It is hoped that some of the anticipated economies will be passed on to local manufacturers, making the expanded railroad system an economically attractive means of distributing locally-made products to a wider area. The cost of some incoming items might also be favorably affected.

Of course, it's impossible to discuss improved rail service in Charlevoix without speculating on the return of passenger trains --- a fresh coat of white paint on the Charlevoix station, crowds of vacationers piling out of the coaches with golf clubs and tennis rackets, skiers in stretch pants and windbreakers arriving for a weekend on the slopes, lorryes piled high with luggage on the platform. Who knows? In Charlevoix, anything can happen. Perhaps the passenger train hasn't gone the route of the passenger pigeon after all.

ends

What ever will happen to the attractive sign that practically held the old Bistrant building together for ages? That question was put to me the other day by Miss Edith Harris, who lived here as a child and who returned here a couple years ago to make her home. You know the sign I mean, the one that gave the history of Charlevoix, how it got its name and other related info. That was a choice sign, to my way of thinking, and I'm hoping that someone else will think it's worth posting in a conspicuous spot. One thing's for sure... there was never a more photographed sign than that one. Miss Harris also mentioned the old lifeboat station and how she hated to have it razed for she had many happy memories of it. When she was a child she lived in the house directly across the channel from the station. The last one on River st. or Pine River Lane, call it what you will. She said her mother never worried about her and her sisters when they went below the hill to play on the beach because they were always in view of the tower and the fellows on watch always kept an eye on them. When it was mealtime her mother would call just once and he'd relay the message if they didn't hear her. The entrance to the harbor just won't seem the same with that old building gone. I can see what she means. I seldom go down on Palmer st. where it's located but I often look at it from across the river. I suppose it is better to have all your facilities in one place... as they are now... but to me as to many others that will always be the site of the lifeboat station.

What did you think of those Oriental apples coming this time of year? I couldn't believe my ears when Mrs. Walter Henley called to tell me about them. Seems they ordinarily bloom in June. Guess they're just as mixed up as the weather.

It's getting to be that time again... the time to put your overseas Christmas parcels in the mail if your service guy or gal is going to receive them in time for the holidays. In recent years the early mailing date hasn't meant too much because mail was moving pretty much on schedule. But things are different now, especially for mail going to places in the Pacific. There are many more service people there and mail doesn't move as easily as it once did. So better get with it.

A reminder... Put a lot of thought in what you send. Your servicemen may love peanut butter cookies but they, like any crisp cookie, are fussy travelers. So, unless you want him to test the crumbs with a spoon, send something that travels a little better. Better yet, pack them in cans... and if you send fudge, wrap each piece separately and pack it well in a strong carton. Yours won't be the only package going and it just might end up on the bottom of several tons of mail bags. Make a list of his or her favorite foods and then check the shelves... you'll find many items packaged in cans or in solid boxes. The other day I found several kinds of candy singly wrapped and then packaged in a plastic container. Nov. 10 is the deadline unless you plan to send airmail, so start planning now. It's later than you think.

HERE'S something of local interest... Mrs. George Glados called the other day to say that her grand-daughter, the former Judy Merics, whom many of you remember, will be on the coast-to-coast showing of "Pass a Word" next Wednesday. She was in New York recently with her husband, Larry Mounger, on a business trip, was interviewed and was asked to appear on a show which was taped for showing on Nov. 3. She now lives in Seattle and will be bound to watch herself on the show when it appears at the regular time next Wednesday. So, if you're not a regular viewer, turn it on and watch the show. P.S. Don't call Mrs. Glados during the program... she's going to be watching too.

I THINK I've mentioned this neighbor of mine before... a little black squirrel who sometimes comes with a playmate to entertain anyone who happens to be watching. Unlike the happy grasshopper who did nothing but hop and play, these little characters are busy setting aside a winter's supply of food... and you can often see them darting here and there with a mouth filled with nuts or whatever they store for the cold days ahead.

One day recently I happened into a territory where I apparently didn't belong... or at least that was the message I received from a red squirrel perched in the top of a tree where he was hanging on for dear life as the top of the tree was buffeted about by the wind. Don't know when I've enjoyed anything so much.

Lodge Head Sees Need for Boarding Houses

Over the past few weeks I have read with great interest the various opinions expressed both editorially and from interested individuals on the confusion over the zoning situation in Charlevoix.

The Writer has spent many years in Charlevoix as a summer resident and now a permanent resident actively engaged in the resort business, namely The Lodge of Charlevoix.

Over the years the resort business has completely changed its pattern. The days of the long vacation in one locale has disappeared due to the super highways and modern modes of transportation. People are on the move and want a changing scene. Charlevoix, therefore, also must change its thinking and reapproach its outlook towards the tourist trade which, in my thinking, is the backbone of our economy. When Charlevoix was in its height of popularity boarding houses, or guest homes, were scattered throughout our town pumping thousands of dollars in trade into the economy of the city. Some of these guest homes were of the highest quality while others were most objectionable. Now it is my feeling that in any guest home or resort resort housing but rather have a strict city code having these guest homes operate and maintain their properties so that we can attract a clientele which would benefit our community.

The success of like resort areas in the East and in the West that cater to summer and winter tourism rely mostly on guest homes. To mention a few - Aspen, Colorado; Stowe, Vermont and many others. The reason why the guest home is most important to a year round resort is due to the fact that many large families cannot afford accommodations in top rate hotels, motels and lodges.

Again, I repeat that in re-writing the zoning laws we keep in mind that they should not be so restrictive as to curtail the economy of our city but rather bring a guest home up to the level of other like resorts throughout the country.

Reader Wonders Why Channel Site Was Chosen

Dear Editor:

Your editorial last week on the proposed library was thought provoking. It made me wonder why the library site was selected on the channel. This does not seem to be a particularly appropriate place for a library.

While I was away, I may have missed reading in the Courier the other possible sites that were considered by the library board. Maybe there were no other sites considered. There certainly must have been several possible locations. It would be a tragedy for the library to be constructed at a location that would be as distracting as the channel. For at least five months of the year, the channel rivals Bridge street as an avenue of noise and congestion. This does not lend itself to being a place to study and concentrate.

Of course who knows, as hushed up as this whole project appears to be, maybe the board members are more interested in the construction of a monument to mark their term of service on the board rather than the construction of a library that would best serve the needs of Charlevoix.

Because of my relationship with a member of the board, I must ask that my name be withheld and this letter signed-- held that it means a dwelling occupied by as many as 15 people, not necessarily related, all of whom have free run of the premises and are not limited to the use of one room.

Mrs. June Skelton, who lives on E. Dixon Avenue across from the Lessor home, wanted to know the purpose of an R-1 zoning, if such a loose interpretation could be applied.

Michael explained that words are subject to different interpretations. Mrs. Skelton said having skiers lodged in the house would aggravate an already congested traffic situation on E. Dixon.

MRS. VIRGINIA Olsen, who also attended the meeting, was obviously displeased with Michael's opinion.

"I'll wait until it happens, and then I'll come back and scream," she said.

Mrs. Dorothy Kohler, who owns the home recently vacated by the Alvin Aronovskys on E. Dixon, was also at the meeting. She plans to turn the house into two apartments, but was afraid the zoning ruckus might upset her plans.

Michael said the city's zoning law explicitly allows homes in existence when the ordinance was passed to be converted into two family dwellings, providing the property continues to comply with yard, air space and other zoning requirements.

Thirteen visitors attended the meeting and extra chairs had to be brought into the Council chamber. Several of the visitors were students assigned to cover the meeting as a political science assignment.

In other council business, the mayor sent to committee a new contract drawn up by Consumers Power Co. reducing rates at which power would be sold to the city.

ONE SECTION which both the Council states that the city alone will be responsible for damages to persons or property caused by the power system after the current leaves Consumers' lines and enters the city's system. City Attorney John Michael said conceivably the city and Consumers could both be sued for damages by an injured party. If the court found for the plaintiff, the city, under terms of the new contract, would be obligated to pay Consumers share of the damages.

Council also took under consideration bids for a new tallgate spreader and approved payment of bills totaling $27,696.99.

He estimates that eventually the former dairy farm may attract 100,000 tourists a year, judging from the popularity of other attractions in the area.

Although the crafts center will be a seasonal operation, Van Haver's foundry for the casting of art objects will be run year round, with about 16 employees.

He said that at present about 75 percent of American art castings are sent to Europe to be processed. He hopes to attract some of the lost business to Charlevoix. Objects made at the site will be sold in the gift shop and visitors will be free to browse on the grounds as long as they like.

Report Slaps Job Training

A report sharply critical of the vocational-technical education available at Charlevoix High School and others in northern Michigan has been submitted by the Top of Michigan Area Vocational-Technical Study.

The report said that at present a very limited opportunity for education of the variety and scope necessary for employment competence can be had at area schools.

"MOST HIGH SCHOOLS offer little vocational education that has the depth of content, the adequacy of instructional facilities and materials, or the teacher competency required to develop occupational competency required by the modern world of work," the report asserted.

The study group was headed by Dr. Peter G. Haines of Michigan State University who presented his findings Nov. 3 to A. D. Shankland, Dean of North Central Michigan College.

The report, which covered all of Charlevoix, Emmet, Otsego and Cheboygan counties and portions of Presque Isle and Antrim counties, pointed up the need for improved vocational-technical education at both the high school and post high school levels.

THE SURVEY team recommended:

-1. That three area vo-ccational schools be established at Cheboygan, Gaylord and Petoskey, the Petoskey school using facilities available at Charlevoix and East Jordan. These schools would serve not only regular full-time students, but also would be used to train drop-outs, graduates unable to find work and adults in need of vocational up-grading.

Courses at the high school level would include farming, forestry, recreation, home economics, industrial education, drafting, metals, electricity, building trades, farm mechanics, stenography and business skills.

-2. That North Central Michigan College develop a two-year vocational-technical course to serve the entire Top of Michigan area. Recommended curricula include courses in business management, nursing, medical and industrial technology and commercial practices.

THE REPORT pointed out that at present less than 40 percent of high school graduates in the area go on to a four-year collegiate program and more than half of them need additional vocational preparation.

The research team recognized that most of the high schools in the area have enrollments of less than 400 and that school-by-school programs of the type required would be extremely costly.

"An area school would provide enrollment sufficient to justify a variety of vocational programs of quality at a reasonable cost.

THE HIGH SCHOOL portion of the program would be financed by money raised by the Intermediate School District. An area vocational center and North Central Michigan College would administer the program.

The program would make use of existing facilities at Gaylord, and facilities under construction at Petoskey and Cheboygan, although additional facilities would be needed in each of the recommended vocational centers.

The study group also recommended that committees in each of the affected areas be set up immediately to help establish the training program.

OLESON'S non-food store at the northwest corner of the shopping plaza is nearing completion. Construction foreman Frank Boss says present plans call for opening the store before Christmas.

Stores to Close for Gebeau Rites

Funeral for Harry E. Gebeau, 73, will be Thursday at 1:30 p.m. from Winchester Funeral Home, the Rev. George Majors of the Church of God officiating. Burial will be in Brookside Cemetery, with services under the auspices of Charlevoix Lodge 282, F. & A. M.

Mr. Gebeau, Third Ward Supervisor, died Nov. 8 at Charlevoix Hospital following a lengthy illness. He had been in the hospital 10 weeks.

He was born in Charlevoix Dec. 12, 1891 and married the former Alice Gordon here in 1916.

He served on the City Council eight years, attended the Church of God and was a past master of DeWitt Clinton Consistory, Sadad in Temple Shrine. He also was a past patron of Charlevoix OES No. 72 and belonged to the American Legion. He was a veteran of World War I.

Public Meeting Tonight

Charlevoixians will be given an opportunity to learn what to expect when Medusa Cement Co. begins blasting at South Point at a public meeting tonight, Wednesday, at 8 p.m. in the High School gymnasium.

Paul Hoskings, a vibration measurement engineer from Chicago, will conduct the meeting, assisted by Tom Hanna, resident engineer for the cement company and Keith Roberts, Medusa's geologist and director of quarrying.

WORTH LOOMIS, vice president of Medusa, might attend the meeting if his schedule permits.

Hoskings says that small seismographs will be located at two places in town to record earth shocks when a blast is set off.

The devices will determine how much explosive should be used at a time in order to keep vibrations in the city well below the level needed to crack plaster--the most fragile of building materials.

HE SAID vibrations will be kept under 10 percent of what would ordinarily crack a wall, giving Medusa an ample safety margin.

One of the seismographs will be located in the basement of the hospital, the closest public building to the blast area. The other will be located at a more distant point, and vibration readings for intermediate areas may be calculated by taking readings from the two seismographs.

The Medusa blasting will take place initially in the slip area, where overburden has been scraped off down to bed rock. Later, blasting will move to the quarry area, nearer the city.

P. Warner, T. Peters, J. Thorp, J. Whitley and F. Parsons. Third row: S. Cunningham, A. Veenstra, J. Bergmann, B. Ward, A. Brock, J. Stewart, M. Bourgoin, L. Skippergosh, R. Holtzman, S. Ager, R. McDermott, G. Kanoff, J. Meggison and D. Fischner.

Public Is Invited To Study Schools

The School Study Committee has called a public meeting for 8 p.m. Nov. 16 in the High School cafeteria to explore the future needs of Charlevoix Public Schools.

Persons interested in working to improve the school system are urged to attend the meeting and sign up for committee work in the area they prefer, according to Mrs. Carolyn Rader.

CURRICULUM studies are needed in elementary education, high school, vocational education, and special education.

Other groups will delve into instructional materials, staff, adult education, population growth, building and grounds, and a summer program.

Recent population growth indicates that Charlevoix is in for a period of expansion, and the study committee hopes to foresee what educational facilities and personnel will be needed and have them ready when the time comes.

The School Study Committee will work independently of the Board of Education, but will report to the board when its work is completed.

A school study committee has been on the job for some time, determining what areas deserve concerted attention. Members are John Michael, Ralph Doan, Carlton Smith, the Rev. George Majors, Clarence Odmark, James Miller, Reed McKay, Mrs. Eugene Bergmann, Mrs. Hans Wiemer, Mrs. Jack Rader and Mrs. Charles Duerr.

Congress Allots Funds

Congress has set aside $600,000 for the straightening, widening and deepening Pine River Channel, Congressman Raymond F. Clevenger announced this week.

The work will be done by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers sometime in the next fiscal year, beginning July 1, 1966. An additional $25,000 will be spent by the Corps at Charlevoix for general operation and maintenance of the channel and $4,000 has been earmarked for further channel studies, Clevenger said.

THE PINE RIVER project will be the second largest scheduled for upper Michigan waters next year. The largest allocation -- $10 million -- will go toward construction of the new Poe Lock at Sault Ste. Marie on the St. Mary's River. Straightening the present dog leg in the channel will be a boon to such craft as the dredge Duluth which has no motive power of its own and must be towed from its berth at the foot of Antrim St. to the Medusa harbor.

JOH ARVILLA, tug captain working for the Zenith dredge company, says it is a tricky business maneuvering the dredge through the narrow channel, particularly in a high wind.

Other appropriations for marine work approved by Congress were $370,000 for rehabilitation of Marquette Harbor, $151,000 for the Keweenaw Waterway and $80,000 for Cheboygan Harbor.

Still other projects at Ontonagon, Alpena, Big Bay Harbor, Black River Harbor, Lac LaPelle Harbor, Little Lake Harbor and Manistiquette Harbor bring total appropriations to $14 million for next year, Clevenger said.

Winter Carnival Planned

Plans for Charlevoix's 1966 Winter Carnival have been announced by general chairman Bob Humphries.

The carnival, which will take place the weekends of Jan. 29 and 30 and Feb. 5 and 6, will be sponsored by the Polar Bear Club, in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce.

Humphries, who directed Petoskey's winter festival for many years, says most of the attractions will be spectator events, including dog sled and snow cat races the opening weekend.

HE SAID about 20 teams of sled dogs from Michigan, Canada and possible Colorado have been promised. A committee of drivers will come to Charlevoix well in advance of the carnival to lay out the course.

Humphries also plans canoe races on Round Lake for the first weekend, the first of their kind so far as he knows. He hopes to have fishing rigs break the ice from the bridge.

Library Deadline Nears

Architect Jack Begrow warned the Charlevoix Board of Education last night that they must move quickly to get a topographical survey of their proposed library site on Pine River Channel. If the final drawings are to be submitted to the State Library Board in Lansing by Dec. 6.

He said the survey would take about two weeks, and should be started as soon as possible. Begrow attended the meeting to show board members revised drawings of the proposed library and a breakdown on specific costs.

ACCORDING to the budget he has drawn up the city will be asked to contribute about $5,500 for site improvement. The figure includes $500 for sidewalks, $1,150 for utilities, $3,500 for paving and $400 for lighting.

The land will cost $13,900, fees $8,000, furnishings $12, Continued on back page

City Flirting With Winter

Charlevoix flirted with old man winter last week, but the frosty old gentleman has yet to come calling.

Weatherman Harry Ladd said a trace of snow fell on the city during the week, not enough to measure.

More than a half-inch of rain was recorded here, however--.58 of an inch to be exact. The temperatures ranged from a pleasant 64 last Wednesday to a chilly 22 Friday morning.

CHRISTMAS CLUB checks amounting to about $40,000 are being mailed this week to members at the Charlevoix County State Bank and the Charlevoix State Savings Bank. Above, Edward Golden signs checks for county Bank.

Hare Urges Motorists to Buy Plates Early

Secretary of State James M. Hare urges "responsible insured Michigan drivers to get in line early for 1966 license plates to get away from last-minute rush which could be bigger than ever because of the new Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Act."

"It's going to take longer to process applications for plates this year because of collections to the fund," Hare said. "Since this is the fund's first year, we're bound to have some confusion and delay on collections."

HE SAID this is the reason he is appealing to persons who have liability insurance, have insurance proof such as an insurance certificate, policy, or other affidavit, to "get into Secretary of State branch offices early in November to obtain 1966 plates."

Hare said he expected that most of the "buy early" people will be those who will be paying only $1.00 into the new fund.

"Uninsured vehicle owners who will be paying the increased fee of $35 into the fund will probably be among those in the last-minute rush for plates before the deadline of Feb. 28," Hare said.

"And this $35 doesn't buy them a cent's worth of insurance protection," Hare said. "These drivers remain uninsured... subject to Michigan's financial responsibility laws... subject to repaying the fund in full in the event a claim is made against the fund for an accident in which they were negligent."

ALTHOUGH collections began with the Nov. 1 start of 1966 license plate sales at the more than 200 branch offices of the Secretary of State, only accidents which occur on or after Jan. 1, 1966, will be honored by claims, Hare said.

A small staff headed by Robert E. Hall, Lansing attorney and insurance claims man, has been set up to administer the fund. Staffing pattern is expected to grow as the volume of claims gets heavier, Hare indicated.

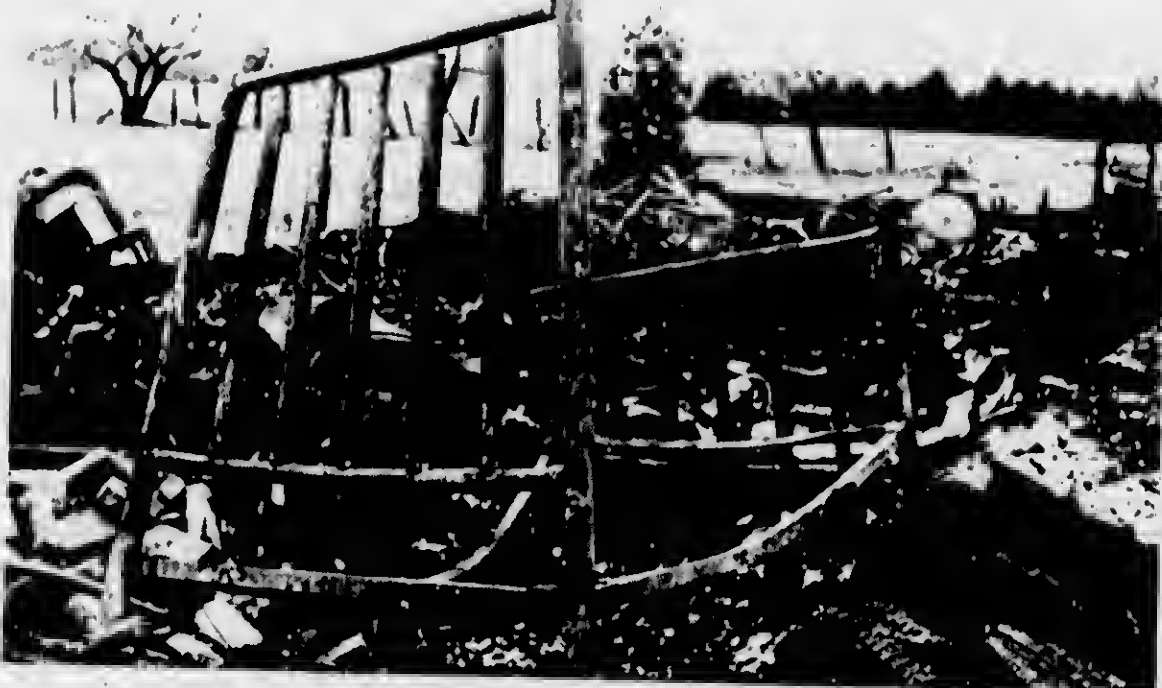

"It's difficult to predict how many claims will be filed against the fund," Hare said. "We're geared to handle 1,000 the first month and expected heavier volumes as we go along."

Michigan has more than two-and-one-half the number of vehicles that Ontario has and "we expect to process about three times the number of claims that Ontario does, and perhaps more," Hare stated. Ontario is the only governmental unit in North America which has a similar law.

"Because of the newness of the fund, and its complete difference from anything in existence in any other state, we'll just play it by ear and hope for the best," Hare concluded.

A DOZEN pleasure boaters turned out last Wednesday night, Nov. 3, for the first session of an eight week course in seamanship sponsored by the Coast Guard auxillary at the Coast Guard Station. Here, Group Commander Lt. Charles Millrad welcomes boaters as Flotilla Commander Tom Loeb looks on. Boaters may still join.

IT TOOK only minutes for fire to level the William Pardee home south of town last Wednesday night. The Pardees and their five children escaped without injury, but lost all their belongings.

Fire Victims Seek New Home in City

The William Pardees who were burned out of their home south of the city last Wednesday night are desperately in need of a place to live in Charlevoix, according to Mrs. Pardee.

The Pardees and their five children all escaped injury when the two-story house they were renting on the Ken Sweet farm burned to the ground. All of their belongings, including the children's winter clothing, was burned.

Charlevoixians who have extra clothing the children might wear are asked to leave it at the Miles Russell home at 210 E. Hurbut Street.

THE CHILDREN are Billie, 9; Wayne, 8; Roberta, 6; Robert, 5; and Kim, 4. At present, the family is living with Mrs. Pardee's father, Ed Denny, of Ellsworth, but would like to move back to Charlevoix as soon as possible because the children are enrolled in school here.

"What with one thing and another they haven't had much schooling this year," Mrs. Pardee says. "First we had the chicken pox, then the mumps. Now this."

PARDEE awakened to smell smoke in the two-story house about 11:45 last Wednesday night. He stepped into the living room to see the wall behind the space heater on fire. He aroused his wife and herded the kids outdoors before the flames gained much headway. The house, which was located about two miles south of the city, was a total loss. Pardee works as a logger for a living.

HANDS OF DESTINY

The shriveled, wrinkled hands upon the Bible are the hands of an aged ecclesiastic — a preacher of the Holy Word.

For more than half a century they have turned the pages of The Greatest Of All Books to find the text for a sermon, or for a psalm to comfort the sick and the dying . . . These hands have been raised in blessing and benediction at countless marriages . . . They have sprinkled the baptismal water on the heads of many infants, and have thumbed the pages of the Holy Writ at the grave-side.

They are, indeed, Hands of Destiny. Once they were smooth, strong and firm. Now they tremble a bit as they turn the pages of The Book.

Perhaps you know of such a pair of hands — the hands of an aged man of God, who has devoted his entire life in an unselfish attempt to bring comfort, happiness and salvation to you and everyone.

Whether your pastor is young or old, go to Church regularly, for the hands you see resting upon the Bible there, whether shriveled or firm, are the hands of a man of God, who offers you the formula for a better and happier life.

Asks Street Parking Ban

Dear Editor: This is a question that our City Fathers should think about. Why are the streets of our residential part of Charlevoix made into a public parking lot? Why do people insist on parking their cars on the street 24 hours a day and every day in the year? Some people have their own driveways and use them for their cars. Still some others have driveways but would rather park their cars on the street, making them a hazard for everyone that drives the street. Take Michigan Avenue in the summer when there are cars parked on both sides of the street. One has to stop in order to get the oncoming car past. Antrim Street is worse yet. This street is used by most ambulances going to the hospital and usually they are driven very fast. There are times also that there is not enough room for two cars to pass without coming nearly to a stop. Really is there any excuse for all this? Not at all. Every property owner should have a driveway and use it. The city can stop this parking. All it takes is just a ticket or two and the cars will be in the driveways. When the state ordered cars from parking on the trunklines some still insisted on parking on the street. But a ticket stopped that all. Now just how much nicer it is to drive down Bridge Street or Petoskey Avenue or any open street. When cars are parked on the street driver's view is obstructed. When a child darts out from behind a car for a ball, what chance does the driver have to miss a child? People keep their cars off the street at night during the winter, but insist on parking on the street during the day. Why not keep your driveway clean and use it. Always the driveway that is kept clean is the one that is used to turn around on the street. In the new subdivisions in the cities there are never any cars parked on the street as every property owner has his own driveway. Meadow Lane for example never has a car parked on the street. Why not start something new here in Charlevoix and be the first city to ban parking on the street in the residential part of the city. How much nicer it will be to have an open view street instead of a cluttered up street and a hazard to the ones that drive those streets. The only time parking should be allowed is for Sunday worship or church outings in the evenings. Name withheld by request.

Rayders Drop Heartbreaker

The Rayders wrapped up the 1965 season with a real thriller Friday night. The only thing wrong with the game was the score -- 21 to 20 in favor of Harbor Springs.

Harbor Springs, with the Blue Devils from Gaylord emerging as conference champions. Friday's game was a heartthumper right from the beginning when Harbor Springs' fleet K. Hansen carried the ball to the 30 yard line, then up to the eight before the clock had clicked off two minutes.

THEN HEFTY G. Kilborn, who looked as menacing as a tall pumpkin in his bright orange uniform plowed through Charlevoix's line for the first of Harbor Springs' three touchdowns.

Midway through the quarter, Bourgoin climaxed a 35 yard run with a TD, Steve Smith making good the extra point. The game was tied seven-all, and neither team scored again the rest of the quarter, although Bourgoin and Levi McClellan provided plenty of action for the Rayders, as did Hansen and E. Warner for Harbor Springs.

THE SECOND quarter belonged to Harbor Springs. G. Oliver scored when the quarter was only two and a half minutes old, and L. Sayan did the same with 3:44 remaining on the clock. In both cases, Kilborn made good the extra point.

And that was that, so far as Harbor Springs was concerned. They didn't score again.

THE OPENING seconds of the third quarter were perhaps the most exciting of the whole season. Bourgoin received the kick on the five-yard line and sprinted 95 yards as his teammates methodically opened up holes for him the length of the field. Unfortunately, Charlevoix lost the conversion point -- and the game.

The rest of the quarter was uneventful. Bourgoin's old leg injury was aggravated when he was tackled by Kilborn, and he missed several plays. Smith displayed some fancy footwork, coming up with two yards on a fourth down to start the cycle all over again, but the ball never got close to paydirt.

The quarter closed with the score 13 to 21, in favor of Harbor Springs.

IN THE FOURTH, Steve Smith scored when the quarter was two minutes old, and the point was good. The board now read an agonizing 20-21 and remained that way throughout the game.

The final seconds found Charlevoix in a desperate predicament. The Rayders four and one-half time-outs had been used up and the ball was up to within four yards of a winning TD. Each play moved the ball a little closer, but not enough. Once an attempted pass went out of bounds, the clock was running out and there was no time to re-group. The game ended on a fourth down, with the ball on the one yard line.

Gull to Oust Robin as State Symbol

For 1966 Michigan's state bird the robin is going to take a back seat to the sea gull. Paul Penfield of Detroit, general chairman of next year's Michigan Week May 15-21, revealed in Grand Rapids that for the first time since Michigan Week began in 1954, the robin will be absent from the posters and other promotional materials.

From one springtime to another the robin has been out of the Michigan Week emblem, some in sailor's cap or drum major's hat, sometimes just a jaunty red-breasted bird.

The 1966 emblem will show a Mackinac Bridge tower and three soaring sea gulls. There will be no robin and the traditional red of the Michigan Week poster will be gone. The colors will be bright green and light blue.

"IT ISN'T that we are downgrading the robin," Penfield said, "but that among all designs submitted we liked this one best. Also, we are delighted to have a design emblematic of the bridge that binds our two peninsulas, of the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence Seaway."

The design is by Jaime Aranguren, art director of the John Henry Co., Lansing. The firm is contributing all art work for production of the 1966 Michigan Week promotional materials, as have the various advertising agencies and corporations whose artists have submitted the winning designs in past years.

The Spanish Flu broke out that year. Vaporub and Plutonium were the main remedies. Oysters were 50 cents a quart, Perfection Coffee, 30 cents a pound, red salmon, 1 pound can, 28 cents, beef kettle roast, 18 and 20 cents a pound.

How times have changed down through the years, and I wonder what happened to that armistice of peace?

Our community extends its sympathy to Mrs. Louis MacDonald and family on the passing of Mr. MacDonald, Services and burial were in East Jordan, Saturday.

We have a beautiful new front door in our church which was designed and installed by Earl Kroll. It was made and donated by Donald Porter in Grand Rapids. It has panels of colored glass on each side and over the top and lovely brass hardware. You really should see it to appreciate the improvement. Our many thanks to Mr. Porter and Earl Kroll.

Clockwise

With Bob Clock

THE MIDWESTERN Broadcasting Station in Petoskey reports the Fred Allen documentary will be broadcast on NBC radio Sunday, Nov. 14, from 7:05 to 8 p.m. Moderator will be Edgar Bergen.

Every time the paper comes out I make a solemn pledge the next issue will have no errors in it. Yet somehow letters get misplaced, and I am just as astounded as the next guy to find, as I did on Pg. 2 of Oct. 27 Courier, that the venerable St. Mary's Church is now "paining" its own All Saints Day Ritual. I was equally surprised to find Charlevoix High School Cheerleader Elaine Warner identified as some strange or called Elaine Waine and that City Attorney John Michael is wearing an "s" on the end of his name.

With a name like Clock, our family has been victimized by type Gremilins as long as I can remember. For years my father, John P. Clock, had a charge account with a Detroit department store, under the name of John P. a clock. The name had a certain flair to it, so he never bothered to change it. "Clock" invariably comes out "Clark" in type and sometimes imaginative typesetters add a final "e."

But that's all water over the dam. This week's paper is going to be letter perfect.

IT'S GOING to be a long, cold, smelly winter--if skunks are any harbinger of what's in store in the weather department. The Courier is receiving reports almost daily from townspeople who have spotted skunks parading nonchalantly up and down the city's streets, usually after dark.

I saw one a few days ago on the lawn of the County Jail. Phil Lawrence at Fairport Marina had one little fellow set up housekeeping in the window--well of the Getken house on Belvedere, which he is offering for sale. He says more than one prospective customer has been frightened away upon seeing the little guy camped by the front steps.

Lawrence finally lured the skunk into a trap using scraps of meat--and then let him go. No problem at all.

A few years ago a woman in Owen Sound, Ont., notified the local provincial police that she had a skunk in her basement. The officers told her to put a piece of bread on each step leading to the grade door and to leave the door open all night. The next day the same woman was back on the telephone.

"Now I've got two skunks in my basement," she wailed. The next worst thing to having a skunk in the basement is having a dog down there who has just done battle with one. Ask any of the Gibsons of May Street. "It was the first time in her life that Ginger actually enjoyed a bath," says Hilda, who performed the operation in the laundry tub.

Coming back from the Grayling game, we ran over a skunk with the VW. Judy wanted to bury the car when we got home, but actually time, and rain and snow and driving 75 miles an hour in a sleet storm has done a lot of good, so next summer we hope to get close enough to the right front fender to give it a good scrubbing.

Earl Young says it's aptly I didn't get to visit Beaver Island until after all the early Irish pioneers were tucked away in their graves. Years ago, he says, the brogue in St. James was as thick as potted shamrocks and the lilting, carefree, smiling spirit of the island was encountered on our pilgrimage last month is only a distant echo of the rollicking days when the Emerald Isle of Lake Michigan was in its prime.

Earl says there are still some fine examples of Irish architecture in the older houses on the island, but that is about all that is left of things Irish. The spirit has vanished like a leprechaun.

"IN THE OLD days," he says, "skunks browsed along the main street of St. James, and if you stayed overnight at one of the farm homes, like as not you'd find chickens roosting on the bedstead when you got up in the morning."

Earl, who was the only insurance agent doing business on the island for years, says he got to know most of the large island families fairly well during his frequent business trips.

"I REMEMBER one night I was staying with the Bill Gallagher when the Missus had some business down at the church and left instructions for Bill to make sure their brood of 12 got bedded down for the night.

Bill did as he was told and he and Earl were playing cards when the Missus returned home.

"How did it go?" she asked. "Did you get them all to bed all right?"

Bill assured her he had followed her instructions, "but one little fellow sure put up one helluva fuss," he added.

"Which one?" the Missus demanded.

While Bill was groping for a name, the Missus vaulted up stairs to find Bill had stashed away one of the neighbor kids with his own.

Auxiliary Reaches Membership Goal

Charlevoix VFW Auxiliary Post 1153 is believed to be the first post in the 13th District to reach 100 percent paid up membership, according to Mrs. Hilda Gibson, 1966 membership chairman.

The figure was announced Nov. 4 at the regular meeting of the auxiliary at the VFW hall.

District President Mrs. Bertha Smith of Traverse City, who attended the meeting in charge of Coast Guard activities on the island. For his trouble the federal government paid him $400 a year.

Gallagher was a faithful public servant but had one fault so far as the government was concerned. He never cashed his pay checks. Numerous letters from Washington went unanswered and finally the government sent an agent to the island to investigate. He explained to the captain what a furor he had created among the nation's bookkeepers and wouldn't he please cash his checks?

Earl, who was visiting the Gallaghers at the time, said old Mr. Gallagher went to the family Bible and pulled out seven or eight paychecks for $400 each.

"The government givem to me, and I can do with 'em what I please," he maintained stoutly, waving the checks under the agent's nose.

The poor man shook his head and went back to Washington an older but not much wiser man.

Fortunately, Capt. Gallagher never seemed to lack ready cash. A granddaughter who worked for Earl years later said that whenever she visited the old gentleman on the island he always walked out into the orchard before she left and came back with a $20 gold coin for her.

"And this was long after America had gone off the gold standard," Earl said. "He must have had a jar of them buried out there somewhere."

ing, said she believes Charlevoix is the first unit in her district to reach its goal.

One hundred percent paid up membership means that the local post has signed up as many members as it had in June, which was 49. As new members join, the goal for 1967 will go higher.

Mrs. Smith attended the meeting to present last year's membership chairman, Mrs. Edward Mann, with a citation for reaching 100 percent in her drive. The citation reads: "Department of Michigan Ladies Auxiliary of V.F.W. of the United States, Citation of Merit awarded to Charlevoix Auxiliary 1153 in recognition of this Auxiliary's participation in the membership program. Achievement of this type materially aids our program of service to veterans and to our communities. They are worthy of the highest commendation. Signed, Emma Mober, Department Chairman."

Mrs. Smith also presented a citation to Mrs. James Whitely, Buddy Poppy chairman. Mrs. Whitely was cited for her work, which has "contributed generously to the welfare program of the Veterans of Foreign Wars." It was signed by John A. Jenkins, commander-in-chief.

The auxiliary sent checks to the National Home to be used for the children's Christmas and New Years parties.

Mrs. Smith urged all members to write State Sen. Thomas Schweigert of Petoskey and Representative Clayton T. Morrison of Pickford thanking them for supporting the Veterans tax relief bill which was vetoed by Lt. Gov. Millikin, and asking their continued support when the bill comes before a special session of the Legislature Dec. 9.

The post urges all Charlevoixians to fly flags on Veterans' Day, Nov. 11.

Five men have been recently assigned to the Charlevoix Coast Guard Lifeguard Station. They are S/A Melvin C. Bolstad, Commissary Man Sherman Demoss, Seaman William Rinehart, S/A Richard Klanowski, and S/A Grover C. Roberts.

Bolstad, a native of Puyallup, Wash., graduated recently from Boot Camp at Alameda, Calif.

DeMoss, of Detroit, is a veteran of nine years in the Coast Guard. His last assignment was as cook on the Huron Light Ship out of Port Huron. He has been assigned to four ships and five stations, in addition to assignments in Detroit and New England.

Rinehart comes from Castanqua, Pa., and has been in the Coast Guard two years and two months. He has served at the Great Lakes III, station and aboard the Coast Guard Cutter Mackinaw.

Roberts, who comes from Baton Rouge, La., recently completed boot training at Alameda, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Murray left Wednesday for Lompoc, Calif., for a visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Barber and family. They plan to be gone two weeks.

Government Loans at Work

Official Inspects Plants

The deputy administrator of the Public Works and Economic Development Administration in Washington, D.C., spent an afternoon in town last Thursday to see how Charlevoix businessmen are putting federal loans.

His name is Harold Williams, a slender, bespectacled man who had high words of praise for Charlevoix as a site for future industrial development.

HE WAS accompanied by Woodward C. Smith, vice president for public services at Central Michigan University, State Sen. Thomas F. Schweigert, representing the 37th District and a host of university and government officials.

First stop on their itinerary was the new Lexalite Corp. plant northeast of Charlevoix on U.S. 31, built by Charlevoix Development Corp., and financed in part by a $100,000 loan by the Small Business Administration.

After lunch at the Weather-vane, the group inspected the new headquarters of Great Lakes Fabricating Co. on Carpenter Street, owned by Jess Penn. From there they proceeded to Castle Van Haver on Route 66, an art foundry and tourist center being developed with government assistance by Jon Van Haver.

IN HIS closing remarks, Williams said he was happy to see the progress being made with federal and state assistance in Charlevoix, but emphasized that it is private individuals who must supply the ideas and the initiative to get businesses rolling to a point where government help is feasible.

At Lexalite, he said he had helped dedicate many plants before, but none was in such a beautiful location as the new plastic molding plant on the Lake Michigan shore.

Williams and his party arrived in Charlevoix by air from Detroit about noon, following an air inspection of other federally financed businesses in eastern Michigan.

JON VAN HAVER (right) escorts loan official Harold Williams on a tour of Lexalite plant property which he intends to turn into an art foundry and craft center for tourists.

HAROLD WILLIAMS tells Lexalite officers he has never seen a nicer site for light industry than the Lake Michigan shore.

RAY PAYBERG of Prudential Insurance Co., a member of North-west Michigan Development Council (left) listens as Lexalite vice president and general manager Josh Barnes describes plastic molding operations.

The library portion of the building will comprise 3,204 square feet, with book storage rooms and youth meeting rooms on the lower level.
Clarence Walters, State Library Board representative, said Tuesday that the Pine River site and the present library site are the only two locations in Charlevoix which he asked to appraise for future library construction. He says the old site is too small, and that he favors the Pine River site because of its central location.

IN OTHER business, the school board voted to recognize the Charlevoix Teachers Club as the sole bargaining agent for city teachers and approved payroll deductions for teachers' tax sheltered annuities.

They also decided to ask Charlevoix Oil to supply fuel oil to the Children's Training School. The school was acquired by the board after fuel oil bids were accepted earlier this fall.

Members were urged to attend a joint meeting with the Library Board in Superintendent Rex Milligan's office Wednesday, Nov. 10, at 1:30 p.m.

They also heard a report that two de-humidifiers in the gymnasium were doing a good job of keeping the floor from buckling.

LAKE carriers Amasa Stone and Charles S. Hebard are being reconditioned by the Bultema Dock and Dredge Co. at Manistee for eventual use as the Medusa breakwater at Charlevoix. Superstructure will be removed before the boats are towed to Charlevoix next spring. They will be sunk outside the harbor.

STANLEY A. Tornga of Ellsworth lived to tell about this one. His car hit a tree on the Marion Center Road five miles south of Charlevoix about 4:30 a.m. Nov. 6. Tornga was taken to Charlevoix Hospital where he had 11 stitches in a head wound, according to sheriff's deputies.

Public Invited to Open House

Plastic Products to Be Displayed
Sunday, Nov. 14

Charlevoixdians will have an opportunity to visit one of the most modern manufacturing plants in the area Nov. 14 when LexaLite Corp. will hold open-house from 2 to 4 p.m.

The plant is located about six miles northeast of Charlevoix on the lake side of U.S. 31.

Josh Barnes, vice president and general manager of the firm says none of the machinery will be running during the open house for safety reasons.

However, visitors will have an opportunity to examine equipment and see displays of the various plastic products manufactured at the plant.

Electricity Heats LexaLite Plant

The LexaLite Plant is the most northerly industrial facility served by Consumers Power Company to be heated exclusively by electricity.

Ken Baker, power sales engineer for Consumers, said the system was worked out with the cooperation of Begrow and Brown, architects, and LexaLite.

Stockholders, Officers Listed

Arthur R. Marshall of Franklin, Mich., is president of LexaLite Corp., now in production on the Lake Michigan shore northeast of Charlevoix. He is backed up by J. T. Barnes, vice president and general manager; William Smith, treasurer; Leslie Putnam, secretary; and Tom Acton, plant manager.

Barnes is living on W. Dixon Street in Charlevoix. Smith resides in New Baltimore, Mich. Putnam's home is in Grosse Pointe, and Acton, a native of Sarnia, Ont., Canada, lives in Charlevoix.

In addition to Barnes, Smith, Putnam and Marshall, other stockholders in the corporation are W. G. Cryderman, L. T. Kendall, and S. L. Lundsten.

HE ADDED that the plant should be fairly easy to heat, since the plastic molding equipment itself releases considerable warmth.

There also has been a sizeable saving of floor space, using electrical heat, he said. Furthermore, the cleanliness of electrical heat is practically a must in any plastic molding operation, since soot contamination reduced the effectiveness of optical products.

TO SUPPLY LexaLite, Consumers built a substation on Bay Shore road, tapping the 46,000 volt line which runs from the Emmet substation to Charlevoix. The plant itself is supplied with 12,470 volts, sufficient to operate its heavy machinery.

Most of the power used by LexaLite --- despite its circuitous route --- comes from the Consumers Power Plant next door.

BARNES says the driving force behind development of LexaLite Corp. was the need for vandal-proof lighting fixtures in what he calls "problem areas" of the nation's cities. Street light globes near playgrounds and unsupervised roadside parks had an extremely short life expectancy, what with B-B guns and well-aimed missiles of all sorts. In the early 1960's, Barnes in cooperation with the Detroit Edison Co., developed a durable plastic material tough enough to stand up under repeated assaults with a sledge hammer. In 1962 the trade name, "LexaLite" was registered with the U. S. government. In the winter of 1962, production of LexaLite lighting fixtures was started.

INITIALLY the work was contracted out to the St. Clair Plastics Co. in Marine City, Mich.

In February, 1963, Barnes and six associated incorporated under the LexaLite name. At first corporate activities were restricted to sales and engineering, all production was still handled by the St. Clair plant, although tooling was owned by the corporation.

By the end of 1963, the corporation had acquired an old house at 22254 West Eight Mile Rd. in Southfield, a northwest Detroit suburb, for office space and a research laboratory.

In July of 1964, larger office quarters were leased in the Southfield Office Plaza and a research and engineering center was opened on Beech Road at Ross Street in Redford Township.

"FOR A WHILE there we were growing so fast we were moving every season or eight months it seems," Barnes recalls.

In the summer of 1964 it was becoming apparent that the company should consolidate its facilities and build its own manufacturing, research and warehouse facilities. New warehouse space already was needed. Officers began scouting around for possible locations.

Barnes says that sites were studied in Muskegon, Montague, Frankfort, Port Huron and Southfield. Officers of the company had practically decided on Montague when they were contacted by Dean Davenport, former manager of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce.

Davenport arranged a meeting between LexaLite representatives and the Charlevoix Development Corp. The LexaLite people came to Charlevoix and liked what they saw. The power rates, site, and financial assistance available were all comparable with Montague, and there was a slight tax advantage to locating here.

"ACTUALLY, it was a toss up," Barnes says. "What convinced us to relocate in Charlevoix was a community spirit here we liked. Talking to other manufacturers we found out there were good, reliable workers in the area -- people you could count on. After all, we are turning out a quality product and we need quality people to do it."

Barnes says probably the deciding factor in the selection of Charlevoix were the officers wives.

They fell in love with Charlevoix, and that was all there was to it."

On March, 1965, officers voted definitely on the Charlevoix site. Ground clearing was stated in June and the first steel went up in July. By the end of September the plant was in limited production and on Oct. 26 the plant made its first delivery of about 7,500 refractors to the American Electric Manufacturing Co. in Memphis, Tenn.

LexaLite Does Export Business

LexaLite not only does business throughout the United States but has several foreign customers, according to Josh Barnes, vice president and general manager.

The firm has received orders in recent months from Italy, Venezuela, Mexico, Panama and Canada, Barnes says.

Three Processes Used by LexaLite

Basically, three types of plastic molding operations are being carried on at the LexaLite Plant.

They are (1) plastic injection molding, (2) vacuum forming, and (3) blow molding.

In the first process, plastic pellets are heated until they are molten. Then the molten mass is "injected" under tremendous pressure into mold or molds, depending on the size of the part being made.

The part is then cooled automatically and removed from the machine by the operator.

Two plastic injection molding machines are presently in use at the plant. One handles a 25 ounce charge of plastic and the other a 35 ounce charge. Next April a 60-ounce capacity machine will be installed.

Products made by injection molding range from small photo cell covers which are turned out four at a time to medium sized lamp globes.

The second process uses sheet plastic which is heated and then placed over a form of the object to be made. Vacuum pumps suck the plastic around the model and the material holds its shape after it cools.

The vacuum forming machine at LexaLite is presently being used to make liners for street lamp globes.

The third process, blow molding, is used to make large objects like decorative post lamp globes. In blow molding, a parason (hollow tube) of plastic is heated and placed in a mold. Air pressure from the inside then forces the plastic into the mold.

The new LexaLite plant presently has 13,000 feet of floor space, although the site is large enough to allow expansion to 30,000 feet if the volume of business demands it.

Last week the plant had 25 persons on the payroll. Employment is expected to level off at about 100 in a year's time.

LexaLite Has Few Rivals

LexaLite is practically without competition in supplying plastic fixtures for the lighting industry.

General Manager Josh Barnes says two other companies have attempted to enter the field but have not been very successful.

He says the firm's chief competition comes from the glass industry.

FOR SOME PURPOSES, Barnes says glass fixtures are far more expensive because of the complicated tooling required, he says, but in volume, plastics are far less costly.

Two Kinds of Plastic Used

About 95 per cent of the products turned out by LexaLite are made from one of two kinds of plastic.

The first is acrylic and carries the trade names Plexiglas and Lucite.

The second is a polycarbonate and bears the trade names Lexan and Merlon.

POLYCARBONATE plastics are considerably tougher than others and cost more than twice as much. Lexan and Merlon pellets cost $1.2 a pound, compared to $.50 a pound for Plexiglas and Lucite.

In addition to the price advantage, acrylic plastics are purer, hence better for optical purposes than the polycarbonates. They also have more sparkle, but they don't have the strength of the more expensive plastics.

REGARDLESS of trade names, all plastics basically are made of three elements, carbon, oxygen and hydrogen, with the molecular structure differing from type to type.

LexaLite has found an important use for polycarbonates in the manufacture of vandal-proof street lamp globes.

Best Wishes

... To LexaLite for the future operation of their new plant.

commercial success, although it had two drawbacks: it was highly flammable and light hastened its breakdown.

RESIN -- that stuff that makes your hands sticky when you put up the Christmas tree came into use in the manufacture of plastics in the last 1800's. In 1895, the German-American inventor Emilie Berliner used resin combined with shellac to make phonograph records. In 1900 another German hardened the casein from milk with formaldehyde. The substance was later used in the United States to make buttons and buckles, but it was extremely susceptible to humidity and changes in atmospheric pressure.

Later soybean protein was treated in the same way, paving the way, in 1909 for development of cold-molded plastics. American inventor Emilie Hemming used an asbestos filler, asphalt pitch, coal tar, drying oils and resins to make such things as heat-resistant handles, electrical connector plugs and insulators. They were molded at room temperature, then put in ovens to drive off the solvents, dry the oils and set the resins.

THE SAME YEAR, Belgian-American inventor Leo Hendrick Baekeland developed a product called "bakelite" using phenol resins and formaldehyde. Today, phenolic plastics are used as high tension insulators in electrical systems of automobiles and airplanes, instrument casings and similar housings, radio parts, industrial adhesives, and as the bonding agent in laminated paper, fabric and plywood products and in airplanes and boat construction. The year 1909 also saw the development of flameproof cellulose acetate plastic, used for many years in safety photographic film. In the 1920's it came into general use, being more useful in most respects than its cellulose nitrate forerunner, celluloid. The latest improvement in this product was made in 1938 with the introduction of Tenite II, a cellulose plastic extremely resistant to weathering and warping.

IN 1929 urea-formaldehyde plastics came into being. Urea is produced synthetically from carbon dioxide and ammonia and is used in fertilizer and animal rations. In its plastic form is light weight, shock resistant, odorless and tasteless. One of its first applications was as lightweight tableware. Vinyl chloride and vinyl acetate plastics came in about the same time, and were found to be excellent for "unbreakable" phonograph records, transparent belts, shoes and other articles of clothing, and laminated safety glass. Oddly enough, another plastic developed as a binder for safety glass went on to have a career of its own. This plastic has an acrylic resin base, and is known today as Lucite and Plexiglas, which have optical qualities desirable in making eye glasses and camera lenses.

POLYSTYRENE resins came into use in 1937 and have a number of admirable characteristics. They are tough, chemical resistant, withstand extremely low temperatures, and have a water absorption rating of practically zero. They are widely used where insulation is a factor. In 1940, the U. S. began large scale production of a polyamide resin known as nylon. When World War II stopped imports of Japanese silk, nylon quickly came into its own as yarn and fabric, its popularity lasting to the present day. Other synthetic fabrics followed, such as Dacron and Orlon, their characteristics depending on the resin base used. Wool-like products, for example, are made from silk casein and soy bean plastics.

OTHER RECENTLY developed plastics are alkyl-resin paints and polyethylene, the principal ingredient in making "squeeze bottles."

Teflon---the trade name for tetrafluorethylene resin---is highly heat-resistant and is used to coat frying pans. Silicone plastics have been developed for waterproofing raincoats.

Production of plastics and synthetic resins in the United States is now well over four billion pounds a year. And there is no end to the myriad applications of plastics in sight.

Early Man Used Plastics

Mankind has been working with plastics for centuries, but it is only in the last 100 years they have had any commercial application. The last generation has seen plastics come into their own and their future is without bounds.

In the broadest sense of the word, the papier-mache developed by the Chinese at the dawn of recorded history was a plastic. The material was molded to the desired shape and kept it, once the solvent (water) evaporated. Today these are called solvent plastics.

THE CERAMIC tiles found near the dwelling sites of early man are the first examples of what today is called "thermosetting plastics," plastics which are formed by heating. Plastics today consist mostly of synthetic compounds of organic (living) origin. They are commonly thought to consist of coal, air and water, although the organic component might just as well come from cotton, wood, skimmed milk, corn, potatoes, peanuts or soy beans.

THE PLASTIC AGE actually was launched in 1860 when the wanton declamation of wild elephants in Africa and India. The price of ivory skyrocketed and manufacturers of ivory objects such as buttons and piano keys set about finding a substitute. One firm, Phelan and Colander, which made pool balls, offered a prize of $10,000 to anyone who could come up with a satisfactory substitute for ivory in manufacturing their product. One of the contestants was John Wesley Hyatt who developed a process of pressure working pyrolylin (a form of cellulose nitrate) plasticized with camphor and using a minimum of solvent. Hyatt didn't win the prize, but his product, trade marked "Celluloid" became a household word, being used in everything from dental plates to collars. Celluloid was a

Council Chamber Jammed Over Zoning Projects

Gas Station Out: R-1 Opinion Hit

Two controversial zoning problems are still very much undecided after a three-hour City Council session Monday night which drew one of the largest gatherings in Council history.

A resolution by alderman Bob Gill to rezone the southwest corner of Hurbit and Bridge Streets from Commercial-1 to Commercial-2 to permit construction of a gas station failed to win any support among his colleagues and died for lack of a second reading.

COUNCIL MEMBERS also received a petition signed by several property owners in residential areas of the city calling for a stricter interpretation of R-1 than was spelled out in City Attorney John Michael's recent opinion as to what is permissible in R-1.

A group of North Siders, led by Mrs. Virginia Olson, presented the petition, which is aimed at stopping Maurice Foster from opening the former Lesser House on 1, 183rd Avenue as a lodging for skiers this winter.

She was supported by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Skelton and Mrs. Gordon Freeman.

INDIVIDUAL Council members gave every indication that they are not in complete accord with Michael's opinion, which holds that a single housekeeping unit with not more than two bedrooms and a bathroom is permitted on almost any number of unincorporated individuals so long as they have free run of the premises and are not confined to a single room.

The petition submitted by Mrs. Olson's group reads as follows:

"We, the undersigned, wish to petition the Council to make a correct interpretation of the zoning ordinance and to allow Residential District No. 1 only dwellings for a single family, and does not permit the renting of rooms except to non-conforming uses prior to the adoption of the present ordinance."

MRS. OLSON said Michael "fractured a long way" for his interpretation of the ordinance.

Mrs. Freeman was even more critical, saying Michael must have gone to "Tanner Slobovia" to reach his conclusions.

Councilmen pointed out that the newly organized Planning Commission hopes to take a long look at the city's zoning code and come up with some recommendations, probably in the spring.

Mrs. Freeman persisted that now is the time for action. "When your child is hungry you don't wait for six months until the grocery store has a sale to feed him," she said.

SHE ADDED that although she doesn't live on 1, 183rd Ave., the zoning question affects her and all people in Charlevoix.

"Unless we're all little politicians and tattle on our neighbors, these things are going to happen. It's not fair to the people in town not to let them know whether they're on foot or horseback."

She concluded by saying the

Asks City to Rent Hangars to Fliers

Josh Barnes, general manager of Localite Corp., asked aldermen at Monday's session to look into the possibility of buying hangars from the Charlevoix Airport.

Barnes said he knows of a six-unit hangar available for $7,500 at Grand Rapids.

Band Concert Tuesday

The Charlevoix High School band, under the direction of Clarence A. Odmark, will present their first concert of the 1966-67 season next Tuesday, Nov. 23, at 8 p.m. in the High School gymnasium.

Participating in the concert will be the Charlevoix Reserve Band and the Charlevoix Senior Band, made up of 180 student musicians.

Draft to Test Hubbys

The first married men without children from the Charlevoix County will be sent to Detroit for draft physicals Dec. 7.

They are Kenneth E. West, 24, Boyne City; Norman C. Harwood, 23, Charlevoix and Saginaw; Ernest R. Brock, 23, Charlevoix and Grand Rapids; James J. McKenney, 23, East Jordan; William S. Dunson, 24, East Jordan; and James C. Whitfield Jr., 24, Wallon Lake and Pasadena, Calif.

MARRIED men have been exempt from the draft physicals until this month, according to Mrs. Frank Bourgoin, secretary of Selective Service, Board 15.

Leaving for induction from the local board in December will be Charles D. Fletcher of Charlevoix and Muncie, Ind.; Richard D. Loutselle, Charlevoix; Steven A. Kroll, Ironton; and Donald D. Cooper, Wallon Lake.

NCC Tells Building Plans

The Board of Trustees of North Central Michigan College has ordered architects to proceed as rapidly as possible with plans for $3,300,000 worth of buildings to meet an anticipated shortage of classroom, office and dormitory space in the near future.

Dean A. D. Shankland said in addition to science building now under construction, plans are being drawn up for:

--A 50,000 square foot general classroom building at an estimated cost of $1,100,000 which will provide 15 general classrooms, a two-room laboratory, a two-room business education department, a large science lecture room, student services area, and administrative offices. Target date for completion is September, 1967.

--A 160 bed dormitory - student center for students living both on and off campus. Estimated cost is $1 million and anticipated completion date is September, 1967.

OBJECTIONS to the Pine River channel library site are clearly shown in this drawing of the location. State library officials felt the building was to be located too far from the street, to be convenient to the public. The newly proposed site is more centrally located and will allow more room for expansion.

Library Location Offered

Dr. Gilbert B. Saltonstall, M.D., has offered the Charlevoix Board of Education a parcel of land on Clinton Street as the new library site.

The offer came as a surprise Tuesday night, at a special meeting of the school board to discuss the new library.

Architect, Jack Begrow, who announced the offer, says the property measures roughly 150' x 160', and lies just west of Novotny's plumbing shop.

Until Dr. Saltonstall's offer, it appeared almost certain that the library would be built on the Pine River channel, despite considerable criticism of the site by local residents.

Not only was it feared the site eventually would become too valuable commercially to be used for library purposes, but also that noise on the channel would disturb students.

Even the state library board wasn't in complete agreement with the site claiming it was far from the center of town. School board chairman, Burr

Camping Trailer Picked Up Fast

Mrs. E. A. Englehart reports almost instant success in selling her camping trailer through a Courier classified ad.

In fact, Mrs. Englehart says she probably could have sold the trailer "several times" she received so many calls.

The next time you have something to buy, sell, or trade, give Courier people-reacher ads a try. Their effectiveness is bound to please.

To place an ad, simply dial 6558, or drop in at the Courier office.

Grid Contest Won by John Murdick

John Murdick, a seventh grader at St. Mary's School, was the final winner in the Courier's nine-week long football contest.

John the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Murdick, missed only one of the 18 team pairings in last week's contest.

He isn't sure what he's going to do with his $10 prize money, but Christmas is coming up and it'll probably go for presents, he says.

JOHN'S LONE error in judging professional, college and local teams was in picking the Detroit Lions over the 49ers.

It was the first time anyone has come so close to a perfect score in the Courier contest this year.

Runners up last week were Mrs. Gayle Spencer who missed two, and Thomas Maxwell, Terry Blissett, Edna Gallagher and Marv Ruis each of whom missed three.

Fire Levels Cow Barn

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a large hay-filled barn Monday evening on the Bernard Mousseau farm about three miles southeast of Charlevoix on Wickersham Road.

Mousseau, who was milking in the barn about a half hour before the fire was discovered at 6:30 p.m., says he has no idea how it started, unless it was a faulty electrical connection.

The loss is only partially covered by insurance.

He said the family was eating supper when one of the children looked out the window and saw the barn ablaze.

When firemen arrived the barn was too far gone to attempt to save it, but they soaked down a nearby shed housing Mousseau's pigs. A southerly wind kept the flames from the house.

Shakespeareans Hear 'Hamlet' and 'Henry IV'

The Nov. 1 meeting of the Shakespeare Study Club was held at the home of Mrs. Wayne Bittel on Cherry Street. Mrs. Geoffrey Patrio presented a program of excerpts from two well known Shakespearean plays, "Hamlet" and "Henry IV." The recordings featured John Barrymore and Michael Rago. Dessert was served by Mrs. Elwood Shanahan and Mrs. Ralph Hess.

We hate to pry

but if your snow tires have no wheels of their own, pry we must. To get your regular tires off the wheel. To put your snow tires on. Every winter. Every spring it's pry, pry again. All that prying is bad for the tire's bead. (The bead is the steel-cored inner rim that keeps the tire snug on the wheel.) But there's a solution to this prying problem. When you buy snow tires, buy them mounted on wheels of their own. Then it's just a matter of switching wheels. Saves your tires. Saves you time. (You can even do it yourself.) Get your snow tires and wheels now, in this one economical package. And tell your friends to get them. We'd like to get out of this pry-by-night business.

Are you paying more than 11½¢ a gallon for your residential heating oil?

If you are, you're paying too much to heat your home.

If you are now using natural Gas (or plan to) for cooking, water heating, clothes drying or Gaslights, and your use is equal to that of our average residential customer, you can get your Gas for heating under our special service rate at a cost equivalent to fuel oil priced at just 11½¢ a gallon. And the nice thing about our Gas rates is that the more you use, the less it costs per unit: That's a bargain in anybody's book.

(Can't pay for the cost of conversion right now? Here's good news: Whether you convert your present furnace, or even install a new Gas furnace, Michigan Consolidated will pay for it and its installation by a qualified heating contractor. And it won't cost you a penny until July 1, 1966!)

So why not make your present oil furnace more economical this winter? Have it converted to economical natural Gas. Then you can start putting your money in the bank for a change. Instead of in your furnace. For full details, call us or your heating contractor today.

State Library Aide Tells Reasons for Site Choice

Following is the text of a letter from Clarence R. Walters, Building Consultant for the Michigan State Board for Libraries, to Charlevoix Superintendent of Schools Rex Milligan telling why he has approved the Pine Channel site for the proposed Charlevoix library.

Mr. Rex Milligan, Superintendent
Charlevoix Public Schools
Charlevoix, Michigan

Dear Mr. Milligan:

This is in answer to your request for information regarding the best possible location of the proposed new Charlevoix Public Library. Enclosed you will find material from files on how to determine the location of a public library facility. You will notice that there is almost unanimous agreement among librarians and library planners that the library should be located in the busiest area of the city, usually the downtown business district. Overwhelming evidence indicates that the use of the library is greater if the library is located in the downtown area rather than in a residential area or on the edge of the city.

A library location should not be selected for any reason other than to serve the greatest number of potential readers. It should not be located to serve only one segment of the community. Placing the library adjacent to a school would be placing undue emphasis on service to students. This is only part of the library's function; a major concern should be service to adults and reaching the potential adult user.

The matter of selecting the site for the Charlevoix Library is critical in order to be eligible for Federal Grant, evidence of site ownership must be included with Part II of the application. In order for the architect to complete the necessary architectural drawings, a site must be selected. Any move to relocate the library at this time may jeopardize Charlevoix's chances for a Federal Construction Grant. As I have stated previously, although I am not in full agreement with the location of the building on the site, I feel the one presently under option is preferable to no further from the main street of Charlevoix. I hope this information will be helpful in your planning and if I can be of any further assistance in this matter, do not hesitate to write or call me.

Sincerely,

Clarence R. Walters
Building Consultant

PLANNING FOR RETIREMENT
Franklin C. Cellner of Charlevoix County is planning for the future. Like many of today's more progressive farmers, he is constantly looking for ways to modernize and improve his operation. And, he is already planning for the day he retires.

Earlier this year, Frank sat down with his Agent, Charles Elzinga—and set up a life insurance program which will provide the Cellners a guaranteed income for retirement. But that's not all. While he is investing in his future—his wife and three children are protected against the staggering financial loss which accompanies the untimely death of a breadwinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Cellner will enjoy a well-deserved, financially independent retirement. You can, too—if you make your plans now. Contact your local Farm Bureau Insurance Agent for information about the many retirement programs he has to offer. State Road Work Planned

5-Year Projects Listed

Two highway construction projects in Charlevoix County are included in $75,793,000 worth of road work scheduled for the northern 25 counties of the Lower Peninsula over the next five years.

The projects include 3.1 miles of reconstruction of M-32 southeast of East Jordan and 2.1 miles of reconstruction of U.S. 131 from M-75 to the county line.

ANOTHER plan to relocate about two and one-half miles of M-66 was scrapped by the state in September. Officials blamed city fathers for the cancellation, accusing them of dragging their feet in signing over property needed for the relocation.

Howard E. Hill, Highway Department director, said the mammoth road building program will begin July 1, 1967, and last five years.

The schedule is part of a road-building program that will boost Michigan's total construction to $2,750 billion for the 15-year period ending by 1972.

The four-man State Highway Commission approved the 1967-72 program recommended by Hill to meet increasing needs throughout the state.

"THE EVER-INCREASING population and the ever-increasing number of automobiles on our roads make obvious the fact that we must maintain our road-building program," Hill said.

"Our state's economy is at stake. We must continue to provide the arteries to keep our industrial and commercial enterprises strong."

"The safety of our people is at stake. We must do everything in our power to offset congestion on our streets and highways."

"And we believe the people of Michigan are convinced of the value of good roads and want to continue road construction progress which ranks with the best in the nation."

THE FORMER AIRPORT is launching a new career as headquarters for the Girl Scout camp ground west of Marion Center Road. The old airport was moved to the new site after the new airport opened in October.

HILL SAID the Commission has endorsed a revision of state laws to increase motor fuel taxes by one cent per gallon and hike vehicle weight taxes which still remain at 1932 levels.

The revision would increase the share reverted to cities and villages for construction and maintenance of local streets and roads by $22.7 annually.

A total of $78 million would be raised by the proposed increase, yielding $23.3 million more annually for counties and $32.6 million more for the state.

"WITH THESE increases, which would cost the average motorist about 25 cents a week the state can finance the entire program and counties and cities will receive substantial increases in highway funds to bolster their programs," Hill said.

"Without the increases, the state trunkline schedule alone will fall $175 million short of meeting minimum needs by 1972."

"We have programmed to meet the minimum needs and we are confident the State Legislature will act to provide the funds so that Michigan can carry forward as a leader among the states in road-building progress."

If I Should Die Without a Will...?

FRANK J. KELLEY
(This is a public service article explaining in general terms a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their private legal affairs should consult a private attorney.)

Who has the responsibility of looking after the estate of a person who dies without a will, leaving no known heirs? Most states, including Michigan, have a State Public Administrator who is the official responsible in such situations, and who has jurisdiction to arrange the funeral and collect and protect the assets of the deceased.

It is interesting to note that the law provides that an undertaker may have his license suspended or revoked for taking possession of a dead body or embalming it without first being expressly directed or authorized to do so by the proper party, which in this case would be the Public Administrator.

IN MICHIGAN, the Governor appoints the State Public Administrator upon the recommendation of the Attorney General. The post must be filled by appointment of an Assistant Attorney General. In turn the State Public Administrator is empowered to appoint local County Public Administrators who he supervises in the handling of such estates of deceased persons.

The County Public Administrator under the jurisdiction and direction of the local probate judge arranges the funeral, collects and marshals the assets of the estate, pays all valid claims, debts and charges. When his final account is filed with and approved by the probate judge, he turns over the residue of the estate to those who have properly established that they are heirs of the deceased.

IN THE ABSENCE of proven heirs claiming the estate, the remainder is escheated to the state of Michigan. In the event that heirs are subsequently discovered or subsequently make claim for the property, they may obtain the amount escheated by presenting proofs. Such right to make claim is never cut off.

Reduced Elk Kill Predicted by State

Although surveys indicate there probably are as many Pigeon River area as a year ago, Conservation Department game men won't be surprised if a lot less of these animals are taken this season than in 1964.

Actually, they look for a kill of only about 100 elk in December, a sharp drop from last season when 269 of these big animals were shot and 90 percent of the hunters were successful.

PART of the Department's prediction draws upon the experience of western states where shooting success in elk-hunting areas slipped to 30-35 percent in the second season after 70-80 percent of their sportsmen were successful the first year.

"More specifically, our forecast for a lower kill is tied to the fact that most of the elk herd's semi-tame animals were harvested last fall," explains Department elk specialist H. H. Bartlett.

"Also," he says, "those animals that survived our first elk hunt in modern times have smartened up fast and become more wary after being under fire."

SIGHTSEERS in the Pigeon River area can vouch for the animals' new-found wariness. These people have reported seeing fewer elk than last year.

This is not a matter of last year's hunters having "shot off" the herd by any means, according to Bartlett.

"Our studies last season showed that about 75 percent of the cows taken were carrying calves. When we apply this figure to cows that weren't shot, it means this year's calf crop should have more than offset the 1964 harvest."

Latest Department field checks also point to good elk production and survival this year. Game men report their fall sightings show a better calf-to-cow ratio than in 1963. Comparable figures are not available for last year.

Also, their field observations indicate that the herd's makeup of bulls, cows, and calves has changed very little the last three years.

Still, there is no doubt that it has been and will be harder to see elk. "I think hunters culled out enough 'tame' elk last season to make it somewhat difficult to encounter animals along main roads," reports game research biologist Richard J. Moran, who has kept a close watch over the herd in recent years.

He adds: "Both hunters and elk watchers probably are going to have to go a little farther afield in the future to be successful."

Antlerless Deer Tags Available at St. James

Some 374 unapplied-for antlerless deer permits for Beaver and Garden Islands will be issued on a first-come, first serve basis, according to the State Conservation Department office at Gaylord. The permits will be available Nov. 18 through Dec. 5 at the Beaver Island equipment station at St. James. They will be available only to license holders who have not already been issued 1965 special deer permits for other areas.

The move was approved by the State Conservation Commission after too few persons applied for antlerless deer permits in October for special area 15, which includes the two islands.

Hunters: If you have a heart condition, the Michigan Heart Association advises, never hunt alone. Tell at least one member of your party what medicine you take, how you take it and what symptoms indicate you may need it.

other states convinced him otherwise, Michigan law is vague on the subject.

The Council ordered the clerk to have a copy of the city's R-1 zoning provisions printed in the Courier so that owners of property affected can become acquainted with the law.

ART SKELTON asked the Council whether or not, under the present code, it is permissible for Mrs. Dorothy Kohler to convert her home at 203 E. Dixon into a two family dwelling. The work is already well under way.

The Council assured him that such remodeling is provided for in the present zoning ordinance.

Skelton also questioned Michael's turning to other states to interpret the language in Charlevoix's zoning law. He suggested using Webster's Dictionary. When told that Webster defines a rooming house simply as a "lodging house," Skelton went home and came back with two volumes of Encyclopedia Britannica with bookmarks by "roomer" and "boarder" so Michael could read the definitions to the Council.

IN THE PETITION to rezone Hurbut and Bridge Streets, The Sunoco Co., which hopes to build a station at the site, was represented by Richard Schell. Also present were William Peters and Mrs. David Ducher who already have agreed to sell the property. In question to Sunoco for use as a gas station.

Chief opposition came from Ralph Hamilton who said he didn't object to the gas station as such, but was afraid it would create a traffic hazard. When Gill's motion to rezone died, Schell was told he could bring the matter up at any future council meeting.

Talk of the Town

John E. Boss, his son, Dean Boss of Battle Creek, Frank Boss, his brother, Jay Boss of Jenson and Leo Fairbanks left Friday to hunt in the Germask area near Seney in the Upper Peninsula. They plan to return home this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. King Saunders are spending ten days vacation in Detroit and Lansing.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Meggison, former residents now living in Wheeling, Pa., visited last Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Koller, while visiting relatives at Central Lake.

Past Noble Grands Plan Yule Party

Plans for the Christmas party to be hosted by Mrs. Birdie Gleason at the home of Miss Lillie Flanders on Dec. 9 were made at the regular meeting of the Past Noble Grand Club held Thursday evening at the home of the president, Miss Frances Durance.

Mrs. Herbert Fox will give the devotions and secret pals will be revealed.

Fourteen members gathered at the Durance home for the cooperative dinner and business meeting. Miss Durance presided at the business session and presented the devotions entitled "Birds of Faith". Mrs. Floyd Ikens gave the opening and closing prayers. Mrs. Fox won the mystery package furnished by Mrs. Leroy Allers.

Mrs. Ikens, Mrs. Fox, Mrs. George Cook, Mrs. William Ager, Mrs. Raymond Seymour, Mrs. Fred Gill, Mrs. Jerold Murdick and Mrs. Rasmus Hendrickson won prizes during the social hour that followed. Others present were Mrs. Luther Hannah, Mrs. Lillian Moore, Mrs. Charles Evans and Mrs. John Johnson.

Stroke Causes Listed

A stroke occurs when the blood supply to a part of the brain is reduced or completely cut off, according to the American Medical Association.

This can be caused by a blood clot or by hemorrhage—bleeding from an artery in the brain. Medical terms used for various kinds of strokes are cerebral vascular occlusion, cerebral thrombosis, cerebral embolism and cerebral hemorrhage.

When the nerve cells of a part of the brain are deprived of their blood supply, the part of the body controlled by these nerve centers cannot function normally. The result may be weakness or paralysis, difficulty in speaking or loss of memory.

SOME patients recover quickly, and can resume their normal activities. Others may suffer such serious damage that even a partial recovery will take a long time. Immediate treatment with proper exercises and other forms of therapy can do much toward helping a patient regain the use of muscles and speech.

If a stroke is brought on by a narrowed blood vessel or, in some instances, a blood clot, the doctor may use anticoagulant drugs to prevent another stroke. When neck arteries leading to the brain are involved, a surgical operation can sometimes remove the obstruction to circulation.

Rehabilitation for stroke requires the cooperation of the doctor, the patient and the family. The patient's own will to avoid invalidism and to become independent is especially important.

WHEN BRENDON LABLANCE played football for the Charlevoix Rayders in 1962 and 1963, his jersey number was 85. Today PFC Lablance is still playing football, only now its with a U. S. Army team at Seoul, Korea. But his jersey, coincidentally, is still No. 85, according to a letter received recently by his parents, the George Lablances of Park Avenue.

Yule Workshop Is Well Attended

The Antrim County home extension group's Christmas Workshop that was held at the Brownwood Farm House Nov. 2 was well attended. Everyone enjoyed the driftwood decorating demonstration given by Mrs. Charles Parks.

The next day several members went out to collect driftwood in remote areas. We want to thank Mrs. Morris for opening her shop and the tunch she served.

The film from the Tie-Tie gift wrapping company was very interesting.

A large crowd from Area 19, attended the Knitting Workshop, Nov. 6 at Twin Lakes, Rohn 4-H club leader or with the Michigan State University and the Bernot Yarn Company. Bernot has developed this very special group of garments from knit-fact yarns.

In the morning was the style show modeling done by 4-H girls, followed by a question period. In the afternoon Mrs. Rohn's daughter and friend gave a skit, showing the garments and telling about each. Then the group was divided into classes, showing how to cast on stitches, making button holes, sew a garment, twisted cord for belt on dress, and many other hints on knitting.

Identifications In Beach Picture Are Still Needed

Thirty-two persons in the Lake Michigan beach picnic picture which appeared on page 7 of the Nov. 3 Courier already have been identified. About 70 others are yet to be named.

If you know anyone in the picture, which was taken about 1938, drop in to the Courier Office and let us know who they are.

When identifications are complete, the Courier will run the picture again with names. The picture was submitted by William Woods of Lake Bluff, Ill., who was a Coast Guardsman serving at the Charlevoix Station when the picture was taken.

LAST WEEKEND we took our first trip "down below" since moving to Charlevoix Aug. 1. The first thing we noticed when we stopped in downtown Muskegon was the auto fumes. I had no idea Charlevoix air was so fresh.

Saturday night with Katie in bed and grandma and grandpa there to listen, Judy and I did one of those crazy things you never do when you have to pay a baby sitter. We took a five-mile walk out along Muskegon Lake to Lake Michigan. It was midnight and the beach was deserted, but the sand was cool and damp and inviting. We took off our shoes and walked most of the way home in our bare feet.

JUSTICE of the Peace John Connolly cast a wary eye skyward all Nov. 10, mindful of what happened 15 years ago on that day and wondering if it would happen again.

"The snow started just about like it did this year," he recalled, "but it didn't stop. By evening there was a couple of inches on the ground and it seemed to be coming down harder."

"The next morning we had four feet of snow and the town practically came to a standstill. A truck had tried to get out of town during the night and had Jack - knifed across South Hill. But it didn't make any difference because nobody was coming or going much that day anyway."

He said all available tourist lodging quickly was filled up during the night as travelers became stranded.

"But what I remember most about that day," he added, "was that I fell down and broke my leg."

Charlevoix, Nov. 11, 1950.

THE FIRST blasting has taken place at Medusa, and those of us who had expected to be bounced out of our swivel chairs are a little disappointed.

The first explosion came at 1:05 p.m. Nov. 11 and nobody in town heard it, so far as we know. Medusa engineer Tom Hanna and geologist Keith Roberts stopped in at the office later and wanted to know if we had heard anything. We hadn't. Hanna said he was tending the seismograph at the hospital, but couldn't hear or feel anything even at that close range.

However, the initial charge of dynamite was only 850 pounds, he said, and a bigger one was going to be detonated in an hour or so. I made it a point to be on hand, camera in tow. The second charge was about one ton, and was set off at 4:40 p.m. I watched it from the rim of the ship excavation. When the detonation came, the earth in the blast area simply lifted up very gently to a height of about eight to ten feet. No dust, no rocks flying over our heads like cannonballs.

The sound from where I stood was something like a bullfrog, but not so loud. If I hadn't been looking at the area and listening for it, I probably wouldn't have heard it. This is surprising, because the blast dislodged an awful mass of rock, with some of the boulders weighing a ton or more.

I got the idea that these men must know what they're doing. They're out at Medusa to break up rock, not to shatter eardrums or provide a pyrotechnic display for people in town. They are working with dynamite, not playing with it.

I suspect dynamite has earned itself a reputation for noisemaking more through mishandling than anything else.

Speaking of dynamite reminds me of a friend from Pennsylvania who lived up his Saturday afternoons blasting stumps for farmers. He had an old dog, Shep, who used to accompany him. The dog was gun-shy, however, and used to wait in the car because the noise bothered him.

One day my friend borrowed a hole under a stump, planted a big stick of dynamite and lit the fuse. He had retreated a safe distance to await the blast when old Shep, in an unusual burst of energy, hopped out of the car and trotted over to the stump. My friend ordered him back but Shep started pawing around in the hole and finally emerged with the stick of dynamite in his mouth. My friend shouted for him to drop it but instead the dog started tope in his direction, tail wagging on one end and fuse sputtering on the other.

There's not much more to tell. My friend took off on foot with Shep in happy pursuit. They hadn't gone ten paces when old Shep made one of the most spectacular entrances on record into the Happy Hunting Ground. My friend escaped with only a bad case of nerves.

For the "wet set" something new in diapers — one model specifically developed to prevent rash caused by excessive wetness. On one side of the diaper, Arnel fibers draw moisture away from baby's skin by a capillary wicking action, pass it through a special no-return guard layer and deposit in the seven layers of cotton gauze which will retain the moisture. Another new diaper is made of a special stretch birdseye fabric for great freedom of movement — no binding, no sagging, no wrinkling. Soft pinked edges will not chafe. BOAT BUILDER Skip Patrie pauses in his reconditioning of the "Buddy L" at Fairport Marina to discuss project with Courier reporter.

New Life Afloat Awaits "Buddy L"

Day by day this summer and fall a dream has been coming true under the skillful hands of Skip Patrie.

Patrie, co-owner of Fairport Marina on Round Lake, has been rebuilding the 35-foot power boat "Buddy L". When the job is finished next year, he hopes the boat will launch a more successful career on the waters around Charlevoix than she has enjoyed in the past.

PATRIE BOUGHT the boat last year from Carl Shultz, who salvaged it from the bottom of Lake Charlevoix near Ironston.

"But that wasn't the only time she was sunk," Patrie says cheerily. "She went down right out here in Round Lake once, and I guess she's been sunk a couple of other times besides."

When Patrie finishes with her, the boat will sleep five and have a fully equipped galley.

PATRIE HAS removed the old superstructure of the vessel and replaced it with new wood. He also has installed a six cylinder Gray-Marine engine.

This winter when the boat is in dry-dock he'll work on the hull, scraping, replanking, caulking and painting.

A native of Nadeau, Mich., an Upper Peninsula village almost due east of Charlevoix in Menominee County, Patrie spent most of his life as a telegrapher for the Northwestern Railway at Sheboygan, Wisc. He moved to Charlevoix in 1956 when he bought an interest in Fairport Marina with Phil Lawrence.

North Central Enrollment Up 33 Percent

Official enrollment for the fall semester at North Central Michigan College in Petoskey is 460, a 33 per cent increase over the fall of 1964.

The figures were released by A. D. Shankland, college dean.

Of the total enrollment, 392 are full time students, compared to 238 enrolled last year.

THIS YEAR'S total includes 221 freshmen and 18 students who have transferred from other colleges and universities.

North Central first opened its doors to students in 1959, with a full time enrollment of 107. The faculty has grown from six to 20 in seven years, and classes are held from 8 a.m. until 10 p.m. to handle the increased enrollment.

Ron Vanderark Passes Exam as Technologist

Ronald VanderArk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard VanderArk of Ellsworth, has passed the National Certification Examinations, conducted by the Board of Registry of Medical Technologists of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists.

A 1961 graduate of Ellsworth Community School, VanderArk was graduated from Calvin College in Grand Rapids in 1964 after completing three years of pre-medical technology courses.

His year-long internship was served at Butterworth Hospital in Grand Rapids. He presently is working in a private clinical laboratory in Grand Rapids, where he and his wife live.

'Pap' Tests for Cancer Offered Area Women

A cervical cancer screening program for women 21 years of age and over in Charlevoix, Emmet, Antrim and Osego counties is announced by Dr. A. F. Litzemberger, Medical Director of the District 3 Health Department.

Dr. Litzemberger said that women who have never had "Pap" test for detection of cervical cancer, should take advantage of the program.

"CERVICAL cancer is one of the most easily cured forms of the disease when discovered early," Dr. Litzemberger said. "But if it is not detected until such signs as pain and bleeding occur, the chances of successful treatment are decreased."

According to the Michigan Department of Health, 333 women died of cervical cancer in 1963.

"These were all needless deaths," Dr. Litzemberger said, "because there is a technique known as the Papanicolaou test which can detect the presence of cancer of the cervix in the early stages before any outward or visible signs are evident."

"If these women had been having regular health check-ups, including 'Pap' tests, most of them would be alive today," he added.

IN A "PAP" test, a specimen of secretions from the cervix is examined under a microscope for the presence of cancerous cells.

During the cervical cancer screening program, the Michigan Department of Health will pay for the laboratory examination, while the women having the test will be expected to pay their doctor for the office call.

During 1962, some 1,450 women were screened for cervical cancer in Emmet and Charlevoix counties. Seventeen women were found to have cervical cancer. All of the women were treated and are alive today, Dr. Litzemberger said.

Women who wish to have the "Pap" test should call their physician for an appointment. Women whose doctors are located outside District 3 should check with the Health Department.

Talk of the Town

Dwight Boss, a student at Spring Arbor College, spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. John E. Boss. Mr. Boss is bunting in the Upper Peninsula.

Frank Novotny, Charles Beilinger and Fred Vogel of East Jordan left Friday for their hunting camp near Raco in the Upper Peninsula. They were joined over the weekend by Jack Abfalter and Don Beilinger of Elk Rapids, who also plan to return to camp this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lusk, son, Allen and daughter, Georgia, have returned from a weekend trip to East Lansing where they attended the Michigan State-Indiana game on Saturday and the Detroit Lions-San Francisco 49ers game in Detroit on Sunday. While in Lansing they also visited Mrs. Lusk's father, Fey Bradley.

Mr. and Mrs. William Seese and son, Albert, plan to leave Sunday for Ann Arbor where Albert will enter the University Hospital for observation. When they return Tuesday they will be accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Margaret Schwartz, of Royal Oak who will spend the Thanksgiving holiday with them.

Cigarette Report

Fight or Switch, Anything But Stop

Cigarette smokers would rather switch than fight. And, despite scientific data on health hazards, smokers apparently would rather fight than quit.

Associate Prof. Ross Wilhelm, business economist at The University of Michigan, cites figures which indicate that smokers have little brand loyalty, and that almost nothing will stop them from smoking.

"DESPITE the fact that last year the U. S. Public Health Service issued a warning that cigarette smoking is a health hazard, the consumption of cigarettes will reach an all-time record high this year," he points out. "Over the broad sweep of the world of cigarette sales, events such as the Public Health report have had only a minor impact on total sales."

After a temporary drop of 8.6 per cent in sales during the first five months after the report, the decline was nearly made up in the balance of the year which finished down only 2.4 per cent, Wilhelm says.

THE OLDER the smoker and the higher his educational level, the greater the probability of his having stopped smoking, he adds.

"BRAND loyalty among cigarette smokers is very low and they switch readily when sufficiently motivated," Wilhelm says. "New charcoal filters already have captured 6.4 per cent of the market. Indeed, all of the growth in cigarettes now about 18 per cent of sales and filters."

Cigar consumption, given almost a clean bill of health by the Public Health Service report, has risen steadily. Cigar sales rose 25 per cent between 1963 and 1964, the year of the health report. Pipe tobacco sales also increased 18 per cent in 1964.

Medusa Profit Picture Bright

(The following is reprinted from the Nov. 17 issue of "Investor's Reader.")

Since 1961 the cement industry's profit path has been a rocky one, strewn with overcapacity-depressed prices. But Cleveland-based Medusa Portland Cement Company has paved itself an unusual record. Its earnings never dropped more than 32¢ a share below the 1958 peak of $2.52 and may even reach a new high this year. This record, with profit gains both last year and this, is unique among US mainland producers.

High yields is common among cement stocks; eight of them were on the list of commons yielding over 4.5% published in the Nov. 3 "Investor's Reader". But most cement yields are high because the stocks are near postwar lows and often despite cutbacks in actual dividend rates in recent years.

AGAIN, Medusa is an exception. Its quarterly payment was upped a nickel to 30¢ in Oct. 1964. The current Big Board price of 24 1/2 is substantially below the alltime high of 37 in 1958 but also comfortably above 1962's low of 17. It makes for a yield of 5% for the 1,695,000 shares.

Medusa earnings in the first nine months of this year advanced to $1.96 a share from $1.62 despite a 1% slip in sales. For the twelve months ended September the Midwest producer earned $2.78 a share but cautious Robert Wallace Fort, who moved from senior vp to president in September, estimates only $2.65 for the calendar year. His reason: "It takes a wise man to tell when the snow will fly and jobs shut down. Last year, we had very good weather in the fourth quarter but the odds are it won't be so sunny this year."

EVEN THE conservative company estimate would mean a new profits high, not to mention a comfortable increase over last year's $4.10,000 or $2.43 a share. The 1964 sales of $41,600,000 were an alltime high but throughout the past eight years volume has remained remarkably stable around $40,000,000 with the maximum deviation $2,000,000 in either direction.

Unusual Medusa has no single success formula: "It's partly of our own making and partly fortuitous." Definitely of Medusa's making is "hammering at costs to get the job done a little cheaper." Bob Fort says "there is no one spectacular example but improving plant and cutting down on manpower" has kept profit margins steady as cement prices tumbled. The self-improvement involved capital expenditures averaging $5,000,000 in each of the past five years.

RIGHT NOW Medusa is starting "our biggest capital project ever," a 4,000,000 barrel - a - year plant at Charlevoix, Mich. To be completed in mid-1967, it will cost "over $20,000,000" to be financed by internally generated funds and bank loans. It will probably curtail operations at the 42-year-old, 1,600,000 - barrel Mantowoc, Wis., plant.

But 53-year-old Bob Fort asserts "in this industry you have to run fast just to stand still" because of high wages. The settlement of September, retroactive to May "is very liberal."

This year Medusa volume was aided by several strikes at competitors (Whitehall Cement and the Michigan cement plant of Wyandotte Chemicals); this partially offset "lower highway work than usual."

ONE STURDY step in Medusa's profits pedestal is white cement which accounts for 12% of sales. Its architectural beauty commands double the price of regular grey portland and with only four companies in production prices are slash-resistant. Altogether, specialty products earn one-third of Medusa profits. Other profitable specialties are brightly colored mortar and "ChemComp," a cement which is used to make crack-resistant concrete.

Medusa is lucky in location. It sells 80% of output in Wisconsin, Illinois, Ohio and Pennsylvania, an area slightly ahead of the nation in construction bustle. Mississippi-born & raised Bob Fort rejoices Medusa is "not directly involved in the brutal price cutting areas - New York City and New England. The recent cuts there can't hold; no one can make money in Manhattan."

In contrast, "out here we've rolled with the punches and the Michigan situation has smoothed out." A price increase was posted in Detroit in January 1965 and though "most companies gave a lot of it away on jobs already promised for the first six months, we think it will hold up now, especially with the Wyandotte strike."

Farm Tax Course Offered by MSU

Are you aware of what major changes in the 1965 federal income tax laws and regulations affect you? Do you know where errors are most likely to occur when you are completing your tax returns?

The answers to these and other tax problems are available at the annual Farm Income Tax and Social Security Short Course at Michigan State University. The course will be held December 1-2 at the Student Union building on the East Lansing campus, according to Ed Rehman, Charlevoix County Extension Agent.

Registration begins at 8 a.m. Wednesday, December 1. Sessions last approximately one and one-half hours, and will be conducted by CPA's, Internal Revenue specialists, and banking officers. The course is sponsored by the Department of Agricultural Economics and the Continuing Education Service at MSU in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service and the Social Security Administration. Registration fee for the two-day course is $12.50.

Social Security Benefits OK'd for Widows 60

Many Charlevoix widows will be directly affected by one of the changes made in the Social Security law this year. The new provisions allows a widow, if she wishes, to start getting monthly benefits beginning when she is age 60. Up to now, a widow had to be 62 before she could start getting monthly payments, unless she had in her care a child of her deceased husband eligible for child's insurance benefits.

IF A WOMAN decides to start her benefits at age 60, she will receive a small monthly benefit than if she waited until she was 62, because she will be getting monthly payments over a longer period.

Once a widow receives a reduced benefit payment, she will always get a reduced payment. This will be true even if she later becomes eligible to receive payment based on her own earnings.

Anyone with questions Social Security, should write or phone the Traverse City district office, 1111 E. Front Street. The telephone number is Windsor 6-8360.

What Does a Diploma Mean?

THE JOHNSON Administration is again showing signs of alarm over one of the nation's most distressing problems -- the school dropout -- or the "early leaver" as he is euphemistically called in the Charlevoix school system.

The Youth Opportunity campaign even has gone so far as to compile a hefty packet of materials for the press, complete with a "fact sheet" and suggested editorials.

APPARENTLY, American schools are now entering a crucial period so far as school dropouts are concerned. This school year is well enough along so that academic pressures are beginning to be felt. Work can be allowed to slip just so long before there is a time of reckoning. And the first marking period grades are already on the cards.

The holiday season is also approaching and many students feel the need for more money. Quitting school and getting a job promise all kinds of bright tomorrows.

THE RATHER grim facts of the matter are these:

--A high school graduate earns over three-fourths more than a person who did not finish eight years of school.

--A college graduate earns nearly two-thirds more than a high school graduate.

--The unemployment rate for school dropouts, age 16 to 21, is 16.6 percent, almost four times the national average.

--The unemployment rate for everyone 18 years and over who do not finish high school is 6.6 percent, compared to 3.4 percent for high school graduates.

In October, 1964, the nation had 5,100,000 school dropouts age 16 to 24. During this school year, more than 750,000 boys and girls will drop out of school without having attained a high school diploma -- unless something effective is done about it.

If the number of students dropping out of school continues at the present rate, the nation will have 32 million adult, non-high school graduates by 1975.

SO MANY FACTORS enter into the school dropout problem that it is doubtful any amount of cool reasoning on the editorial page of the local newspaper will do much good. Potential dropouts generally are not given to reading editorial pages. Besides, the problem as we see it lies much deeper than just talking a kid out of quitting school.

School, like anything else worthwhile, requires work -- long, hard hours of work; the kind of dull, plugging work that is no longer "in" with Americans. No Latin conjugation will ever be as interesting as a single episode of "I Spy."

Onion Stew a Tasty Dish

CONGRATULATIONS are in order for Director Gordon Robinson and all persons connected with production of the Senior Class play, "Onions in the Stew," by Betty McDonald.

To take two dozen young people untrained in the dramatic arts and turn them into a convincing cast of characters is no mean trick. To do it well in a community which supports no other kind of living theater is nothing short of miraculous.

THE PLAY moved right along, with few of the awkward pauses which often mark amateur productions. The actors picked up their cues promptly and stage projection for the most part was excellent.

The one set -- the McDonald's living room -- was well constructed and tastefully decorated, while rapid scene changes indicated a well-coordinated stage crew.

IF THERE were one shortcoming in "Onions in the Stew," it lay not with the cast but with the audience. Apparently

LexaLites Welcome Wagon

LEXALITE'S sparkling new plant on U.S. 31 already is such a landmark it's hard to realize Sunday's open house was merely to say, "Howdy, Charlevoix," and not to mark some kind of anniversary or other.

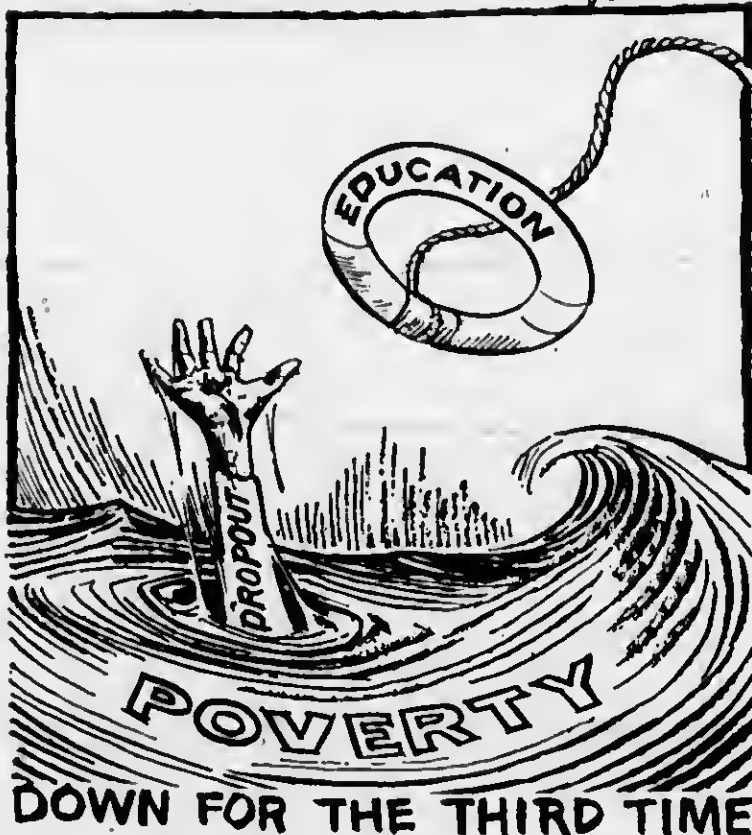

The LexaLite people have become familiar faces around town and for many Charlevoixians the trip through the plant was like old home week, with cousins and kinfolk around every turn.

Is it fair to ask a kid to spend six hours a day in school and another three to four hours a night at homework when the breadwinner in the family can get his work done in eight hours a day -- often considerably less -- and has his evenings free?

PARENTS PLAY a deciding role in whether a boy or girl continues in school. If parents obviously aren't too keen on education themselves, chances are their offspring will be indifferent also.

"Creative teaching" has been suggested as one means of counteracting the dropout problem -- making every class so darn interesting that students wouldn't want to miss a single day, much less drop out. Sounds fine in theory, but not every teacher is a Danny Kaye or a Johnnie Carson. Yet these are the people teachers must compete with if they expect to have their homework assignments completed.

Of course, schools could lower their standards so that no assignment was beyond the grasp of the dullest student. Then no one would drop out because of poor grades, but a flock would leave out of sheer boredom. Graduation from such a school would be a mockery.

BY THEMSELVES, high school diplomas are meaningless. In some Detroit high schools, diplomas are granted to students who would be hopelessly outclassed scholastically by freshmen in other Detroit high schools.

But what a diploma stands for is the same regardless of the school attended: the bearer has the fortitude to tackle a four-year job and see it through. This is about all a diploma tells a prospective employer, but for that reason alone it's worth having.

a good segment of the "Friday-night-at-the movies" crowd showed up, more intent on whispering and giggling than paying attention to what was going on up front. The loss, of course, was all theirs; but it took the edge off a highly entertaining performance for the rest of the audience.

The art of acting was old when Shakespeare was a boy. In fact, some of the earliest Greek records extant are play-scripts. Closer to home, live theater has been part and parcel of American life since the days of the Puritans. They didn't necessarily approve of "play-acting", but they felt it was effective way to draw attention to the sins of mankind.

THEN CAME the 20th Century with the motion picture, radio and finally television. Acting was turned over to professionals while the rest of us sat back and waited to be entertained.

Today the closest any of us can expect to come to live theater in Charlevoix is the Senior play. We can be grateful it is done so well.

THE OPEN HOUSE itself was instructional, entertaining and delicious.

We picked up such scraps of information as the fact that water used to cool plastic molds is used again to heat the plant. And that street lamps have a very high mortality rate in lovers' lanes. Cider, doughnuts and hors d'oeuvres awaited at the end of the route.

We can't think of a nicer way for an industry to get together with its new home town.

odds ends

After watching television Tuesday night and seeing the results of the blackout in the East, there was one question on everyone's mind "Could it happen here?" ... Bright and early Wednesday morning I was on the phone to the source of our power supply, Consumers Power Co., with that question. ... Before long I had an old friend, Walt Martens of Traverse City, on the line and he gave me some reassuring information which I will try to relay to you. ... As was expected he would and could not say "No, this cannot happen here". ... As he said, the companies involved don't know exactly what happened to throw a good part of the northeast in darkness so how can anyone say it won't happen elsewhere. ... But, said he, chances are that it won't happen here. ... and he went on to explain why. ... That Consumers is part of a power pool with Detroit Edison and a number of lesser plants. ... This pool has what he called a spinning reserve that's from 15 to 18 per cent above their peak needs. ... Thus it is unlikely that our power supply would be thrown into such a position. ...

I DIDN'T realize that power companies project anticipated needs well into the future. ... not just a year or two, ... and therefore are always, one might say, ahead of the game at all times. ...

He went on to say that the company's expansion program announced recently, the installation of gas turbines at Gaylord to take care of this growing need, is another reason why this would not be likely to happen within the Michigan pool. ... These turbines, by the way, would be on the line and operating on a full load within two minutes should there be a voltage lag. ... He cited an incident that happened a few years ago when a tornado threw a plant in southwestern Michigan out of operation. ... Within minutes, power was on because the company has this reserve. ...

THE CONVERSATION then turned to sabotage which always is mentioned at times like this and he said that chances are such a thing would require sabotaging a number of plants at a given time. ... and, again, this seems unlikely. ...

I can hear some of you saying "Yeah, you were getting a good pitch from a guy in the business". ... but he offered many things to substantiate his reasoning. ... and I'm sure he'd explain it all to you if you call him. ...

Living on the north side where power failures always seemed to happen, I know what it's like to be without power for several hours but the inconveniences couldn't compare to those in New York. ... But after talking with the power-that-be, I feel certain that we won't have to be too concerned about such a thing happening here. ...

Now wires being taken down by a sleet storm. ... or wind. ... or a tornado. ... that's something else again. ...

But as Walt Martens said "We have an obligation to the economy, and therefore the people of the state. We wouldn't be in business long if we didn't meet that obligation". ... So right then and there I quit worrying about the whole situation. ... Any way, I have a gas stove so I could still keep warm and eat, even if the current was off for a while. ...

AND, AS I WRITE this, that white stuff is beginning to come down and cover the grass. ... Maybe the hunters will have their wish yet. ... Not being a hunter, I wasn't aware of the fact that the season wouldn't open here 'til this weekend. ... a good idea don't you think? ... Then every one has an equal chance at filling his license. ... and school officials won't be bothered with the problem of whether or not a youngster should be excused to go hunting. ... Now no one will have that headache. ...

MAY I SAY "Thank you" in print to our football team for a lot of good football this fall? ... Don't know when I've seen so much consistency good football played at Kipke field. ... And though things did not turn out as I might have wanted for this grand bunch of youngsters, they still gave a lot of themselves and will be long remembered for their efforts. ...

And now to the round ball ... which will open Dec. 3 for the Raiders with our one home game, Dec. 10, before the holidays. ... But just wait 'til '66. ... Then you'll get your fill of home games. ...

May I take this opportunity to wish you and yours a happy, happy Thanksgiving.

Camera Bids Farewell to Bells Bay for Winter

LIKE THE FABLED Ball Hal, Fishermans Island shimmers offshore in the late afternoon sunlight.

One of the prettiest sections of road around Charlevoix --- the twisting gravel route around Bells Bay --- will soon be hip-deep in snow and closed to all but snow-shoe traffic until spring.

The Courier camera went to Bells Bay one sunny afternoon recently to catch views before winter claims his four-month lease.

As might be suspected, the Bay was not deserted, despite a nip in the autumn air. Two hunters' cars were parked along the road, and further down some tourists had stopped to look for Petoskey stones.

At the turnaround near Fishermans Island a couple of young Nature lovers had parked, but they didn't appear to be admiring the scenery.

Whether you're armed with a camera, a rifle, or a pair of keen eyes for Petoskey stones or pretty girls, Bells Bay is a fine place to spend a bracing autumn afternoon.

THE ONE LONE cabin along the Bells Bay shore is sealed tight against winter winds.

A TROUT STREAM finds its way to the lake over a bed of stones.

WRECKAGE of sunken lake boat looks like skeletal remains of prehistoric animal.

Know Your Newspaper Better

Dear Editor:

Now This Is What I Think!

Did you ever write a letter to the editor? It's fun to see yourself in print. But actually, you're not writing to only the editor. If he prints your letter--and he probably will--you are really writing to all the thousands of readers of this newspaper. That's a substantial body of readers, but don't let that scare you. ... write as if you were talking to just one of them.

What Do You Write About?

Perhaps you are really mad at the editor and want to tell him off on some opinion he has voiced. Perhaps you can't contain yourself any longer on some important local issue. Perhaps you just like to sound off now and then on topics of current interest. Whatever you choose, the "letters to the editor" column is your opportunity to speak your opinions.

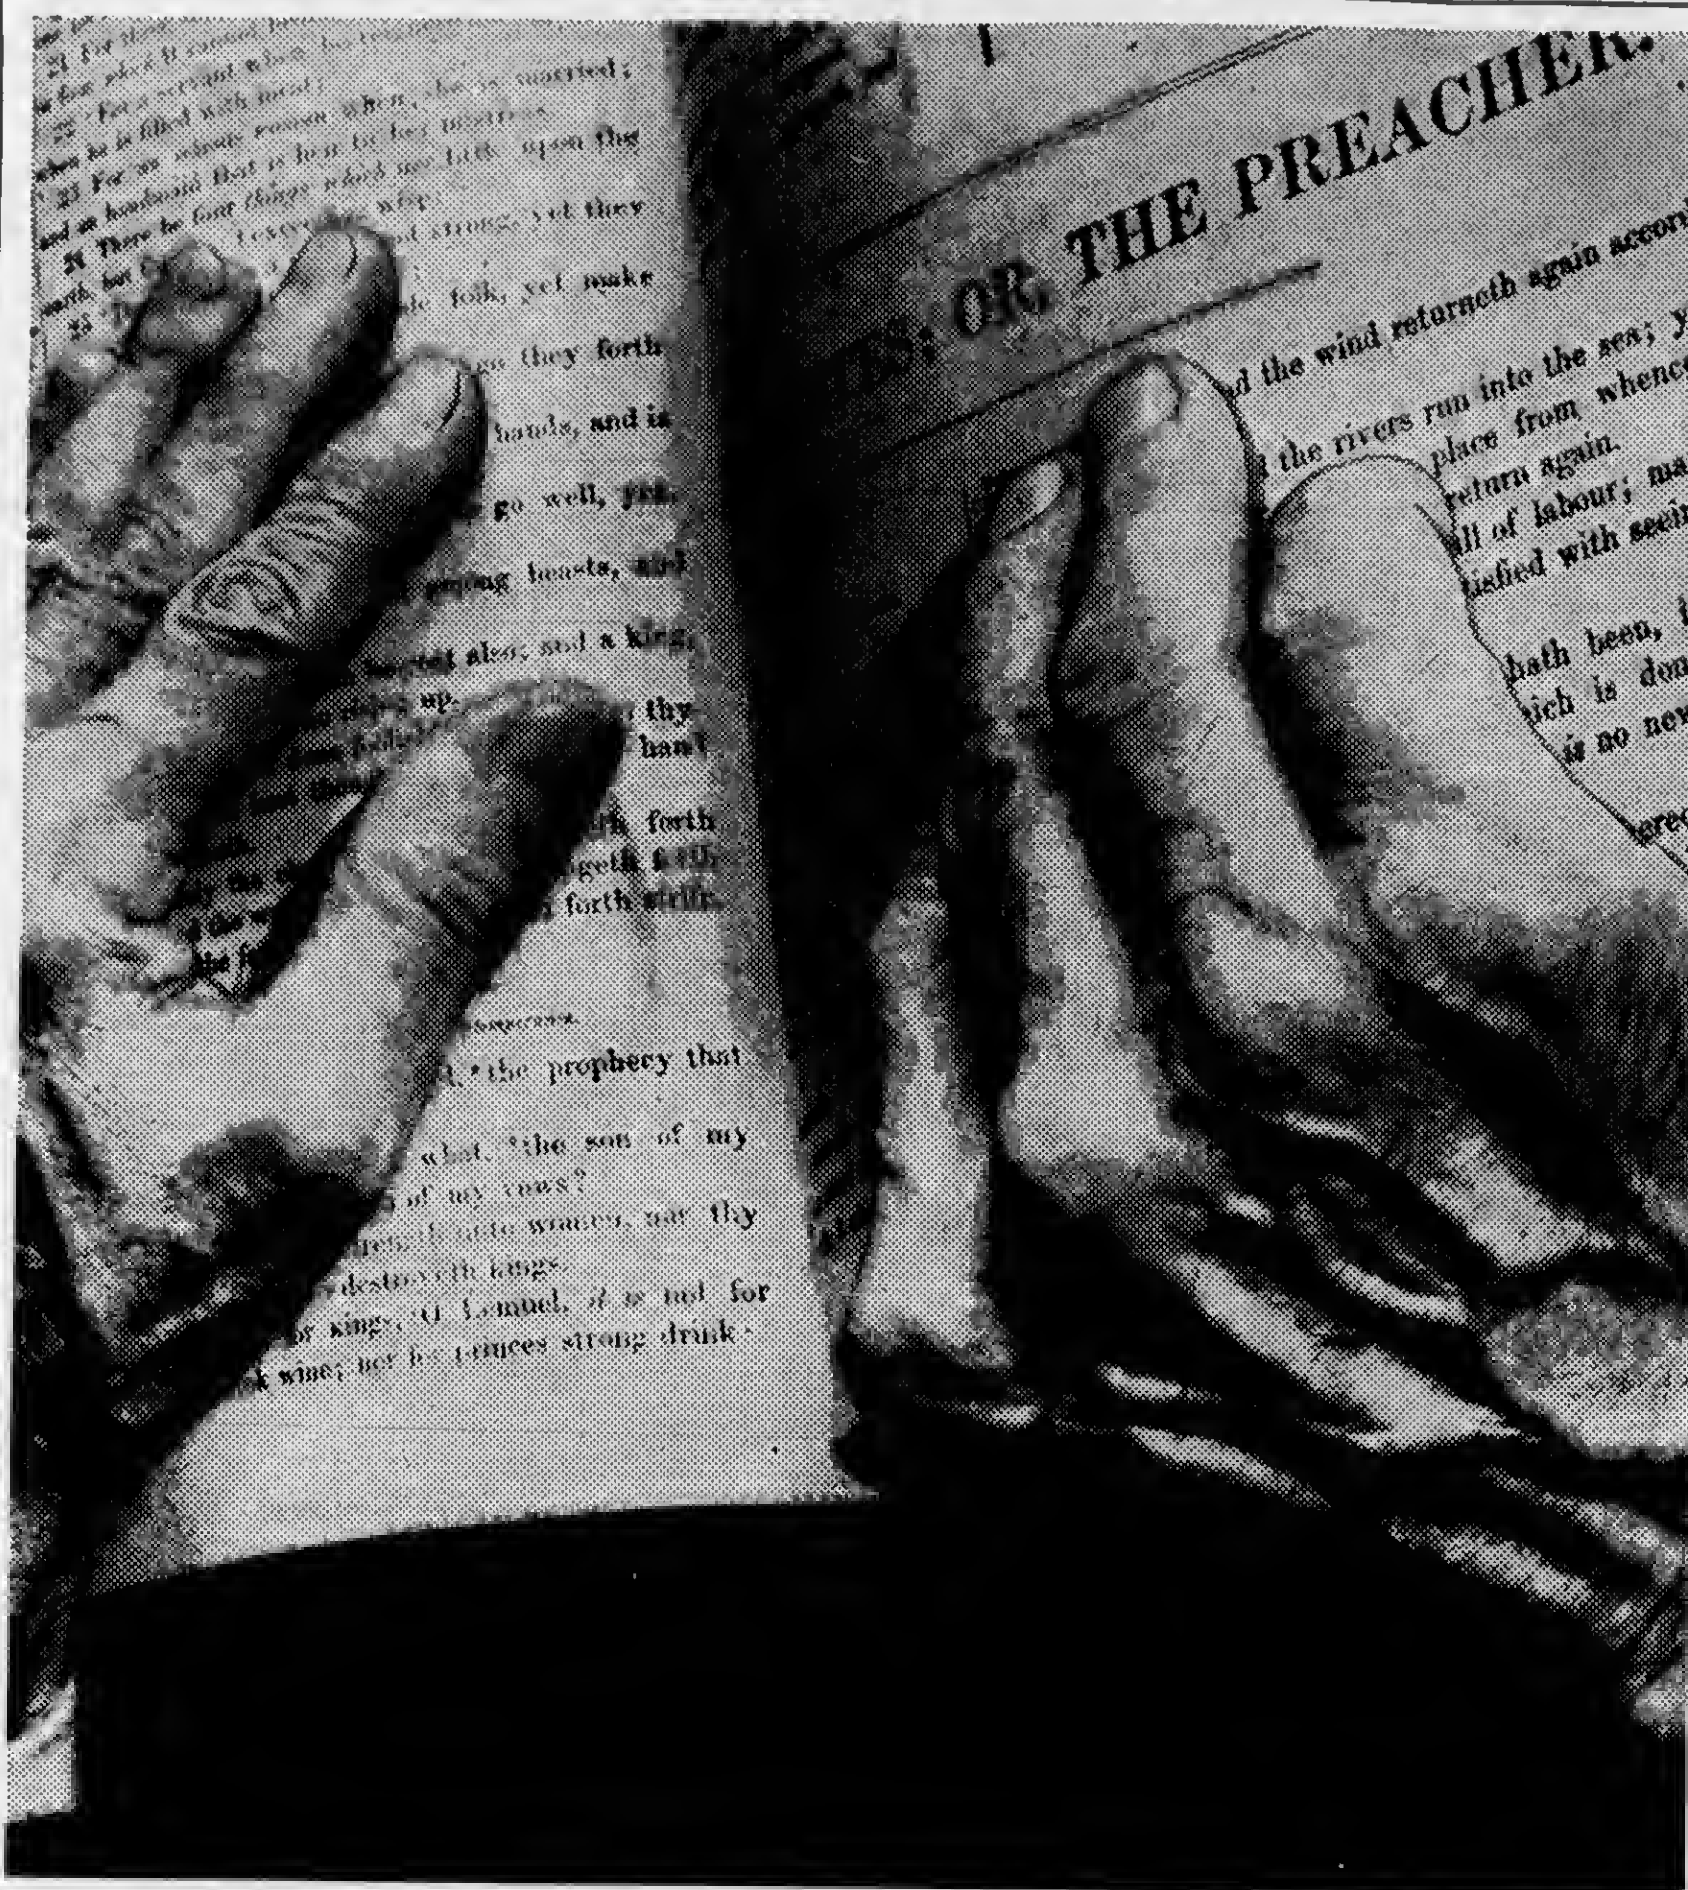

We Welcome Good Letters

In writing them, please follow the rules printed at the top of the letters column. These rules ask that you keep your letters reasonable in length, reasonable in tone. ... free of defamatory matter. Remember, the editor must "boil down" your letter if too long, and will take out statements that are libelous. ... even though the letter has your name printed underneath.

Plenty of Topics

It's really fun to write to the editor. HANDS OF DESTINY

The shriveled, wrinkled hands upon the Bible are the hands of an aged ecclesiastic — a preacher of the Holy Word.

For more than half a century they have turned the pages of The Greatest Of All Books to find the text for a sermon, or for a psalm to comfort the sick and the dying . . . These hands have been raised in blessing and benediction at countless marriages . . . They have sprinkled the baptismal water on the heads of many infants, and have thumbed the pages of the Holy Writ at the grave-side.

They are, indeed, Hands of Destiny. Once they were smooth, strong and firm. Now they tremble a bit as they turn the pages of The Book.

Perhaps you know of such a pair of hands — the hands of an aged man of God, who has devoted his entire life in an unselfish attempt to bring comfort, happiness and salvation to you and everyone.

Whether your pastor is young or old, go to Church regularly, for the hands you see resting upon the Bible there, whether shriveled or firm, are the hands of a man of God, who offers you the formula for a better and happier life.

Thanksgiving Message

They Had All Things in Good Plenty

BY REV. LAWRENCE E. TENHOPEN, PASTOR

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
Let us recall the faith of America's first Thanksgiving. For nearly a full year, a small, tired, sick company of religious refugees had grappled with the climate and the soil of a new world. They had suffered hunger, disease, and loneliness. Many of their number had died. They saw the Mayflower sail back to England and felt that their last tie with home had been cut forever. After the sparse crops of the first season had been safely gathered in, Governor William Bradford wrote these quaint but eloquent words in his journal concerning the critical summer and autumn of 1621. Note the different spelling and word structure of that time.

"They began now to gather in the small harvest they had, and to fite up their houses and dwellings against winter, being all well recovered in health and strength, and had all things in good plenty. While some were employed in tilling the soil, others were exercised in fishing, aboute codd, and bass, and other fish, of which they tooke good store, of which every family had their portion. All the sommer ther was no wante. And now begane to come in store of foule, as winter approached, of which this place did abound when they first came (but afterward decreased by degrees). And besides water foule, there was great store of wild turkies, of which they tooke many, besides venison, etc. Besides they had about a peck of meale a weeke to a person, or now since harvest, Indian corne to that proportion. Which made many afterwards write so largely of their plenty to their friends in England, which were not fained but true reports."

Out of this report, let us emphasize the words, "They had all things in good plenty." What they had doesn't sound like much to us, does it? How could the feast of Thanksgiving grow out of such meager supply? But it was plenty for these people, for several reasons.

FIRST, Thanksgiving was established to carry on a tradition. In the Old Testament, we read of the feast of the Booths, reminding the people of Israel of the days that they lived in temporary houses in the wilderness. But God protected them and guided them to safe refuge. Now a new tradition was started in America. The people were called together by the Governor to thank God for His providence and His eternal goodness. God had guided them across the stormy sea and brought them to a new homeland. Let us be reminded of these hardy people and of their faith in God. Let us keep the day, Thanksgiving, with prayers of thanks to almighty God for his continued goodness to us. This is a day when religion and patriotism meet at their highest level. We are reminded that we are a Pilgrim people. The President of the United States takes occasion to issue a proclamation summoning citizens of every community to assemble in worship and give thanks to the Creator for those eternal truths that lie at the very foundation of our nation. So, let us keep our Thanksgiving holiday as a Holy Day.

SECOND, "They had all things in good plenty" surely does refer to food. The food that the Pilgrims had would be plenty, if shared one with another. They had worked together to till the ground, to fish the streams, lakes, and ocean, and to hunt for game. They shared other material things: guns for mutual protection, tools for building. Even their skills were exchanged to help each other. They shared food with the Indians, so that potential enemies became friends - and by this act the little colony was saved from extinction. So also do we share our food; families come together; friends are invited for dinner.

THIRD, "They had all things in good plenty" means that these Pilgrims had faith in their venture. They had come to this new land, determined to make it their new home even for generations to come. They had high hopes for the future. When the ship went back to England, not a single person accepted the invitation of the captain for the return trip. In spite of the hardships of the first winter, they dared to hope that a colony could be established in this place. So they set up simple laws, like those we find in the famous Mayflower Compact, to make this a group home, a community, a nation.

FIRST BUCK reported killed in the Charlevoix area was this 8-pointer downed by Bob Sharrow on the west shore of Susan Lake at 7:20 a.m. opening day. The deer weighed in at 127 on Irv Drost's scales. Two other animals were taken in the same area opening day.

23 Hunters List Deer Kills at Irv's

Twenty-three hunters had checked in with kills on Irv Drost's "Deer Slaying Log" as of noon Monday. The earliest kill was reported by Bob Sharrow of Bridge Street who downed a 127-lb. eight-point buck near Susan Lake at 7:20 a.m. on opening day.

Sometimes It Takes 2 Ads to Do the Job

Sometimes it takes two Courier classified ads to do the job. Mrs. James McElanathan who lives on U.S. 31 south of town had no calls the first week she advertised a nine-piece dining room set for sale.

The second week the ad ran, she sold it without any trouble. THE NEXT time you have something to buy, sell or trade, try a Courier people-reacher ad. And if one doesn't work, try another. You're bound to be pleased with the results.

The first venison from Beaver Island arrived on the 11:15 boat Monday. The deer ranged in size from a 27-lb. fawn shot by Dave Stowe of Petoskey to a 180-lb., 8-point buck felled by Clayton Jefferson of Belding.

SUCCESSFUL first-day hunters according to Drost's Log were Dave Juller, Ivan Whitley, Gary Koble, Ken Balch Jr., Chuck Pease, Betty Pearsall, Brian Neff and Ken Whitley.

Neff's was the largest of the opening day deer. It was an eight-point buck, weighing 163½ lbs. He shot it in Norwood Township.

SUCCESSFUL hunters Nov. 21 were Walter Wojan, DeLores Pease, Irv Drost, Dave Shively, Ron Fratrack, Ray Wood, Dick Mays, Jim Hood, Pay Pettit, Dick Farmer, Tom Louiselle and Everat Pease. The largest buck shot was Wojan's, which weighed 159 lbs. and has a nine-point rack. It was shot near Susan Lake.

Monday, Don Wells shot a 110-lb., eight-point buck near Norwood and Dan Robinson shot a 128-lb., seven-point buck in Hayes Township.

Snow Removal Checks on Way to 53 Counties

Charlevoix County's annual snow removal payment of $13,621 has been mailed to the County Road Commission, according to the State Highway Department.

Charlevoix is one of 53 Michigan counties to qualify for payment by recording snow accumulations of 70 inches or more last winter. Charlevoix county had 113 inches of snow. Payments will total $671,522.81 compared to $635,864.54 paid a year ago.

Michigan's average snowfall during the winter of 1964-65 was 36.27 inches, an increase of 29 inches over the previous winter, and every county except Berrien reported an increase in the average accumulation.

Payments are made from the Motor Vehicle Highway Fund according to a formula established by the State Legislature.

Way Appears Clear for New Library Site

There appear to be no major difficulties in the way of eventual approval by the Charlevoix School Board of Clinton Street as the site of Charlevoix's new library.

Three groups working on the project were to meet at the High School last night to discuss the new site. They are the Charlevoix Board of Education, the Library Advisory Board, and the Kiwanis Club, which is donating $10,000 to the library, providing meeting rooms for youth activities are included.

APPROVAL of the new location by all three appeared a certainty.

The Clinton Street location was donated to the School Board last week by Dr. Gilbert Saltonstall as a future library site. Until the offer was made, the Board had all but settled on another piece of property fronting Pine River Channel.

Clarence Walters, outgoing consultant for the Michigan State Library which must approve all library projects receiving federal funds, visited Charlevoix Nov. 19 to look at the proposed site. He said he liked the new location because it is close to the downtown section of the city. Furthermore, the lot itself will offer a better positioning of the building for public convenience.

Walters said undoubtedly some alterations would have to be made, since the Clinton Street lot is flat, whereas the Channel property is sloping.

was to appear at last night's meeting with revised drawings.

He particularly liked the idea that Dr. Saltonstall's property is close to the two banks in town.

"We've found that many people like to stop at the library and bank in one trip downtown," he said.

The property offered by Dr. Saltonstall is located on the north side of the street between Novotny's Plumbing Shop and the Methodist Church parsonage. A two-family apartment house now on the lot would have to be torn down.

Dave Wickersham New Co-Op Chief

Dave Wickersham is the new manager of the Charlevoix Co-Op Co. on Stover Road. He succeeded Wayne Miller who has moved to the Thumb area with the credit and loan division of Farm Bureau.

Wickersham comes to Charlevoix from Vicksburg, Mich. He was previously manager of the privately owned Central Bean and Grain Co. for seven years.

Wickersham and his wife, Barbara, have four children: Linda, 10; Ricky, 6; Randy, 4; and Michael, 2. They presently are living in Wojan apartments.

One and one-half inches of snow and 7/8 of an inch of rain were recorded in Charlevoix during the week. High temperature was 42 on Nov. 22, with a low of 24 Nov. 17.

Baptist Church Will Be Host on Thanksgiving

The annual Union Thanksgiving Service will be held at the First Baptist Church at 10 a.m. Thursday under the sponsorship of the Charlevoix Ministerial Association, the Rev. Jack Harris, president of the association, has announced.

The Rev. Leona Winegarden of the First Methodist Church will deliver the Thanksgiving message at the service in which six local churches will participate.

Special music will be presented by the host church. Mayor E. D. Hawley will be present to read the President's Thanksgiving Proclamation.

Pupils Tell Why They're Thankful

What are you thankful for this Thanksgiving? The answers to that question can be as numerous as the number of people questioned.

Yet when the Courier posed that inquiry to six students at Charlevoix Elementary School, there was a surprising unanimity in their answers. Generally the students are thankful for good homes, loving families, and well stocked larders. But some of the other things they're thankful for might surprise you.

FIRST GRADER Thomas Fowler, 6, says he's thankful that he likes school and that his school is good. He says he's also mighty appreciative of turkey, clothing, his mother and father and their house at 409 E. Dixon. He also is thankful he lives in Charlevoix. Tom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Fowler.

MIKE ARONOVSKY, 7, is a second grader. He's thankful most of all for food --- mainly turkey. He's also thankful for warm clothing and that his family has moved into a new house on Park Avenue. Mike is the son of Maj. and Mrs. Alvin Aronovsky.

THIRD GRADER Kim Carter, 8, is thankful that "God gives us all the things we need." She also is thankful for good food, her mother and father and her brothers and sister. Kim is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Carter, 214 Park Ave.

TIM MOERLAND, 9, is thankful this year for a promised trip to Grand Rapids to visit with his cousin Jim Whitney. A fourth grader, Tim is also thankful he has a comfortable bed to sleep in, a nice family, and a mother who's a good cook. He also is grateful there are mystery and history books to read. Tim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Moerland, 512 Belvedere.

TEN-YEAR-OLD Terese Phelps has something extra special to be thankful for this Thanksgiving. Shortly after the Courier interview, Terese and her mother were to take a plane from Traverse City to Detroit, where they planned to board a jet for Miami. They are spending Thanksgiving week in Hollywood, Fla., with Terese's grandmother.

Terese has plenty more to be thankful for, besides, including "my parents, my relatives, and our cat, Charlie, who has had 23 kittens so far." Terese is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hudson Phelps, 110 Park Ave.

SIXTH GRADER Lauren Heeres, 11, also has a lot to be thankful for. First there's her family, and her pet dog, Blackie, and the fact she's going over to Aunt Wims at Elkworth for Thanksgiving dinner. She also is glad she has a nice home to sleep in and a chance to get an education. Lauren is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Heeres, 303 Sheridan St.

NCC Asks State for Building Funds

North Central Michigan college has applied for $288,865 in state matching funds as the first step in a long-range building program announced last week.

Dean A. D. Shankland said additional applications will soon be made to the Community Facilities Administration and to the Federal government under the Higher Education Act of 1963.

If state matching funds are approved, $106,802 will be earmarked for completion of a science building now under construction and $173,513 for a new general classroom building.

An additional $8,550 will be set aside to begin work before July, 1966, on a proposed dormitory-student center.

Dean Shankland said more funds will be applied for next year for completion of the classroom building and the student center.

The expansion plans are aimed at accommodating 1,150 students by 1975. Total construction costs between now and 1971 are estimated at $3,300,000, which includes a $1 million library.

Dean Shankland said that projects will not be started unless 50 percent or more in matching funds are assured. He said the Board of Trustees should know by mid-December what action the State Board of Education plans to take on the matching fund applications.

Architects for the work are Daveman Associates, Inc., of Petoskey and Grand Rapids.

By Mrs. Ross Alexander

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Meyers were dinner guests Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Hutchinson in Charlevoix.

Mrs. Jean Williams entertained a group of friends Wednesday evening with an "Art Tex" Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barber from Central Lake were guests Thursday at the home of the latter's sister, Mrs. Gertrude Colwell.

Gary Kanoff, got his deer all by himself, early Saturday morning.

The hunters were all delighted with the light snowfall and mild weather this weekend. Sam Alexander returned from the Upper Peninsula Friday and reported eleven inches of snow up there.

Jack Stockwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Stockwell is in the Army and stationed in Korea.

Our community extends Happy Thanksgiving Greetings to all its friends and neighbors. Do you know what happened to the sturdy ship, the Mayflower that brought our Pilgrim fathers to New England? Well, in 1624, Jorjans Farm, 20 miles northwest of London needed a barn. His friends owned a shipyard and were breaking up a ship called the Mayflower and selling it at auction.

Mrs. Jordon bought the hull and built his barn roof with its timbers and the timbers are little changed, one of the center beams shows a crack where the Pilgrims repaired it during their voyage. The doors on the barn formerly were cabin doors on the Mayflower and still bear a flower design.

This barn still stands and attracts many tourists to the peaceful little village.

A portion of the ship's timbers were taken to Blaine, Wash., where they were included in a United States - Canadian border monument, commemorating a century of PEACE between our countries.

Olesky Sees Vietnam Action

Electrician's Mate Third Class Thomas M. Olesky, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Olesky of 419 Antrim St., Charlevoix, saw action in Vietnam in September.

A news release from the Navy says that Olesky was a crew member aboard the assault ship USS Two Jima and participated in the first U. S. Navy-Marine amphibious raid in Vietnam.

The action came when a Seventh Fleet Amphibious Task Group landed a reinforced Marine Corps battalion on Vung Mu Peninsula at dawn Sept. 25. The peninsula is an eight-mile strip of land 15 miles south of Qui Nhon.

HANDS OF DESTINY

The shriveled, wrinkled hands upon the Bible are the hands of an aged ecclesiastic — a preacher of the Holy Word.

For more than half a century they have turned the pages of The Greatest Of All Books to find the text for a sermon, or for a psalm to comfort the sick and the dying ... These hands have been raised in blessing and benediction at countless marriages ... They have sprinkled the baptismal water on the heads of many infants, and have thumbed the pages of the Holy Writ at the grave-side.

They are, indeed, Hands of Destiny. Once they were smooth, strong and firm. Now they tremble a bit as they turn the pages of The Book.

Perhaps you know of such a pair of hands — the hands of an aged man of God, who has devoted his entire life in an unselfish attempt to bring comfort, happiness and salvation to you and everyone.

Whether your pastor is young or old, go to Church regularly, for the hands you see resting upon the Bible there, whether shriveled or firm, are the hands of a man of God, who offers you the formula for a better and happier life.

With Bob Clock

Louella was one of the most unusual little girls it was ever my pleasure --- and my agony --- to have in the Sixth Grade. The trouble with writing about her is that I don't know how much I can say without offending delicate sensibilities or conventional ideas of Christian morality.

At 12, Louella was a slender, well-tanned little creature with spindly legs, ornate features and a bank of straight brown hair that hung loosely about her shoulders in the careless manner that is high fashion among hipsters today. All in all there was nothing on the surface to set Louella apart from other little sixth grade girls. She skinned her knees about once a week, she adored bubble gum and she hated boys.

YET DAY AFTER day in Current Events class Louella made contributions which indicated the hom of her innocence to expose sordid vistas of sin and raging passion that few of her competers in the Sixth Grade even dreamed existed.

Current Events, which we had first thing in the morning, was, indeed, Louella's strong suit academically. Her knowledge of arithmetic was sketchy; reading bored her; penmanship and social studies left her cold. But when it came to Current Events, Louella was in her element.

Unfortunately, Louella's enthusiasm for Current Events was not equalled by her ability to determine what was suitable fare for class discussion. I had suggested the students listen to TV newscasts and read the daily newspapers for items of interest. Louella apparently did all of her news gathering over the back fence.

The first indication I had that I was in for trouble came one morning early in the school year when Louella's hand shot up during Current Events and started fluttering like an aspen leaf.

"Yes, Louella,"

"Well," she said, standing up and smoothing her dress, "the girl next door finally had her baby."

"That's fine, Louella," I said grandly. "A spanking new citizen for Michigan."

"You may think it's all right," Louella snapped, her dark eyes flashing, "but her Ma don't. In the first place, she's not married and in the second place they don't even know the father."

"Sit down, Louella."

"... Father is. Let's see, she has been going with Ted Smith, and Joe Brown, and Billie Over..."

"SIT DOWN, LOUELLA."

ANOTHER TIME the class was bubbling excitedly over a breathtaking escape attempt the day before from Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson. To my horror I saw Louella was itching to get into the conversation.

"Yes, Louella,"

Louella stood up, almost shyly, and looked down at her hands. The class, which was learning to respect Louella's vast store of unusual information, turned their heads in her direction.

"I have an uncle in Jackson Prison," she said, almost under her breath, but with a trace of pride in her voice. The class breathed a collective sigh of respect and admiration.

"I'm sorry to hear it, Louella," I said stiffly.

"Well, actually he ain't my uncle," she answered, warming up to her subject. "It's just that he's been living with my aunt."

"Sit down, Louella."

"That's why he's in prison. They had a big fight and he tried to kill her an..."

"SIT DOWN, LOUELLA."

I NEVER got to meet this aunt personally, but her exploits were enough to curdle the blood, particularly at 8:30 in the morning.

One day Louella burst into class a few minutes late, wide-eyed and flushed with excitement. Current Events was in progress and her hand was up all the way from the door to her desk. I had no choice but to call on her.

"It's my aunt again," she said breathlessly. "They found her this morning with her head in the oven and the gas turn..."

"Sit down, Louella."

"... turned on. My mother says she was trying to kill herself because she misses her boyfriend in jail and..."

"SIT DOWN, LOUELLA."

Gayle Prignitz, Capt. Besemer to Wed in June

Mrs. Otto Prignitz Jr., of Mount Clemens announces the engagement of her daughter, Gayle Diana, to Capt. Ellsworth A. Besemer, son of Mrs. Ellsworth I. Besemer, formerly of Charlevoix. Both fathers are deceased.

He received his bachelor's degree from Michigan State University and presently is stationed with the Quartermaster Corps at Ft. Lee, Va.

A June wedding is planned.

Barbara Messmore, student at Michigan State University, will join her parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. O. Messmore for the holiday weekend.

Peter Ance will arrive Wednesday from East Lansing to spend the Thanksgiving weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman D. Ance. He is a student at Michigan State.

John Bleha will come from Ann Arbor where he attends the University of Michigan to spend the long weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bleha. He will come with Gerald Kelsner who will join his parents, the Willis G. Kelsners, for the holiday weekend.

about. The victim was a young housewife who was hospitalized with a deep-seated bullet wound. Unfortunately all of the principals lived in Louella's neighborhood, and I had the devil's own time for a week keeping her from telling the sordid details to the class, although I'm sure she filled them in during recess.

One morning about a week later I noticed that Louella was particularly agitated. Out of curiosity more than anything else I called on her. Louella sighed happily and rose to her feet.

"Well, the doctors have finally found the bullet," she began and all eyes in the room were riveted on her. "It was lodged in the female or..."

FIFTEEN-TON roofing section bound for Medusa shifted forward on the truck bed Friday when the driver stopped short. Traffic on Bridge Street was slowed down several hours until the concrete slab was re-positioned on the truck.

Load Shifts, Truck Ties Up Bridge St.

Traffic on Bridge Street was slowed up several hours Friday when a truck hauling a 15-ton roofing slab to the Medusa Cement Co. site stopped short on Bridge Street to avoid hitting a car and the load shifted forward.

Two exhaust flues on the rear of the cab were crushed, but otherwise damage appeared slight.

Local and State Police routed traffic around the crippled truck, which stopped at the Clinton Street intersection, until the massive load could be repositioned.

Riding Thumb Risky

College students and others who try to "travel by thumb" on Michigan freeways and limited access highways are reminded by the State Police that hitchhiking on these high speed roads is prohibited by law.

"Thumbing rides" by college students and other persons going to and from home has been most prevalent on weekends and holiday periods. In addition to the unlawfulness of the practice, State Police point out that there is an element of potential danger for those hitchhiking as well as for those drivers who give them rides.

HITCHHIKERS are sometimes assaulted by their would-be benefactors and motorists are sometimes assaulted by those thumbing rides.

Apart from the personal safety factor, hitchhiking adds to the enforcement problems of police patrols in having to remove violators from the highways. Such violations can result in arrests.

Michigan law, which prohibited pedestrian traffic on freeways, was changed last year to include the ban on limited access highways. The change also applies to bicycling and other non-motorized traffic.

JERRY GRAHAM, driver for the Teltschak Trucking Co. of Livonia, said an automobile driven by Jay Oliver of Charlevoix pulled out in front of him on Bridge Street. He said the load shifted forward when he applied the brakes suddenly.

Oliver said Graham was half a block away when he pulled out from a parking spot in front of the Charlevoix County State Bank. He said the truck was going too fast for traffic conditions.

No tickets were issued.

Early Man Gave Thanks for Bountiful Grain Crops

Though Thanksgiving is regarded as an American custom, its origins go back not only to the old world but the ancient world.

The Old Testament contains many references to harvest festivals. Long before the people of the Nile learned to measure a year, they gave annual thanks for the grain crops that would carry them through the hard months ahead. So important were such ceremonies during the supremacy of ancient Greece that if states were at war, they called a truce.

THE UNITED STATES has put its special imprint on Thanksgiving as a day for worship, feasting, and family reunions. However, it took Americans a long time to set the present date—the fourth Thursday in November.

Until Abraham Lincoln threw the nation's Thanksgiving to November in 1863, it had shown up in eight different months. For some reason, Thursday was chosen more often than any other day. The record of the Pilgrims' first harvest celebration in the fall of 1621 does not specify dates. Since the feasting lasted three days, there is fair chance that one of the days was Thursday.

WHILE SOME other colonies adopted the Pilgrim custom, Thanksgiving remained a local on-and-off affair until the time of the American Revolution. The Continental Congress designated special days of thanks for victories throughout the war.

In 1789, Elias Boudinot, member from New Jersey, rose in the new Congress and proposed that the President recommend a day of Thanksgiving for the successful establishment of the United States Constitution. In setting the last Thursday in November, 1789, George Washington became the first President to proclaim a nationwide Thanksgiving.

Six years elapsed before he proclaimed another—on February 19, 1795. President John Adams called for an observance in May, 1796, and another in April, 1799. President Jefferson disclaimed such a "monarchical practice." But President Madison renewed observances in August, 1812; September, 1813; January, 1814; and April, 1815.

The special meeting will be held to recognize "his splendid record of service to the veterans of the county and adjoining territory," according to Legion officers.

THE PROGRAM will include a potluck supper prepared by the auxiliaries of both organizations. Members and friends of Bourgoin are invited to attend.

Mrs. Bourgoin and the rest of the family will remain in Charlevoix until the end of the school year.

The annual bazaar and dinner is scheduled for Dec. 2 at Harmony Hall. Bazaar booths featuring handmade items, baked goods and candies will be opened at 1 p.m. Mrs. Arthur Emmons and members of the Susanna Wesley Circle will be in charge.

Highway Funds Are Due

The Department of State Highways is distributing third quarter Motor Vehicle Highway Fund collections to Michigan counties and incorporated cities and villages.

Charlevoix County's share is $82,867, while the city will receive $8,598.

Bellaire will receive $2,095; Boyne City $8,354; Boyne Falls $918; East Jordan $4,389; Elk Rapids $3,901; and Ellsworth $1,872.

HOWARD E. HILL, State Highway Director, said net receipts of the Highway Fund during July, August and September of 1965, amounted to $52,436,035, an increase of $3,376,660, or 6.9 per cent, compared to the same period of 1964.

The increase reflects a sharp upturn in summer vacation travel compared with 1964, Hill said.

TOTALS for the first nine months of the year show a

Dancing at Irv's OK'd by Council

The Charlevoix City Council has given Irv Drost permission to operate a dance hall at the rear of his bar on Bridge Street.

Drost said a maple floor will be laid in the area of the bar now being used for food preparation. The menu will be cut to one item—pizza.

40 at Meeting

About 40 persons attended a meeting of the School Study Committee Nov. 16 at the Senior High School. The committee is looking into ways to improve the school system and anticipate future needs.

A per cent increase of only $5,843,060 more than receipts during the first nine months of 1964, he said.

Increased maintenance costs and an intensified safety program costing an added $3 million this year will absorb the Department of State Highway's increase leaving no new revenue for new construction, he said.

All state gasoline and diesel fuel taxes and license plate fees go to the Motor Vehicle Highway Fund.

the basis of competitive examination, is seeking applicants for the class convening July 12, 1966.

The application deadline coincides with the December College Entrance Examination Board Tests which will be the basis for the competition.

There are no congressional appointments or geographical quotas.

APPLICANTS must be unmarried high school seniors or graduates who have reached their 17th but not their 22nd birthday by July 1, 1966. They must have earned 15 units by June 30, 1966 including: three in English, two in algebra and one in plane geometry.

Additional information and application forms may be obtained from high school guidance counselors or by writing to the Director of Admissions, U. S. Coast Guard Academy, New London, Conn., 06230.

Sundew Marksmen Cited

Five Coast Guardsmen assigned to the Sundew have received citations for scoring expert with the pistol and rifle at the Coast Guard small arms range at Grand Haven.

The awards were presented by Lt. Cmdr. Dale Foster, skipper of the Sundew, at a dockside ceremony Nov. 12.

They are Lt. Dave Smith, Seaman Richard Gallant, BM1 James Dille, EM2 Joseph Bouchev, EN2 Kirk Radtke, and Seaman Terrence Gray.

SMITH SHOT expert on both the pistol and the rifle, with scores of 380 and 278 respectively. Possible high score was 400 on the pistol range and 300 on the rifle range. Smith's pistol score was the highest in the 9th Coast Guard District's small arms program this year. His combined rifle and pistol scores also were the highest in the 9th District.

Gallant received an expert pistol award for shooting a 302, Dille for shooting a 317, Radtke for a 337 and Gray for a 317. Bouchev also chalked an expert 272 on the rifle range.

New Postmaster, Office at Ironton

Ironton has a new acting postmaster and a new post office. The new postmaster is Don Bennett, who received his appointment effective Oct. 28. A native of Ironton, Bennett presently works as a machine operator for American Mold in Charlevoix. He anticipates the postmaster's job becoming full-time, however.

Bennett and his wife, Beverly, have four children, Michael R., Tom F., Bryan J., and Lynn. Bennett succeeds Roy Meyers, who is retiring after 31 and one-half years of postal service. Meyers and his wife, Mimi, will leave in December for Florida, where they will spend the winter.

A native of St. Louis, Mo., Meyers moved to Michigan in 1920 and operated a fleet of trucks out of Pontiac. When business fell off, he took a job driving a Ford Oak bus before moving to Charlevoix County during the depths of the depression.

For his retirement, he has a heavy schedule of fishing. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence F. Babcock plan to spend the Thanksgiving weekend in Flint with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Barger, who now live in Traverse City will join them Thanksgiving Day.

Beach Photo Stirs Memories of Past

Gentlemen:

I am writing you in regard to the picture which you ran in the Nov. 3rd edition of the Courier. (Who Do You Know in This Photo?) I have one of the original prints, and can supply some information which might be of interest to you and Mr. Woods.

The picture was taken by a professional photographer, sometime in July or August of either 1939-40, (or possibly 1941.) The occasion was a wiener roast or "beach party" which was, for a while at least, a yearly occurrence. The party was given by the man in the short sleeved white shirt, standing at the right side of the table. His name was "Frank" and he did indeed work for Mr. Cook at the Casino. I believe that Frank's brother is standing behind him, in the dark shirt.

FRANK WOULD have the wiener and buns shipped in from Chicago, so I was told, each year, and then invite all the children on the public beach to his party. At this particular beach party, I offered to build the fire, and together with the young fellow in the white sweat shirt, collected the rocks and wood.

For my efforts, I was awarded a "place of honor" behind the galvanized wash boiler, when the picture was taken. Every one present enjoyed and appreciated the party, and I am sure that Frank enjoyed seeing all the kids having such a good time. I wonder where he is now?

MY SISTER, Ruth Ramsey Willis, was also on the beach that day, and can be seen sitting on the sand at the extreme left side of the picture. Ruth, who now lives in Houston, Texas, has been interested in encouraging your beautiful city to clean up the litter on the nearby beaches. She has carried many a box of someone else's litter over the dunes from the beach, I could write plenty about the subject of littering the beaches, but this letter is too long already. I would be interested in knowing if Mr. William Woods is present in the picture he sent you. He must have been there, since those photos were only given to a few people, as far as I know. What memories that picture brings back!

Just for a while I was back on that beach on a bright and cloudless day, enjoying the water, the sun and the fresh air. World War II could be temporarily forgotten, and for most of us equals MC2 did

A Real Thanksgiving Gift

At this juncture, it looks as though Charlevoix will have a new library in the not too distant future. But it won't be located on Pine River Channel.

At last Tuesday's Board of Education meeting, Architect Jack Begrow made known Dr. Gilbert B. Saltonstall's generous offer to give the school district a handsome piece of property on the north side of Clinton Street between Bridge and State as a future library site.

THE LOCATION, oddly enough, seems to please everyone who has spoken out on the subject.

The Board of Education is thoroughly delighted. The offer means a saving of some $13,900, the price they were going to have to lay out for the Pine River Channel property.

Clarence Walters, a consultant for the State Library Board, is immensely pleased. Walters had never been really sold on the Pine River site because it is a little remote from the heart of Charlevoix.

Furthermore, he didn't care for Jack Begrow's location of the building on the lot -- right up next to the channel. He believed it was too far from Park Avenue to be really convenient for the public, who would have had to walk through a 40-car parking lot to reach the front door.

THE STATE LIBRARY Board -- which has the final say -- so on how federal library funds are spent in Michigan -- likes to have its libraries right up where the people are. It wants libraries to be frank, open buildings that have "welcome" written all over them.

If possible, Walters says its a good idea to have a library close to the banks in town. It's been his experience that many people like to do their banking and their book browsing in one trip.

Jack Begrow doesn't anticipate too many problems in adapting the building designed for the channel site to the new location. On the surface, it appears that some modifications will have to be made, particularly in regard to the location of the meeting rooms in the basement. The library portion of the building, however, should be able to survive the relocation plans pretty much intact.

THERE IS NO indication yet as to how the Kiwanis Club views the new location. The Kiwanians have a stake in the venture because they are contributing $10,000 contingent upon the inclusion of youth meeting rooms. In view of the fact that the new site is more centrally located, their unqualified approval is probably a matter of course.

THE COURIER, which has protested the Pine River Channel location from the start, is well pleased with the site Dr. Saltonstall has offered.

The new location will avoid all the disturbances we anticipated on the Channel-- the boats coming and going, the bridge rising and falling, and whistles, horns and bells of all descriptions annoying the scholar at work.

We also have maintained -- and will continue to do so -- that Park Avenue will one day, be the Lincoln Road of Charlevoix. No property with such commercial potential should be removed forever from the tax rolls.

We like the central location of the new site, which is still close enough to the elementary school so that our children will grow up with a warm feeling about books and the things they can find in them.

We are still not satisfied with the quality or the quantity of books available in the Charlevoix library. We are assured by school officials, however, that they are as painfully aware of the situation as we are, and that every effort will be made to bring the stacks up to snuff once the new library is built.

The only one left holding the bag in the whole business in Dr. Walter Hoffmann, owner of the Pine River Channel property. Dr. Hoffmann had planned to tear down a two-story building on the site, but now he thinks he'll remodel it into rental property. Who knows how long Lincoln Road will be aborning?

'Over the River' --- 1965 Style

The trip "over the river and through the woods" to see grandma on Thanksgiving has changed considerably over the years. You don't have to be too old to remember when a good many winter junkies were made at the aft end of old Dobbin with his passengers snuggled under a mountain of lap robes in the cutter.

Even the Tin Lizzie spent her first few winters up on blocks in the barn, since there was nothing quite like the old outturner to get you there and bring you back when the snow lay heavy on the ground.

TODAY, OF COURSE, things have changed. Not only has the horseless carriage come into its own, but the highways it swallows up with insolent ease are among the masterpieces of the engineering world. Wide, well-marked, smooth, and expertly graded, they cross rivers and cut through woodlots with a forthrightness that even old Dobbin would admire.

And grandmothers are likely to turn up in such remote spots as Muskegon, Lansing, Saginaw, Flint and even Detroit -- cities that were practically inaccessible only a few years ago once winter set in. Today they can be reached in a matter of three or four hours and Thanksgiving has been changed from a

All Aboard for New Orleans

It's not every day a boat is launched in Charlevoix. That's why the Courier is happy to tip its yachting cap to Carl Shultz on the recent delivery of his workboat "Hymath" to the waters of Lake Charlevoix.

Shultz has spent several months constructing the 60-foot craft in his driveway just west of the Ferry Beach dock. Nov. 14, she was ready for launching, and he maneuvered her down to the launching ramp. At the last minute he became worried about his braking power, so postponed the actual dunking until Thursday when he could get more weight behind her.

SHULTZ PLANS to take the boat to New Orleans this fall to be used as a base for divers and other marine workers in the Mississippi delta.

The name "Hymath," he says, is his variation of the German "heimat" which means "home" or better, "place of origin." If things go as Shultz plans, the Hymath will be his home for some time to come.

odds ends

I know you're not going to believe this...As this is being written there's snow on the ground and more snowflakes in the air...and yet, huddled close to The Lodge, over on the corner of Michigan and Dixon, are some of the loveliest roses you'll ever see. Or perhaps they look more beautiful because it is winter...They're the single variety that look very much like the kind you find around deserted houses in the country or where a house once stood. I call them wild roses too. I'm not sure they are...But every time I pass the site I stop to look and enjoy...

AND SINCE we're on the subject of flowers, I'm sure everyone enjoys the clumps of hardy mums in a rainbow of colors that you see around town...Even when there's enough snow to drift, these traditional fall flowers can be seen braving the elements to bring a whisper of joy to all those who take time to glance their way...

Have you noticed the change as you near the foot of the north side hill?...You haven't? That's because you whiz by in your cars...And since you haven't noticed I'll tell you about it...The buildings at the lumber company have been painted the softest shade of beige with a white trim and a display window, which adds much to the building, has been cut into the south window of the storage unit to the east of the main building...Take a look and see if you don't agree that it makes the north side of the channel much more attractive...

AND ONE OTHER thing has been added to the north hill...Or perhaps I should say, returned to its rightful place...The clock in the window at the Charlevoix Oil Co. It had been down for an age or so...and I just never missed anything quite as much...How come one becomes so attached to little things like this?...Most people wear watches...I don't because I don't like 'em so I'm dependent on clocks along the street...I'll bet many of you are too. If you admit it...Like, for instance, the one at Schroeder Drug on the corner of Bridge and Mason...to name just one tho' they're scattered up and down the west side of Bridge st... And speaking of new things along the street, I can't quite get used to the 'new' look at the corner of Bridge and Park...And, like everyone else, I'm waiting to see what's going to appear there, come spring...

Then, too, there's the new building at The Lodge that I ignore everytime I pass... simply because it reminds me of that white stuff that I feel we can do well without for a little while...It's an Alpine ski house with a supply of skiing equipment you wouldn't believe if you didn't see it... The congenial inn keeper, Brian Seymour, gave me a preview of it recently...But under my breath I was hoping it wouldn't be put to use right away...

You see, I don't impress easily with numbers...like 250,000 skiers who are poised with skis and poles in hand to head for the north country as soon as the ground's covered...But I must admit they've done a great deal for the economy of this country...as have those people with the savvy and foresight to plan and build the beautiful ski facilities now available to the snow worshippers...

You know, it's always a joy to tell you about happy things...And among the "happy" things I like most are success stories...and there are many of them around our little community...One day last week my phone rang and it was a mother who'd had a phone call from her son on the occasion of her birthday...and during the conversation he related some good news about himself that was the best birthday gift of all...The fellow is Gary Smith whom I've known since the day he came to town quite some years ago. I got to know him real well in high school because he played football and loved track...my two favorite sports...He graduated from high school, enlisted in the Marines, served four years and then went about the business of getting an education...which wasn't easy for he had to do a great deal of it himself...After graduating from Northern, he went to Indiana U. where he got his master's and he's now at Punahoa private school in Hawaii...where he's doing a great job with the athletic program...and the reason for his good news is the fact that he's been invited to be athletic trainer for the athletes who'll be going to the Islands for the Hula Bowl game which I believe will be played in January...He's thrilled about it and I'm sure all his good friends back here will be happy for him.

Grandvue Helps Patients Take Care of Themselves

THE COUNTY'S Grandvue Medical Care Facility is located about a mile north of East Jordan, with a sweeping view of the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix.

One mile north of East Jordan in a trim, well-lighted building that commands an excellent view of the South Arm of Lake Charlevoix, 61 patients -- most of them Charlevoix County's senior citizens -- are enjoying a life free from the cares and anxieties which often accompany old age.

They are the patients at Grandvue Medical Care Facility, operated by the County Board of Supervisors.

MRS. HILDA Hartlep, R. N., hospital director, says the facility has a policy of not doing anything for patients that they can do for themselves.

"It's surprising how many 'helpless' patients are soon up and around after they've been here a while," she said.

"If they are unable to walk, we try at least to get them into a wheelchair so they can get around a little on their own," she added.

The hospital, which was completed in 1956, already is feeling the need for more room.

An extension is being planned for the north side of the building which will give the patients a larger sitting room, a first floor diversional therapy room, and additional sleeping rooms.

MRS. HARTLEP is particularly interested in getting the new diversional therapy room in operation, since she has found that working with the hands is fine way to keep minds busy.

Know Your Newspaper Better

Dear Editor:
Now This Is What I Think!

Did you ever write a letter to the editor? It's fun to see yourself in print. But actually, you're writing to only the editor. If he prints your letter--and he probably will--you are really writing to all the thousands of readers of this newspaper. That's a substantial body of readers, but don't let that scare you. Write as if you were talking to just one of them.

What Do You Write About?

Perhaps you are really mad at the editor and want to tell him off on some opinion he has voiced. Perhaps you can't contain yourself any longer on some important local issue. Perhaps you just like to sound off now and then on topics of current interest. Whatever you choose, the "letters to the editor" column is your opportunity to speak your opinions.

We Welcome Good Letters

In writing them, please follow the rules printed at the top of the letters column. These rules ask that you keep your letters reasonable in length, reasonable in tone... free of defamatory matter. Remember, the editor must "bail down" your letter if too long, and will take out statements that are libelous... even though the letter has your name printed underneath.

Plenty of Topics

It's really fun to write to the editor. We don't recommend that you become a "chronic" letter writer, but every now and then we'll be glad to hear from you... taxes, highways, elections, the legislature, streets, parks, schools, city government, accidents, safety, business... scores of things to write about!

and alert, at the same time satisfying the urge to create.

One of her pupils is Mrs. Tedes O'Brien, formerly of Heavy Island, who celebrated her 90th birthday Oct. 28. Mrs. O'Brien is an ardent oil painter and many of her works are faintly reminiscent of island scenes she remembers as a girl.

At present the only diversional therapy space available is in the basement and is inaccessible to patients in wheelchairs.

Here, facilities for woodwork, ceramics, painting, weaving and other art crafts are located. The workshop is open every afternoon.

The new addition also will allow the hospital to convert the present employees' dining room into a beauty parlor and barber shop. Haircuts and permanent waves are now given wherever room is available.

Several Charlevoix beauty operators have been volunteering their services to keep the elderly women looking nice. Among them are Pauline Hamlin, Wanda Hill, Marge McVay and Mary Bellet.

A shampoo sink has been donated to the hospital by the Dickens and Shakespeare Study Clubs and a chair and dryer has been given by Earl Young.

MUSIC APPEALS greatly to her patients, according to Mrs. Hartlep.

"They don't dance any more, but you can tell they enjoy good music when you see their feet tapping," she said.

Recently, Fred Stecker of East Jordan has started coming out to the hospital one afternoon a week to play the organ for patients. Assistant Director Irene Behling even has been able to talk a few of them into singing along with the music.

The hospital also maintains its own three-man laundry which not only handles bedding but the patients' personal laundry as well.

ALL MEALS are served cafeteria style, although patients who are unable to handle their trays are helped through the line. Bed patients, of course, are served in their rooms.

"We think it's a good idea to have them go through a cafeteria line," Mrs. Hartlep said. "Not only are they doing something for themselves, but they have some say as to what they eat and how much they eat. This is important."

She says the hospital tries to serve nutritious, well-balanced meals at all times.

"But it's hard to break the eating habits of a lifetime. We don't serve fried potatoes often, but when we do it's a red-letter day around here. That's what most of them have been used to all their lives."

Meals, generally, are the high point of the day at the facility, she said. Wheelchairs often line up at the cafeteria window an hour or more before the meal is ready to be served.

Staff physicians serving the hospital are Dr. Jerry VanBelton and Dr. John Savory of East Jordan, although patients may continue to have their family doctors if they wish.

East Jordan GI Dies in Vietnam

The first Charlevoix County man to be killed in Vietnam is William J. Taylor, 23, of East Jordan.

Taylor was killed in a Viet Cong ambush, his family learned Monday.

Taylor was born in Charlevoix Hospital April 18, 1942, and was inducted from Charlevoix County June 2, 1964.

He is survived by his widow, the former Louise Hedden of Central Lake, and his parents Mr. and Mrs. William J. Taylor Jr., operators of Taylor's West Side IGA store in East Jordan.

Engineers Here

Three representatives of the Army Corps of Engineers were in Charlevoix Monday to answer property owners' questions on the proposed widening and straightening of Pine River Channel. They were to meet with Mrs. Eva Smith, Mrs. Mildred Campbell and Dr. Walter Hoffmann last night.

Thanksgiving Message

FINALLY, "They had all things in good plenty" reminded the Pilgrims of their reliance upon God. God has also been good to us. Think of his many gifts; count his many blessings. Yes, they are too many to name or number. But it would be worth trying to name them, just to realize our great debt to God. But a second element of this praise and gratitude by creature to Creator is in the life-giving relationship between God and us. You see, we do not praise our earthly father because he has given us many gifts; we praise him because he is our father. We do not love our mother because she nurtured us and sang us lullabies when we were babes. We love her because she is our mother. So it is with our praise to God, as our Father. Not because of something we have received, nor something we aim to get, but because He is our Father. Even as the Psalmist said: "I give Thee thanks, O Lord, with my whole heart. I bow down toward Thy holy temple and give thanks to Thy name, for Thy steadfast love and Thy faithfulness."

On this Thanksgiving Day, may it help us to celebrate in a more meaningful way to know that the Pilgrims "had all things in good plenty."

Cable TV Step Closer

Attorney Ordered to Write Contract

Cable television for Charlevoix, possibly by next summer, appears a virtual certainty after Monday's Council meeting. City aldermen informally authorized City Attorney John Michael to draw up a contract with the Great Lakes Cable T.V. Co. of Petoskey for presentation at the next Council meeting Dec. 13.

Gilbert Clark, owner of the company, said engineering surveys will be conducted this winter and he hopes to start strung wire by April.

UNDER THE SYSTEM, subscribers will be charged a flat rate to tie in with the system, and then a set fee each month. The rates have not been set. The company in turn will pay the owners of utility poles a set amount each year for the use of their facilities. Clark is not sure how many additional stations his company will be able to add, but is confident the system will "sell itself" once it is installed.

He said he is investigating the possibility of bringing in educational T.V. from either Marquette in the Upper Peninsula or Central Michigan University at Mt. Clemens.

He also would like to introduce Petoskey's all-sports channel -- Channel 59 -- into the area. But first he wants to see the results of parabolic antennas being installed in some cities to bring in distant T.V. signals. He said North Bay, Ont., is presently trying to reach 250 miles, and he is interested -- but skeptical -- of the results.

One advantage to the cable system, he said, is that it eliminates the need for tall rooftop antennas and costly maintenance of towers. He said antennas inevitably leave rust stains on the roof and loose fasteners.

Clark, who installed the first cable system in Michigan at Petoskey several years ago, says his firm would like to serve Charlevoix as well because he feels the city "has a good chance to grow" in the next few years.

Council Rejects Station

A motion to rezone the southwest corner of Bridge and Huron Streets to permit construction of a gas station was soundly defeated at Monday's Council meeting by a vote of four to two.

The issue also came up at the Nov. 22 council meeting but failed to win support as a motion and died without coming to a vote. William Peters and Mrs. David Ducher, owners of the property, were visibly chastened by the vote and left the Council chamber shortly after the roll was called.

SUNOCO, which had hoped to build the station, was represented by William Hines of Owasco, a real estate representative, and Sherman Thomas, manager of the East Jordan Co. - Operative Co., which would have run the proposed station.

Hines told the Council that the building would be of porcelain-enamel and would cost as estimated $41,200. It would have had two entrances on Bridge Street and one on Huron.

SUNOCO already had negotiated to purchase the property, but a change of zoning from C-1 to C-2 was required before construction could begin.

At the last Council meeting, Ralph Hamilton said he

Deer Kill Down

Hunting pressure picked up over the Thanksgiving week-end after a slow opening week, according to Harley Burris, state conservation officer from Boyne City.

Burris said the wet weather last week tended to keep the hunters out of the woods.

He said some hunters who usually hunt in Charlevoix County might have gone on to the Upper Peninsula to take advantage of the earlier opening date, returning to the Lower Peninsula to hunt over the Thanksgiving holiday.

HE SAID the number of deer in the county appears to be the same as other years, but that the kill will be down "at least 25 percent" from last year.

Burris says judging from the animals being taken, the doe and fawn kill in the County probably will exceed the number of bucks taken.

Burris, who has been conservation officer here for nine years, says deer appear to be getting smaller each year.

"It used to be nothing unusual to see a good many bucks of 200 pounds or more taken around Charlevoix," he said. "Now a buck that large is an oddity."

BURRIS speculates that hunters are reducing the quality of the herd by picking off the top breeding stock each year.

"In the beef raising business, it's just the opposite. You keep the best for breeding purposes. But in hunting, everybody's after the trophy buck."

Burris says there have been a dozen violations of gun and game laws this season, about normal for the area.

Fire Put Out

Hearing Set Dec. 6 on School Merger

A hearing on proposed annexation of Eveline No. 4 School District by Charlevoix School District will be held at Petoskey High School cafeteria Dec. 6, 1965, at 8 p.m.

The move is one of several annexations recommended by the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District's 18-member Reorganization Committee.

The aim of the committee is to bring every child in the two counties into a school system which will take him from kindergarten through the 12th grade.

THE COMMITTEE decided this would best be done by recommending the annexation of non-high school districts to existing high school units, according to Charles A. Robinson, Superintendent of the Intermediate School District.

Other area non-high school districts affected would be Cross Village and Menominee Beach area of Little Traverse No. 4 Fractional, which would be annexed to Harbor Springs; and Bliss No. 6 Fractional (Canby) and Maple River No. 1 (Brutus), both of which would be annexed to Pellston.

The Petoskey High School district would acquire Little Traverse No. 4 Fractional (Conway), the Resort Public

Top O' Michigan Cuts Power Rates

A 16 percent decrease in electric rates is announced by the Top O' Michigan Rural Electric Co., at Boyne City, effective Jan. 1.

Harlan E. Ruback, manager of the rural electric cooperative, said the rate reduction would amount to $76,000 annually.

Ruback said the savings would be realized by members in both residential and commercial classifications.

HE SAID the reduction--which cuts the cost of power from 2.25 cents a kilowatt hour to 1.9 cents a kilowatt hour--is the first of two price adjustments planned by Top O' Michigan. Eventually, the company hopes to reduce the cost of electricity to 1 cent per kilowatt hour, Ruback said.

He added that the Jan. 1 reduction will be made in spite of increased operating costs in the last few years.

The cost of power for electric heating will be reduced at the same time from 1.9 cents per kilowatt hour to 1.7 cents, Ruback said.

RUBACK SAID future rate adjustments are anticipated because of increased efficiency of generation at the northern Michigan electric cooperative's steamplant near Advance when a new 22,000-kilowatt unit is installed. The larger unit promises to reduce the wholesale cost of power.

Top O' Michigan serves 16,500 members in 12 counties in northern lower Michigan. The firm has over 3,000 miles of line, with service facilities valued at about $8½ million.

Winter Arrives With Snowfall Over Weekend

Winter arrived in Charlevoix over the weekend, on the heels of one of the rainiest weeks on record.

Weatherman Harry Ladd says 4½ inches of snow fell on Saturday and Sunday, most of it staying.

Through Friday, Ladd recorded 1.29 inches of rain. A high temperature reading of 49 degrees was recorded Saturday, with a low of 19 degrees Sunday.

The first skiing in the area was reported at Boyne Mountain over the weekend, with snow machines supplementing the natural product.

Trout Plantings Will Double in 1966

The Jordan River National Fish Hatchery and two others in Michigan will nearly double the number of lake trout stocked in 1966 over their 1965 plantings. The Jordan River hatchery is located about 25 miles southeast of Charlevoix in Antrim County.

This year's lake trout stocking program in Lake Michigan and Lake Superior by the federal Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife has been completed, with a total of 2,185,000 young lake trout weighing 106,485 pounds stocked in the two lakes.

THESE LAKE trout were produced by the Bureau's Jordan River, Pendills Creek and Hlawatha Forest National Fish Hatcheries, all located in Michigan. This was the first year of production for the new Jordan River N.F.H.

In 1966, the Jordan River facility will produce 2,700,000 18 month-old lake trout for stocking. The other two hatcheries will produce another 1.5 million lake trout.

This year, all of Jordan River's lake trout production went into Lake Michigan. Lake Superior received all of the lake trout produced by the other two federal hatcheries.

The 1966 lake trout distribution program will be announced by the Great Lakes Fishery Commission about next March. Representatives of state and provincial conservation departments and their federal counterparts in the U. S. and Canada make up the commission.

LAKE TROUT eggs for the three federal hatcheries will continue to be furnished by the Michigan Department of Conservation. Other states and provinces participating also furnish young lake trout for stocking.

Most of the lake trout being released in the two lakes are about 6 inches long and average about 18 months old. This has been found to be the most economical size for stocking. Survival rate of fish this size is not markedly different from that of larger fish planted.

In 1965, the Jordan River hatchery's stocking program began May 3 and ended September 13, with 1,275,000 lake trout weighing 73,705 pounds being released into Lake Michigan.

THE LAKE MICHIGAN releases included 101,000 lake trout released by the Bureau in Grand Traverse Bay; 102,000 planted by boat in the Beaver Island area with assistance from the Michigan Department of Conservation; 868,000 planted along the lake's north shore by the Bureau; 101,000 planted by the Bureau from car ferries near Keweenaw, Wisconsin; 76,000 planted at Gills Rock, Wisconsin, by the Wisconsin Department of Conservation; and 27,000 planted in the latter site by the Bureau.

Bureau spokesmen said most of the problems of selecting the best release sites and methods have been solved. More releases will be made in 1966 directly from container ferries boats on Lake Michigan.

Using the car ferries has enabled the Bureau to substantially reduce distribution costs and time. Loaded hatchery trucks board the car ferries and unload directly into the lake at the release points, saving time and costs of long overland hauls. Reducing hauling time also increases survival rates of the young lake trout.

SHORE release sites are selected so that the release areas are sheltered from the surf and are easily accessible by road. Fish planted in bays also should have easy access to open lake waters.

Most releases are made just before dark to avoid heavy gull predation. Some newly-released fish have a tendency to stay on the surface for several hours and will survive this type of predation better if they have several hours to adapt themselves and find deeper water before daylight.

Though comprehensive movement studies have not been made, there are indications that the released fish move along the shoreline in a clockwise direction.

And there's no question that they move. Two days after one of the 1965 releases was made, fish from that release were taken by a research vessel four miles away in 90 feet of water. Lake trout released in 1961 were found more than 400 miles from the release point in 1965.

ALL OF THE lake trout being reared and released under the lake trout rehabilitation program are fin-clipped at the hatcheries so that movement, growth and survival data may be obtained.

Starting in mid-March, clipping operations will start at the three federal hatcheries and will continue through April, during which time about 4½ million young lake trout will be marked for release in 1966.

At the Jordan River hatchery, 18 women will mark 2.7 million lake trout in 30 working days. A unique production line system will be operated there whereby 700-pound loads of the young lake trout are brought into the hatchery, anesthetized, fin-clipped and then returned to aquatic trays by a system of portable pipes.

This system enables each woman to fin-clip about 5,000 trout a day.

This year, the Pendills Creek and Hlawatha Forest National Fish Hatcheries produced 910,000 lake trout weighing 32,780 pounds for stocking in Lake Superior. All but 101,000 of these fish went into Lake Superior between White Fish Bay and the Keweenaw Peninsula from Bureau hatchery trucks. The remaining 101,000 were trucked from the federal hatcheries by Minnesota Department of Conservation.

Many Don't Know Facts of Diabetes

Almost everyone knows something about diabetes but there is a lot of misinformation, too, according to the American Medical Association.

The experts have estimated that there are more than 1,700,000 known diabetics in the United States, and that there are about 1,426,000 more Americans who have diabetes and don't know it.

These figures are plus untold hundreds of thousands more who may develop diabetes if they don't follow a balanced diet, keep their weight down and have periodic physical examinations by their doctors to detect early changes in how their bodies use sugar.

What is diabetes? It is a disorder in which the blood cannot make full use of some of the foods we eat—mainly the carbohydrates, or sugars and starches.

Diabetes can be controlled by planned diet, exercises and, in many cases, insulin or oral medication. Well-controlled diabetics can lead active and useful lives.

Most likely candidates for diabetes are overweight persons past the age of 40, particularly those who are related to diabetics, and especially older women. But diabetes can hit anyone at any age.

Symptoms in advance cases include increase in thirst, constant hunger, frequent urination, loss of weight, itching, easy tiring, changes in vision and slow healing of cuts and scratches.

HANDS OF DESTINY

The shriveled, wrinkled hands upon the Bible are the hands of an aged ecclesiastic — a preacher of the Holy Word.

For more than half a century they have turned the pages of The Greatest Of All Books to find the text for a sermon, or for a psalm to comfort the sick and the dying. These hands have been raised in blessing and benediction at countless marriages. They have sprinkled the baptismal water on the heads of many infants, and have thumbed the pages of the Holy Writ at the grave-side.

They are, indeed, Hands of Destiny. Once they were smooth, strong and firm. Now they tremble a bit as they turn the pages of The Book.

Perhaps you know of such a pair of hands — the hands of an aged man of God, who has devoted his entire life in an unselfish attempt to bring comfort, happiness and salvation to you and everyone.

Whether your pastor is young or old, go to Church regularly, for the hands you see resting upon the Bible there, whether shriveled or firm, are the hands of a man of God, who offers you the formula for a better and happier life.

Here Are Steps to Keep CO2 Gas Under Control

You don't have to shut yourself up in a garage with a running car to be in danger of being killed by carbon monoxide gas. This invisible agent can attack you in your home, out-of-doors in a parked car, or in a cabin in the woods.

Albert E. Heustis, state health director, today issued a warning against the dangers of this lethal gas.

"This time of year always brings an alarming increase in accidental carbon monoxide poisonings. This is a totally unnecessary toll that could be eliminated if people would follow a few basic preventive steps. Carbon monoxide is a killer that can be controlled," he observed.

Although automobiles are not the only source of the poisonous gas, they are the main one.

A defective automobile exhaust system is a likely source of poisoning from this colorless, tasteless, and odorless killer. The car is a potential coffin if fumes seep back through the fire wall or up through the floor, according to Dr. Heustis. This can happen even if the car is out-of-doors and moving. If it is parked, the situation is worse. You should check your complete exhaust system at least once a year at a service station, and keep it in good repair at all times.

ANOTHER DANGER, Dr. Heustis pointed out, is called "exhaust feedback." This can occur even though the vehicle's exhaust system is in good condition. Carbon monoxide fumes can drift back over the passengers after the gas is expelled through the tailpipe and completely envelope the automobile. Obstructions, such as a snowbank or building, may make the situation fatal by deflecting more fumes over the vehicle.

Dr. Heustis warned motorists not to run the engine in parked cars under any circumstances, and to keep at least one window cracked open when driving.

In the home, charcoal grills present a serious hazard. A burning charcoal fire produces no smoke, but gives off great quantities of invisible carbon monoxide gas. The grills are for outside cooking only and should never be used indoors or even in a garage or on a partially enclosed breezeway, he said.

OTHER DANGERS include furnaces with rusted out flues and other defects. Carbon monoxide poisoning can also result from poorly vented or adjusted space heaters, hot water heaters, and maladjusted gas refrigerators. Cabins are especially likely places for trouble because of old appliances and poor venting. Proper venting must be through the roof, not a side wall.

Beaver Isle Eyed for Turkey Hunting

Harry D. Ruhl, game chief for the Michigan Department of Conservation, has suggested that Beaver Island be the next area in the state opened up to turkey hunters.

Ruhl says residents apparently favor an open season, and the birds are well enough established to allow it.

This year, Michigan's first turkey hunting in 68 years was held at the Allegan Game Area from Nov. 6 to 15. A total of 1519.

Keep Vitamin Pills Out of Tot's Reach

Most of us know enough to keep various substances we know as poisons away from the reach of small children. But how many of us, for example, would think to store a bottle of vitamins away from eager little hands?

The vitamins, along with other things that are beneficial in proper quantities, such as medicines, drugs and tonics, will kill if the child swallows a massive quantity of the substance. Protecting your child against accidental poisoning involves more than just putting the bottle in the insecticide on the top shelf, although this is important, too.

OVER 60 PERCENT of the children treated for poisonings in Michigan hospitals last year had consumed medicines -- yes, helpful things. Just plain aspirin accounted for more than half of the tragedies, followed by poisonings from diet-control pills, headache and stomach upset remedies, sleeping pills, hormone preparations, tranquilizers, laxatives and vitamins.

Common household chemicals caused the other 40 percent. Ordinary laundry bleach was the biggest offender in the chemical group.

YOU CAN GO A long way toward preventing accidental poisoning in your own home by keeping in mind just six simple practices.

1. Store all obviously poisonous substances away and out of reach of children.

2. Store all medicines, vitamins, drugs and other substances that kill when taken in excess, out of sight and out of reach, and away from food.

3. Call all medicine what it is -- medicine, and never refer to it as "candy" or as "any kind of food."

4. Keep all substances in their original containers.

5. Teach your children not to eat any food or drink any beverages except at the table, or when mom and dad says it's okay.

6. Teach your child the difference between food and medicines, and teach him that medicine is off-limits at all times, except when given by mom or dad.

But in spite of these precautions, should a poisoning accident occur, call your family doctor immediately. Speed is essential in poison treatment, so keep key phone numbers handy.

KEEPING the dossiers of Charlevoix County's draft age young men up to date is a never ending task for Mrs. Frank Bourgoin, secretary of Selective Service Board No. 15. Mrs. Bourgoin is in the Board Office in City Hall weekdays until noon.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lucas have left for Coral Gables, Fla. for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Orvis and two sons, Jerry and Hoe, of Flint spent the week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Orvis. They also went deer hunting.

Just once we'd like to have people fall in love with the inside of our cars before they flip for the outside. Why, this year alone we've made available brand-new wraparound buckets. We even had our engineers take our test cars apart piece by piece to come up with improvements that, incredibly enough, make our Pontiacs smoother, quieter, more enjoyable to drive.

Really, though—we don't care which feature gets you inside a new Pontiac, as long as it gets you there. And it will. At least judging by the number of Pontiacs you see on the road.

Islands Serve as Labs

Announcement that surplus antlerless deer permits for Area 15 (Beaver and Garden Islands) would be issued beginning Nov. 18 on a first-come first-served basis prompted a number of queries whether extra permits for other areas would be given out in the same way.

The answer is "no", according to the State Conservation Department.

The decision affecting the two islands is an exception to established policy and does not indicate any change in policy.

BEAVER AND GARDEN Islands are being used as "natural laboratories" for game research projects, including work on deer. The project includes measurements of hunting pressure and its effects.

Because the islands are not accessible by auto, and especially in the case of Garden, have limited accommodations, antlerless deer quotas have gone unfilled year after year.

THE RESEARCH SECTION would like to find out what happens when all available permits are used, and so asked the Commission to approve an exception to the general policy, which is that no excess permits are issued.

Only licensed hunters who did not have an antlerless deer permit for some other area were allowed to apply for the 390 extra permits. And they could get them only by going to the Department's equipment station on Beaver Island.

The department reasoned that anyone who got that far was serious in his intention to hunt deer and would try to fill the permit.

Irving Drost Jr. has returned to his studies at the University of Michigan after spending the weekend with his parents, the Senior Drosts.

Kathy Gallagher, a student at the University of Michigan, spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. James Gallagher.

Clockwise

With Bob Clock

I attended my first high school dance in Charlevoix last week and came away feeling either younger than springtime or older than Methuselah. I haven't decided which.

If you haven't been to a high school dance lately, I'd like to recommend you take one in. But don't look for any of that moonlight and roses nonsense you remember from your old high school days. The new steps -- I hesitate to call them that -- are more like Indian rain ceremonies than the fox trot or the two-step.

In the first place, once the music starts, it's every man for himself. Remember how in the old days the best part of dancing was getting that little doilie in your arms and holding her tight while the band played "Cuddle Up a Little Closer"? Well, all that's out. These kids don't even touch each other. They just stand four or five feet apart and jiggle. That's about it. They stand there and jiggle. Some of them even jiggle in between records.

THE ONLY ADVANTAGE I can see to this new dancing is there are no wallflowers. Even the heavy-set girl with braces and bad breath can get out there and jiggle and no one will know whether she has a partner or not.

I saw one couple dancing when the fellow took a sudden notion to gobarefoot. He sauntered over to the sidelines, kicked off his shoes and socks and walked back on the floor. During his absence, his partner -- a pretty little thing she was, too -- kept right on jigging without missing a beat. I don't even think she missed him. For all she knew he might have stepped out for a drink or gone home.

THE NEW STEPS have names, I know, but except for the Big Apple and the Lambeth Walk I can't tell one from the other. There's the Frug and the Mashed Potatoes and the Watusi and I don't know how many others. They look pretty much alike. In one step, the arms and hands seem to play an important part. The arms are kept close to the body and the wrists are bent outward, palms down. The dancer gives the impression he has flippers instead of hands. The effect is very cute, particularly if you think flippers are cute.

I noticed that when a slow number comes on, the dancers practically desert the floor and pretend to be more interested in cider than they are in each other. Twenty years ago just the opposite was true.

I QUESTIONED chaperone Del Terrill about the new fashion in dancing and he confirmed my observations. "The funny part of it is," he said, "a lot of these kids wouldn't dance at all if they had to put their arms around each other."

So that's the way the record spins in the Charlevoix High School dance circuit. The situation, from a moral standpoint, is practically antiseptic. You parents of teenage girls don't have to wait up nights anymore wondering if the little darling is in good hands. If she's at a dance, she's in nobody's hands -- and nobody's arms.

Dancing aside, we'd like to congratulate the high school kids on everything else about their annual Sadie Hawkins Day dance. The Dogpatch decorations were amusing and the costumes showed an awful lot of work.

IT'S ALWAYS fun to receive the Ogemaw County Herald, published at West Branch, and the Antrim County News, published at Bellare, two of the Courier's exchange newspapers.

Somewhere the Ogemaw Herald got the idea that we spell our name "Currier" and that's the way they address our wrapper: "Charlevoix Currier, Charlevoix Michigan." It always conjurs up all kinds of pleasant Currier and Ives scenes -- sleighs bulging with Christmas gifts, old inns with roaring fireplaces and candlelit windows framed with holly.

Down at Bellare they've got us on the addressograph as the "Charlevoix Courier." Why we receive the paper I'll never know. You'd think it would go to someplace in India, or at least Indonesia, with a name like that. It does have a nice, far-off ring to it, doesn't it? "Charlevoix -- Sin city of the teeming East, crossroads of a million lives." Yet every week, just like clockwork, the Antrim County News finds its way to our office. Guess we're just lucky.

Viet War Strikes Home

UP UNTIL last week the war in Vietnam almost seemed someone else's battle. Now suddenly, with the death of SP-4 William J. Taylor of East Jordan, the war has moved 10,000 miles closer to home.

We didn't know young Taylor, whose folks own Taylor's West Side IGA Grocery in East Jordan. But we do remember reading about his wedding early in September to the former Louise Hebdon of Central Lake. And only last week the East Jordan-News Herald carried a Pg. 1 story about Taylor meeting George Romney at the front when the Governor was visiting in Vietnam.

LAST WEEK TAYLOR, who was born in Charlevoix Hospital and inducted into the Army from Charlevoix County, joined the ranks of America's war dead, just as surely as if he had been killed at Lexington, Gettysburg, San Juan Hill, Verdun, Midway or Pork Chop Hill.

It does no good to call what's happening in Vietnam a police action, or logistical support, or what have you. And it makes no difference whether the American Congress has come up with a bonafide declaration of war. It all amounts to the same thing, as the Taylors can attest only too well.

WORLD WAR I was billed by the propagandists as the "war to end all war." But the League of Nations went sour and the stage was set for World War II, "the war to make the world safe for democracy." We created a bigger, more powerful United Nations to iron out international problems. But along came Korea, three years of heartbreak that most Americans would just as soon forget.

Now The United States is at war in Vietnam, protecting the right of the South Vietnamese to determine what form of government they shall have without interference from the Communist north. If we should abandon South Vietnam, the Viet Cong would take over in a matter of hours, turning the entire country into a Communist camp.

SOLACE, if there is any, can be found in the fact that if the United States weren't fighting Communism in Vietnam, it would be fighting it somewhere else. Vietnam, in a way, is our first line of defense.

America, for the present, has set aside its dusty dream of world peace and replaced it with a fighting force aimed at routing the Viet Cong from South Vietnam. Whether we like it or not, it appears that armed warfare is going to have to be a way of life for Americans for many years to come.

Yet nothing can mitigate the terrible price Bill Taylor's parents and widow have been asked to pay for the privilege of living in a free world. The gratitude of the nation he died to save -- our own -- is heaped humbly on their doorstep.

Killing Fawns Stirs Criticism

PERHAPS the most startling bit of information in last week's Courier was the fact that a 27-pound deer actually had been taken on Beaver Island. Nothing lately -- aside from R-1 zoning -- has drawn more comment.

The fact remains that the killing of such a young animal is perfectly legitimate if the hunter has a permit to kill antlerless deer.

Admittedly, this fawn was especially small for November. Deer are usually born in early spring and reach a fairly good size by fall. But there are exceptions.

WHAT MAKES the average hunter -- and citizens in general -- recoil at the thought of killing young animals? Certainly this wee beastie was no more than a couple months old. He only appeared slightly larger than a big jack-rabbit, and a lot smaller than most hunting dogs.

PERHAPS MOST of us have a little of the late Albert Schweitzer's "reverence for life" in our makeups that tells us that youth is a precious commodity, regardless of species. It has been almost an unwritten law through the ages to protect young life which hasn't yet feasted at what Pope Paul VI so eloquently calls "the banquet of life."

Certainly there is no honor or glory to hunter who brings home a 27-pound fawn for the dinner table, no more than there is for the boy who breaks robin's eggs in their nest.

WE DON'T recommend a change in the state law outlawing the killing of deer under 50 pounds, or 70 pounds or 90 pounds. This would require too much guesswork on the part of the hunter and such a law would be all but impossible to enforce.

The matter is best left up to the individual. A man who can't tell a suckling deer from one that has been around awhile shouldn't go into the woods with a rifle. Public opinion can do more to prevent the wanton destruction of our young game than anything the state could come up with in the way of legislation.

Are Some Hunters Color Blind?

SO FAR THIS season, ten nimrods have gone to the happy hunting ground at the hands of their fellow sportsmen in the field. Undoubtedly there will be many more before the season is over.

Every year it's the same old story. Tongues wag and heads shake over how that son-of-a-gun from the city, could have been so stupid as to mistake old Joe in his fire engine red hunting suit for a deer.

Good Advice for Public Officials

THE COURIER would like to pass along these notes on public relations written by Gifford Pinchot 50 years ago.

1. A public official is there to serve the public and not run them.
2. Public support of acts affecting public rights is absolutely required.
3. It is more trouble to consult the public than to ignore them, but that is what you are hired for.
4. Find out, in advance, what the public will stand for, if it is right and they won't stand for it postpone action and educate them.
5. Use the Press first, last and all the time if you want to reach the public.
6. Get rid of the attitude of personal arrogance or pride of attainment or superior knowledge.
7. Don't try any sly or foxy politics because the forester is not a politician.

went hunting in a fur coat. Someone felled her for a bear when she sat down on a stump to eat her lunch. That one we can understand.

But to shoot a man deeked out like a theater marquee is another matter. It's like not being able to tell Santa Claus from one of his reindeer.

From here it looks like a simple test for color blindness before a hunting license is issued might eliminate a lot of this senseless slaughter every fall in the Michigan woods.

8. Learn tact by being absolutely honest and sincere and by learning to recognize the point of view of the other man and meet with with arguments he will understand.

9. Don't be afraid to give credit to someone else even when it belongs to you; not to do so is the sure mark of a weak man; but to do so is the hardest lesson to learn. You can accomplish many things through others, that you can't get done on your own initiative.

10. Don't be a knocker. Use persuasion rather than force. Plenty of knockers are to be had. Your job is to promote unity.

11. Don't make enemies unnecessarily and for trivial reasons. If you are any good, you will make plenty of them on matters of straight, honest and public policy and will need all the support you can get.

I've been pretty good about not mentioning football lately (and that's difficult when it's my favorite game) so I hope you won't mind if I make a couple comments...Like how proud I am that a Michigan team will be representing the Big Ten in the Rose Bowl again this New Year's Day... How about that and how many states can claim such a record... MSU has many alumni as well as friends here and everyone's elated...I'll admit that I would rather it had been Michigan... but you can't go two years in a row... and State has certainly proven its right to the honor...

I understand several to cat students at State are planning to make the trip... what a thrill that will be... it makes one say: Ahhh, to be young again!

AND NOW to watch the pros play out their football season... which will be all too short, as far as I'm concerned... And before you know it you'll all be talking baseball and it will be April...

MEANWHILE, all round ball devotees will be watching our Charlevoix Raiders as they open their basketball season... Can't ever remember seeing such a young team representing good old C.H.S. Not a senior in the lot... But every now and then you hit at a season like this... it should be interesting to watch these kids develop...

IT'S A GOOD thing I don't live on the shore of Lake Michigan or I'd never get anything done... I find the lake and its myriad moods most fascinating... Was coming home in the rain the other day when I noticed the waves hitting the north pier and couldn't resist going over on West Dixon to watch the lake... it was gray and overcast and stormy but that's when the lake's most exciting... Believe me, it was worth sitting out in the weather to watch... Can you imagine living some place where you couldn't see the lake and enjoy this bit of nature in the rough?

And while the lake is cold and gray, the Coast Guard goes about its business of picking up what they call Aids to Navigation... but to you and me they're buoys... of all sizes and their miles of chain that anchor them on station... A colder, more miserable and dangerous job than I imagine with the steel deck always slippery wet... always from either water or ice... In weather like this I can think of easier ways to make a living...

TALKED with our genial postmaster, Dan Genett, the other day regarding overseas parcels to service personnel and the forthcoming holiday mail rush... He said that almost every day several packages come through, scheduled for overseas destinations... They're going both ways... to Europe and points east as well as points west including the far Pacific...

AS FOR THE Christmas mail in this country, he said that doesn't really get rolling until after the first week in December... Then, watch out... from about the 6th through the 18th you'll likely find the heaviest mail... And with bottle-necks in major cities such as Detroit and Chicago, plan now to get your cards, letters and parcels out early... Be sure to allow extra time for all mail, including first class, once that time rolls around...

IF I MAY STEAL A LINE from the popular holiday song, "It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas"... all around Charlevoix... Christmas gift ideas can be found everywhere, holiday decorations are going up and the city electrical crew is busy putting all the decorations in place... the many things that make the community the best decorated place in the north at holiday time...

THOSE OF YOU who put up outside decorations had better start digging them out and adding to the beauty of the place by decorating your homes... I know it seems like a thankless job... I've done it in the past when I had someone to help me... but if you could know how much everyone enjoys your decorations you'd be happy to know you could make so many others happy... I know that's a rather involved sentence but I'm sure you know what I mean... So how's about getting with it? It's later than you think...

REMEMBER a few weeks ago I mentioned the light in the sky that many local residents had seen... After I mentioned it, several called to say they'd also seen it... At the time I wondered if it could possibly be the comet that bore the name of the two Japanese astronomers who had first sighted it and then dismissed the idea... However, Lyle Miles called to say he was sure that's what it was... After telling me that it could be seen in the evening sky just after sunset and describing it and its course, I'm sure that's what it must have been... If you did see it, count yourself lucky... it won't pass this way again and it was the largest comet since heaven knows when.

Reader Says GI's Know Why They're in Vietnam

Dear Sir:
After reading your article "Stand Up and Be Counted" in Wednesday, Nov. 10's paper, I ran across an article you might like.

It is from the Monterey Peninsula Herald, Monterey, Calif.

Being stationed at a transportation center has given me a chance to talk to many men going to Vietnam. Many of these men are too young for drinking or voting in our great state. No man wants to die yet, a lot of these asked for Vietnam. Why? Because they know that communism has to be stopped at all costs. These are the very men that these communists inspired riots, demonstrations and marches are campaigning against. These same men are protecting their freedom.

Nuff said.
Pvt. Thomas W. Browe,
1st Student Enlisted Co.,
Ft. Eustis, Va.
6841 No. 2

P. S. I want to thank you very much for sending the paper and keep up the good work. Each week it gets better.

The following is reprinted from the Monterey Peninsula Herald:

The war in Viet Nam will last longer because of the well organized marches in other places where unAmericans, nonAmericans, the lame of spirit, the hall of vision, the parasites, the draft-dodgers, the foolish virgins, the spiritless, the hysterics, the vain idealists and the sick professors marched in their thousands.

These and the marches planned to follow will add months, perhaps years, to the war... will add to American casualties and to the deaths of innumerable Vietnamese, will create more widows and orphans, will cost more treasure, will add to the burden of the world's problems.

That is what the master-minds of the marches want. If they could create an inglorious withdrawal from Viet Nam, they would win their war, because nothing less than a national humiliation would satisfy them.

This is the modern way of lending aid and comfort to the enemy. That is exactly what the marches, grossly exaggerated abroad, have done. That is what their leaders planned for them to do.

Another thing they sought to do by marching on an Army terminal or displaying themselves as the same or some sort of people have done before troop trains, is to suborn the American soldier.

His goal is to create overwhelming doubt in the mind of the soldier, to lead him to distrust his officers, to provoke disobedience or mutiny, to make him a coward in the face of the enemy or a traitor willing to go on the enemy's radio programs.

The kind of professor who encourages this sort of thing is the kind who has already corrupted

How Do We Prevent Errors?

As a reader, perhaps you think we always make mistakes. At times, of course we do... and no one is more distressed about a misspelled name than the editor himself.

We Check...and Often Double-Check

So Few Mistakes-- Almost a Miracle!

In setting just one column of type for your newspaper, the chances for error are approximately 2,000,000! No wonder there are a few mistakes... isn't it surprising how few?

to the best of his ability the children in his classes or under his influence.

They, the children, don't realize that the professors are simply in most instances ordinary professional people, not one bit better or more learned than doctors, lawyers, dentists, editors, engineers, businessmen, electricians or plumbers. They, too, get up on the wrong side of the bed, sometimes permanently. They, too, suffer from personal misgivings, inferiority complexes, wives, financial woes, sour stomachs, as much as any others do.

But unlike the others, they have a command over the minds of youth, and they have a definite freedom under which they may and often do abuse that command.

Those are the leaders. Those and the professionals who manipulate them.

In addition to the 2.7 million trout from Jordan River NFH and the 1.5 million from Pindilis Creek and Ilawatha Forest NFH, Canadian hatcheries will contribute 600,000 young lakereels to the 1966 stocking program. Minnesota and Wisconsin state hatcheries will contribute additional lake trout to the program.

Lake trout in the Great Lakes were decimated by the sea lamprey in recent years, and the rehabilitation program designed and carried out by the cooperating U. S. and Canadian agencies is aimed at controlling the sea lamprey as well as re-establishing the lake trout populations.

Church Ladies Plan Bazaar, Yule Concert

Women of all denominations are invited to attend a program of Christmas music to be presented by the Community Women's Chorus at 8:00 p.m. Dec. 3, at First Congregational Church.

The Congregational Women's Fellowship is sponsoring this program in conjunction with their annual Christmas Bazaar which will open at 10:00 a.m. and continue until 4:00 p.m. Fruitcakes, gifts, Christmas decorations and home made baked goods will be offered for sale.

Of special interest to Christmas shoppers will be autographed copies of Harold Kohn's newest book "A Touch of Greatness". Insert pages, designed by Harold Kohn especially for gift-giving, make each book a personalized "presentation" copy.

Refreshments will be served by the Fellowship.

Library Plans Nearly Ready

Superintendent of Schools Rex Milligan reports that revision of the drawings of the new library on the Clinton Street site and should be ready to submit to the State Library Board Dec. 3, three days ahead of the deadline.

Original plans were for a library located on Pine River Channel. They had to be revised when a more suitable piece of land on Clinton Street was donated to the School Board by Dr. Gilbert Saltonstall.

The plans must be on file with the State Library Board before Dec. 6 in order to make Charlevoix eligible for federal library funds.

Doe Takes Dip in Round Lake as City Watches

A young doe, apparently frightened by hunters, came into town Monday morning from the south and soothed her frayed nerves with a refreshing dip in Round Lake.

Police Chief Joe Smith saw her swim across the lake and climb ashore at the Chicago Club Island. She shook twice, then plunged into the woods. Later, Bob Neff said she was seen cutting through Edwards' IGA parking lot.

All in all, it was a lot faster than waiting for the bridge.

Yule Decoration Prizes Offered

The City Council has ok'd prizes of $15, $10 and $5 in each ward for homes with the best Christmas decorations. A $10 prize will go to the best decorated rural home using city power.

Judges will be picked by Superintendent James Taylor and judging will be done Dec. 19.

We hate to pry but if your snow tires have no wheels of their own, pry we must. To get your regular tires off the wheel. To put your snow tires on. Every winter. Every spring it's pry, pry again. All that prying is bad for the tire's bead. (The bead is the steel-cored inner rim that keeps the tire snug on the wheel.) But there's a solution to this prying problem. When you buy snow tires, buy them mounted on wheels of their own. Then it's just a matter of switching wheels. Saves your tires. Saves you time. (You can even do it yourself.) Get your snow tires and wheels now, in this one economical package. And tell your friends to get them. We'd like to get out of this pry-by-night business.

Varsity, Jayvees Maul Mancelona

The Charlevoix Rayders --- varsity and junior varsity --- emerged victorious in the first conference basketball games of the season Dec. 3 at Mancelona.

The Big Rayders did not appear to be hampered too critical by the fact that there are no seniors on this year's squad, and likewise no veterans of last year's top notch varsity team.

THE FINAL VARSITY score was 49 to 31, with the jayvees chalking up 49 to Mancelona's 34.

Witnessing most of the action in the J. V. game were Don Livingston (No. 12), Larry Martin (No. 31), Chuck Pease (No. 51), Allan Veenstra (No. 55), Lee Cross (No. 25), Brad Carey (No. 23), and Don Ward (No. 53).

The jayvees got off to a good start and maintained a spread of from nine to 11 points throughout the game, picking up a little wider margin at the end.

THE VARSITY action got off to a fast start with Ken Skippergosh shooting a basket in the opening seconds. Steve Smith came through shortly with another, and the game was off the ground.

At the end of the first period, the score was Mancelona, 6, Charlevoix 17.

There was little action in the second period, with only three baskets scored. Dropping then through were Bernie Ward, Steve Smith and Fred Wabanikee.

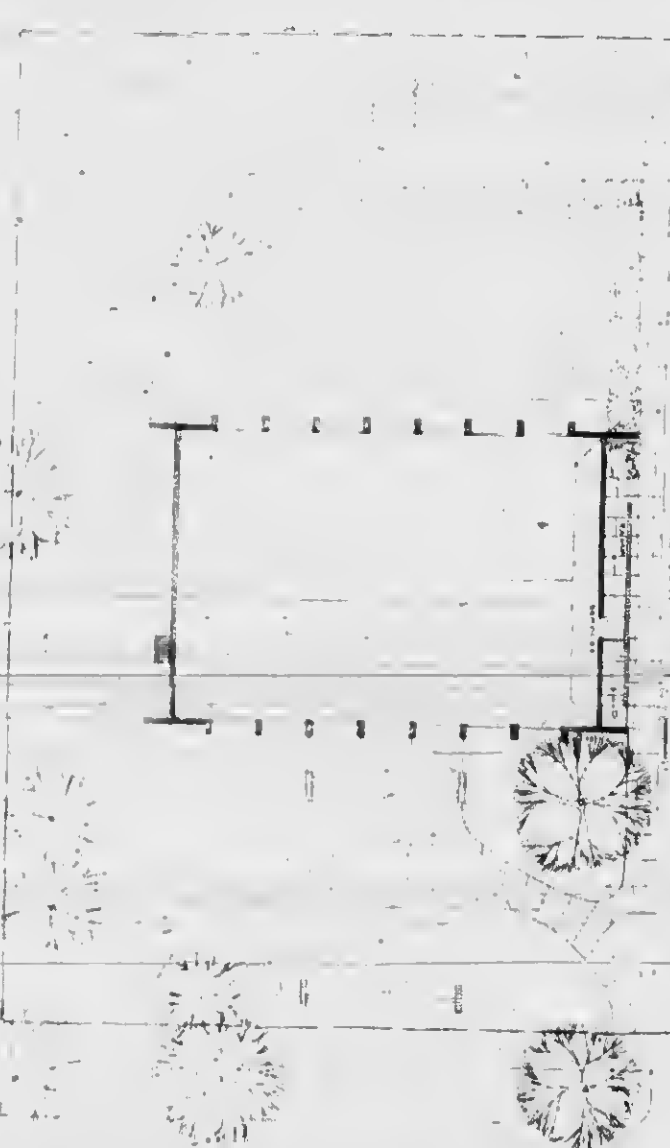

Both reaction and penalties picked up in the second half, with Charlevoix ringing up four baskets and four free throws in the third period.

THE RAYDERS picked up 14 more points in the final period, including two free throws by Wabanikee and a basket by Steve Smith in the last three seconds.

On the tally card, Smith was the top scorer with six and two free throws. Bernie Ward was second with four and four, followed by Wabanikee four and two; Tom Webb two and two; and Skippergosh, two baskets.

IN OTHER conference action it was Pellston over East Jordan, 72 to 71; Boyne City over Grayling, 50 to 46; and Gaylord over Harbor Springs, 63 to 43.

Dec. 6 by Superintendent of Schools Rex Milligan. The school board should know by next week if the building is approved for federal funds.

ARCHITECTS Begrow and Brown envision a side walk and drive for access to meeting rooms in the basement. The library itself will hold 20,300 books and have a seating capacity of 83. A ramp on the side will make the building easily accessible for the handicapped.

Santa Claus Will Arrive on Fire Truck Saturday

Santa Claus --- that Jolly Old Elf --- will pay a visit to Charlevoix Saturday afternoon, touching off an afternoon of holiday fun for city youngsters.

Santa has made special arrangements with the Fire Department to deliver him and a duffle bag full of candy supplied by the city to the foot of Clinton Street at 1 p.m.

At 2 p.m., all boys and girls are invited to the Palace Theater as guests of the Charlevoix Courier at a showing of a "Lassie" movie and other short features.

IN ALL, the movies will last two hours, giving parents a chance to do their Christ-

The Charlevoix Courier also has made special arrangements with the Post Office to help speed letters addressed to Santa Claus to the North Pole.

A few letters already have been forwarded north, and copies of them will appear in next week's Courier.

Santa also reminds townspeople that the City Fathers have voted $15, $10, and $5 prizes in each ward for the best decorated house. A $10 prize will go to the best decorated rural home using city power.

Selections will be made by an impartial body of judges on Dec. 19.

Levy Is Largest Since War Days

The largest draft call since the end of World War II has been issued by State Selective Service office, according to Mrs. Frank Bourgojn, secretary of Board 15.

Mrs. Bourgojn said she received word from Lansing Tuesday to have 17 young men ready for induction in January.

Induction date has not been set.

The January draftees will be named at a meeting of the local Selective Service Board Dec. 14.

MRS. BOURGOJN said the Charlevoix contingent will be made up of 19-year-olds. The birthday cut-off for the January call is Dec. 31, 1946. Likewise, anyone married before Aug. 27, 1965 is exempt from the January call.

Mrs. Bourgojn says she has checked back through the records and can't find a larger call, even during the Korean War.

Seven young men from the county will be asked to report for physical examinations in January, Mrs. Bourgojn said. Again, no date has been set and those being sent will be selected at the Dec. 14 meeting of the board.

Men taking physicals normally are sent to Ft. Wayne in Detroit by bus.

Band Nets $582

A net profit of $582.09 has been realized so far from the band dinner according to a report read at the band parents meeting Dec. 1.

Five parents still have not returned their tickets and 21 others have not made their $1 donation towards buying food.

A note of thanks was sent to John Boss of Maxbauer's creamery for donating milk for the dinner.

Cards of thanks were read from Roberta Hiller and Larry Hutchinson for making it possible for them to attend Interlochen Music Camp last summer.

Named to the awards committee were Mrs. James Hill, Mrs. Al Smith and Mrs. Clyde Cunningham. Project committee will include George Hutchinson, Robert Hooper, Mrs. Gerald Goss and Mary Ann Smith.

The Christmas band concert will be Wednesday Dec. 15 at 8 p.m. in the High School gym.

Rain and Snow

Rainfall in Charlevoix during the week amounted to .18, with an even one inch of snow recorded, according to weatherman Harry Ladd.

Low for the week was 22 degrees Monday, Dec. 6, with a high of 39 on Friday, Dec. 3. In November, rainfall totaled 3.61 inches, while the total snowfall was 7.1 inches, Ladd said.

Vets' Party Dec. 19

The Charlevoix VFW Auxiliary made plans for its annual Veterans Family Christmas Dinner at its meeting Dec. 2.

The Christmas dinner party will be Sunday, Dec. 19, at 1 p.m. at the Post Home and all veterans and their families are invited.

A special invitation has been extended to the Military Wives Club and service personnel stationed in the Charlevoix area.

38 Per Cent of Students Drop Out, Parents Told

P.T.A. members attending the December meeting of the organization Wednesday night heard Wesley Fleet, consultant for Vocational Education for the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District, reveal some startling facts regarding the need for vocational education in today's schools.

He said that figures reveal that of the number of students who start high school as freshmen in the state of Michigan, approximately 38 percent drop out of school; of the number that finish 38 percent go into the job forces and 24 percent go on to college. However, only 40 percent of these complete their advanced program.

THIS LEAVES 40 percent of the students who enter high school as freshmen that schools should be doing something for, he said that the state average did not hold true in Charlevoix because more students go on to some kind of school. However, approximately the same percentage as the state average do not complete their course of study.

He said that schools are being criticized for not preparing these students to live in the type of world that we live in today.

He mentioned, for instance, that 10 years ago the space industry was listed among the bottom nine percent that came under miscellaneous; today it is this country's top industry, demanding skilled workers and technicians.

To keep up in today's world it is necessary not only to educate a student for living but for earning a living, he continued.

He went on to define vocational education as preparing a student in the classroom under proper supervision for gainful employment after graduation in the semi-skilled or technical occupations.

HE SAID that now was the time to take stock of what the Charlevoix school has, how best to utilize it and how best to plan for future expansion of the program.

He mentioned first the co-operative program where a student, while still in school, works with a skilled craftsman in some field and with a coordinator who explains why he is doing certain things.

Thus, the student learns a skill while carrying out an academic program slanted toward the field of study he chooses. At the present time, five Charlevoix high school students are participating in such a program which is proving very successful, he said.

The Charlevoix school is presently planning to include in this program office machines, office practices and other things that can become a part of the school program.

PLANS ARE underway for an area center where programs in electronics, drafting, welding, building trades, service occupations, agriculture and machine tool may be carried out. Mr. Fleet said it would not be feasible to establish laboratories for each of these in every school so an area center program is being readied whereby students from throughout a given area would attend classes in these subjects at one center.

In both types of programs, juniors and seniors would participate. However, to be successful, these students must begin as freshmen and sophomores to think about what they want to do.

After graduation these students may then participate in a skilled trades apprenticeship training program, enter a technical program which community colleges are preparing to offer or enter special programs of interest.

HE SAID that industries throughout the state and elsewhere are asking for students with vocational training so they may train them further to become a part of a growing work force in industry. He concluded by saying that residents of Charlevoix were in a good position to move ahead in this field and suggested that a survey be made of existing facilities followed by plans to expand present facilities to include other subjects. When it became practical he advised that the local school add facilities for a machine shop and drafting room.

HE REPEATEDLY reminded those present that this was fast becoming a world of skilled workers and technicians and said that those without some training would have no place in the work force of tomorrow when they would be seeking employment.

He emphasized that the proposed vocational training program would in no way conflict with the college preparatory program now in the school program.

The meeting opened with the appearance of the elementary school chorus composed of fourth, fifth and sixth grade students who give up recess time in order to participate in the program. The chorus sang six selections, ranging from the familiar round to a modern song, under the direction of Mrs. Earl Lawrence.

A letter was from Mrs. Bleha's first grade room was read. It acknowledged the $10 prize the room won for having the largest percentage of parents as P.T.A. members.

THE REV. GEORGE L. Majors presided at the meeting. James Fiedler of the program committee introduced Mr. Fleet.

Mrs. Maurice Dixon reported that the balance on hand was $527.23. Mrs. Herbert Boss membership chairman, announced that there are now 406 members.

The Rev. James Lugubini gave the invocation. First grade parents furnished and served refreshments following the meeting which was attended by more than 75 people.

Traffic Deaths Drop

November traffic deaths in Michigan, totalling 156, were 22 or 12 per cent less than 178 in the same month a year ago, according to State Police provisional figures.

The month's average was 156 for the five years of 1960-64, while the record high was 219 in 1941 and the record low was 87 in 1942. The November count brought the 11-month total to 1,882 which was 88 or 3.5 per cent less than 1,930 killed in the same period last year. Delayed death reports will increase somewhat the November and accumulated totals.

MORE COMPLETE figures for October showed 195 killed and 14,785 injured in 27,995 accidents. This was a reduction of two per cent in deaths but injuries and accidents both increased 16 per cent over the same month last year. Injuries have been up for 46 successive months compared with the same month a year earlier, while accidents have increased in 44 of the last 46 months.

Accumulated figures for the first 10 months were 1,693 killed and 123,924 injured in 247,925 accidents. This was a three per cent decrease in deaths but a nine per cent rise in injured and a 12 per cent decrease in deaths but cent increase in accidents compared with 1,752 killed and 114,097 injured in 222,109 accidents in the same period in 1964. The 10-month statistics this year are already higher than for the whole year of 1962 when 1,574 were killed and 108,143 injured in 233,078 accidents.

ESTIMATED vehicle mileage for the first nine months, the latest information available, was 29.8 billions, an increase of six per cent over the same period in 1964, while the death rate of 5.1 per 100 million vehicle miles was down seven per cent from 5.5 on the same comparison basis.

TB Seal Sales Total $1,125 in Charlevoix

Early contributions to Michigan's 1965 Christmas Seal campaign have been coming in at an increased rate throughout the entire state, reports the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association.

Charlevoix County contributions are at the $1,125.00 mark at the end of the first three weeks of the campaign as compared to $1,000.00 at the same time last year. Total contributions received for the state are $25,254.00 as compared to $48,100.00 at this time last year.

MTRDA campaign chairman, Mrs. Ellen Ziegler of East Lansing said the increased contributions reflect an awareness of Michigan citizens of the ever present danger of TB and the fact that Christmas Seal contributions are used to fight TB.

She pointed out that approximately one in five persons in Michigan has the TB germ in his body—a potential threat to his health—and that, in spite of declining TB rates, new cases of tuberculosis are reported in Michigan at a rate of nearly 60 per week.

SPIRAL STEPS to the second level of the Weatherlane Terrace are enclosed in towers located around the inner court.

Mr. Joseph Howard celebrated his 88th birthday on Sunday. Mrs. Greg Shadko brought the birthday cake. Others attending were Mr. Joseph Foster, Mrs. Margaret Orlovski, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lucas, Mrs. C. D. Gelken and Miss Frances Millner.

Brownies Meet

By Kathy Novolny
Brownie Troop 261 met at city hall where the girls started their Christmas presents for their parents. Lois Bruce brought the treat, which was enjoyed by all. We closed with our goodnight circle.

Indians made curious use of settlers' good before learning their purpose. The first coins that reached the Yurok were given by them to their children as playthings. The Hupa used flour for face paint. The Tsimshian sewed thimbles on their ceremonial garments as decorations.

Rush Season Here for City Post Office

The Charlevoix Post Office expects to handle more mail this Christmas than ever before, according to Postmaster Dan Genett.

Genett said mailings already show a great increase in parcel post and with the population rise in Charlevoix Christmas mail is expected to be the heaviest ever.

PATRONS are urged to mail parcels and cards as soon as possible. Extra Star Route runs are to be made in and out of Charlevoix to handle the extra loads.

Post Office windows will remain open Saturday afternoon Dec. 11 and Dec. 18, to handle extra work.

SINCE THERE is only an evening dispatch of mail out of Charlevoix, Genett asked full cooperation of mailers in making all mailings as early in the day as possible so that mails can be made up for dispatch on the same day.

A new Christmas stamp depicting the Angel Gabriel is available and offers first class mail privileges for Christmas cards.

GENETT summed up his Christmas mailing advice this way: "Shop early, mail early, and use Zip Codes both on mailing and return addresses."

"My advice, sir - get De-Icer!"

Here we go again. Wintertime driving is here and with it, those built in problems that make life miserable. Like a frozen gasline. When moisture collects in your gas line, then freezes, the supply of fuel to the engine is choked off. You're stopped cold. But you can avoid the tow truck trip—just use American, Regular or American Super-Premium Gasoline. Each contains the real thing—DE-ICER—to prevent gas line freeze down to 40° below. At Standard Oil Dealers, "It's like summertime driving all winter long!" You expect more from Standard and you get it!

More people buy Chevrolets? Yes!

Than any other make car? Yes!

Any other? Yes!

There must be reasons. Sure!

Name ten. OK:

1. All these comforts are available: steering wheels that tilt or tilt and telescope, AM/FM Multiplex Stereo radio, first ever offered in cars, and Stratobucket seats (to give you just a sampling).
2. Comforter automatic heating and cooling you can order—just dial the temperature and turn it on. Comforter automatically keeps you comfortable no matter what the weather outside.
3. More engine choices—the widest horsepower range available: the 425-hp Turbo-Jet V8 in Chevrolet and Corvette to a 90-hp Four in Chevy II.
4. Body by Fisher—Craftsmanship by the world's best known coachmakers with everything from luxurious interiors to the long luster Magic Mirror acrylic lacquer finish.
5. Self-cleaning rocker panels flush out salt and other corrosives with rainwater; dry themselves with outside air—another way Chevrolet takes extra care so you needn't bother.
6. A hushed and gentled ride with body mounts designed to isolate vibration better and shock absorbers matched to body style—coupe, sedan, convertible, wagon.
7. America's only rear-engine car, Corvair, with more weight over the driving wheels where you need it and less on the steering wheels where you don't.
8. America's only true sports car, Corvette, with fully independent suspension, four-wheel disc brakes and engines you can order up to 427 cubic inches.
9. Higher resale value—Chevrolets traditionally are worth more at trade-in time because more people want Chevrolets... new or used.
10. All these safety features standard now: seat belts, front and rear; padded dash and sun visors; outside mirror (use it always before passing); shatter-resistant inside mirror; 2-speed electric windshield wipers for better visibility in a downpour; windshield washers; back-up lights.

U.S. Has Summer Jobs to Be Filled, Solon Says

Congressman Ray Clevenger (D-Mich.) has urged Charlevoix residents interested in working for the federal government next summer to apply to a special examination which will be given in late January or early February.

The nationwide competitive examination for temporary summer employment in the federal government as an office assistant or a science assistant was announced recently by the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Clevenger said.

"I AM PLEASED that the Civil Service Commission has announced this program, as it is closely related to the work of the House Committee on Post Office and Civil Service", he said. Clevenger is a member of the Committee. "The program will give persons throughout the country an equal opportunity to compete for summer jobs".

Clevenger said that interested persons may obtain additional information and application forms at many Post Offices, at Civil Service Commission Offices, or by requesting them from his office, 1319 Longworth Building, Washington, D. C.

COMPLETED applications are to be mailed to the Civil Service Commission in Washington, D. C. Clevenger emphasized that they must be postmarked no later than Jan. 3, 1966.

Examinations will begin in various cities, including a number of locations in the 11th Congressional District. Clevenger added that summer employment programs are also being developed for jobs other than office and science assistants. Information on these jobs should be available in the near future, he said.

Clockwise

With Bob Clock

For nearly a century, the first U. S. landmark to meet the eyes of starving immigrants from Europe has been the Statue of Liberty, beckoning to the homeless and the tempest-tossed with her torch from Bedloe Island in New York Harbor. But all this is about to change, according to a recent issue of New Yorker magazine.

An enterprising bakery recently broke ground on the New York shorefront for a 303 foot tower which will be topped with a giant, rotating, plastic bagel. This may not be as soul-satisfying to new Americans as the Lady with the Light, but it certainly will be more appealing to a genuine starving European.

It's possible many northern Michiganders have yet to encounter their first bagel. They are strictly a big-city product, and even there they are almost exclusively in Jewish neighborhoods. Briefly, a bagel looks something like a doughnut, but it's made of the toughest bread - dough known to man and it's baked, not fried, to the consistency of saddle leather.

BAGELS COME in many flavors. Some taste like eggs. Others are rolled in sesame seeds or caraway seeds. Probably the most popular is the salty bagel, which is glazed and sprinkled with coarse salt before baking.

Although the bagel originally was a staple in the Jewish diet, its popularity is pretty general throughout metropolitan areas. This is rather puzzling, because bagels just aren't that good. They are habit forming, however, and it doesn't take too many to make you an addict for life.

When Judy and I lived in Hollywood, we never went to Detroit without a list as long as the Old Testament of friends who wanted a sack of bagels from the New York Bagel Factory on Seven Mile Road. We were happy to oblige because we usually intended to stock up ourselves. Judy would freeze a dozen of them in a plastic baggie and they would last the better part of a week. Once I accidentally dropped a bag of bagels on the kitchen floor and chipped a tile.

IT IS NO exaggeration to say they are one of the toughest edibles known to man, and there are some who would seriously question that work "edible." There is always a great rush in Detroit to buy the first bagels out of the oven on Saturday night at the close of the Hebrew Sabbath. That's when they're at their tenderest - which is not saying much. You can break a perfectly sound molar biting into a fresh bagel.

SINCE IT IS practically impossible to devour a bagel in its natural state, many devotees try splitting and toasting them. The best way to break one open is with a very sharp, serrated bread knife, although this takes about 100 powerful downward thrusts. I usually have to sit down to rest half way through. It's very easy to cut your fingers and more than once I've ended up with both the bagel and the breadboard on the floor. I tried to cut one the other day with an electric knife. It did the job, but it took a good five minutes and motor started smelling hot before I was through.

The traditional Jewish concomitant with bagels is fox - a smoked fish - or a generous spreading of cream cheese. I prefer them just toasted and buttered.

Once you've eaten a bagel, you really know you've had something to eat. Bagels are solid, incontrovertible realities - something like the facts of life. There is substance to a bagel that you don't ordinarily find in the froth of modern living. One bagel for breakfast can hold a good sized man right through until a late lunch or an early supper. Or a perforated ulcer, which ever comes first.

Cookbooks are curiously quiet on the subject of bagels, although I imagine Jennie Grossinger's tome on bersch circuli cookery would devote a few lines to them. I wouldn't know where else to look for a recipe, unless it would be Popular Mechanics.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Wheat and son of Blissfield spent several days the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Boss and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas and family of Imlay City spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cunningham and other relatives. On Saturday evening Kay was honored at a baby shower at the home of Mrs. James Martin. Guests were relatives and members of the bowling team she used to bowl with.

Guests over the Thanksgiving weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stutzman were their son Gary, of the College of the Ozarks in Arkansas, Miss Janice Stutzman of Allegan and Mr. and Mrs. Don Vranina of Rochester.

Janet Boss enjoyed her ninth birthday December 3 when nine friends joined her for an afternoon of fun. Her mother reports while making Jans birthday cake in the shape of a deer, she looked out the window and there stood a deer, so she had a live model, and not a deer hunter around.

In circulation a dollar bill has an average life expectancy of 18 months.

Giraffes sleep only a few hours a night, usually with heads held erect.

MICHIGAN'S second modern - day elk season opens Dec. 8 in the Pigeon River area. The Conservation Department says this year's 300 licensed hunters will have a tougher time locating the big beasts than nimrods did last year. The herd is estimated at between 3,000 and 3,500.

Rails Try Again to Cancel 2 Runs

Three railroads are appealing an Interstate Commerce Commission recommendation which favored continued rail service between Gaylord and the Straits of Mackinac and Sand Lake, near Grand Rapids, and the Straits. The Pennsylvania Railroad, New York Central and the Soo Line are also protesting an ICC recommendation that rail ferry service between Michigan's two peninsulas should be continued.

The railroads claim that they will be faced in the near future with costly repairs to the ferry, which are not warranted by the diminishing traffic. They say alternate routes and service are adequate and they'll be able to make more money by dropping the service.

Announcement of the appeal was made by Peter B. Spivak, chairman of the Michigan Public Service Commission.

Spivak says the commission agrees substantially with the ICC hearing examiner that the services should be continued. He said the appeal is simply a "re-hash" of arguments previously set forth by the railroads.

Spivak added the Commission has 30 days to reply to the proposed exceptions listed by the railroads. Subsequent appeals may be made to the full Interstate Commerce Commission and then to the courts.

Elderly Get Tax Break

Needy senior citizens can now receive some relief from their property taxes as a result of the Senior Citizens Homestead Tax Exemption Act passed unanimously by both Houses and signed into law by Governor Romney.

In brief this Act provides a homestead tax exemption in the amount of $2500 of state equalized valuation for persons -

- who are 65 years of age or over on or before December 31, 1965
- who have been residents of the state for at least 7 consecutive years
- whose combined gross income does not exceed $5000 annually
- whose taxable property does not exceed $10,000 of state equalized valuation (a $20,000 home)

IT IS ESTIMATED that some 160,000 Michigan senior citizens will qualify for exemptions and will receive an average property tax relief of $93.00 a year.

To apply, senior citizens should:

1. Contact their city or village tax assessor or township supervisor and secure a Senior Citizens Homestead Tax Exemption affidavit;

2. Complete the affidavit, have it notarized and return it along with proof of age and property ownership to the local assessing officer between December 31, 1965 and the final adjournment of the local board of review which will be sometime in March.

ELIGIBILITY for an exemption will be determined at the time of filing and the affidavit will be kept by the assessing officer until taxes are billed in December, 1966, when the information will be forwarded to the local treasurer for actual processing and payment.

If an applicant is unable to apply in person, someone else may handle the arrangements as long as all necessary information is made available.

Any questions should be directed to local assessing officials or one can contact the Department of Administration, Accounting Division, Lansing, Michigan

Are you paying more than 11½¢ a gallon for your residential heating oil?

If you are, you're paying too much to heat your home.

If you are now using natural Gas (or plan to) for cooking, water heating, clothes drying or Gaslights, and your use is equal to that of our average residential customer, you can get your Gas for heating under our special service rate at a cost equivalent to fuel oil priced at just 11½¢ a gallon. And the nice thing about our Gas rates is that the more you use, the less it costs per unit. That's a bargain in anybody's book. (Can't pay for the cost of conversion right now? Here's good news: Whether you convert your present furnace, or even install a new Gas furnace, Michigan Consolidated will pay for it and its installation by a qualified heating contractor. And it won't cost you a penny until July 1, 1966!)

So why not make your present oil furnace more economical this winter? Have it converted to economical natural Gas. Then you can start putting your money in the bank for a change. Instead of in your furnace. For full details, call us or your heating contractor today.

B & B Will Design

Charlevoix architects, Begrow and Brown have been commissioned to draw up plans for a $3.5 million convention hotel on the Hudson River at Nyack, N.Y. To be called Tara Inn, the resort will have an Irish motif throughout, according to Jack Begrow. The commission came from John Martin and family, owners of Terminal Operating Co. They saw a picture of Begrow's Shanty Creek lodge in Forbes magazine and thought a building along similar lines would go well on a hilltop they own 20 miles north of New York City, overlooking the Tappan Zee Bridge.

THE MARTINS visited Shanty Creek and Begrow returned with them to view the Nyack site before closing the agreement.

Begrow says all plans for Tara Inn will be drawn up at the Charlevoix office. The work will be done this winter and construction will start next summer. The hotel will have 150 rooms and space for conventions of up to 1,000.

LIKE OTHER Begrow and

N.Y. Resort Hotel

Brown buildings, the new hotel will make ample use of natural materials like fieldstone and rough-hewn timbers.

Begrow says he may make a trip to Ireland to make sure the Irish motif is followed to the letter. The bar will have an "Irish Sweepstakes" theme, and Irish lace patterns will be used in screening.

Owner Martin presently is managing Bear Mountain Inn, a resort operated by New York City near West Point, N.Y. Another recent Begrow and Brown commission is a federal land bank at Pond du Lac, Wis. The building will cost about $120,000.

Church Group to Hear Pastors

The Antrim County Holiness Association will hold its regular meeting Dec. 14 at the Marcelona Church of the Nazarene.

The speaker at 2:30 will be the Rev. Oliver Davis and the speaker for the 7:30 service will be the Rev. Fred Gibbs, Pilgrim Holiness pastor. A pot-luck meal will be served at 5:30.

Faculty Backs MEA

The Charlevoix Chapter of the Michigan Education Association is one of 195 in the state to have received recognition of the local Board of Education as the sole contract bargaining agency for Charlevoix teachers.

Of the 195 groups, only one will not be represented by the MEA. In Highland Park, teachers elected to be represented by the American Federation of Teachers. (AFL-CIO.)

THE RECOGNITION of bargaining agent by school boards is required by Michigan Public Act 379 which was signed into law this summer. The law puts public employees in the state on an equal negotiating footing with their employers.

Most of the competition for representation is in the Detroit area where the AFT is soliciting teacher support.

Nine districts have conducted representation elections under the auspices of the Michigan Labor Mediation Board. All but one voted for MEA.

Twelve other districts have LMB elections scheduled and 32 others have requested election dates.

Area Teachers Form 2 More MEA Chapters

Teachers at Posen and Central Lake recently voted to establish local chapters of the Michigan Education Association. Both chapters have received official recognition from MEA Executive Secretary Dr. E. Dale Kennedy. Lloyd Kelley is president of the Posen chapter and Jerry Dawson of Central Lake. Both chapters are located in MEA Region 14, which includes Charlevoix County.

Civil Rights and Old Age

Sometimes it's difficult to tell which is the primary goal of the Michigan legislature --- turning over the reins of state government to the Civil Rights Commission or dreaming up enough nit-picking little laws to drive businessmen into early retirement.

It seems like the most objectionable laws --- those that cut deepest into individual liberties --- invariably have the backing of the Civil Rights Commission or look to the Commission for interpretation or enforcement.

The most recent of these is Public Act 344 of 1965, which prohibits discrimination in employment because of age.

THE NEW LAW specifically prohibits employers from refusing to hire persons between the ages of 35 and 60 because of their age. Employment agencies and labor unions are prohibited from refusing services or membership to individuals of any age.

Just about everybody --- employers, employment agencies and labor organizations --- is constrained from printing or publishing advertisements relating to employment or membership "indicating a preference, specification, or discrimination based upon age; nor follow a policy limiting employment or membership on the basis of age; not utilize in recruitment of hiring of individuals any employment agency, placement service, training center, or labor organization known to discriminate against individuals because of their age."

THERE ARE SO many instances in which a person's age is intimately connected with his occupation that so far as we can see the government is just begging for trouble.

Some ages and jobs just go together. It would be folly for the city, for example, to hire a 60-year-old lifeguard when a strapping, qualified 18-year-old is waiting for the job.

Decorations Spell Happy Yule

City employees have performed their artistry with colored lights and the downtown section couldn't look more Christmasy if Tiny Tim rode down Bridge Street on the back of Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer.

Now it remains for merchants and townspeople to complete the job. It's surprising what a few lights, some Christmas greenery and a dash of imagination can do to perk up store windows and front porches.

OF COURSE, everyone knows the true Christmas spirit comes from within, that tinsel and trappings are only the outward symbols of the most joyous season on the Christian calendar.

And there are those who claim that Americans have come to worship the symbols of Christmas more than the event they commemorate.

Maybe so. So long as we can remem-

Where Have the Deer Gone?

The 1965 deer season in northern Michigan is history and hunters, conservation men and John C. Public are having second thoughts about the issuance of antlerless deer permits.

The season, as season's go, was pretty punk. The conservation department reports that five of every six hunters returned home without a deer.

The weather, of course, was against the nimrods from the start. Rain washed away any tracking snow that did accumulate, and even a dyed-in-the-wool hunter doesn't like getting soaked to the skin day after day after day.

BUT IT'S PRETTY generally agreed that there's more to the seamy deer kill in the area than bad weather. There just don't seem to be as many deer hereabouts as there used to be.

Ten years ago it wasn't unusual to count 100 or more deer on a summer evening's drive down country roads in Charlevoix, Antrim or Emmet counties. Now you're lucky to see two or three at most.

ISSUING ANTLERLESS deer licenses is a fine way to keep the size of the herd

Generally, where muscle power, endurance and stamina are required a younger man is the best bet. Where experience, judgement and reliability are of prime importance, then the older man has the edge. Not always, but usually.

THIS NEW MICHIGAN law seems almost as strange as the state's attempt earlier in the year to prohibit business people from specifying a sex preference when advertising for help. That one got a few guffaws around the state and apparently died on its feet, although it's still on the books.

There are plenty of jobs which women can do as well as men and vice versa. But they aren't expected to do them in our society. We expect boys to pump gasoline and girls to work as secretaries. There already is enough fuzziness between the roles of the sexes, without the state complicating things further.

The law governing age discrimination does have some qualifying provisions, but they are as distasteful as the law itself.

It permits exceptions if enforcement would run counter to provisions of federal job programs or if a refusal to hire because of age is based on a bonafide occupational qualification as determined by the Civil Rights Commission. This, in effect, is assigning to the Civil Rights Commission a function traditionally performed by the courts.

FURTHERMORE, a person who feels he has been discriminated against in employment because of age may seek redress by filing a complaint with the Civil Rights Commission.

Originally, the Civil Rights Commission was established to handle racial grievances, which was all well and good. Its powers apparently have been expanded to include various sex and age inequities in order to make it more palatable to more people. By broadening its aim, it looks like the Commission may miss its target entirely.

ber, long-faced moralists have warned every December to put Christ back in Christmas. They universally deery the jingle of the cash register and insist we are spoiling our children by giving them all kinds of gimeraeks on Christmas morning.

MAYBE SO. But it's hard to imagine a man like Christ not enjoying the kind of Christmas we have in Charlevoix. Lights and sparkling store windows impart an infectious joyousness that would have delighted a man of His temperament. And Christmas morning in any Charlevoix home would have warmed his heart.

We don't even think He would be disturbed that our merchants enjoy a better-than-average month, thanks to His birthday. He, more than most men, know there are many ways to serve God.

So break out the colored lights and the holly wreathes. Let's make this a Christmas they can see in Milwaukee.

under control --- in areas which have experienced crop damage due to browsing or where there is insufficient forage to maintain a large herd throughout the winter.

Neither of these conditions appears to exist now in northwestern Michigan. And the deer are few and far between, as any hunter will tell you.

From all reports, the State Conservation Department is well aware of the situation and already there is talk that the era of antlerless deer permits may be drawing to a close. We hope it is not too late.

SOMETIMES WE'RE tempted to think of the deer herd solely in terms of the red-suited hunter who visits our town for two weeks every fall. We tend to forget that the sight of a white tail flashing through the underbrush has brought many a summer visitor back to Charlevoix year after year.

Certainly the deer here is far too important to the economy --- and the appeal --- of northern Michigan to be lost through ill-advised control procedures.

'Tis winter... which I'm sure local residents will vouch for in a big way... Noticed that several ski resorts in the area were opening for the season, now that the temperature is low enough so the snow machines can give an assist to Mother Nature in the snow department.

The Thanksgiving weekend will be remembered as the weekend of the big blow... which created quite a furor, especially at the Mackinac Bridge... As you may or may not know, high winds in certain directions cause traffic difficulties at the bridge for they can topple trailers and are a real hazard to big trailer trucks or small cars... A friend was telling me what a time they were having there and how the Bridge authorities had closed traffic to these vehicles... He concluded by saying "You might say that small car warnings are up", which, I suppose, isn't very funny if you're not in the habit of listening to Coast Guard weather reports which often mention that "small craft warnings" are up when advising small boats to stay off the lake.

The storm made it bad for deer hunters... Why? The deer, being smarter than hunters, remained in sheltered parts of the swamp, out of the wind...

ARE YOU ONE of those efficient people who have your Christmas cards all addressed and your gifts all wrapped? ... There are those kind of people you know, tho' I don't know many... But would you do me a personal favor? Go over your list again and see if you've included some person who is all alone... an older man or woman who lives in your neighborhood, someone who is hospitalized... a former neighbor who's gone to live with a son or daughter... I'm sure you all know someone like that if you'll stop and think... It would mean so much to be remembered by you and it will make your holiday a lot happier because you were thoughtful enough to send a greeting...

And while I'm on the subject of Christmas cards, don't forget the man in service... Whether he's at some camp or base in the U. S., in Europe, Vietnam, Korea, Japan or any other spot around the world, he's away from home and family at holiday time... And if he's like most people I know, he's lonesome and perhaps a little homesick... a very serious illness, especially if you contract it at holiday time... If you don't have his address, call his family... They will doubly value your thoughtfulness... It's all so simple and so very worthwhile...

So I'm sentimental about Christmas? I'd much rather be that way than be so blasé that this great season would mean nothing to me.

I WASN'T home the other day when our own Clarence "Odie" Odmark dropped off a magazine... so I didn't know why it was left... Not being familiar with the format of it, I looked in the index for a clue but found nothing so started thumbing through it... I'd quite given up when I spotted a picture that looked vaguely familiar and did a second take... So I said... it was a picture of our own Charlevoix High School band... spread right across the bottom of the page of the December issue of the magazine "School Musician", a professional magazine for directors, teachers, students and parents... on the page set aside for the American School Band Directors Association... of which Mr. Odmark has been a member since 1954, two years after it was organized...

The cutline under the picture named the Charlevoix band as the "ASBDA Band of the Month for December... Clarence A. Odmark is in his twentieth year as director of this fine Charlevoix High School Band from the State of Michigan. A consistent first division winner in District and State Festivals, this splendid Class C band has appeared at numerous functions throughout Northern Michigan including dedications of the Mackinac Bridge, St. Mary's Bridge of Sault Ste. Marie and the Big Rock Nuclear Power Plant in Charlevoix. Clarence has been treasurer of the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association and is currently their Chairman of the Music Education Workshop Committee working in the area of curriculum improvement. We salute this excellent band and conductor..." A fine nation-wide salute carried to all parts of the 50... Publicity money doesn't buy for the school, the community and the state... Aren't you more than a little proud?...

Added to that, this publicity came out just before Mr. Odmark attended the annual convention of ASBDA in Washington, D. C., where he spent four days beginning Friday... There'll be scads of business meetings, but there'll be concerts by each of the service bands, Army, Navy, Marine and Air Force...

Sunken Ship Launches New Industry for City

TEN-TON section of Sawyer hull is loaded aboard flatbed truck at Bells Bay for trip to Sawtelle's workshop. The wood has been beached 85 years.

EIGHTY-FIVE YEARS of exposure to the wind and the waves at Bells Bay ended for the schooner Sawyer Dec. 2.

The last shipment of oaken ribs and planking --- one section weighing more than 10 tons --- was boosted aboard a flat bed truck for delivery to the Jim Sawtelle home on the bluff overlooking Loeb Farm.

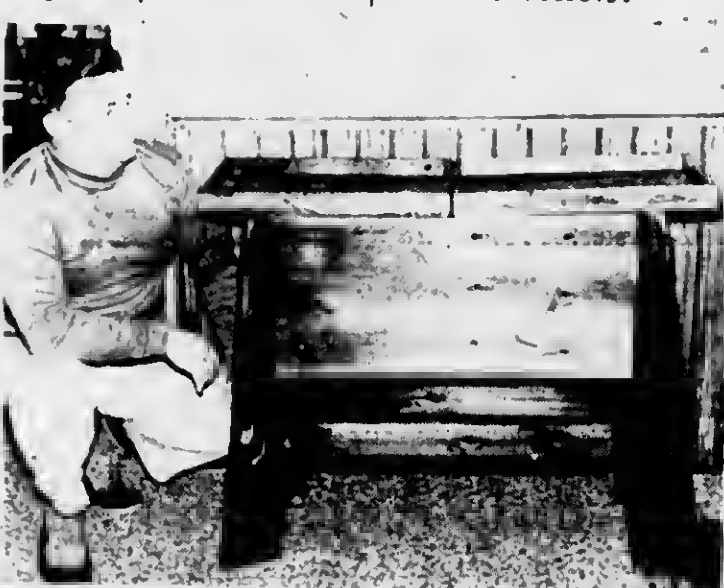

The Kentucky wood, which has been darkened by iron oxides in the water over the years, eventually will find its way into jewelry, coffeetables and other items of so-called "shipwreck furniture."

THE 200-FOOT SAWYER, a three masted cargo carrier of Canadian registry, came to grief in the shallow waters of Bells Bay on a blustery November night in the year 1880. When she was driven onto the rocks, all 11 hands aboard climbed in the water over the years, eventually will find its way into jewelry, coffeetables and other items of so-called "shipwreck furniture."

NANCY SAWTELLE displays some of the jewelry made from shipwrecked vessels.

THIS BAR is typical of "shipwreck furniture" made by Jim Sawtelle.

of the furniture is left and rough, a pleasing blend of wood grain and texture. Benches are left pretty much as they are.

A professional diver, Sawtelle says he first became interested in making articles from the timbers of shipwrecked vessels when he found the rudder of a sailing ship in Bells Bay about five years ago.

The massive rudder was raised, dried and finished into a gigantic coffee table which presently is a conversation piece in the living room of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Olson on Round Lake.

THE SAWTELLES, who left Charlevoix for Leland in 1959, decided to return when John Van Haver announced plans for the Castle Van Haver after center in the former Leeb dairy barn and sheds on Iron-ton Road. Van Haver asked Sawtelle to move his business to Charlevoix and occupy one of the art stalls when Castle Van Haver opens its doors to the public next spring. Sawtelle agreed.

Sawtelle and his wife, Nancy, have purchased a large yellow farmhouse on Shaw Road behind the Leeb property. The house had been unoccupied for 21 years and a sizeable quantity of grain was stored in the living room.

"We had a good many nice to evel before we moved in," Sawtelle says.

THE SAWTELLES and their four children - Ricky, 15, Vicky, 14, Patti, 12, and Mike, 7 took possession in September in time for the youngsters to start school in Charlevoix.

The house presently is undergoing extensive remodeling. The living area is being enlarged and aluminum siding is being applied over the old clapboard. A corner fireplace will be built in the living room, and a large picture window will look out over Lake Charlevoix.

Behind the house is strewn the wreckage of the Sawyer, waiting to be dried by the sun and wind. Sawtelle says he has had some of the wood kiln dried and it shows a moisture content of well over 50 percent.

THE SAWTELLES' adventures always lead them to water. They spent last winter at Marathon, Fla., site of Milton Sanford's Porpoise Training School and home of TV's popular Flipper.

"Actually, the water around Florida is not clear enough to film the TV series," Mrs. Sawtelle said, "so they pack Flipper in flannel, put him in a box and fly him to Bermuda. He can stay out of water up to 72 hours, but he has to be doused well with salt water every 30 minutes so he won't dry out."

WHILE IN FLORIDA the Sawtelles were bitten by the treasure hunting bug.

Sawtelle says a good many Spanish galleons remain smken off the Florida Keys, waiting only for divers to retrieve them of their treasures. He said he found one ancient Spanish wreck with a sizeable fortune aboard. But he could not claim it because he had neglected to obtain a treasure hunting permit from the state of Florida.

"The next fellow along made a killing," Sawtelle recalled. "If we hadn't decided to come back to Charlevoix, we were going to move to Florida permanently and Jim was going to go into the treasure hunting business," Mrs. Sawtelle said.

She said they had planned to use trained porpoises to locate sunken vessels, a method being used with some success by other adventurers.

However, Mrs. Sawtelle says she is glad to be back in Charlevoix where both she and her husband have family ties. "Jim's grandfather was Chet Hall, a carpenter who worked on many of the old Belvedere homes, and I'm related to the Driggetts."

IN ADDITION to his woodwork, Sawtelle has plans tacked on his workshop walls for a pontoon device which he believes would be capable of raising sunken ships, such as the Bradley and the Cedarville.

The adjustable pontoons -- incorporating living quarters for crewmen -- would be slipped over a sunken hull and lashed to it.

Divers would live in the pontoon compartment and take their time about making the hull secure, regardless of the weather on the surface. When it was ready, the pontoons would be filled with air and the vessel lifted.

A tug would tow the floating hull and pontoon rig to a reclamation harbor. The ascent would be so gradual that workers would be in no danger of "the bends" from nitrogen gas accumulation in the veins.

The Sawtelles' shop at Castle Van Haver will continue to bear the name Treasure Cove, although it will be owned by a corporation known as Shipwrecks Unlimited. Stockholders are Charlevoix City Attorney John Michael, Arthur Summerfield Jr., of Flint, son of the former Postmaster General, and Sawtelle.

Speeders Fined

Clayton Cecil Smith, 25, of St. Ignace, and Richard D. Louiselle, 19, of Charlevoix, were fined $35 and $10 costs each when they appeared by Justice of the Peace John Connelly on a charge of speeding. They were arrested by city police traveling north from the bridge on U.S. 31 at a high rate of speed.

Vets

Mrs. James Whitley is general chairman of the dinner. Mrs. Frank Novotny will supply candy for the children. Mrs. Gerald Burke and Mrs. Joseph Elmore will get the Christmas tree and trim it. Mrs. Leland Warner and Mrs. A. M. Allard will be in charge of coffee and cool aid.

EVERYONE attending is asked to bring his own table service, plus a dish to pass. Cards are being sent to all veterans telling what to bring. Veterans not receiving cards should contact Mrs. James Whitley, Telephone 2980, or Mrs. Kenneth Staley, 2985.

Parents should bring a gift with their child's name on it to be distributed by Santa Claus. Adults should also bring a 50 cent gift marked "Mr. or Mrs. to exchange."

In other auxiliary business, Mrs. A. M. Allard was elected to send packages to patients at Grandview Medical Care Facility and Traverse City State Hospital.

A check was sent to Mrs. Miles to bring Christmas to the needy children of Charlevoix.

Lions

OTHER distinguished Lions attending were Orin C. (Casey) Cole, zone chairman from Mackinaw City; Hal Johnson, past deputy district governor from Cheboygan; and F. F. Stutesman of Onaway, a member for 27 years.

Cole conducted the business meeting and asked all clubs to obtain table raffles for use at the Leader Dog School. A proposal for rezoning District 11E was presented for review.

It was announced that a new chapter at Harbor Springs will be chartered soon and the first meeting will be held at Adelaine's Inn at 6:30 Thursday, Dec. 9.

A ladies program was arranged by Mrs. Rex Milligan, Mrs. G. W. Lusk from Franks Flowers demonstrated how to make decorative centerpieces for holiday tables.

Jones Released

Lwayne Jones, 39, of Charlevoix, received a suspended sentence of one year in Charlevoix County Jail when he appeared in Circuit Court yesterday on a charge of writing no account checks. Jones made restitution and Judge Charles L. Brown suspended sentence.

Frank Zednicek Voted President of Sports Club

Frank Zednicek was elected president of the Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club at the annual meeting Dec. 6.

Ronald Sherry was elected vice president, Bernard Schaner was elected secretary and Sam Alexander was elected treasurer.

Max Novak and Hugh Mayne were elected to three-year terms on the board of directors and John Mol was elected to a two-year term.

Hunters Guilty

Donald H. Bishely, 35, of Dearborn and Ronald J. Kavanaugh, 29, of Dearborn Heights, were found guilty in Justice Court of transporting uncased firearms in an automobile on Beaver Island. Judge John Connolly fined them $25 each, plus $4.30 court costs.

Terry Ormsby, 17, of Charlevoix was fined $10, plus $4.30 court costs and $3 conservation fee, for having a firearm uncased in the back of his car.

The Rod and Gun Club will hold its annual Christmas party for members on Saturday Dec. 11, at the clubhouse.

Lounge to Lure Skiers

The long-awaited opening of the cocktail lounge in the Holiday Beach Hotel will be Friday, Dec. 17 at 6 p.m., according to owner Henry Hogan.

Hogan says the bar in the basement of the unoccupied building will open under the name of the "Hogan's Lair."

The lounge has an "Old English" motif, dominated by a large fieldstone fireplace.

FRANK BOURGOINE, left, veterans counselor for Charlevoix County, was honored at a pot-luck supper sponsored jointly by the American Legion and the V.F.W. at the V.F.W. Hall Saturday night. Wishing him well is Legion Commander Harry Pearsall. Bourgoine is transferring to Grand Rapids after Jan. 1.

LIVE ENTERTAINMENT will be provided week-ends throughout the winter, Hogan said. Scheduled this weekend are the Dalton Brothers, a variety act featuring folk music.

Hogan said the bar is opening in time to make a bid for some of the ski business expected in Charlevoix this winter. Hours are 6 a.m. to 2 p.m.

HE ADDED that the lounge will be a "non-food" operation, offering only drinks, music and dancing.

Hogan recently was awarded a 10-month license by the state to serve beer and liquor on the premises. He plans to close the bar next April, reopening in May in "The Deck", another lounge with a nautical flavor located upstairs in the same building. The Deck overlooks Lake Michigan.

Friday's opening will culminate several months of negotiating between Hogan and the State Liquor Control Commission. Hogan felt certain his license would be granted last summer, and had a bartender, staff of waitresses and small orchestra hired most of the summer waiting for the go-ahead.

SEVERAL months ago the City Council said it has no objection to the opening of the cocktail lounges in the Holiday Beach Hotel and even gave the mayor and city clerk permission to approve a license, should the state ok come between council sessions.

Mild, Snowless Days Continue

Unseasonably warm, snowless weather continues in the Charlevoix area.

High temperature for the week was a balmy 44 degrees on Monday, Dec. 13. Low was 17 degrees Dec. 7.

Weatherman Harry Ladd says precipitation during the week amounted to .71 of an inch of rain.

Forbrig says he is investigating the possibility of heating the building with electricity, but he wants to look into the feasibility of electric heat further before deciding.

Laundry facilities will be located in a separate building to the rear of the apartment house.

January Draftees Chosen by Board

Following is a list of the 16 young men chosen by Charlevoix Selective Service Board 15 for induction into the armed forces in January.

Originally, 17 were to have been chosen, but the board had only 16 men available. They were selected at a meeting of the draft board Tuesday night.

Charlevoix 19-year-olds picked for induction are Andrew A. Lee, Edmund G. Bogart and Philip G. Loucks.

Going from Boyne City will be Jerry D. Holley, Floyd D. Larson, George C. Cadwell and Donald A. Crandall.

Selected from East Jordan were Donald R. McKinnon, John D. Miller, Donald G. Reich, Bradford G. Bricker and Kenneth A. Batterbee.

Boyne Falls inductees are Dennis K. Craig, Rodney W. Webb and Thomas W. Wilkison.

Dennis F. Massey will go from Walloon Lake.

The recruits will leave from Charlevoix Jan. 6 at 11 a.m., according to Mrs. Frank Bourgoine, boards-cretary.

The board also selected seven young men to take pre-induction physical examinations

In Detroit Jan. 11. They are: Kenneth L. Mousseau and William R. Parkas of Charlevoix; Kent G. Boutiller, Daniel A. Peters and James G. Seelye of Boyne City; Buddy D. Geo of East Jordan and Jerry R. VanTresse of Boyne Falls.

Word of the increased draft call came shortly before the federal government announced in Washington that it will have close to 400,000 troops in South Vietnam by the end of next year. The figure is close to the peak strength of American forces in Korea at the close of hostilities in 1953.

Lions Collecting Food for Needy

The Charlevoix Lions Club is placing baskets in grocery stores around town to collect food for needy families at Christmas.

Especially needed are non-perishables which can be drawn upon through the winter.

At the last Lions meeting Dec. 20, contractor Ray Wood was installed as a member.

Courier Theater Party Jammed Youngsters Welcome Santa

Santa Claus came to town Saturday, and hundreds of hearts beat faster just to catch a glimpse of the old gentleman in the red suit himself.

He arrived on the back of a city fire truck, and parked long enough at the foot of Clinton Street to pass out boxes of candy and peanuts to every youngster who came along.

WHEN EVERY youngster on hand had a chance to say hello to Santa, the old fellow moved on. His next stop was Charlevoix Hospital, to see what he could do for the shut-ins this Christmas.

Meanwhile, a gala Christmas party for the city's youngsters started at 2 p.m. downtown. Sponsored by the Charlevoix Courier, the program attracted turn-away crowds, even with the littlest children sitting on the laps of their bigger brothers and sisters.

The feature was a Lassie picture-in color -- crowning a perfectly delightful day on the town for the city's children.

Parents were given an opportunity during the two-hour show to wrap up their Christmas shopping.

Ever since Santa's visit, letters from many Charlevoix youngsters have been funneled through the Courier office en route to the north pole.

Here are some of the letters the children of Charlevoix have forwarded to Santa Claus at the North Pole.

I would like these toys for Xmas.

I have been a very good girl all year.

1. A Baby Bop doll.

2. A Princess Poole.

3. A Brownie dress; a book I will leave cookies and milk and sugar for your Rudolphs.

Judy Allison, Route 3 Charlevoix

Dear Santa:

I wish I could have a color and curl set. But if I do not get it, I would like a Baby First Step.

Love, Debbie Putpaff

Dear Santa:

Thank you for the gifts you gave me last year.

I would like a shaver and something for her to play with. I will put some cookies out for you. Merry Christmas.

Love, Laura Glass 402 State St., Charlevoix, Mich.

Dear Santa:

My name is Scott Swanson. I'm telling my mom what to write. I go to kindergarten, but we haven't learned how to write yet.

I am 5 years old. I am trying to be a good boy. I am waiting for you to come.

I would like a book that and a give-a-show projector, one that you wind up.

I have a little brother named Gregg. He is 2 years old, would you bring something nice for him.

Lost Cat Found Thanks to Ad in the Courier

Animals can't read newspapers but their masters can. That's why it's a good idea to place a "people reader" ad in the Courier when your cat or dog strays away, or someone else's pet comes to your house.

That's what Mrs. Gray of Antrim Street did when a lost kitten turned up on her doorstep.

Shortly after last week's Courier came out, the Rev. E. Herberger's family was reunited with their missing pet.

To place your ad on the Courier classified page, simply dial 6558, or drop your ad off at the Courier office.

Moerland Is Supervisor; Club Will Build Hangar

Lee Moerland, manager of the Belvedere Club, was appointed Third Ward Supervisor to fill out the unexpired term of the late Harry Gebeau at Monday's Council meeting.

Mayor E. D. Hawley said Moerland was willing to fill the position and the council voted unanimously to accept his appointment.

Hawley said Moerland is particularly well versed on property assessments.

Moerland, 38, is a native of Grand Rapids, moving to Charlevoix 14 years ago. He has served three years on the Charlevoix City Council.

Moerland and his wife, Helen, have two children, Tim and Karri.

IN OTHER Council business, the Charlevoix Flying Club took the city up on a proposal made at the last Council meeting that hangar construction at the airport would be welcome, providing the buildings revert to the city at the end of 12 or 15 years, depending on the amount of the investment.

Tom McDaniels, spokesman for the Flying Club, said the club would like to build a corrugated metal structure similar in appearance to present hangars at the field.

Apartment Going Up on Mercer

Charlevoix's newest apartment building project at the corner of Mercer and Dixon --- adjacent to the Colonial Club --- is now under way.

The property was purchased earlier this year by Hal Forbrig who says he hopes to have 16 one and two bed room apartments ready for occupancy by next spring.

HE ANTICIPATES rents will range from $105 to $120 a month, depending on the number of bedrooms. He says the rental schedule won't be drawn up until the building is completed.

All of the apartments will be carpeted in the living quarters and the master bedroom. Other features include built-in ovens, ranges and kitchen cabinets.

Forbrig says he is investigating the possibility of heating the building with electricity, but he wants to look into the feasibility of electric heat further before deciding.

Laundry facilities will be located in a separate building to the rear of the apartment house.

Forbrig says he is keeping as much of the original landscaping of the property as possible. The property has many evergreen trees.

DEMOLITION of the old Colonial Club will begin next spring, Forbrig says the property will be used as a playground and garden for the apartment residents.

Paved parking will be available at the rear of the building.

Forbrig says he has received many inquiries from townspeople interested in renting one of the apartments.

ARCHITECT'S drawing shows what Forbrig apartment will look like on Mercer Boulevard. The two story structure will house 16 apartments.

FOOTINGS for the building already are under way. The structure will not have a basement. Laundry facilities will be located in a separate building to the rear.

Who Keeps Whom on Dairy Farms

"Are you keeping dairy cows or are dairy cows keeping you?"

Rebman, Charlevoix County Extension Natural Resources Agent, believes every dairyman should not only answer to this question.

Annual production figures for herds in Michigan's Dairy Herd Improvement Association show that the top herds averaged $150 income per cow above feed cost with the low-producing herds averaged $150 per cow below the cost of feed. That's a difference of $300 per cow and Rebman thinks this figure tells the difference in whether the dairyman is "keeping cows" or the cows are "keeping the dairyman."

It costs more to feed a high-producing cow. Feed costs averaged about $250 a cow compared with $150 for low-producing herds. But the milk sold from the high-producing herds was $700 per cow compared with $300 for low producers.

RECORDS are a necessary tool to assist farmers in building a top producing herd. Michigan State University of for assistance through its Co-operative Extension Services in several ways. One is through the Dairy Herd Improvement Association (DHIA) program open to all dairymen. Another is a low-cost Owner-Sampler DHIA plan which provides a testing service in which the owner does more of the work and pays a smaller fee.

Both of these programs work effectively with the MSU Telfarm program which is now enrolling members for 1966. Ed Rebman, County Extension Natural Resources Agent, can give full information regarding both programs as well as the Telfarm computer records analysis system. If you consider the value of the services, the costs are very low he believes.

LISTEN FOR THE STILL, SMALL VOICE

Too many times one allows himself to be placed in the position of a puppet, controlled by the strings that make him slavishly subject to unwholesome and harmful influences. In some instances the strings are so numerous that they ruin the life. Such puppet strings are manipulated by resentment and hate, jealousy and fear, alcoholism and drug addiction; to enumerate but a few.

But if one's life is governed from within instead of by the puppet strings from without, he has gained that inside control by listening to, hearing and responding to the voice of his inner conscience.

An active membership in some church is a healthy means of cultivating the soul as the controlling center of one's life.

Church Seeks Pastor

The Bethany Lutheran Church has voted to ask the Michigan District Mission Board for a list of candidates to fill the present vacancy. The action was taken at a voters' meeting Dec. 7.

On Dec. 18, the congregation will decorate the interior of the church for Christmas. Robert and Gordon Neff will furnish a 10-foot Christmas tree.

THE ANNUAL children's Christmas program will be Dec. 19 at 6 p.m. and a candle-light Christmas program will be Dec. 26 at 6 p.m.

Officers for the coming year were elected at the meeting. Lynn Porter is president; Robert Neff, vice president; William Ormsby, secretary and Oscar Erickson, treasurer. Trustees are Gordon Neff, William Schroeder, and C. Sundberg. Elders are Ron Sixberry, Frank Zednick and Hal Forbrigg. Frank Zednick also was elected head usher.

The meeting opened and closed with a prayer by interim pastor R. Noffze of Boyne City.

Boat Tags Ready

Secretary of State James M. Hare says his department has "jumped the gun" by making three-year motor boat registrations available a month early.

The $3 registrations may now be purchased from any branch of the Secretary of State's office.

Hare said he moved the date up for the convenience of persons who are taking their boats South.

He suggested boat owners and drivers pick up their registrations when they buy their 1965 license plates.

HARE ESTIMATES that there are more than half a million motorboats in Michigan, but registrations reached only slightly over the 400,000 mark during the last three year cycle.

"Each motorboat must be registered, no matter what its size," Hare said. "This includes both puddle-jumpers and 75-foot pleasure yachts."

Hare emphasized that boat registrations are different from boat plates which must be purchased for all boats which navigate the Great Lakes and connecting waterways.

Walloon Detour Lifted by State

The Department of State Highways announced today that the last of the 1965 highway detours in Michigan has been lifted.

A detour on M-75 in Charlevoix County near Walloon Lake, scheduled to be lifted on December 15, has been removed.

All others were lifted previously.

Tree Removal Contract Let

Harry Fox, Inc., of Roseville, has been awarded a contract by the State Highway Department for removal of 719 trees bordering state highways in Charlevoix, Lake and Mason counties. Completion of the project is set for May 31, 1966.

Going to Florida?

Club Tells Routes

Nearly two-thirds of the total mileage on the four main routes available to half a million Florida-bound Michiganders this winter are four-lane superhighways. Automobile Club of Michigan touring manager Jerry E. Fisher reports.

This means easier, safer driving than ever before for motorists who plan a vacation in the south. For those with less than two weeks of time, Fisher advises going by air. Eastern and Delta Air Lines fly 13 daily express flights between Detroit and Florida. Jet time, Detroit-Miami, is 2 1/2 hours.

THE ANTICIPATED contingent of 500,000 Michiganders represents a 12 per cent increase over the number who went there last year.

As before, the greater number -- some 86 per cent -- will go south by automobile. Economy and convenience, plus highway conditions that are getting better all the time, were cited by Fisher as main reasons most vacationers will drive.

It will cost each auto passenger $15.50 daily for travel, food and lodging. There will be an average of 2.5 passengers a car. Motel costs en route will average between $10 and $14 a couple a day.

MOST MOTORISTS will utilize the two western-most routes between Michigan and Florida, Fisher said, because there are fewer mountains.

Route A is 1,500 miles long, has 1,172 miles of four-lane highway and tolls amounting to $6.20.

Route B is 1,418 miles long, with 1,072 miles of four-lane highway and tolls amounting to $1.80.

Route C is 1,599 miles long, has 1,020 miles of four-lane highway and tolls amounting to $6.60.

Route D is 1,439 miles long, has 607 miles of four-lane highway and tolls amounting to $1.35.

Have One-for-Road in Your Own Home

You know, the holiday season is a wonderful, joyous time of year -- a time of revelry and good spirits. Unfortunately, however, some people seem to feel that all good spirits have to come out of bottles.

To make the situation even worse, too many persons are driving their cars after excessive drinking. If you must "have" one for the road, why not have it at the end of the road -- and that's at home. And I would urge you to do one other thing afterwards -- stay there.

THE FOIMER State Board of Alcoholism, now a part of the new department of health, has greatly expanded our responsibilities in regard to drinking drivers and death on the road.

I can't think of a more horrible paradox than the countless hours of work done in medical research each year to protect lives -- and how much of this work is undone in a moment by a drinking driver who cannot control his car.

DURING THIS year, which is fast coming to a close, nearly 2,000 persons will have died in motor vehicle accidents in Michigan. A high percentage of these accidents will have involved drinking drivers. It's my opinion that people who make it a habit of drinking and driving are as potentially dangerous as the most virulent disease -- carry organism. We've all heard the stories about drinking -- and I hasten to add, most of them are fairy tales. The misconception that says it makes a difference what you drink and what you use to mix it with, is pure poppycock. The scientific fact is, your reactions are affected by the total amount of alcohol you consume -- regardless of what it's mixed with.

THEN THERE'S the one about the "man who can really hold his liquor." The unfortunate truth is that the habitual drinker merely learns to hide his reactions to liquor better.

The big problem remains, what can we do about the drinking driver? Do we put him in jail? This is helpful, but it is an after-the-fact solution. What we need is a practical approach that will prevent drinking and driving. I've already mentioned one good suggestion. That is, if you must drink, wait until you get home.

One idea that has proven effective is having enough non-drinkers around at holiday parties to drive the drinkers home. And so, I would urge every host at holiday parties to invite enough non-drinkers to provide a taxi service for the guests who have imbibed

Safety Countdown for Yule Drivers

Michigan motorists are urged to go through a "countdown for safety" before launching their cars onto the street or highway.

The six-step countdown was proposed by the Michigan State Safety Commission to make Yuletide driving safer and more pleasant.

THE DRIVER'S countdown should be done before starting any trip, whether just around town or longer. A "no" to any of these five questions should be a clue to take corrective action before turning the ignition key.

"Five--Car in safety shape -- especially brakes, lights, steering, tires?"

"Four--Enough time allowed to make the trip without rushing?"

"Three--Driver set for possible weather and traffic conditions ahead?"

"Two--Rest breaks mapped out along the way, if trip is long?"

"One--Seat belts fastened -- snugly?"

"Zero--Take a deep breath, relax, and drive for safety. The countdown takes just a minute to perform, and is as easy as 3-2-1. Just try it and see!

Blue Devils Win See-Saw Tilt

THE SCORE switched back and forth several times during the game, but the Rayders were in the lead more often than not until the final minutes.

Rayders Now in Second

A see-saw match that saw the Rayders ahead more than they were behind ended in defeat Friday at the hands of the Gaylord Blue Devils, 64-58.

The win puts Gaylord in first place alone in the Conference, with six teams, including Charlevoix in second, and Mancelona in the basement.

Highlight of the game was the brilliant playing of Gaylord's Terry Walker, a transfer student from Fenton, who accounted for 43 of Gaylord's 64 points on his own.

Top scorer for Charlevoix was Steve Smith with 19 points, followed closely by Fred Wabaninkee with 17.

The game started fast, with Wabaninkee dropping the first basket for the Rayders. At the end of the period, the score was 18 to 14 in favor of the Blue Devils. Of Charlevoix's 14 points, 8 were free throws.

The second period saw considerably more action, with Wabaninkee sinking a basket in the final second to bring the score to 35-36 in favor of Charlevoix.

In the last half, Charlevoix continued its lead, with a point spread of seven points 44 to 51, toward the end of the third period.

From here on in, Gaylord gained, tying up the game at 56-56 with about four minutes left. The only scoring in store for Charlevoix were two free throws by Smith at the very end of the game.

AFTER SOME tense basketball, particularly in the last minutes, the Jayvees dropped their game to Gaylord 41 to 37.

Clevenger Asks a Full Review of Kincheloe Closing

Congressman Raymond F. Clevenger (D-Sault Ste. Marie) is demanding a full review of the Department of Defense decision to close Kincheloe Air Force Base near the Soo by 1970.

"I am shocked and deeply saddened to hear the proposal to close the Base," Clevenger said. "The loss of Kincheloe's more than 2,300 civilian and military personnel will be another blow to the Upper Peninsula," he added.

"HOWEVER," Clevenger continued, "because I have not had an opportunity to study the full facts of the matter, I am asking for a complete briefing on this decision."

"If I decide after my review that the decision is unwarranted, I will ask the House Armed Services Committee to launch a complete investigation into the closing.

"IF THE RESULT of our inquiry into Secretary of Defense McNamara's decision shows us Kincheloe is no longer a necessary part of our defense establishment, I will request that the government initiate domestic programs to offset the loss of jobs."

"I feel confident," Clevenger said, "that if this is the road we must take, we can keep these people working, and the Soo area economy growing, by utilizing new public works and economic development and other federal, state and private programs."

Pair Criticize Sports Coverage

Sir: I have gone to college and been away from Charlevoix for four years. No matter where I have gone I have always received the Courier to see what was happening on the home front.

Both Stan and I are former athletes from Charlevoix and we like to read about the sports in our area. In the last year you have failed the Rayder and area sports. There has been no comments on area teams. There have been no standings to show where each stands in the conference. No schedules have been printed.

We believe anything you do would be an improvement. The Rayders have always been a bright spot in the news. They have put Charlevoix on the map many times during the sporting season. Don't you think you could back area

News of larger draft calls across the nation leaves many veterans with muddled emotions. They know what a stint in the service can mean --- the long separation from family and friends, traveling weeks on end, living out of duffel bags, eating chow that somehow doesn't taste like mother's, getting up with the chickens, cat-napping whenever you're not standing at attention or doing P.T., and performing every-bodily function with as much privacy as a five-legged calf at a county fair.

The final indignity for many, of course, is getting shot by a total stranger with a foreign accent.

YET I'VE NEVER met a veteran who didn't derive some good --- along with a scotch of happy memories --- from his service time, providing he lived through it. I'll never forget my trip overseas. The Korean War was in progress and before the general Meigs sailed from Seattle we were marched down to a big auditorium and told point blank the facts of life by the officer in charge.

"The first four rows of you aren't coming back, so don't make any long-range plans," he warned. "The next eight rows are going to have their guts shot out. You'll come home, all right, but not in one piece. The next eight rows, well, you're going to wake up one morning in the V. D. ward of a station hospital after fooling around with some Oriental musume."

And so it went through the entire audience. He didn't pull any punches. We just sat there counting rows and wondering what fate was to be ours.

THAT EVENING as the Meigs pulled away from Pier 99 in Seattle, Ken Ely and I climbed up on a stack of life rafts and looked down at the drama being enacted on the pier below. The Salvation Army band was out, playing "Anchors Away" and "Keep the Home Fires Burning." A few women who looked like they might be mothers were there, dabbing at their eyes with Kleenex. On board, the troops were whooping and hollering like wildmen, waving fatigue caps at anyone who looked like he might wave back and bidding a noisy farewell to America.

"Look at 'em," Ken Ely said philosophically. "The poor s.o.b.'s don't realize they aren't coming home."

"None," I agreed philosophically. They sure don't. I could be as objective about things as he could.

THAT NIGHT when we turned in, the lights were still flickering on the shores of Puget Sound. The next morning when we awoke we were see-sawing on the heaving bosom of the Pacific Ocean. Our compartment --- five fathoms below the waterline --- had the worse collective case of mal-de-mer in the history of navigation.

The ship was rolling in all directions at once and every second lunge brought the prospect of out of the water, making the whole ship shudder like a dying whale.

FOR TWO DAYS I made futile attempts to get something to eat in the galley. If you can get something down, it won't be so bad," the old hands kept saying, but every time I made it to the galley door, the aroma of Navy cooking sent me flying to the rail.

On the third day our compartment was something to behold. Two hundred and fifty men had been seasick, equipment and rifles were strewn about haphazardly and a dozen felled mops leaned forlornly against a bulkhead, abandoned after futile attempts to mop the deck our first day out.

IT WAS AMID such splendid and odiferous disarray that the major in charge decided to pay us a call. He had been sick, too, and the pillow of his fat deepened as he entered our compartment.

"Gentlemen, this won't do at all," he said weakly. "This place is a mess. An absolute mess. I've never seen quarters so --- so unhealthy."

He took a sweeping look around him and his eyes came to rest on a grizzled sergeant who obviously was a veteran of many wars.

"Sergeant," he said grimly, "I'm putting you in charge here. I want this floor mopped immediately, do you hear? Immediately. A little soap and water will do a world of good."

The last word was hardly out when he clamped his hand over his mouth and belched up the companionway for a breath of fresh air topside.

AS LUCK WOULD have it, I was standing next to the sergeant and before I could say "darn amine" he had gripped me by the elbow.

"I'm appointing you," he said firmly, "as a detail of one to help me get these mops cleaned up before we start G.I.'ing this place. Here, you hold 'em over your shoulder and I'll get a hunk of rope."

So the sergeant and I went topside, a dozen mops over my shoulder, several loops of manila rope around his. On deck he motioned me over to the rail, took three of my mops and began tying the rope around them.

NOW LIFE ABOARD a troopship is, at best, monotonous. There is no deck tennis to wilt away the hours, nor cocktail lounges to help obliterate them. Furthermore, the forecast of our coming misfortunes hung heavy upon our spirits. I suppose that is why the appearance of a sergeant, a private, 12 mops and a length of rope on deck created mild interest.

Slowly eyes that had been scanning the horizon or buried in pocket books were turned in our direction. Before the sergeant was ready to lower the first three mops over the side, quite a crowd had congregated around us.

Steadily the old soldier fed out the line, with the mops swinging freely and bumping occasionally against the hull. Suddenly they were caught by the crest of a wave and disappeared into the ocean.

THE IMPACT of our unexpected exhibition on the imprisoned troops was electric. By this time no less than a hundred G.I.'s and Canadian Princess Pats had gathered around, and when the mops hit the water a whoop went up that could be heard simultaneously in Seattle and Yokohama.

The sergeant, sensing the drama of the moment, played out the rope slowly, letting the mops dip and roll with the ship. They took to the water like porpoises, submerging under one wave, then leaping over the next like great fish.

The bathery old veteran had the crowd in his hands, and he knew it. He let out more rope and the mops trailed behind beautifully. Our audience had grown considerably as word of our adventure spread.

FINALLY the sergeant said he thought the mops must be clean and together we began to draw in the rope as the crowd held its breath. Then suddenly, something gave. There was no longer any tug on the line. I stepped back and watched as an empty knot slipped over the railing.

The sergeant, suitably indignant, muttered a few oaths, grabbed three more mops and started the entire process over again.

By this time the crowd had grown alarmingly and the General Meigs began to list noticeably to the port side. Again we watched the mops descend into the blue Pacific, and again when the sergeant pulled up the rope the mops were gone. The troops began to choke with laughter and the sergeant to sputter with rage.

"Never happened before," he fumed, grabbing three more mops.

"I wouldn't do that if I was you, Sarge," one G.I. yelled from a hatch cover. "Something's been takin' your bait."

This set the crowd off again and I swear all the troops on board and half the ship's company watched as the sergeant gravely lowered the rest of our mops, three by three, into the Pacific Ocean, never to be seen again.

IN THE EXCITEMENT the grim predictions at Seattle were forgotten and an infectious camaraderie spread among the troops. As it happened, most of the G.I.'s aboard were stationed in Japan and the mop incident turned out to be the beginning of one of the most high-spirited campaigns in the annals of American military history.

Incidentally, the major never did return to see how well we cleaned the compartment. A story went around that he died that night of beriberi and the body was lowered overboard at the end of a rope, but I never put much stock in it.

POOR HEALTH forced Rev. Kohn to leave the Chicago area in 1952. He had been serving as pastor at the Evangelical United Brethren Church in Oak Park, but doctors thought his frequent headaches were caused to an allergy to industrial smoke. Since then, physicians have found the headaches are not caused by smoke but by tumors near the brain. Delicate operations have not prevented their growth.

Kohn Essays Are Pleasant Reading

"A Touch of Greatness" by the Rev. Harold E. Kohn, William B. Eerdmans Publishing Company, Grand Rapids, Mich. $3.95.

This tidy little volume of inspirational essays is a product of Charlevoix, but it draws from life and experience far from the shores of Lake Charlevoix where Rev. Kohn makes his home.

THE ESSAYS are a pleasant blend of wit, reminiscence, philosophy, history, religion, and common sense that makes for good reading either one at a time or several in one sitting.

The book deals largely with people --- some famous, others virtually unknown except to their family and friends --- who have a certain quality Rev. Kohn calls "a touch of greatness."

The episodes fairly explode with the idea that there is an inherent goodness in man if you know where to find and uncover it. It carries the hopeful message, too, that there are ways to cope with the unpleasant realities of life.

AS ONE might suppose, the essays draw strongly upon nature for much of their inspiration. It would be impossible for anyone to live at the Kohns' Hidden Brook retreat near Lake Charlevoix without becoming a naturalist of sorts.

Rev. Kohn has turned his interest in the wild creatures around him to good advantage. He finds in them not only a source of natural inspiration, but also used them as models for some of the excellent pen and ink drawings which illustrate the book.

State Liberalizes Right-of-Way Rule

The Department of State Highways has announced it is liberalizing its policy on "partial taking" of property in an effort to reduce hardships on owners of small residences.

Right-of-way negotiations are presently under way between the state and property owners along the proposed relocation route of M-66 into the city.

Victor H. Etchhorn, director of the department's Right-of-Way Division, said he has instructed division buyers to give owners an alternative of either "a partial taking or a total take" when only a part of their property is required for highway purposes and such acquisition would result in a use that does not conform with local zoning regulations.

IN SOME instances of right-of-way acquisition, particularly in Detroit area freeway construction, the department has needed only parts of properties. The law requires that the department acquire only that part of the property needed, Etchhorn said.

Right-of-way buyers have been instructed to first offer to buy only that part of given property required for highway purposes, Etchhorn said.

IN THE EVENT the owner declines the offer, the right-of-way buyer is then authorized to offer to purchase the entire parcel for the department, provided the remainder would not be in conformity with local zoning restrictions. "If both proposals are refused by the property owner, the department then will begin legal proceedings to acquire only that part of the property required," Etchhorn said.

Mrs. Garfield VanDusen has returned to Grand Rapids after spending several days last week with Mrs. Charles Hamlin.

THIS POSTER is being distributed by the Auto Club as a reminder that December is the most dangerous month on the nation's highways.

Mrs. Carl Rothenberger and daughter, Danya, spent last weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Genelt, while Mr. Rothenberger was in Detroit to attend the Lions football game.

Terl Freedman is expected home this week from her studies at the University of Arizona.

Santa Has a Place at Christmas

There are those among us in Charlevoix who feel the spirit of Christmas has gone too far astray over the centuries, and that what started out to be the holy observance of Christ's birth is being exploited by every charlatan who comes along with a bag of toys to sell.

They cry loudly to "Put Christ back in Christmas." And some would even like to "Take Santa Claus out of Christmas" while they're at it.

SOMETIMES it's easy to lose sight of the fact that Christmas combines two Christian observances. First, of course, is the birth of Christ. The second is a holiday paying homage to Saint Nicholas who lived in the fourth century.

In addition to being the patron saint of Russia, St. Nicholas is also the patron saint of children, scholars, virgins, sailors and merchants. During the Middle Ages he also was looked upon as the patron saint of thieves.

In America, St. Nicholas is known more familiarly as Santa Claus, which is simply a corruption of the Dutch "San Nicolaas."

STORIES about the life of St. Nicholas are, at best, difficult to substantiate.

Deer Debate in Full Swing

The Great Debate has started down below on what happened to the Michigan deer herd this year.

The pressure has grown so great on State Sen. Carl W. O'Brien, Pontiac Democrat and chairman of the Senate Conservation Committee, that he has called the first of a series of public hearings to look into the situation.

O'Brien will meet Saturday in Pontiac with interested parties. Other sessions probably will be held in Grand Rapids and some yet-to-be-named northern Michigan communities.

PRELIMINARY figures indicate the success ratio for hunters this year will be around one in six. An estimated 600,000 hunters took to the woods, and the Conservation Department believes they bagged about 108,000 deer. Last year, the success ratio was one in four.

O'Brien says according to information he is receiving, the season just ended was one of the worst in history.

THE CONSERVATION DEPARTMENT, however, is quick to point out that deer hunters have their good years and their bad years. From 1954 to 1957, total deer kill in Michigan was below 80,000. The next two years it climbed to just above 100,000, dropping to 76,720 in 1960 and 60,058 in 1961. Since then the kill has been climbing steadily to last year's record 143,560.

Chicago Ponders Lake Clean-Up

Although Chicago is several hundred miles away, Charlevoixians can be encouraged by the interest being taken by their big neighbor to the south and the federal government in cleaning up the lower end of Lake Michigan and the Calumet River.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare announced recently in Washington that a "technical session" will be held Jan. 4, in Chicago to consider a program to abate pollution in the two bodies of water.

The department called it a "follow-up" of an enforcement action taken last March 2 when the federal government, the states of Illinois and Indiana and the Metropol-

Electric Rate Cut Welcome

With the cost of everything from dog biscuits to electric appliances on the march again, it is refreshing news when anyone announces a price cut.

Such is the case with Top O' Michigan Rural Electric Co. at Boyne City which revealed last week that it is cutting back the price of electric power to consumers from 2.25 cents a kilowatt hour to 1.9 cents, effective Jan. 1.

EVENTUALLY, the electric company says it hopes it can get the price down

The facts of his life are these:

He was born in Patara, Asia Minor, entered the monastery of Sion and later became archbishop of the metropolitan church of Myra, Asia Minor, where he died. Eight hundred years later his remains were removed to Bari, Italy, where his tomb is now a shrine.

Legend has it that there once was a man in Myra so poor he was unable to afford dowries for his three daughters. He was ready to abandon them to a life of sin, when St. Nicholas entered the picture. He surreptitiously bestowed gifts upon the unfortunate trio, rendering them perfectly eligible marriage material.

FROM THIS STORY has grown the custom of secret giving on the Eve of St. Nicholas, which is Dec. 6. Because Christmas follows so closely, the two holidays are celebrated simultaneously in most countries.

To take Santa Claus out of Christmas not only would remove a lot of fun from the holiday season, but it would be doing a grave injustice to the memory of a bonafide Christian prelate.

It is surprising that most of the criticism of the Santa Claus tradition comes from persons who should have a better grasp of church history.

Gordon Neff figures there is no need for alarm in the Charlevoix area; He says the deer simply took to the swamps early in the season and stayed there. Furthermore, wet weather most of the season served to reduce hunting pressure.

Others blame the low kill on Saturday opening dates in both the Upper and Lower Peninsulas. The weekend openers lured record concentrations of hunters into deer areas at one time. Observers say deer simply were frightened into inaccessible places when so many hunters showed up.

The Conservation Department never was in favor of a set Saturday opener. The new law was passed by the 1965 Legislature under pressure from schools, chambers of commerce, industries and unions in an effort to discourage absenteeism and boost the economy of northern communities.

The Conservation Department prefers a fixed opening date, so that the season will open on a Saturday only once every seven years.

WHATEVER THE REASON for the low kill, boards of supervisors in Kalkaska and Crawford counties already have asked for a year's halt to doe shooting, and similar resolutions are expected shortly from Cheboygan, Oscoda, Iosco and Roscommon counties. The Lake County Conservation Club also has come out in favor of doe-less season.

Itan Sanitary District of Chicago set up a technical committee to recommend water quality criteria.

THE JANUARY session will consider these recommendations and develop a program with a time schedule for abating pollution. It is doubtful that pollution in the Chicago area would ever spread as far as Charlevoix, in spite of northerly currents. Yet something in us rebels at the thought of any part of our inland sea being anything but pure and fresh.

It is folly to hope that Lake Michigan off Chicago will ever be as clean as our own frontage. But it's something for the Windy City to shoot for.

to an even one cent per kilowatt hour. Harlan E. Ruback, manager of the electric cooperative, says that although operating costs continue to climb, the company is making the price adjustment in anticipation of increased efficiency when improvements to the plant at Advance are completed.

Jan. 1 makes the price cut a little late for a Christmas gift to Top O' Michigan rural patrons, but it certainly will be a New Year's gift they can enjoy all year long.

DID YOU EVER see anything snowball like "Operation Christmas for Michigan Servicemen and Women in Vietnam"? ... The packages containing all sorts of goodies and necessities were scheduled for shipment out of Willow Run yesterday ... Certainly this will be one small way of counteracting the demonstrations against the action in Vietnam ... And it is always heart-warming the response this sort of thing receives ... the volunteers who come forth to assist with all the little details of such a big operation ... And how about the student who started the drive for safety pins? Who ever would think of a simple thing like that ... But you know, when you think about it, it's pretty practical ... I'm sure those GIs will find myriad uses for them ... Though it may not win the war, I'd say the gift idea will do a great deal for morale ... not only for the few Charlevoixians who are there but for the more than 6,000 Michiganders who'll be on the receiving end ...

AND SPEAKING of Vietnam, did you know the services are recruiting German Shepherd dogs for service in the war zone? ... I'm kidding? ... If you happened to be up and about at an early hour one morning last week you would have heard the great work these sentry teams - composed of a serviceman and a German Shepherd dog - are doing in Vietnam ... The sentry dogs are trained to patrol the perimeter around a given area and have done much to halt raids on installations ... Then there are the dogs that travel with a group of men to 'sniff' out the enemy as our men tramp over the terrain ... Right now they have about 2,000 dogs in Vietnam ... the goal is 5,000 (but not all at once for it takes more than eight weeks to train the animals and their working mates) ... No, you don't register your animal at the local draft board ... But you do get in touch with the Air Force recruiting officer in the area ... The animals have to be from one to five years old and weigh 55 pounds (I think) ... Truly, I'm serious about this and it's the real McCoy ... I wouldn't make sport of a serious thing like this ... So, if you do have such a canine, why don't you check into the program? ...

JUST CHECKED with the draft board, which was late in receiving its draft call for January ... I'm sure, like me, you'll be lousy for a loss when you hear that 17 men will be called ... the largest draft call since World War II as far as Mrs. Mary Bourgoine can determine from the records ... Not a very bright outlook for the months ahead ...

AND IF YOU'RE planning to send a Christmas greeting to that service guy or gal some place around the world, better do it right away ... Perhaps it does take only five days any other time for a letter to reach its destination but this is holiday time and mail is being piled up everywhere ... so don't wait too long or it won't arrive at its appointed place in time for Christmas ... All of which makes me think ... I must get mine in the mail ...

HAD A CALL about a week ago from Mrs. 'Dobby' Allard who called to tell me about a flock of quite large pretty birds that had just taken up residency on their lawn ... I'm not much of an authority on birds but I have some good resource people so I said I thought they sounded like evening grosbeaks ... and then quick put in a call to my friend, Mrs. Gormell to see if I was right ... I'm happy to say I was ... She told me that these birds go north into Canada to nest and live during the warmer months and then come back to this area during the winter ... Seems their tastes can be pretty expensive ... like the buds of fruit trees ... a little later in the year ... and that a flock of them can raise havoc in a cherry or apple orchard ... and it seems they always travel in flocks when they're in this area ...

JUST CHECKED the calendar ... whose pages are creating quite a breeze as the days whizz by ... and noted that those of you who live a distance from Charlevoix will be reading this some time during Christmas week ... So, may I take this opportunity to wish you the best during the forthcoming holidays ... To me Christmas and what it represents is one of the most beautiful times of the year ... I hope that you also find it so ... and that you will include in your prayers, as you gather to sing the praises of He whose birthday we celebrate at this time, a prayer for peace ... a prayer that we may know peace on earth and that we might all have good will toward our fellowmen ...

Charlevoix Hosts Conference

Word has been received that the 1966 Class 'C' conference district tournaments will be held in Charlevoix. Charles E. Forsythe, State director of Inter-Scholastic Athletics, selected Charlevoix as the host city for the Feb. 28 through March 5 games.

THE FOUR TEAMS playing here will be Boyne City, East Jordan, Manistota and Charlevoix. Games will be played Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday nights. Last year, Boyne City was host to the district tournaments. Details of the tournament schedule are expected shortly from Forsythe's office.

Council

He added that the club presently has a four-place Sinson but plans to buy another larger cross-country plane as trained club membership grows.

HE SAID the group would like to start work on the project before cold weather sets in.

Council ordered attorney John Michael to draw up a lease agreement with the club, calling for return of the property to the city at end of 12 years.

McDaniels said the club will rent extra hangar space until it is needed by the club. The building will be 30 feet wide and will be built at the southwest corner of the present hangars.

IN OTHER Council business, aldermen approved a tax permit request submitted by Lacy Oldham for 1966.

TWO NEW members of the board of canvassers also were approved by the Council. Mrs. Jack Grubbaugh is the new Republican representative and Tom LaBlance the new Democratic representative on the board.

MAYOR HAWLEY read a letter from Col. Edward C. Bruce of the Army Corps of Engineers explaining difficulties the corps is encountering in securing easements from residents along Pine River Channel for the straightening and widening of the channel.

Col. Bruce said Mrs. Eva Smith in particular fears damage to her buildings, and although he believes the threat of damage is negligible, he said the corps is unable to offer an absolute guarantee.

The colonel said three other owners -- not named -- had refused to grant easements without compensation.

The colonel took the position that the proposed work will enhance the value of the property rather than reduce it.

He concluded that he would appreciate any help Mayor Hawley could give in persuading Mrs. Smith and the other three hold-outs to grant easements.

Hawley said he would write a letter to the colonel explaining the city has no lever to govern the actions or wishes of its residents.

THERE WAS some discussion about an offer made by Vern Matthews to remedy a threatened cemetery land shortage resulting from the relocation of M-66. Matthews reportedly would accept the $9,700 offered by the state for an easement through the cemetery for 10 adjoining acres he now owns.

The offer was contingent upon the city trading him comparable city land for the remainder of his 22-acre tract. Matthews had planned a home development in the area, but refuses to sell a portion on the land to the city on grounds that people don't like living next door to a cemetery.

Frank Boss appealed to the Council for a lower water rate at his trailer court north of the city and was turned down. Aldermen pointed out that Boss is paying no more than his neighbors beyond city limits.

Christmas Ball Slated Dec. 22

Chairman Linda Supernaw says the Senior class Christmas ball will have a "Joyous Noel" theme.

The ball will be Wednesday, Dec. 22 from 9 to 12 p.m. in the Study Hall of the high school.

Musie will be by the Nightwalkers of Petoskey. Mr. Reynolds will be on hand to take couples pictures.
